I heard of one company that used a bank of PC's running full-time off-site, for their Visual C builds. (They also used this hardware for rendering, so it did double duty.) I think partially it's the C++ stuff that makes programs take hours to compile. As the compiler itself is pretty fast for straight C from the command line programs.

Besides, I tend to judge 'advanced or not' in radio terms rather than by what OS the code is using.

I also think that Linux is sucking off a lot of your hobbiest programmers
-- just since the compiler comes there for free, and basically it's easier to deal with. (Except for X, for me at least, which I still haven't really groked.)

No kidding!

Guess why many of us "ex ham radio freeware" authors no longer write any code for this "market" ... a whole lot of other places to play at software where the efforts are appreciated ... and rewarded.

Breakdown voltage and series ON resistance are two main issues at HF.

You can cascade several low-voltage PINS in series but you have the same problem as with power supply diodes: unequal division of the reverse breakdown voltage. THe MPN3700 has a breakdown of ~20 volts. There is a Siemens part (BAR64?) which is quite good at UHF (used for IMD reduction in emergency transponders).

"Best" has many different meanings. The MPN 3700 (made by Motorola) is a thru-hole device and will be around for quite some time.

"ESD sensitive" can be a misnomer. If it's that deep into the radio guts, it's unlikely to be burned from the outside world.

Changing zoning can not usually be used to force someone to remove or cease a use that was permitted and now isn't.
Most states have a grandfather approach and do not force people to take down non-conforming structures that were conforming before.

Now that is funny a real crackpot calling other people crackpots. Its rec.radio.amateur.misc

Its not titled rec.i.hate.everyone but to read what you guys post you think that was the name of this newsgroup. I trult dont think freespeech has anything to do with it. Watch what happens when somebody stands on a busy street corner and yells nasty words. George Calin found this out in the 70's with his 7 dirty words. What happened to your so callled free speech.
I fine you guys with your hate and vile conversation very offensive.
That is where you freespeech ends.
That is just my opinion I could be wrong.

You people on 3.950 have got to be the biggest bunch of pussies and would find something more constructive to do on a Saturday night than get on 3950 and bitch about how badly you hate this wonderful country.

You now expect an apology from Mr. Hollingsworth? Get real! You people

For everyone disgusted with the likes of rats such as N0VFP, W9XN, Frankie, Rileygotcha Ashley, Lavoris Dirtyballs, Alfred Stromitler and other degenerates, malcontents and pathetic examples of breathing human waste, I have chased them out to their enclave in hell which doubles as a BARF forum. Why is Junior's death bothering you so much? It seems you have an ax to grind with the Kennedys. The major sentiment in this newsgroup is that people don't achieve certain goals because their stupid or lazy, i.e. learning Morse Code. To extrapolate from that sentiment I guess your parents--and you--were stupid and/or lazy to achieve the status and wealth of the Kennedys, Rockefellers, Vanderbilts, etc. Quit begrudging these people their status.

That usually only applies to the current owner. Here in Arizona, when a house changes hands, the non-conformance is often required to become conforming. The Barry Goldwater tower in Paradise Valley is one example. He was given a special exemption since his tower was there when the town of Paradise Valley was incorporated. PV has 20' maximum height ordinance. Very few Cell/PCS in that town.

Mr. Radiosigs
I just ask a simple question, and I did not want to try to interpretate your religon. I have read that and wanted to know what a Jewish person thought of that passage. But MY mistake was asking you instead of someone of compassion who would answer a simple question. From your reply I can see why they call you Dr. Hate, the name does seem to fit.

Well I know that Indiana does so by the terms of It's law I once held one So does TX OK AL, and WA. Illinois where my current license is issued never even asked for my SSN, but will put it on your license if you ask for it, but other licneses issued before I moved here dod often have SSN's

As to knowing Stet law for each of the 50 states (and I supose the law of the teritories like Gaum et al.) No I doubt he knows them in detail any better than you do. Here is a simpler task, what requires SSN and offers no recourse. If know one post it if have to go looking

In Indiana to drive a car you must get an operators license. On the other hand to ride a motorcycle in IN you must have a operators license with a motor-cycle endorsement. Why can't that work for ARS?
You get your regular license in all the "flavors" of Technician through General with the option of CW endorsement then make it mandatory for Advanced and Extra. With the acceptance of the ITU Treaty signatories of course

That seems to be the case with most that cause the problems on 14.313 and 3950. I've noticed as of late that ol Marty wants to be a Lib NIT. He's been heard lurking in the background on 3950 trying to play intermediary while siding completely witjh the listed Hate group. Now I don't know Marty but from the post he directed at me, the comments by others and now the ones you've stated doc, I'd say ol marty wants to be in the middle of everything, yet blamed for nothing. If you're not too lazy to type, try http://homepages.go.com/~wikk3/hollings.htm
IT'LL TEAR YOUR HEAR OUT. WHAT A TEAR JERKER so bring along your handkerchief.
This 3.950 net control, Victor Misek,requests an APOLOGY from Riley Hollingsworth? Can you believe it? This lowlife orchestrator of a neo-Nazi net, with his brown shirt on, his swastika armband in place, his shiny black jackboots pulled up and his hair over one eye plus a tiny moustache to boot, has the audacity to request an apology from the lead counsel of the C.I.B! What the hell is this country coming to?
If you want to read a real sob story, get an eyeful of it. Misek is yelling that the FCC has done nothing to stop jammers from making the lives of Nazi pigs impossible. That's CHUTZPAH! This New Hampshire schweinhund EXPECTS the FCC to sit idly by and allow agents of subversives dead set on overthrowing our government to reign free? All Riley wanted to know was how Misek felt he's justified in using a ham radio frequency for purposes other than promoting responsible ham radio. What's so hard about answering that one?
Now suppose Riley had asked that question of Ruth Hoffman, Intercon's Manager? Would she then demand an apology from him? Hell no! She'd put in writing the good that net has and still does promoting goodwill globally. And it's the truth.
Is Intercon or any other net aside from the stinking Liberty Net out to defame,denegrate and humiliate minorites? If so, NAME IT! Can you think of any net aside from that Liberty Net tripe furthering the hideous revisionist philosophies of an Ernst Zundel and a Tom Metzger? If so, NAME IT!
Have you ever seen the notorious anti-Semitic, anti-gay, anti-persons of color newspaper called THE SPOTLIGHT? It is the English language version of the now defunct Voelkischer Beobachter, the organ of the German Nazi Party. That paper,who's publisher was Julius Streicher, hanged at Nuremberg, and whose job it was to turn the German nation against it's Jewish citizens, did exactly that. It demonized a people thereby making the Holocaust quite excusable in the minds of confused Germans.
THE SPOTLIGHT is trying to do the same thing with targets being Jews,Blacks,Hispanics and homosexuals. Only in America could such a paper be tolerated and whom do you think it pushes? THE LIBERTY NET! Ads are in there extolling the virtues of the animals occupying that frequency. Is that not enough to tell you that the net is nothing more than sponsored terrorism? And Misek wants free reign? An apology from Riley Hollingsworth? He wants that net to be able to open up on anyone on that frequency because 3.950 belongs to them, at least in their demented minds? I say to hell with you Misek and to hell with your jackbooted pals and to special hell with your topics and opinions which further hate, not brotherhood.
Riley suggests you use the Internet to satiate your vicious appetites. If you do, just tell me where you'll be and I will too and I'll do a number on you like you can't imagine. Hell, I'll push you out of the Internet right back to the ham spectrum so Riley can catch you and put all of you away. Anytime you want to duke it out with words,be my guest. Before we do battle, I'll take my brain out of my skull so we can start even.

Misek, I don't know if your Internet reply is the one you sent to Riley-your supporters had better pray it wasn't. If it was, it's insolent and defiant and if I were Riley, I'd come after you with both barrels blazing. It's YOU who should apologize for having raped ham radio for so many years! He owes you nothing but a 100 year suspension!

The Prophet Isaiah wrote:

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?
For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.
He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.
Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.
But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.
All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.
He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.
He was taken from prison and from judgment: and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he stricken.
And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death;

because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.
Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.
He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.
Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

*SOUPY SALES. Furthermore, don't give me your cock'n'bull Greek translation

I take offense at Goyim trying to tell me, to further their own aims,what my people wrote in OUR bible. Keep the hell out of our business! No one asked you to interpret OUR bible. You don't catch Jews running around changing New Testament text to Judaize it, do you? Well, stop trying to Christianize OUR bible. What's in OUR bible is truth or if not, not as much fibbery as YOURS.
The Ark is indeed on Mount Ararat in Turkey-need more proof of truth. Keep your nose out of Jewish script. You Goyim should keep to yourselves instead of trying to besmirch our holy words with your stupid interpretations. Worship

I'm glad to see, LRod, that you now admit that some, at least, of AF2Y's public wishes for violence and death, and his obscene insults, are in fact _not_ meant as satire.

I don't find it odd that a person of moderate literacy is able to deconstruct at length the ill-formed and ill-informed posts that have invaded this group ever since the 14313 misfits arrived. (By the way, you seemed to arrive at about the same time as they. Coincidence?)

What I do find surprising is that, in the midst of all your enthusiastic "cogent analysis," you never bother to criticize a man who squats over this newsgroup, furiously expelling hundreds of hateful, vile, obscene, gratuitously insulting messages describing in the coarsest terms imaginable the imagined sexual practices, genitals, and family members of other participants here -- and that's when he's not openly wishing for their violent deaths or injuries.

Not only do you not criticize this man, who is smearing this newsgroup with offal almost daily -- but his supporters also seem oddly immune from your "incisive" analysis.

In fact, the main subjects of your ever-so-rigorous corrections seem to be those who criticize the creature who demonstrates every day how well he deserves his sobriquet of "Dr. Hate."

So, in the interest of an increased understanding of the transformation of this newsgroup in recent months, I'd like to ask you a few clarifying questions.

Are you or were you involved in any way with AF2Y or his allies or detractors in the disputes on 14,313 kHz and environs? (Just for the record, I have never been involved in any of that.)

Do you think that AF2Y has suffered in some way, or experienced something, that justifies his open wishes for death and violence to others on this newsgroup?

If so, could you please explain it to the rest of us?

If not, do you feel it is reasonable to criticize someone for omitting an apostrophe, while at the same time ignoring AF2Y when he calls for the death by homicide or suicide of other participants here? -- Or when he states as he did on June 5th:

"AT COMMUNION TOMORROW, MAY YOUR WINE TURN TO PEE AND GO CHOKE ON YOUR HOLY COOKIE" -- AF2Y, 5th June 1999

With all good wishes,

I attached my scope's vertical input to the center conductor of my feedline through a 47k 2 watt resistor in series with a small variable capacitor of, if I remember correctly, about 30 pF when fully meshed. That seems to give me enough voltage, with a little adjustment of the scope's attenuator, to view the waveform well whether at 100 Watts or 1,000 Watts PEP output, and on all HF bands.

Seeing the transmitted wave envelope on an oscilloscope is invaluable. You can see, in an instant, if there is flat-topping or overmodulation. I never transmit without one.

For received signal waveforms, I tap off of the last IF stage of my TS-440S (which is 455 kHz) with a 25 pF capacitor directly into the scope. Be aware that the waveshape of the received signal at the IF is very much affected by the receiver's filters. Mine only begins to approximate the real appearance of the transmitted waveform when I switch to my (customized) 15 kHz bandwidth.

I have the transmit envelope signal on the scope's "A" input, and the IF input on "B" -- I can switch between the two, or on my scope (a B&K) view both simultaneously.

Of course, I am sure there are other and better ways of doing the same thing -- but my way was simple and inexpensive.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Now you've done it:

You need to step back so as to get a global view of why the code requirement exists for HF privileges. RF at HF respects no boundaries, and as communicators first and foremost, hams the world over should have at least one mode in common. At present, there is only one mode all the world's HF-licensed amateurs hold in common: CW. Whether one chooses to use it or not does not matter; if the need arises he has it available to him (maybe at a slower speed than when he was first licensed!). The phone modes won't work as an international mode due to differences in languages, but there are sufficient code pro-signs so that a meaningful QSO can extend across language barriers. A digital mode could become the international standard, but until such time that every ham worldwide is so equipped and/or has the ability to build and self-maintain such equipment, CW will remain the common mode. The ITU has this global view while many individuals have only an insular nearsightedness - their own personal goals out-weigh those of the global amateur community.

(Daily worldwide comms don't normally take place above 50 MHz, so a common mode in that region can be chosen on a national level; for us it's of course FM phone.)

Not for the time period I'm referring to; it wasn't until 1917 that AT&T completely purchased deForest's patent rights (for a sum of $250,000). I might add that with the US entering WWI thus shutting down amateur radio,
"...it may well be that the abrupt cutting off of the amateur trade in radio parts had important bearing upon deForest's subsequent career..."
for up until that time, the amateurs were the main users of vacuum tubes.
(Archer's _History_of_Radio_to_1926_)

Prior to 1917, the phone companies were not impressed with tubes: "It is true that the audion was a great improvement over other forms of detectors of radio signals, but its amplifying characteristics were decidedly limited, especially when applied to wire telephony. The Telephone Company needed a relay or booster of current, yet the audion could operate only on a very low current - one one-hundredth of a watt. If forced higher than this it caused voice distortion and then broke into a blue glow and ceased to function as an amplifier. The fact that telephone engineers were able to pass one watt of electrical energy through an ordinary telephone transmitter, even though the results were not very satisfactory, caused them to be impatient with the deForest audion. No one at the time realized that the presence of gas in the imperfect vacuum of the audion was largely responsible for the erratic behavior of the device." (Archer)

Only the amateur community held the tube, with its short life-span and limited amplifying capability due to the ionization of the gas in the imperfect vacuum, in high regard.

Check your "references" rather than relying on your (faulty) memory, Gary.

That was a rhetorical question. Don't bother to answer.

For the reason stated in my opening paragraph, and because the reasonable request has been made to take the "313" and associated issues somewhere else, this discussion is concluded.

Yes, that's how it looks. I used a small minibox with two SO-239s for the RF pass-through and a BNC connector for the sample output.

I'd keep the lead from the center conductor to the resistor as short as possible, to minimize any impedance-change effects.

Recall something important he said when he first took over the job: He would rather work with the trouble-makes and give them a second chance rather than prosecute them. Also, the slow, careful, and deliberate process of collecting and analyzing evidence must be carried out in such a way so that the charges against a subject will hold up under the close scrutiny of a court of law, if a case has to go that far.

(Note: Erickson, who installed City & County of Honolulu's new digital UHF trunking communication system, now wants to charge the county $800,000 to make it Y2K compliant... They still haven't made the system work as promised [it's currently operating in analog -- digital won't work].)

K4TOF & N5WLY were already well known to amateurs frequenting local repeaters. No special "identification" of an unidentified entity had to be made.

Flippo in Jupiter, FL was well known to his neighbors for years due to his interference to their home electronic entertainment equipment. His neighbors "identified" him to the Miami field office and filed complaints on him for years. A few local amateurs knew his "identity" as well. All "identity" information was handed to FCC CIB. The Miami field office finally got off its ass after several congressional complaints were made and prosecuted Flippo.

"the process of analyzing & reporting technical information which will stand up in court.." so you say.
YES, exactly the point!, Hollingsworth has done NONE of that. Monintoring a few amateurs from his basement ham station, writing down their call signs, & then issuing a bureaucratic letter DOES NOT require special identification techniques and technical signal processing to make an IDENTIFICATION which will stand up in a court of law. In 1996, The CIB made a decision to no longer retain the highly trained personnel who performed that type of specialized work. It's all in the public record. Read it, educate yourself before you shoot off your uninformed mouth.

Unidentified & unlicensed operation is a daily fact, and is on the rise, both in AND out of the ham bands. Of course, self-centered ham ops are only concerned with their precious ham bands.

The three "cases" you mention are irrelevant.
Unlicensed & unidentified stations can operate in AND out of the ham bands with virtually no fear of getting caught. Riley's little basement ham station is of no concern to them.

Well, guess what. The answer is not zero. Just last week the FCC levied one of the largest NALs (even bigger than the $17.5K which OTK has never paid) $20,000, against a jammer (Willima Flippo) in Florida.

Of course your question is stupid to start with, because once the FCC has identified the jammer they obviously are no longer UNIDENTIFIED. Maybe BGO should draft you for his list.

Especially for real-time terminal programs DOS is much easier to deal with. In DOS your program pretty much has control of the computer. In Windows, windows has control and your program gets to run when windows lets it run. Windows 98 can be a problem even when running in a DOS box. Windows 98 decides to do some swap file clean up and all of a sudden your interrupts are gone and you are missing incomming characters. Now you have to test to see if the computer is running a 16550A uart and activate the FIFO. Messy!

In 1996, the CIB FINALLY finished the automation of the hf df system which has been limping along in bits and pieces for almost a decade, the major problem being the conflict between "buying" and "building" (I was in on several of those "conferences"). We wound up "building" which took a LOT of time.

As early as 1993, selected monitoring stations could be operated by remote control from other locations. The main difference between then and now is that the receiver tuning dials are manipulated by computer commands rather than by human hands and the df directional info is automatically relayed as digital data to Monitoring Control rather than being pounded into a Model 28 TeleType by the local watch officer and then sent to Monitoring Control.

As it stands right now, the computer-actuated remote hf df system can do a lot more in id-ing and locating stations becasue the mapping software is a bit more detailed than the string-and-weight system that Monitoring Control used in the manual input days. For yucks, we got closed to the Apollo capsule splashdowns using the string system than the Navy did with their sophisticated (for the 1970s) computerised antenna systems.

There are still "highly trained personnel" on duty at Monitoring Control at Laurel at all times. Charlie assures me that they have more important things to do than to spend all day listening to the junk that we seem to be discussing in this NG ad nauseum.

Yes, Mark, educate yourself before you shoot off your uneducated mouth.

1948. Rig interferes with landline modem

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 1999-07-20 00:00:00 UTC
From: Hamish Moffatt <hamish@rising.com.au> Message-ID: <7n22fpfku1@arachne.labyrinth.net.au>
Source record: 136146

The latest in my strange RF interference problems:

I have a dialup modem connected to a PC located approximately directly below the shack. RF (say 50W of AM) causes retries/retransmissions on the modem link -- eg running 'ping' on TCP/IP will show no packets being returned while the transmitter is keyed. Sometimes the link gets dropped.

The landline is provided by my cable TV company, though -- the line goes to some terminating equipment in a box on the outside of my house (the opposite side of the house to the shack) on twisted pair, then goes on coax to the cable company (and fibre on the way somewhere too).

The feedline is 50 ohm coax and runs out the window of the shack up to the feedpoint of the dipole antenna, which is approximately above the shack.
So the RF shouldn't come too close to the modem, the twisted pair, or the cable TV coax at any point.

Any ideas on how I can filter it? I'll try to change modems and change lines (eg to a normal twisted pair line) and work out exactly which component is being affected.

RFI problems seem to get me at every step. My computer causes S7+ interference, especially on the higher bands (eg 10m). Even when switched off it causes some interference (ATX power supply). Full power (100W) from the HF rig on 10m sometimes causes the switchmode PSU in the PC to shut down. What else could go wrong? Modems dropping the link ... :-(

Your RFI is coming from the landline into ur modem. And possible due to your antenna being to close. Try a phone line filter, such as K-com.

As for crap from the puter. Try grounding the CASE of the puter itself, not to the power line ground. Use a seperate ground. Also connect the radio equipment to the same ground. You may also have to move the equipment further apart.

Hi, I'm a new, young ham, college student... an my question is: Is a TS-520SE a good radio for strarting in the ham or is too obsolete?, What antena and coax I have to choose (economic, please...) to make some DX's with this rig; specially if I live in a building and the roof is too far - and the wind speed is very fast?.

Asmel Colina - YV1DOG.

Hola, soy un joven "aprendiz" de radioaficionado, y me han regalado un radio Kenwood TS-520SE, mi pregunta es: es bueno este radio para empezar, o es demasiado obsoleto?, y que antena debo utilizar, si vivo en un edificio alto, y con mucho viento; ademas de que cable coaxial puedo conseguir que no tenga mucha perdia, pues vivo en un piso bajo y la antena estar lejos...?

This is just an observation based on my 48 years as a ham. Seems to me, the average ham would rather "borrow" a piece of software indefinitely than pay for it. Most don't seem to be sensitized to the fact that it is criminal and immoral to steal software.

Apparently Ms. Marchand has taken her website down a couple of times in the last few days. Please don't send her any offensive messages, although polite messages attempting to show her the error in her ways would be just fine. Be careful when you send them, her email is not emily702@earthlink.net. Her email is suzannemarchand@hotmail.com.

BTW, the towers are NOT VISIBLE from her house and they are behind trees, back from my property line over 100 feet. In fact you can't see them from my property line unless you know where to look. I think someone pointed out what kind of eyesores hams can have. My towers aren't.

Because it is a sourse of revenue, the States each issue drivers licenses and automobile registrations. In the modern world cars can and do travel interstate just like airplanes do... Yet because airplanes are more recent, pilots and aircrafts are licensed and registered by a FEDERAL AGENCY. The same is true, for the most part, with ships.
Now one of the things that bothers some people about NY drivers licenses is that your date of birth is printed on the license. This is used to "proof" young people so that they can enter bars. It can also be used to prove that you are old enough to be eligible for senior citizen discounts....BUT some people feel it is an invasion of privacy when it gets looked at by a prospective employer who may be age discriminating and we all know that lots of people (especially OLs) may be sensitive about their age. Is the DOB on the drivers licenses in all states? Should it be? I dunno...but that is really not a matter of HAM POLICY...so maybe it doesn't belong here...EXCEPT for the fact that as a VE I must verify the identity of Ham license applicants and so I get to see their drivers license in most cases. A few people do feel funny about showing their age to strangers...That must be true otherwise how can they sell hair pieces, hair transplants and cosmetic surgery?

It doesn't bother me to show my age and be bald...Grass doesn't grow on busy streets.
Hams need MORE license classes,

Pray tell, where and when, in the entire history of the world, has there ever been a Jewish, African, "Hispanic," or Asian society which observed liberty or respected individual rights? Christianity (TRUE Christianity, not all the man-made fake imitations) is the ONLY religion in the world which enjoins doing good to all men regardless of their religion or race, and the Western Culture in its modern form, based on Christianity, is the only culture ever to formally and legally recognize the God-given rights and liberties of individuals. How much liberty do Arabs have in Israel, or Jews or Christians in Muslim countries? How much liberty did "democracy" advocates have at Tiananmen Square? How much liberty does anyone except the ruler and his cronies have in any typical African-ruled country? The liberty that you smart-alec antiChrists have here was won for you by Christ's death on the cross of Calvary and further secured by the blood, brains, and guts of Aryans. You are guests in OUR culture and you need to start behaving that way instead of trying to destroy what you are incapable of creating.

I'm in the process of restoring some old radio equipment and having a difficult time matching paint. What I'm looking for is a paint that I've seen some refer to as "crinkle" paint. The crinkle paint texture was common on older radio/scientific equipment. The resulting finish looks very much like extremely small crinkles. The closest thing I've found is what some manufacturers call "hammered". Actually, it's not very close at all...an entirely different texture altogether.

Does anyone know where I may obtain this type of paint?

Thanks very much for any help.

I concur. I had exactly the same thing happen to my FT-8000R. Assuming that the '8100 is built the same way, one could expect the same problem to happen to it as well. The volume/squelch pots are mounted on a right angled pc board and as I remember, there are several connections made to the main pc board on each side of this right angled assembly. These connections physically come loose, and electrical contact becomes intermittent, and wallah, you lose control of the radio. Only the mic can change bands, and volume/squelch only will change as you press "downward" on the volume/squelch knob, forcing a psuedo electrical connection. Once these connections are soldered, the problem goes away. It happened to me, and I fixed it myself with just a little trouble.

Takes
dissambling the control head, but that's where the problem is & has to be fixed.

Here's my $.02 worth of psychoanalysis:
a) Let's face it, AR has seen its heyday. Although it won't die, neither will it enjoy the enthusiasm expressed by previous generations of young people. There's too many exciting hobbies nowadays for this one to pique much interest.
b) As for Morse Code, it needs to exist because many hams are "graying" along with the rest of America and the Morse key is probably the only thing many of them can pound these days.

Abandon Microsoft Windows*.

The homebrew/private research/do it yourself/do it free ethic is alive and well.

You don't get cheaper than free (excluding copying costs), state of the art than the only operating system that provides native and standard support for Amateur Radio protocols, and designed for all puposes than that written by enthusiasts for

It was reported that the subject of no paper licenses being issued by the FCC was brought up at an ARRL board meeting. To his credit, Steve Mendleshon came out against the no paper license FCC idea. The ARRL BoD agreed that such a move would be against ARRLs policy and thus the ARRL is probably going to lobby and make an effort to oppose it. Aparently the ARRL does get heard by the FCC because they recently agreed that Hams need not put their telephone numbers on applications, although this is required for all non-Ham ULS licenses.
I dunno if the absence of a paper license, mailed via snail-mail by the FCC, is important in this day of accessible data bases. On the other hand the paper Ham license has long been a tradition and Hams may not feel that they are really Hams without getting the paper from the mailperson. Those of use who can get on-line can print out the official FCC listing of our call, name, address, class, etc. The print-out, since it comes from the official FCC ULS data base, would be as good as a snail-mailed license for most purposes...and it might give the idjits that started the whole ULS idea a chance to show that the internet data base system can save Uncle Sam some money after all.
Please keep thinking,
I never met a Ham I didn't like,
Bob Wex w2ilp (Important License Paper?)
Extra Class Ham...If you doubt it, look me up in the FCC data base.

Even if there are no paper licenses issued;...those who bootleg for ten years can not become common-law Hams.

It certainly is true that there are many techno oriented activities to attract young (and old) folks these days and you can be sure that most youngsters would rather figure out how to videoconference or engage in chats on the web then spend countless hours mastering morse. The usenet groups can be particularly captivating! And many of the once-active elmers are directing their attention to learning the ins and outs of WIN95 rather than chasing DX on 20m (and they have already mastered cw!).

My point: it may already be too late to save amateur radio from itself. A computer, modem and a telephone line are a lot cheaper than an HF station and tower, and leads to fewer complaints from neighbours! And frankly, the www is much more entertaining.

"Way to go" Jerry. I'm with you all the way. It is an article of faith with me that a properly designed, installed, and maintained tower and antenna array is NOT an eyesore, no matter how bizzare it may look to both (alleged) ham and non-ham critics.

Tower cases, both commercial and amateur, were a large part of my legal practice before I retired. I still consult to other

If you had a pair of balls you would say who you are. But you don't, and you haven't. My comment still stands. I doubt that the original message claiming to have control over Riley was sent by OTK; he is not that stupid. And while I hate OTK for the horrific things he has said about me and my family (remember thats his style), I think you are a close second on the curb. Have a nice night.

I am looking for Mr. Baker, the Torrance, California high school electronics teacher in 1963, or any of his students that became hams.

One student Butch Flemming - we called him Flame - his given name was Lawerence - was the only member of the class that was a licensed ham.

Lawerence was last known to be living in the Santa Barbara, California area.

All information greatly appreciated.

porkbut got caught kji got caught both of these guys where caught and put in time out. What I can't figure out is how James Obrian got caught in the act and nothing happened to him. I wonder if he ratted out some of the CBer trash over there next to Dallas GA? Did he turn in the local CB radio modifier in that area? I wonder if Bill Houston had something to do with the fact that James Obrian W4AMP never got put on time out? What has ever happened to another king jammer K4OKA Albert Abernathy? Why wasn't he put on suspension? I mean the list can grow and grow. As I have said on my web sight that FCC enforcement policy is a alot of HOT air. I have listened accross the 75-meter band and it is alot quiter than it was but the white noise jammer is still active on 3.950 one can hear squeeky from time to time and there is still alot of unlicensed activaty on 20-meters. Oh what about all the illeagal freebander sliding up into the 10-meter band and all the high powered amps on 11-meters. Heck we got a guy over in Colbert GA running 1100 watts all the time! I wonder if the FCC really did stop Darrel Beard from his illeagal activities or did he just go into hiding at 16 Giffith ave Danielsville GA. So did the FCC really have a crack down or did they close some doors for a short time to avoid a big messy court battle. What is the FCC doing now? So I just named a few that were caught how many were brought to justice should be the main question here!

You can by an aftermarket battery tray or buy from the gm house and it will bolt in direct< assuming this is not a 95 or newer pickup,you can either charge it at the same time you charge the original battery or use a battery isolator. Good luck.

I think a CW endorsement would be a neat way to get people interested in learning morse without actually having to force them to study it... and maybe a neat little diploma to go with it... with 5 WPM/10 WPM/20 WPM/etc stickers...

How many identified or unidentified have been caught to date is irrelevant. The relevant fact is that the FCC is now enforcing its regulations. Don't be surprised to find more and more amateur enforcement actions and to see enforcement move into the Children's Band.

Doing something is simple, having the will to do it is what's important and the FCC has now demonstrated the will to do something about it.

Unrepentant types who mock Mr. Hollingsworth after having their hands slapped with a relatively light penalty might want to stop and think for a minute. You were given a chance to straighten out. Keep it up, bite the hand that did not strike you, and the next time . . . . . .

No need for worry on that score. No one believes AF2Y's claim that he is working for Jeff, any more than they believe any of AF2Y's claims.

I've been participating in the rec.radio newsgroups in one way or another since 1996, and I've never seen them descend to as low a level as since AF2Y and his allies, and the rest of the 14313 crowd, arrived a few months ago.

AF2Y treats this group as his private preserve, where he can spray his putrescent slime at will, with absolutely no regard for the wishes of others, with an utter contempt for the standards of civilized discussion or the traditions of amateur radio, and with a penchant for bloody threats worthy of the lowest-level thugs at Murder, Incorporated.

In short, he is acting here in much the same manner which made him famous on the ham bands.

Lloyd et al,
I keep looking for amateur radio content in your posts, but all I see is some obsession you and others have for a particular individual. (Yes, you do come across as having an obsession.) It appears to this neutral party as if you think about that person day and night. Is that individual the extent of your amateur radio experience?

Why not contribute some technical expertise to the group, or pose some technical questions. Have you built anything, or do you have any current projects on the bench? If so, tell us about them.

W9XN,
I don't need nor have I solicited anyone's assistance. I quietly work collecting off-topic posts and their full headers from those who consistently and deliberately ignore the NG's guidelines, and provide such info to the AOL and Deja abuse investigators. Those who bait me (such as HO above) get special attention. No immediate consequences might come about, but each and every complaint does get recorded and posted to the news admin NGs.

This NG will eventually become a good source of amateur-related information again.

Well there certainly is no shortage of JERKS in Ham radio or anywhere else these days, and some of the DUMBEST things are right here on this NG. As one astute gentleman, who's name escapes me at the moment pointed out, the No Code license didn't save Amateur Radio so neither will the elimination of the Code requirement. I can't understand the hatred some people have against CW, "What's Your Problem"? Maybe some sort of "Transference"? Is that the right word, any shrinks out here? Eliminate the Phone bands, that's where all the trouble is, ask Riley! YOU GUYS ARE RUINING AMATEUR RADIO!

I have used this antenna (multi band 1/2 wave) for the better part of 25 years, and have even used it in an apartment attic. I works very well, but you might want to run QRP due to people's shitty telephones, tv's etc.

Some advice, please?

I'm sitting for the Tech license on Aug. 13, so I figured I'd plan for a transmitter, and I have a few questions:

I was planning on getting a Drake TR270, since I have the R8B and figure the company makes decent stuff - then I spied the ICOM IC-T81A for $399 that does 2M, 6M, 440MHz and 1.2 GHz... Any opinions??? The Drake is $599 and covers only 2M. The huge all band, all mode sets are incredibly expensive.

Also, I have the theory down with no problem, shaky with the code, but can probably sit for the 5WPM, although CW isn't all that important to me. Should I bother going Tech+???

Aside from the obvious portability with the HT, am I better off with the base unit?

Thanks,

Folks, don't mind "Polly." He's an example of the typical Tennessee hillbilly mindset. The Southern Baptist or Methodist mentality. Filthy and degrading and this pig walks around in honored vestments at his church. I mean-can you believe the hypocrisy inherent in his brand of Christianity? That's right; I said BRAND because his filth is PACKAGED TRASH. Well the dumbo eared fool is jealous of my beautiful daughter who's getting married this weekend and my beautiful wife. Unlike Polly's family, they did not commit suicide due to the fact that the breadwinner was a Mooresucker. Actually Polly had nothing until he remarried a hag named Ruth Crawford whose family owned lots of land down there in the backwoods. I did research on the Crawfords and Polly married for money and she for security since she resembled the back end of a mule. W4FQF was nothing more than a wrench turner for Sears, yet he'll try to tell you that his "elaborate" life style came from investments. Like hell it did. It was through the graces of one toothed Ruth that Dumbo is on easy street. Yet, to a stupid bigoted hillbilly like he, easy street is not having to use both sides of the toilet paper. George Ashley is an insult to the South but not to Pulaski Tennessee in which the KKK was founded and undoubtedly, based on his religious and racial intolerance, his uncle Cornelius Whitehood had an important role. I think it's something they better be real carefull with. I'm getting sick of all these people screwing around with the world. They may get that sucker cranked up and they may get something they didn't bargain for. I hope not. But it's a slim, but possible chance. My other pet peeve concerns the anal probes in the military who want to monkey with our weather and atmosphere. They are going to screw up the whole planet before they are over. heh heh MK

Oh really now? I'm curious, do you live here in Houston? Sure, they may have been known on a few local repeaters when they were acting fairly normal. In fact, I used to listen to K4TOF on a local 440 machine, acting normal by the way. But the jackasses that jammed the 2m machine in question did not use their normal voices. They either disquised their voices, or played music, or button pushed. If the people on that repeater had known who they were, someone would have gone over and kicked their asses by now. Trust me. They were about sick of it after more than 4 years of it. I knew one guy that was just itching to kick some teeth in after a run in with the most obnoxious one. He would have done it if he had known where to go. And the reason they did it , was because of some grudge they held against the local radio club. Which by the way, are not the official owners of the repeater. A local hospital group is.And the club just uses it at times and donates maintenance. And they were not the only ones caught. There were others. And by the way, that repeater is quiet now. So I'd say Rileys enforcement plan has done more in the last year, than all the non-enforcement did in the last 10. After all, yes you could foxhunt the people down, but after that what was left to do? I 'll tell you what. Nothing. The FCC HAS TO DO IT. We don't have the authority as hams to do a radio enforcement raid. In the past , a damn good way to get shot, if tried by hams, creeping around on someones property. All the people with any sense wouldn't touch it with a ten footer. MK

Why not put up a horizontal loop feed with twin lead or coax and run through a tuner. Make the loop as large as possible (you might even be able to run it across two units.

Will,
given the crowd he caters too, I don't think its really worth the drive.

There are probably other (better) places around town, but they seem about as easy to find as hens teeth.

however, if you want a good radio equipment dealer, you could try appollo communications on 43rd Ave and northern.

Hello Neil,

Don't count the DSP processors out quite yet. There is NO digital support in any of today's current radios and a great many of our customers are running DSP boxes in addition to their FT-920s, 870s, etc.

DSP design has not "run out of gas" and will remain ahead of the internal DSP design for awhile. We update our products on a regular basis. When was the last time you received an upgrade notice from a radio manufacturer that upgraded the DSP performance (or much else for that matter :>))?

I agree with the suggestion that finding used DSP-59+ or even DSP-9+ units to use with current used radios is a good idea. I run an FT-1000 with a DSP unit. There is not much that outperforms that combination. Likewise I operate in stations with 850's, 990's, and the IC-765 (one of the best CW rigs ever built) Its a great way to get a top DX or contest station without taking out a mortgage on the house.

Let me know what you think

If a garage was built with a varience for some reason (setback, side yard clearance, etc.) does that mean that the variance, once granted, only applies to the owner? I think not. The varianace is granted againt the property and should flow with the property to any new owner.

The exception to some of this tends to be non-conforming uses (as opposed to non-conforming structures). That has been a prime means that towns have used to get rid of businesses in residential zones.

My belief is that if something was erected or built legally at some point in time, it should be grandfathered until it is taken down. Here in NJ you can even rebuild, repair, replace as long as you don't exceed the existing inplace structure specs.

Again, I have a hard time believeing that anyone can be forced to take down a structure that was conforming)or was built with an approved variance) just because the zoning is changed...or if the area becomes incorporated.

Just my thoughts.

You'll probably never find anything that meets this one. Without some compelling reason to pay the registration fee, most people will just continue to use the software for free. "Honesty" and or "conscience" just isn't a compelling reason for the vast majority of software users today. I know, I know, you're the exception - congratulations on your excellent character.

Personally, I've found that the time-limited form of crippleware works best (e.g. the program runs for 15 minutes and then must be restarted, but otherwise has full functionality). This was how my last shareware product worked; most people felt it was more than fair. The only ones who complained about the scheme were the pirates who were too cheap to fork over $20 for a lifetime license. ;-)

I bought a MFJ-1796 vertical dipole for 40-15-20-10-5 and 2.

By the way, does any of this groups readers have a modification so the 10

I recently discovered "Four-Aces Communications" way out on Main in east Mesa (Val Vista). Has anyone done business with this guy? He seems to cater to the CB-crowd, new gear and service, though he has a side room full of BA gear, a lot of older Yaesu, pre FT-101, some Collins, Dentron, National, Hallicrafters, Heathkits galore, Hammarlund, everything but Drake it seems. I ask the question because everytime I go in there, the owner/head salesman/repair guy seems to be in the middle of an argument with a customer, and has asked some pretty steep prices, even for asking prices (like $800 for a pair of Hallicrafters 2 & 6 xvrtrs, kind of dingy, chipped cabinets, and $400 for a very dirty caseless SX-28 and speaker, bad filament winding). Should I even be bothering to stop in to look his pile over every month? I'd really like to hear from folks in the area who have done business there, or at least been there. What do you think?

Thanks to all who responded to my message, looking for a TimeWave DSP 59+. I have found and purchased a unit, it is soon to be on its way.

One suggestion for all those who have a non-DSP HF rig like I do, you probably should buy an external DSP while you can. It's looking more and more like this category of product is going the way of the carburetor and the slide rule. This is due to the fact that pretty soon all HF rigs are going to have DSP built-in, effectively killing off the add-on market.

A buddy of mine works across the river at NSA. He assembled a tech package on a several unidentified and unlicensed groups operating in the 6, 7, 14, and 16 mhz ranges, as well as in the ham bands. They were passing business & personal traffic in and out of the states from fixed & portable locations, sometimes mobile too.

He offered to courier the entire package to FCC HQ, whereupon a female at FCC told him to contact the ARRL! When he finally spoke to a "technical" person, the guy told him they no longer have any interest in information like this? The "technical" FCC person said the locational network was down due to numerous lightning strikes at remote sights around the country and has trouble with SSB sigs? But even if it up & running, they no longer had interest in this type of information.

Hi folks,

I'm new to HAM, so please be easy on me. :)
I live in a townhouse where the HOA will not allow antennas of any sort. I'm not even going to try and hide one outside since the HOA does frequent walk-through inspections. I am looking at the MFJ-1796 6 band antenna since it's only about 12' high. I could easily put it in my attic.
If anyone has opinions on this antenna I would appreciate hearing from you. For that matter, I'm not stuck on MFJ or even verticals. I just want something compact that will cover HF fairly well.
Thanks for your input.

Phil - I would avoid verticals, especially ones so short. They don't work very well. I went thru the apartment dwellers/townhouse dilemma for a number of years and was happiest with multiband 1/2 wave dipoles. Just use one center insulator and your 50 ohm coax of choice (RG58, 213, etc.) and connect multiple bands to the same center point.
I believe they show this in the ARRL Handbook. For the lower freqs like 40 (forget about 80 in an attic) you can bend the wire so it will fit. Also, if you use a 40m wire, you won't need one for 15m.
Good Luck,
Barry W2UP

Hamish my man. We want to solve your problem. The guy that was advising you W4NTI, was a agent for and selling , a homemade RFI filter cobbled together by that radio convict, WB2OTK.
His master. NOw, it is kind of ironic that he would suggest the K Com filters after shilling for years about these homebrew "PORK BUTT" ones he and WB2OTK were selling. He should send you no charge, some of the "PORKBUTT" filters to see if they will clear up your problem. All the grand claims for the filters would be vindicated... I feel your pain and hope you get the problem cleared up... ga day ...Rileygotcha

Asmel,
The TS-520SE is a perfectly good radio to begin your amateur 'career' with . I had a TS-520S and was happy with it. I don't think it has 160M though. If 'top band' is not a consideration, then go for it.

I am trying to working on a Varmit 600. I had a schematic that was located in the CB tips and tricks, the photo copy has gotten replaced. I returned to the local library and found the original was removed from the library. If you have a copy of this would you mind scanning me a copy. I would greatly appreciate the help. I am not sure which volume number it is in but I belive it was in 1-3. It may have also listed it as a Varmit 450.

The TS-520 is very old, but if it is in good condition it will serve you well as a starter radio. As for an antenna, dipoles are always good. A simple doublet fed with balanced line can serve as an all band antenna when used with a balanced tuner (or even when used with switched lengths of feed line substituting for a tuner if you're strapped for cash). If you insist on coax feedline, then you might consider a trapped dipole or multiband fan dipole instead. They are more trouble to build, but you can feed them from the TS520 without an external tuner.

2098. A WARNING ABOUT THAT 'BARFBOARD"

GENTLEMEN, and I use that term loosely,be wary of that new BARFboard! I'm beginning to believe it's a trap because of some computer problems I had developed. Isn't it strange that I can go to any website on this whole Internet thing and leave when I so desire without problems, YET it ain't so on that BARFieboard. I use a MAC and a Microsoft Internet Explorer Browser which seem to do a nice job. But whenever I go to the crappy thing set up by "Wheezie"Shittum and his stooges,the board is as dead as a doornail and when I try to exit,I get a complete freezeup. That's right-forced shutdown is even frozen. I called AOL tech and was told that there must be something wrong with the engineering on that site and knowing the way these BARF vermin operate, it must be a snare to bust hard drives and such.Hey look, I went out of my way for these snakes. I was solicited to join today and I did. That's right-the great AF2Y ashamedly lowered himself to become a member of that clown network(May God forgive me). In fact, I was BEGGED to join and I didn't want to hurt the cur's feelings. And lo and behold, for the fourth time in two days the same freezeup commenced. I was lured up there out of the kindness of my own heart. By joining I was even given a miniature swastika stamp for my QSLs and a picture of Kevin Stromitler wearing a yarmulka. I looked the other way but dammit,now I'm out for blood. There are a lot of great guys on this board and I don't want to see your computers injured. I'm no expert in "puters" and I'm not trying to pass myself off as one, but my intuition tells me that the BARFrats are up to NO GOOD. Just be careful,guys. Also I want to acknowledge the hundreds of e-mails by this forum's users pleading with me not to leave. Here are a few of the messages, "We love you Doc.You've made this an exciting and fun place. Don't leave." And ,"You have a great sense of humor and we'd be lost without you." And,"Don't leave this board to the dumb goys. They've screwed up enough already." And,"Doc,you know the good from the bad. You're like a Riley Finkelstein." I want to say that I'm deeply touched by your warm sediments even as muddy as they are and I will not abandon my beloved flock. BEWARD OF THE BARFBOARD. It ain't kosher! AF2Y

2099. howto get started in DATA radio?

Can anyone spare a little time for some advice for a naive beginner?

THE QUESTION:

I have a good PC with win98/linux 2.2.10 , and a 2m multimode (trio) , and a typical voice/fax/modem (for my internet connection). Class B license I know significantly more about computers than radios.

I would like to try ANY form of data communication with the minimum initial expenditure.
There seem to be so many possible data modes to use I don't know where to start, so I may aswell start with what equipment I've got, then go from there.

So what are the easiest/quickest things to get going with (I am prepared to do some timkering if neccesary, and can spend some modey but not much).

THE EXCUSE

Please excuse the lameness of my question, but I got a class B license 1 year ago (self-taught), and bought a 2m multi-mode (trio). I chatted a little via local repeaters and got bored quickly.

I now have a PC at home and am interested in what I can do with it. I would really like to get back into radio, but I don't know another soul with a license, and have'nt had much luck in meeting any. I'm short of advice basically and I've looked in books and found too much information to cover in detail myself. It seems that the possibilities are endless.

OH YES, MUCH more important things these "highly trained" personnel do: WATCH TV, SLEEP, continually bitch & complain about how small their pay check is..... oh yes, VERY important things like this.

Riley had just climbed down the tower from installing my new full spaced 17 element tri-bander when in walks this blonde bimbo - I mean bombshell with the goodie tray again. A 4 layer apple cinnamon crunch cake fresh and piping hot from our brand new $98,414.00 self cleaning oven, and a cannister of freshly made french vanilla ice cream from our new $24,242.00 self cleaning ice cream churn.

She divided the cake evenly between me and Riley and then piled at least 24 huuuuuge scoops of ice cream on each helping of cake, then topped it with what must have been 2 or 3 quarts of warm, rich caramel syrup.

When we finished our afternoon snack, Riley wiped his chin on his sleeve and said "I like you, Porky. I think we can fix that 120 day suspension". If you losers had this life style, maybe Riley would let you get away with murder too. Heh heh. Now you know what it's like to be Well, folks, now I am offering free web pages on the domain hfradio.org -- if you need a place to hang your hat, please consider creating your homepage at http://hfradio.org -- already have some taking up the offer... why not you? Free, after all. No ugly watermark images floating about, or obnoxious banner windows popping up every time you move around.

Need a place for your club website? Your special dx-pedition? Your homepage? Simply fill out the form off of the main page at http://hfradio.org/

Your page address would be http://hfradio.org/yourcallsign/ -- and you can have an email address alias of yourcallsign@hfradio.org. Free. For non-commercial ham sites only. If you need a commercial site, or need custom solutions, let me know with the online form.

And, of course, as always you can create azimuth maps, check dx, propagation, or swap and shop. And more. At the http://hfradio.org site.

2142. Dentron ClippertonL HF Amplifier

Hello. I have been looking at legal limit HF amps (especially for contesting/DX work) and my eye caught the the Dentron ClippertonL. As far as I can tell, these amps will put out 1500w+ PEP on SSB, and around 1000w on all other modes from 160m-10m including 12/17/30. And, as far as I can tell it will work on AM/FM/CW/SSTV/RTTY/SSB and will run fine on a 220 plug. And I assume that these amps have a built in power supply, correct? Please let me know if I'm wrong with any of the above or if there's anything else I should know about the amp. Thanks for reading!

Good question, R-G. We did some research and found the following so far:
She can suck the chrome off a trailer hitch.
She can suck a football up a soda straw.
The jury's still out on the credit card thing, though. We'll update the n-g

If you are technically inclined, your best bet if you are serious about HF is to go straight for the Extra class ticket. The main reason is it is less work to learn the code at 20WPM than to first learn it at 5, then 13, then 20 as you upgrade.

I see a lot of good advice in the preceding posts, and agree with most of it. A PC and a good program is the way to go. On my site, in the RADIO area, are some hints for learning the code, and a couple of shareware programs that are popular with hams. The old standby, SUPERMORSE, is the one I used. Very versatile. Can be difficult to get running correctly on modern computers, but it is very do-able. Nu-Morse is more windows friendly, but this shareware version will only go up to 10/20 speed. Supermorse goes up to 50.

20 to 22 WPM is a good speed to learn at. Some PCs have a hard time accurately forming dits at 25 or above, especially without a sound card. The PC speaker ends up almost just clicking on some older machines. Newer ones are better in this regard. Also, anything over 22 WPM is difficult to hand copy, even if you know the tricks. 22 is good for passing the 20 because it will make the test sound slow to you.

Tapes are not so good, if you ask me, unless you make your own fresh one every 2 or 3 days, recording from the PC speaker, or the sound card output.

My URL is in the sig.

I was going to put an online CW tutor together but never got that project off the ground yet due to other interests.

The written stuff is pretty easy for a technophile. I would think that you should be prepared to take the writtens long before you are ready for the code test. 2 months of reasonably hard study should get you your Extra class ticket if you are pretty good at testing and have a technical background. That is also a good time to get comfortable with the code. But hey... if it takes 6 months, or 12 months, so what?

Go for the big license. You will have ALL ham priveleges, and a certain amount of "bragging rights", but don't overdo that. The tests will help round out your knowledge of radio. You get a shorter callsign.

A shame you never went on the air with CW, Charles, especially after passing the 20WPM test. If you can copy the test tape at 20, you can work conversational CW OTA. You would have found a much more cordial and courteous class of operator there, speaking generally. I have yet to hear the forst word of profanity on CW.

I agree that the PC is a powerful tool to learning the code. I used SuperMorse to get from almost zip to Extra speed. I listened to WLO sending the WX and traffic list at 31 WPM as well, and the sweat factor listening to this perfectly sent but pretty fast code, with so many prosigns and numbers was a big help. Also I got some air time with my first license, Tech Plus, before upgrading to Extra. Still the PC was the most effective method. I used to make myself a fresh tape for my microcasette recorder every other day. I could carry it around in a shirt pocket, and listen for 2 or 3 minutes, several times a day.

I have Nu-Morse and also SuperMorse available for download at my site, in the RADIO area, for anybody interested.

Well
Your open game in this newsgroup I'll tell you that now.
Now I'm going to try and help you! As far as you computer genarating RF. That is a problem with the sheilding of your case. If you have a old style case or a lesser expensive case that is your problem. It leaks!
You might go with a more sheild freindly case. I'm not sure what kind of box you have. You could line the inside of you case with Aluminum foil just be sure you mother board is well insulated from the foil. A short can be costly. I tried a porkbut filter and it seemed to work at low power under 100 watts but the minute I turned the amp on bang offline. I took some mica 100 uf caps and put them across the phone line. That made a big differance and solve alot of my on line problems while running my mouth on the radio. Are you running a external modem or a internal modem? A external modem is a better modem to go online with but harder to get the rf out. I took some ferrite beads and put them on my seiral cable and on the phone line as well as the 100 uf mica caps. (the green ones). A internal modem isn't as good as a extrnal modem (in my opinion). However they are alot easier to get the RF out. You can try one or two beads on the phone line as going accross the line at the input of the modem with a 100 uf cap. You can also request your phone company (cable company in your case) for some filtering. They will help you out. Beware if you are getting into yours your probley getting into other peoples so you might want to solve your proble so you can help solve other peoples problems too.

I hope that helped you. I hope you solve your problem. I hope my spelling hasn't offened you. I'm sure the idoits here in this news group will have something to say about it.

Nat
I have a Clipperton L. They are nice amps but they only do 1200 watts out. The band switch is week on 10-meters. The amp has a voltage doubler as a power supply. Its a good amp once one gets by these flaws. Watch out when you buy yours. I had to replace the band switch I couldn't find one so I used the band switch out of a SB-220 In doing so You have the choice of losing 160 or 10. The band switch will not cover 6 positions.
Its a strong switch though. I also had to replace the caps in the power supply. The amp has some age on it now so you migh want to pay attention to those filter caps. They get moister in them and want to short out.
The amp dose not have a tuned input unless the guy your getting it from installed one. So you might want to pay attention to the SWR between the rig and the amp.

I hope this helped

I'm using an external. Actually, my original post wasn't clear -- I have a PC on the desk next to the rig, and it causes lots of interference, and the rig causes interference to it on 10m on high power (100W).

But the modem being affected by RF is on a different PC, located downstairs from the rig.

John, you are correct, there will probably be a market for add-ons for "a while", I didn't mean to imply there was some kind of dark curtain about to fall in 2 days.

Funny you should mention it, but I've had the frustrating experience recently of trying to find a new slide rule (no kidding). My son is a budding math lover, and I wanted to show him how elegant this tool is, not that I ever expected him to ditch his programmable calculator.

All I could find, after an extensive search, was a dusty, old, really cheap knock-off, with horrendous accuracy, and badly printed numbers. Forget about finding a good new circular one like a K&E, which is what I really wanted...

And no, folks, please don't inundate me with offerst to sell me your slide-rules. The fever has passed.

But the point is there. Just like audio "pre-amplifiers" had their day, I believe so, too, have the external DSP units. Yes, they probably have some bells and whistles that the internal ones don't, but the clock is ticking. Ya don't see too many UHF to VHF convertors for TV's any more, do you? (boy am I dating myself).

Surely you jest....mica 100uf....I would think that would be a difficult component to fine. I normally use a value of around .01 to .05 ufd(mfd). For the frequencies involved (HF) I would think that would be more appropiate. So I assume you made a typo.

In anycase since Hamish indicated it is mainly from his 100w on ten meter system causing the trouble I would like to ask some more questions.

How many phones and/or other devices on your phone line?

Have you tried removing one item at a time and try to determine what instrument is being bothered?

Are your phones of "new technology" or do you have some of the older types with carbon microphones?

If you have any old style...take a .01 to .05 disc ceramic cap and place it across the "MICROPHONE" of each such phone.

If you have multiconductor phone line, GROUND any unused wires to a good seperate earth ground (not the AC electrical ground).

Just some more food for thought Hamish.

Hello. I have a few questions about the Drake L-7 amp that I hope someone can answer for me. Any and all help would be appreciated. Thanks a lot for reading!

1. Does this amp work on AM/FM/CW/SSB/RTTY?
2. It does work from 160m-10m with 12/17/30, correct?
3. The amp will do close to 1500w SSB, and around 700w all other modes, right?
5. And about how much does it cost to re-tube it?

From what I hear, Brother Stair was a no name pipsqueak backwoods preacher in some pine barren forsaken hole somewhere in my state,N.J. Then one day, while sitting on the toilet, Jesus told him he was the last day prophet of God but it wouldn't fly up here. We Garden Staters are much too smart to buy into such nonsense, so Stair took off for the hills of South Carolina which was fertile ground for a lying creep who could bilk honest farmers out of money.
Remember the Bible Belt is filled with millions of dumb bastards who believe that unless they pay for someone to pray for them, they'll end up in hell with Mike Galego,KE2LO and many other perverts. Brother Stair has a shtick and if no one knows what that words means, it's taken from the "Jewish Alps," the "Borsch Belt" in and around Ellenville,NY, the home of places like the Nevele Country Club. Grossingers, the Waldmere, Browns, Concord and other famous resorts in which the great comics of today got their start. Their acts were known as "shticks." Like Rickles's shtick is insulting people out of their minds and Jackie Mason's is ribbing nationalities and so forth and so on. Now you know where AF2Y gets his sense of humor. These fellows are his idols but dolts can't understand it. Stair is as much a last day prophet of God as I. The man's a braggard, a liar and a crook but nonetheless CONVINCING. Elmer Gantry, Billy

Sunday and Father Coughlin rolled into one. A screaming cajoling threatening a-hole who is able to convince poor unsuspecting souls that the end times are here and Jesus is coming to town so you better be good and you better not pout.One day the world will wake up and shut the fool down but by the time it happens, he will have bilked many people out of millions. I have found out some new information on the Icom IC-W2A that I have for auction on Amazon.com.

The radio can be modified to expand the receive to include: 118.00-170.00, 322.00-513.00, and 800.000-970.000. This is a keypad modification and doesn't require opening the radio, cutting wires, or soldering. The 800 MHz band is continuous which means it covers the cellular radio band.

You can find this mod as well as mods for cross band repeat function, extended transmit, signal level and weak transmit audio at: http://www.mods.dk/mod/icom/ic-w2a.htm

Like I have previously stated, the radio I am selling is in "Brand New" condition. The link to the auction is: http://auctions.amazon.com/exec/varzea/ts/auction-glance/Y03X2028451X3164214

If you have any question please email me.

ARRL Southwest Division Convention
October 1-3 1999 aboard the Queen Mary in Long Beach, California

Press Contacts:
ARRL Southwest Division Director Fried Heyn
(714) 549-8516 wa6wzo@arrl.org

HAMCON Chairman Nate Brightman
(562) 427-5123 nehtan@juno.com

HAMCON Banquet Chairwoman Elizabeth Heather
(562) 863-6607 kc6ofs@angelfire.com

July 4, 1999 (Long Beach California): ARRL Southwest Division Director Fried Heyn, WA6WZO and HAMCON '99 Chairman Nate Brightman K6OSC, are honored to announce that FCC Legal Advisor for Enforcement, W. Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, will be the featured banquet speaker at the 1999 ARRL Southwestern Division Convention. Hollingsworth will speak on Saturday evening, October 2, on the Queen Mary Ocean Liner Hotel in Long Beach Harbor California. Film/Television producer Dave Bell, W6AQ, will be master of Ceremonies for the event.

In addition to speaking at the banquet, Hollingsworth will also host an open FCC Forum earlier in the day.

Hollingsworth is being hailed as "ham radio's great American hero" by the nations Amateur Radio community for his work in returning the amateur spectrum to the law-abiding ham community while ridding the service of the small but vocal minority of operators who flout the law. His work in this area has won him the praise of all sectors of America's ham radio society which clamored for years for a greater regulatory presence.

"He is truly the man of the hour and the kind of person that ham radio needs as its point man and we are delighted that he will take the time to join us on the Queen Mary to share his views on enforcement and the overall future of the Amateur Radio Service," says Director Heyn.

It has been less than a year since the world of Amateur Radio began hearing the name Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH but this South Carolina native is no stranger to the FCC or Amateur Radio. Since September of 1998 this fifty-two yea old attorney has almost single handily revived what many considered to be the FCC's morbid Amateur Radio enforcement effort and has resurrected the specter of federal sanctions against the scofflaws and troublemakers that are harassing legitimate ham radio operations.

"He is the right person at the right time in the history of Amateur Radio and draws standing-room-only crowds wherever he appears," says Hamcon Banquet Chairwoman Elizabeth Heather, KC6OFS.

"I am glad that he was able to make room in his very busy schedule to travel almost 3000 miles to be with us. It shows his commitment to all of ham radio and I believe that this will be the division banquet that will be remembered into the next century," Heather added.

Heather's comments appear to be right on the mark in that wherever Hollingsworth appears he is mobbed with hams who support him and wish him well.

"Its almost as if there is a silent majority in ham radio and they are all speaking out at once in support of Hollingsworth's efforts on the enforcement front," adds Director Heyn.

The ARRL Southwest Division Convention is slated for October 1-3. 1999 on board the Queen Mary Ocean Liner Hotel, Pier J in Long Beach California. It is located at the south tip of the Long Beach Freeway and is only a short, half hour drive from Los Angeles International Airport.

Banquet tickets are limited and you are advised to reserve seats early.

Whata hoot 3.950 LSB was last night! The guy in Arkansas gets on and claims he's being jammed by somebody. None else is on the air.
(He's might be talking to the brew from the brown bottle I guess)
On comes the guy from Pennsylvania. Now if these two aint a matched set of bowling ball bookends then I don't know who or what is!
They start hurling monoslabic slurred speech insults at each other and can't even HEAR each other because both of these morons are DOUBLING with each other 80% of the time and don't have the gray matter in the attic to figure.
This went on for about 20 minutes. Wish I had a tape recorder next to the R-71, sheet! If you missed it you missed a classic! Sounded like a cross between a heated argument at the Retard Clinic and cats making more cats in the yard at 2:00 AM.

I would love to put these two, and the rest of the lot of both sides of the 3.950 "Hatfield/McCoy RF Feud" participants in a big room full of pies, party favors and one of those big brass lighted bowls in which a cherub pees re-circulated Red Hawaiian Punch. I'd lay odds shortly after the guy in Virginia pours his handy hip-flask full of hooch into the bowl that a conflaguration ensues that would almost equal that of those great Three Stooges 2-Reelers!

So be sure to tune into 3.950 LSB (and the new "alternate" - 3.980 LSB) for a great time of SWiLlin radio fun. Beats Brother Stair's and Art Bell's goofy radio call in guests hands down!

Real men use only a White Mountain brand hand-cranked freezer.

I sooner see my sister in a whorehouse than eat homemade ice cream from an electric freezer.

And, real men do not allow people of the female gender to turn the crank on the ice cream freezer.

Riley had finished waxing my new $84,278.00 Seville STS and was in the middle of shining my literally dozens of pairs of new $2578.79 a pair Gucci shoes today when in walked a certain blonde bumfuzzle - I mean bombshell with "the platter" again. On each plate was a thick, juicy 3 pound slice of medium rare prime rib fresh and piping hot from our new $758,545.52 self cleaning oven, with au jus and a quart of horseradish dip on the side.

Oh yes, there was this gigantic potato, baked to perfection and oozing with what must have been a quart of butter and sour cream, fresh-fried bacon bits, and lots of green onoin. And the customary huge bowl of tossed salad, fresh from our $450,745.29 garden, and literally gallons of ice cold Thousand Island dressing.

Riley just can't believe the fringe benefits of living in my basement and being my house-boy. He even said so. He said to me, "Porky, I just can't believe the fringe benefits of living in your basement and being your house-boy."

A pleasure to tell you my good man SWL002, a sinic is a fancy word for Chinaman or Chinahog as in the case of Swartzbargs daughter, who is the porcine daughter of a cross between a low land Gorilla and a Female Chinese love for sale, slave who perfected the art of sucking credit cards. See wedding announcement in (BARF FORUM)! But not as low down in the skum as PORKBUTT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Again my good man and Sterling poster SWL002 I will explain "porcine" means pig like features. But I was wrong. AF2Ys daughter is in fact a HOG who has taken the art of sucking credit cards to a higher level learned at the instruction of her mother the 1/2 gook. She not only looks porcine, she is the Devil HOG incarnate. But not as Devilish as PORKBUTT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I suggest you use one of the unused alt.radio.* newsgroups - they work
instead of the rec ("recreational") hierarchy, but because of that, they might not be available to everyone. (Which ever one you choose, ask your ISP to subscribe to it if you can't pull it up.)

Try alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest -- maybe the few folks who hang out on there would welcome some company. It was set up to take the flames off rec.radio.scanner, but flames are flames (tm).

Carolina Ham Rejects Sanction, Turns in Ticket
NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 23, 1999--A South Carolina ham who was the target of an FCC enforcement action has turned in his Amateur Radio license rather than accept a license modification that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.

FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, reports that General class licensee Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, informed him yesterday via e-mail that he wanted to turn in his ticket. Hollingsworth had no comment on the matter other than to say that WB2OTK's license was submitted for cancellation.

A follow-up letter mailed to Whiten today simply says, "Pursuant to your communication of July 22, 1999, we have accepted your license for cancellation, effective as of the above date, and dismissed the application for call sign W2OTK."

Whiten had applied for the vanity call sign W2OTK, but the FCC had set aside his application pending the outcome of the enforcement action.

Under a license modification imposed June 30, Whiten was to stay off the HF bands until October 25. In return, assuming no further violations, the FCC would clear its books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues and grant his vanity call sign request.

Whiten had been given 30 days to protest the license modification.

WB2OTK has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about its operation. Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify."

In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC has not gone into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

Yes, I guess Rich turned in his license to Riley, rather than accept his 120 days in the HF corner. Rich probably figured that Riley would feel sorry for him, and beg him not to do it.

But I guess Riley GLADLY accepted the license. But Rich is a schemer! He MUST have had a back-up plan just in case Riley accepted his license.

Rich probably figures that he can sit down at a VE testing session, and fly through the Novice, Tech and General exams in one sitting. If he does it this Saturday, he could be BACK ON THE AIR WITHIN TWO WEEKS!! Of course, this is A LOT shorter time out than 120 days. He could then apply for a new vanity callsign, and possibly get W2OTK once again. All this, without punishment.

Someone needs to notify Riley that Porky SHOULD BE REQUIRED to serve his 120 in the corner if and when he gets a new license.

Chuckie,

You're not going to be hammering anyone, anywhere. No B.A.R.F. member is going to have a flame war with you in this forum. Those days are all over. We have ALL been asked to take our private feud elsewhere. You have been provided with the ways and means to carry on your hate war in another venue. You punked out... just like you always punk out. So stay here and convince the rest of the ham community of what we already know about you.

If you work very hard at it, you'll soon have a whole new set of "enemies" that you can brand as Neo-Nazi's and Anti-Semites. There will undoubtedly be a few in here who have nothing better to do than to exchange insults with a hate-driven certifiable lunatic. Have fun.
When you're ready to receive the shellacking that you so richly deserve, you know where we are.

Dear Ham colleagues,

We have just placed on our family Web site a memorable story from the last part of the Cold War. It is:

The Saving of Oleg
http://www.igc.org/traubman/oleg.htm

It is a portrayal of international ham, citizen, and medical cooperation. It illustrates how citizens -- even "enemies" -- working together can make a difference.

I hope you enjoy "The Saving of Oleg" and share it with others.

http://hamradio-online.com: Great Stories!

Since 1995, Ham Radio Online has become one the oldest, continuously published online "magazines" on the Internet, with feature stories from around the world - stories that you won't find anywhere else. Plus, you'll find the original killer ionospheric propagation forecasts, disaster and emergency communications resources, an online calendar of events, bulletin boards and a huge library of articles going back to 1995. HRO is now read in 108 countries.

Ham Radio Online, in spite of its professional appearance, is published as a hobby and receives no income from any source and does accept any paid advertising. Period. You are welcome to reprint our stories in your club newsletter and at your web site, per our simple reprinting guidelines asking that you give us credit as the source (details available at the web site).

Please pay us a visit and read some of current stories, such as "The Saving of Oleg" (a gripping true story), "EMF Researcher Fakes Data", The "Wanna Tinker" Construction project series, now at installment #18, and "Opinion: Marketing Amateur Radio". Plus, if you have not read it yet, check out the danger to Amateur Radio coming from home computer networks that use home telephone wiring - these horrible devices operate from 5.5 to 9.5 Mhz - right in the middle of the HF frequencies, spewing forth radio frequency interference and receiving it just as well. Unfortunately for ham radio, as of May 1999, they account for nearly 1 in 4 home computer networks now being installed.

I hope you can stop by and enjoy this web site. If you have a story to contribute, please send it along.

I'll be flying in for the wedding in my new $74,424,500.00 Lear Jet, and the stretch limo will be waiting to pick us up on the tarmac. I'll also be taking a certain blonde dumbell - I mean bombshell. Riley will be coming in with us, of course.

He just couldn't believe it when I said we'd let him ride up with us in the Lear Jet. He even said so. He said to me, "Porky, I just can't believe you're letting me ride up to the wedding with you in the Lear Jet."

Don't worry about a ride in the Lear, losers. You're not even invited to the wedding. Heh heh. The only one driving a Lear Jet to the wedding will be me, PORK BUTT !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

You bet I'm angry. I spent much time hunting down that so -called formidable BARF board headed by that phony wheezer from Tipton, Indiana,W9XN. In fact, I even registered with those BARF rats to be able to get a link to it while in truth I wouldn't tinkle on them if they caught fire. Yep, I made believe I had run ins with Rich and Dan just to convince the slobs of my "sincerity." And all I got were questionaires from Frankie, like "Do you really love us or are you a BARF wannabe etc?" Love you turds? Christ-you're lower than what crawls around on ocean floors. Frankie, whatever you caught from Uncle Herbie, I hope it comes off with soap and water. So where are all the big bad BARFies on alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest(unread)? I know where one is, N0VFP. Instead of making love to that buzz cut lady he sits with in his phony Born Again church, he's lying in a fetal position, sucking his thumb while listening intently to either the 3.950 Nazis or to anti-Semitic David J.Smith on the 7 mHz band. Riley and I were sitting here tonight working some real good dx on 11 meters with one of my CB amps when in walks a certain blonde bumble-brain - I mean bombshell, with the goodie tray again. Fresh and piping hot from our new $95,749.82 self-cleaning oven were about 6 dozen huge home-made cherry turn-overs, with a thick layer of melting vanilla frosting on top. As usual, there was the 2 gallons of ice cold milk and a carafe of hot gourmet coffee. Riley went QRT with the CB station in northern Mongolia and we got down to business.

Ever since Riley moved into my basement, his life has been one of constant astonishment. He even said so. He said to me, "Porky, ever since I moved into your basement, my life has been one of constant astonishment."

Ok, i know someone else out there must have a 96 Mazda 626 and must have put a mobile radio in it. Where did you mount the radio? I'm trying to find the best place for an Icom IC-2100H. The factory pocket under the radio looks promising if i can figure out how to get it out and secure the radio. Any other ideas?

need info on an auto antenna that will work on most bands including 39-44mhz as well as 866mhz and withstand wind...like the kind you find in hte PSP area at night on I-10 I drive that stretch often. I hada RS magnetic antenna that got blown off during a gust on a recent trip.

I prefer magnetic antennas because I can move them if I co into a parking structure so i am not annoyed by that thump of the antenna hitting the beams and anything else.. I drive a F-150 pickup.

My first reciever was an old SWL set with BFO. My first transmitter was homebrewed crystal controlled using a pair of 2N2222A's and the whole thing cost me about $20 and took two hours to build and test. Output was probably about 1/4 watt. First antenna was scrounged wire and coax made into a 40M inverted vee. First key was made from a wooden drawer knob, a board, a piece of hacksaw blade, and assorted screws. I didn't make a LOT of contacts with that rig, but I made some, and a couple hundred miles was not unusual. My first storebought rig was the brand new TS-50S and with the CW filter, it cost a bit over $950, brand spanking new in the box. A fan dipole used up 3 coils of copper antenna wire from Rat Shack. I made plenty of contacts with the new rig, and in addition, it made a pretty good SWL reciever. 6 years later, I still have the Kenwood as my only storebought rig.

Since you already know basic electricity, I suggest picking up a copy of the ARRL Handbook. This is the closest thing hams have to an all-inclusive, settle-any-argument, text that has something to teach about every aspect of ham radio. It will present all the basic knowledge you need to build a simple transmitter. The ARRL also has a couple of books with QRP (low power) homebrew designs for transmitters, receivers, power supplies, antennas, and other equipment. If you want to get your feet wet cheaply, and are up to a fairly tough challenge, consider building. You can even build from a kit if you want to spend a little more.

Making solid contacts with a watt or less is tough at times, and operating is actually more of a challenge than the actual building. Simple gear generally means operating CW, Morse Code, on the HF bands, and so you will be wanting at least a Tech Plus class license.

The ARRL web site at http://www.arrl.org is a wealth of information. There is some radio stuff at my site, but sad to say a lot of it is chronically under construction. Take the link to the AC6V site for LOTS of information.

I hate to sound partial to the ARRL, but they do publish a lot of great technical books for the ham, especially the new or aspiring ham. "Now You're Talking!" is the study guide for the Novice, Tech, and Tech Plus class licenses. You can order it from teh ARRL, or usually you can get it from Rat Shack.

There are a LOT of classroom applications for Ham Radio. You can demonstrate RF resonance, amplifier/oscillator theory, design, and operation, electro-mechanical resonance, capacitance/inductance, and lots of other simple to fairly advanced topics. You could even begin with a simple spark-gap transmitter as outlined in Rat Shacks "Engineer Handbook" series, and work up to a single transistor Ham transmitter. A full featured transciever could serve as an example of a complex unit made up of various sub-systems to illustrate general electronics design.

As for what activities within the sphere of ham radio you can do, they are legion. Myself, I prefer using hand-sent Morse Code on HF to make casual contacts for no particular reason except just to see who will answer, and exchange nearly the same views, questions, comments, and information as if they were sitting across a table from me. I don't QSL, and don't save ones I recieve, and never ask for any. Some others make a real big deal out of it, and get quite a kick out of getting a rare one, and actively pursue various awards for working 100 or more countries on various modes. Others like contesting, which to many is a fast paced and exciting pastime. Some participate in traffic nets, passing messages around the world. Some people participate in nets that handle personal traffic from ships and yachts at sea. Some experiment with exotic digital modes or image modes. You can work stations a couple thousand miles away with a simple VHF transciever via ham radio satellites. Personally, I think that a simple CW only rig on HF is the ideal entry into the hobby, but a strong case can be made for buying a used hand-held VHF FM transciever, and not even bothering to learn Morse Code, or buying a used rig and still starting with HF. A ham radio club in your area is a tremendous resource, and you may find an old-timer with a rig he will even lend you, or there may be a club station that you can use as a member.

Sad to say, this newsgroup is not the venue that it once was for exchange of information. Flames, cross-posts, off topic posts, and spam dominate the group now. But still there are a few here who will help you out. Just put on your toughest set of bullshit filters, and keep your pants tucked in your boots. Follow all the ham radio web links you can find. If you don't understand some material, bookmark it and check it out a few months later when you may have absorbed prerequisite knowledge.

Eventually you will probably acquire one or more "Elmers", old timers eager to pass on what they know to a new generation of hams. This is another popular activity, and your Elmer will enjoy sharing with you even more than you appreciate the help. Later on, you will no doubt "Elmer" some other new ham. More and more Elmering is done online these days, but there may be someone in your neighborhood who is eager to serve in this capacity.

Good luck, and my URL is in the sig

This is a great FM Stereo transmitter for around the house and yard. Audio quality and stereo separation is excellent. Be careful though, running it on high power with a good antenna will yield you several square miles of coverage! I run mine on low power and use a dipole hanging from the basement rafters to contain my pattern to within FCC limits. Ramsey's support for building the kit is also excellent.

Carolina Ham Rejects Sanction, Turns in Ticket
NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 23, 1999--A South Carolina ham who was the target of an FCC enforcement action has turned in his Amateur Radio license rather than accept a license modification that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.

FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, reports that General class licensee Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, informed him yesterday via e-mail that he wanted to turn in his ticket. Hollingsworth had no comment on the matter other than to say that WB2OTK's license was submitted for cancellation.

A follow-up letter mailed to Whiten today simply says, "Pursuant to your communication of July 22, 1999, we have accepted your license for cancellation, effective as of the above date, and dismissed the application for call sign W2OTK."

Whiten had applied for the vanity call sign W2OTK, but the FCC had set aside his application pending the outcome of the enforcement action.

Under a license modification imposed June 30, Whiten was to stay off the HF bands until October 25. In return, assuming no further violations, the FCC would clear its books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues and grant his vanity call sign request.

Whiten had been given 30 days to protest the license modification.

WB2OTK has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about its operation. Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify."

In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC has not gone into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

2275. KK7HO: blames his daughter for email spamming

What is KK7HO's (Tim Volz, Las Vegas) ajenda?
Why does he spam and polute our newsgroup?

Last week, when confronted (on air) about the mass email sent out from his AOL account, he confessed that his daughter had sent the email to many Liberty Net members.

This is shocking on at many levels. First those that received the email, described it as "pornographic". If this is the case, then why is this child's father inducing his daughter into the seedy world of porn, to further his attacks on the Liberty Net members?

Is it time for the Las Vegas Child Protective agency to get involved? I'd feel remiss if we were to stand by and allow this alleged child abuse to continue unchallenged.

We know that KK7HO has discussed a contract killing on the air, and he is becoming more and more violent in his actions and posts here in the newsgroups.

Maybe since amateur radio is self policing, we should intervene before real damage is done.

Listen up you anti-Semitic sonofabitch. Whoever beat you up years ago should have killed you. You are without a doubt the most malevolent bastard to ever appear in ham radio. Furthermore I don't want to hear you on the air because if I hear your Mortimer Snerd drawl, I'll make it as hot for you as I did years ago. I humiliated you once and I'll rip you to shreds both on the air and on the Internet. I am and always will be on the side of RIGHT while spitting on you and yours. I guarantee I'll be an active ham long after your leader, Adolf Schicklgruber Schoenbohm. is a footnote to ham radio and furthermore I stand side by side with Ruth Hoffman, Intercon and Rich too. Crawl back into your hold, you cockroach and keep out of my mailbox. My fervent hope is that you and your wife fall victim to a gas leak tonight and suffocate to death. Then I hope your place explodes and you're both consumed with fire and that in 50 years from now, people will say, "It never happened." You screw with me on the Internet, you miserable example of human manure, and I'll cut you to ribbons.

My guess is that RF is coming back into your shack along the outside of the coax (won't show on the SWR meter). Once in the shack it goes though everything on it's way to ground. Try looping a few turns of the coax near the dipoles feed point. Also try adding a clamp on torrid or ferret(sp) bead. You should be able to find better descriptions of this in a good book.

Do the same for your cable modem. This will help choke the RF before entering the unit.

It would also be worth checking the ground. In the US, all electrical services (Power, cable, telephone) must tie to a common ground (telephone floats, but has a surge protection referenced to ground.) Usually this is a wire that goes to a cold water pipe or a ground rod. Over time the clamp can come loose, or worse someone damages the wire but fails to fix it because it "doesn't do anything".

Good luck!

What in the world is going on here?? Richard Whiten turned in his ticket? Is radio station WB2OTK off the air for good? What has transpired here? What is the rest of the story? Does Mr Whiten A.K.A. porkbut the radio theif of 75-meters have a card up his sleeve or did Riley pull some more dirt from under the carpet on the slime ball from Easly SC?
Well what ever the case may be Mr Richard Whiten should not be allowed back on the air. In the imortall words of Judge Luton the man lacks candor. How many times in the WB2OTK Jamming runs on 3.8945 have we heard Mr Whiten sceam these words, Of course we all know who he is speaking about. Well well well it has seemed that Mr. Whiten has been the one to lack candor. Fellows something is a foul here. In my unfortant 4 years of knowing Mr Whiten I have never known him to go down this easy. Is Mr Whiten the infamous White noise jammer on 3.950? Has Mr Whiten continued his jamming runns on 20-meters in the mits of his 120 day suspention and gotton caught? Has Mr hollingsworth made a deal with the devil himself. You know Mr Hollingsworth will not tell the amateur community about Mr Whiten's continued jamming if Mr Whiten turns in his ticket NOW! Who called who? I geuss we will never know. Mr Hollingsworth refuses to make any of his letters to Mr Whiten or from Mr Whiten public. I call on Mr Hollingsworth to make these letters public and make a big issue of NALing the number one trouble maker on 75 and 20-meters! I beleive the whole issue should be made public.
Now for the Number two question. What about Mr Whiten's radio equipment? Is he going to be allowed to keep his equipment or is the equipment going to be sold? What about the overpowered amp? Are the 11-meter operators lined up at the door to get that peice of gear? Who is going to get the 2-meter radio he stole from ME! I wonder how many other radios in Mr Whiten's ham shack are stolen like the one he stole from me.
Now for question Number three. Is this going to send a message to the rest of the amateur radio community to make people take notice? Is this going to improve the conditions of amateur radio? Will amateur radio go back to being the great radio service that it was intented for?
I think that if Mr hollingsworth made the whole ordeal with Richard Whiten very public it would etch a impression on all of the radio community that FCC means business.
Last but not least what is Richard Whiten going to do now? Do you think that he will become a 11-meter pirate station? What do you think his handle should be? Do you think that his handle would be PORKBUTT! Go figure this one out!
best 73 and job well done

Be careful in how you interpret marketing claims. While I've generally found Yaesu equpiment to be well-built and quite durable (I've dropped a Yaesu HT and had it go bouncing down the hard-floored concourse while running ot catch a plane on several occasions with no ill effects on the radio.), the "Mil-Spec" bit is, a bit of a stretch.

Again, from my experience they are fine radios and quite durable.
But, as one who worked for may years with REAL Mil-Spec stuff for Rockwell, I believe the implication that the radios meet (all of) the Mil-Spec requirements is a marketing ploy which is missleading. (this same observation would apply to any of the other manufacturers who may make similar implications) I don't believe for a second that these radios are "full Mil-Spec" by any stretch of the imagination. They may meet a few of the easier requirements, but I don't think they'd stand a snowball's chance in hell of meeting the FULL range of tests and test conditions required by Mil-STD-810(whatever the current version is).

In closing, while I like Yaesu, believe that they make good products, and have personally been favorably impressed with their performance and durability, the

"Mil-Spec" claims are, IMNSHO, a stretch of the truth that should be dropped from their marketing/advertising campaigns.

No they did not. However this is not a major problem if your state of the art rig has a built in tuner. Or you can modify the amp if needed.
Or use a small external tuner between the two. ETC.

I have acquired a 12V/250Ma solar panel and a 12V/4AH sealed lead-acid security/hobby battery. I'd like to fabricate a system using these components to be a solar-recharged 12V supply. Can anyone recommend a website, or any source for that matter, that would have the plans or schematics for building what I'm looking for? I'd like the final output to be regulated if possible and use the solar cell for charging.

I am auctioning off an Icom IC-W2A dual-band handie talkie on Amazon.com. It is in brand new condition with the drop-in charger (an expensive accessory). There is a keypad modification that can restore full 800 MHz operation. A keypad mod means there is no wire cutting, no soldering and no opening up the case. No mods have been made to it since I don't think the radio has ever been used.

Better find a bigger solar panel if you're going to try to use it to charge a 12V battery.

Well i agree that they (the liberal socialist democrats) are trying like hell to outlaw (erradicate) gun ownership by law abiding citizens. There is a great attack on the Second Amendment taking place and people need to wake up. You know, you never hear of the "silent majority" being mentioned anymore. they are still out there and I think that the politicians will soon find that out if they continue down the road they're on.
As for Nevada being annexed - it'll never hapen and you know it.
Now on to your touchy subject, hate speech. I don't give a damn about hate speech. There are limitations and responsiblity that goes along with the excersise of the First Amendment. A little responsibility and civility goes along way.
You can no more defame, lie, libel or slander someone in your excersise of free speech than you can scream FIRE in a crowded theatre.
i'm all for the First Amendment but Amateur radio wasn't created to be an outlet for some subversive group to meet and "broadcast" propaganda to the "thousands and thousands of shortwave listeners" that they claim to have.
Neither is it the place to play "broadcast" tapes of news, regardlessof the slant. All of that can be gathered by other means. But it, (the ham bands), are being used to reach the waiting SWL audience. (their words).
You can see the letter in it's entirety at the 3950 Page2 website.
Like I said a little civility and responsiblity goes a long way. We'll probably never see it though and I suspect that I'll be attacked for this post also. Nothing new. 73 de Tim

Is there not a provision in the regs that would prohibit him from obtaining

Yes, I guess Rich turned in his license to Riley, rather than accept his 120 days in the HF corner. Rich probably figured that Riley would feel sorry for him, and beg him not to do it.

But I guess Riley GLADLY accepted the license. But Rich is a schemer! He MUST have had a back-up plan just in case Riley accepted his license.

Rich probably figures that he can sit down at a VE testing session, and fly through the Novice, Tech and General exams in one sitting. If he does it this Saturday, he could be BACK ON THE AIR WITHIN TWO WEEKS!! Of course, this is A LOT shorter time out than 120 days. He could then apply for a new vanity callsign, and possibly get W2OTK once again. All this, without punishment.

Someone needs to notify Riley that Porky SHOULD BE REQUIRED to serve his 120 in the corner if and when he gets a new license.

The RDF techniques used by the FCC do not require a transmitter to identify manually. The transmitted wave form signature takes care of that. My call can be bootlegged, but not my transmitter - they all have a distinct "signature".

Carolina Ham Rejects Sanction, Turns in Ticket

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 23, 1999--A South Carolina ham who was the target of an FCC enforcement action has turned in his Amateur Radio license rather than accept a license modification that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.
FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, reports that General class licensee Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, informed him yesterday via e-mail that he wanted to turn in his ticket. Hollingsworth had no comment on the matter other than to say that WB2OTK's license was submitted for cancellation.
A follow-up letter mailed to Whiten today simply says, "Pursuant to your communication of July 22, 1999, we have accepted your license for cancellation, effective as of the above date, and dismissed the application for call sign W2OTK."
Whiten had applied for the vanity call sign W2OTK, but the FCC had set aside his application pending the outcome of the enforcement action. Under a license modification imposed June 30, Whiten was to stay off the HF bands until October 25. In return, assuming no further violations, the FCC would clear its books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues and grant his vanity call sign request.
Whiten had been given 30 days to protest the license modification.
WB2OTK has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about its operation. Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify."
In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC has not gone into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

WB2OTK is ignorant; ignorance is not illegal, Clinton's White House sex parties prove that. Nowhere in FCC rules does it say you can't discuss politics, as they've tried with W1WCR, or your dislike of a race.

Hey Democrat lackey Hollingsworth, don't get too comfortable "outlawing" the racial slur part, that's still protected in a REPUBLICAN administration.

Your philandering mentally ill commander might be able to outlaw things with a sweep of a pen, and throw $287,000 at those worthless drunk rapists in Hyannisport, but that won't cut it in two more years.

CAROLINA HAM REJECTS SANCTION, TURNS IN TICKET

A South Carolina ham who was the target of an FCC enforcement action has turned in his Amateur Radio license rather than accept a license modification that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.

FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, reports that General class licensee
Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, informed him July 22 via e-mail that he wanted to turn in his ticket. Hollingsworth had no comment on the matter other than to say that WB2OTK's license was submitted for cancellation.

A follow-up letter mailed to Whiten today simply says, "Pursuant to your communication of July 22, 1999, we have accepted your license for cancellation, effective as of the above date, and dismissed the application for call sign W2OTK."

Whiten had applied for the vanity call sign W2OTK, but the FCC had set aside
his application pending the outcome of the enforcement action.

Under a license modification imposed June 30, Whiten was to stay off the bands until October 25. In return, assuming no further violations, the FCC would clear its books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues and grant his vanity call sign request. Whiten had been given 30 days to protest
HF
the license modification.

WB2OTK has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about its operation.

Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says
it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure

properly identify."

In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC has not gone into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

FCC RESCINDS LICENSE MODIFICATION

The FCC has changed its mind and decided to rescind a license modification that would have kept David O. Castle, WA9KJI, of Evansville, Indiana, off the HF bands for two years. The FCC notified Castle of its change of heart July 8, but the man who imposed the sanction last May--the FCC's Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH--said he's not troubled by the turn of events.

"We have to call 'em as we see 'em," Hollingsworth said this week.

On May 19, Hollingsworth wrote Castle to say the FCC had information that Castle, a General-class licensee, had, on May 1, engaged in "broadcasting and talking to no particular station for over an hour, during which time you prevented the use of the frequencies by others and maliciously interfered with other stations." Hollingsworth's letter had said that Castle had "falsely claimed" to be in contact with another station. As a result of the alleged violations, Castle's privileges below 30 MHz were suspended.

In reviewing Castle's response, however, the FCC reversed its stand and concluded that Castle was--in the words of the FCC's July 8 letter--"not at fault on the evening of May 1, 1999 . . . and further that your transmissions were interfered with by another Amateur Radio operator attempting to call a net into session (known as the 'Liberty Net')."

Castle's reply to the modification notice included a tape recording of the relevant time period. Hollingsworth said the FCC also reviewed other information, including a sworn affidavit, furnished by other amateurs who were in contact with Castle at the time of the alleged violations.

Hollingsworth said the FCC is aware of "numerous complaints" about WA9KJI, but in the action at hand, the Commission was only concerned about what happened on the evening of May 1. "Based on the information that we have for May 1, I think he was right--on that evening at that time."

Castle has been the recipient of an FCC warning and an official Notice of Violation for allegedly engaging in malicious interference, and his operating hours have been restricted in the past.

In his letter withdrawing the modification, Hollingsworth reminded Castle of the "numerous allegations of malicious interference" against him. Hollingsworth also said the FCC would continue to keep an ear on the 75-meter frequency in question. "3950 is, unfortunately, a trouble spot," Hollingsworth told the ARRL. "It's one of the sore spots on Amateur Radio, and we're going to be monitoring it very closely from now on."

Oh, and the only strange days on 3950 are when the lib NITS are on - other than that it's a "normal" amateur radio frequency.

And why did you change your screen name to include a "1"? Could it POSSIBLY be that AOL still has it registered to the ORIGINAL CBRambo?

In case you missed it, the Original Rambo was shut down for advocating illegal activities. In one of the newsgroups, he crossed somebody BIG who told him in advance what was going to happen. Three days later, it came down exactly as predicted. He's off AOL, off the Broadcast Bands, and who knows what else.

WB2OTK has turned his amateur license in for cancellation, and I think that Mr Riley has hastely had it cancelled. I leave the forum with the satisfaction of a job well done by me and others. Farewell SWL002 ,Lloyd, and others, continue on. next one to have removed is AF2Y. I know the wonderful posters on this forum can get this wonderful deed accomplished. Then, our beloved amateur bands will be clean.

Doggone it!! I see that I am not on the list.
Guess I will have to try harder.

Who is this knucklehead that keeps whining about "hate groups" and "hate speech"?. Hasn't he heard about the first amendment to the Constitution? Or maybe he wishes it to go away, replaced by brutal communist-style laws that prohibit any dissent or freedom of expression? It sure sounds that way!!

KK7HO, you are such a good "useful idiot", aren't you? Folks like you are

NO - you mean it's more civilized do to Riley Hollingsworth and his efforts. The "So Called" net now has to operate like everyone else. If a frequency is in use, they must use another. LOL

As for being subtle - why should I be. The facts are out there for ANYONE to check.

I would however like to leave the 3950 Topics to take care of themselves now that they are on the right track. I would certainly do that if your LibNIT LIDS would let the issues rest. If not I'll be here. KK7HO

This is a good illustration of the value of license exams: do you think the FCC has no other way of locating and tracking a scofflaw other than a transmitted, legal call sign? They have always been technically proficient at locating jammers and unlicensed operators (how do you think they find FM broadcast pirates, and most of them running <100W?), and just recently greatly upgraded their DF facilities, so that they can find an HF transmitter with an ERP of just a few watts in less than 30 seconds of transmission, down to a 5-by-5 mile grid, and the vans do the rest.

Licensed rulebreakers get a break, bottleggers don't. You won't get just a NAL, but your gear confiscated then and there. . .

Greetings, one and all;

I have been trying to find a report somewhere that describes measurements of the altitude of geosynchronous satellites, but with no success.
If anyone reading these words knows of such a report I would be glad to hear about it. But failing that, it seems relatively simple for a person properly equipped to make the measurement, and I ask for volunteers.

Let me say that I know what theory predicts for the altitude of these objects, but I have reason to suspect that the theory is slightly in error--only slightly, so the check has to be done carefully. One would need to send a pulse to the satellite and measure the time for its return.
Dividing by two and multiplying by the velocity of light would give the slant height, and then, knowing the location of the send/receive station and the sub-satellite point on the equator, the triangle can be solved for the height.

The only problem that I anticipate is that the height will be affected by tidal forces exerted by the sun and moon. Therefore, one would have to measure the height with the moon on the meridian, when it should be maximum, and then again six hours later when it should be minimal. And moreover, it would probably be necessary to repeat the measurement several times to average out the effects of the sun.

I would like very much to hear from anyone who might be willing to perform this measurement--or also from one who has suggestions about exactly how it should be done.

Gosh Bob... I guess I agree, not too bad for a guy that hasn't worked in over 20 years and has his wife hold a job while he tells all who will listen he has a better way of making money. I don't see how you can view this guy in any other light as real bad news for himself and ham radio.

He was bad news as a technicial class operator and it only got worse when he got his general. I even feel sorry for the CB'ers as he'll now probably will be operating back down below 10 meters... again!

Thank god I don't have his lifestyle, nor have any desire to afford his $100 tips.

In Texas, zoning applies to the property and not the owner. If ownership changes, it has no affect on the zoning. This is why it is so hard to turn down a request from elderly citizens who want something to allow life to be little easier for them, or for retail zoning==used merchandise is always sticky. A used computer software store leaves and is replaced by a goodwill outlet.

Hello. I've been looking for a device that would solve some of my QRM problems (especially in HF contesting) and I think that MFJ-1025 might just do the trick. If it will do everything MFJ says it will do, then that's even better. Just wondering, but have any of you used one before/known someone who has? And does it really do a good job, or is it just MFJ trying to make a profit? I would use a tribander at about 60ft at my 1st RX antenna, and a Solarcon A-99 1/2w CB vertical with a ground plane mounted 5-10 ft above the tribander as my second RX antenna.
Let me know your thoughts. Thanks!

They arrive in HCMC July 31st and depart for Phu Quoc Island August 1st to operate for four nights before returning back to HCMC for two nights. Their suggested operating frequencies:
CW - 14007, 18077, 21007, 24897, 28007, and 50120 kHz
SSB - 14197, 18147, 21270, 24937, 28470, and 50120
They will operate from Kim Linh Hotelon Phu Quoc Island and Kim Do International Hotel from HCMC. QSL 3W6KS via JA8VE, Kunio Saito, 2-26-5-554 Nishitsuruma, Yamato-shi, 242-0005 Japan. QSL 3W6HM via JF1OCQ, Hiroyuki Miyake, 1-3-6 Asakura-cho, Maebashi-shi, 371-0811 Japan.

3Z, POLAND (Attention Prefix Hunters). To commemorate the 60th anniversary of WWII, a number of stations from Gdansk Coast will use special callsigns from September 1st through October 2nd. Activity will be on all HF and VHF bands. Look for the following special event stations:

Special call QSL Manager Special call QSL Manager
3Z60H SP2FJN 3Z60W SP2BNJ
3Z60O SP2HJN 3Z0MDL SP2UUU
3Z60P SP2AYC

5W, WESTERN SAMOA. Gerard, PA3AXU, will once again return here. This time he will be escorted by his XYL Ria. He states he will be able to take more luggage this time. Look for 5W0GD to be re-activiated from September 28th through October 14th. His operations will be on SSB/CW/ RTTY and hopefully PSK31 (Thanks to PA0HVF, his teacher). QSL via PA3AXU, G.A.M.C. Dijkers, Dokter P.A. Cornethof 3, 6669AZ Dodewaard (The Netherlands).

5X, UGANDA. The "DX News Letter" reports that Tomo, JE9IKG, already known as JE9IKG/6O and 6O0A from Somaliland, is now to be active on SSB signing 5X1JA from Uganda. No QSNs have been reported. QSL via JE9IKG. Meanwhile, Joe, 5X1P (G3MRC), was spotted this past weekend on 18070 kHz around 0430z. QSL via G3MRC.

FW, WALLIS ISLAND (Special Operation). An excerpt from an announcement by the DXCC Desk reports the upcoming FW8ZZ DXpedition is dedicated to, and in memory of, Chuck Swain, K7LMU, and Ted Thorpe, ZL2AWJ, who were lost at sea in January, 1966, aboard the ketch Marinero while returning from their DXpedition to Wallis Island as FW8ZZ. Operators FK8GM, JA1BK, OH2BE and OH2BH will activate FW8ZZ on July 30 and close down August 3rd. A special effort will be made on WARC bands, but all regular DX bands will be offered. Normal DXpedition frequencies will be used. The equipment includes Yaesu FT-1000MP and FT-900 with FinnFet amps. The complete press release by the DXCC will be sent to all OPDX InterNet Subscribers as an additional bulletin.

HS, THAILAND. "The 59(9) DXReport" reports that Hide, JR5XPG, is in Thailand for 3 years as a teacher and will try to obtain a license. He will use club stations for now.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-008. Correction! JA1MXY/1 JA1SGU/1 and JI1SQK/1 were active from Osima Island (not Osims Island as reported in last week's bulletin).

EU-052. Stefano, IK2QEI, will be active as J48QEI from Zante Island (KM07KS) from August 5-20th. He plans to be very active during the 1999 European HF Championship (August 7th, 1000-2200z). His activity will be on 160-6meters. QSL via IK2QEI home callsign or bureau.

EU-084. Mel, SM0MPV, who was to participate in the IOTA-contest, plans to be on Vassaro Island until August 1st and will try to be as active as time permits. Look for him to sign SK0HS/5. QSL via SM0MPV (bureau). This Island belongs to Scoutdistrict of Stockholm and pictures from various camps can be viewded on: http://www.stockholm.ssf.scout.se/eng/vo/index.htm

SA-012. Ray, DL2GG/YV5, and others will operate from the Island of Coche, which is located in front of the East-Coast of Venezuela. The operation will take place from July 29th to aprox. August 3rd. The callsign will be YW7C, and they will be operating on all bands (incl. 6m) on CW and SSB. QSL via W4SO. After Ray's return, he will add a YW7C-section at the following URL address: http://www.qsl.net/dl2gg

SA-029. Operators PY1KS/Alex, PY1KB/Marco, PY1MF/Mark and PU1MPR/Marcio will be active from Gipoia Island (team is waiting for a DIB number.... First activation!!!) July 29th through August 1st. Operators will sign homecall/P. Activity will be on 80-10 meters, possibly 160m. QSL via PY1KS to the Bureau or direct P.O.Box 18123, Rio de Janeiro-RJ, 20722-970, Brasil.

SA-056. After their SA-081 5K8T (QSL via F6AJA) operation this past weekend by Gerard, F2JD/HK3JBR, and Pedro, HK3JJH, look for Gerard to go back to Bogota. Pedro will continue to the south to operate as HK3JJH/HC4 from an Ecuadorean island Monday, Thuesday and maybe Wednesday (QSL home call).

LIGHTHOUSE/IOTA ACTIVITY. The Old Barney Amateur Radio Club will be activating N2OB celebrating "National Lighthouse Day" weekend from "OLD BARNEY", the Barnegat Lighthouse in Barnegat Light, NJ, which is on Long Beach Island (IOTA NA-111 and USI NJ001S). Operations will take place August 7-8th, from 1300-2300z each day. Suggested operating frequencies: listen in 1st 25 khz of General phone bands (40, 20 and 15 meters) and on 28480 kHz. Some limited CW operation is possible on 30 kHz of these bands. (Also, 146.835 rpt -600 and 146.52 simplex). QSL via N2OB with regular SASE/SAE+IRC for QSL, or 9"x12" SASE with 2 units postage/IRCs for a certificate and QSL. N2OB address: Old Barney ARC, PO Box 345, Tuckerton, NJ 08087, USA.

QSL INFO AND NEWS........
QSL 2A0CCC/P, active from Isle of Tiree during the 1999 IOTA Contest weekend, via GM0ALS. Activity was by members of the Cockenzie and Port Seton Amateur Radio Club (John/MM0CCC, CambellMM1AVA, John GM7OLQ, Iain/MM1CPP, Malcolm/F5VBU, Ron/GM0NTL, Mo/GM0HLK, Colin/GM0CLN and Tony/GM3PGU). Further info and updates will be available when time allows, from: http://www.btinternet.com/~john.innes/Tiree.html

Frank, ON4CEL (ex-C56EL, 5A21PA), reports to OPDX that all direct cards for the C56EL DXpedition (March 17-26th) have been sent out. If you don't receive your card within the next fews days, you can drop an E-mail message to: franky.beuselinck@advalvas.be The C56EL log search is still available at:
http://user.online.be/~frankyb/log.htm

NO OUTGOING BUREAU. Fr. Steve Dives, 3D2SJ, reports that although P.O. Box 184 is listed as the Bureau address for Fiji in various publications, this is a receive only address. There is no outward bureau operating from Fiji. Fr. Steve has received approximately 100 cards via the Bureau and to answer these cards directly would incur an unreasonable financial penalty. The QSL address for Fr Steve is: Fr. Steve Dives MSC, PO Box 1354, Suva, Fiji. This address is also the correct QSL address for his operation from Kiribati using the callsign T30ED.

QSL YB0US (Jani), who operated from from Seribu Islands (OC-177) this past weekend in the IOTA Contest, via N2OO.

Ales, OK1DWJ, informs OPDX to please not send any QSLs for OK1DWJ or OK4DWJ/mm via OK1DOT. The only valid QSL route is via OK-QSL bureau or via CBA, but never via OK1DOT. He was never Ales's QSL Manager and he never asked him to do this job.

QSL J28AG (with operator J28NH/Jean) direct to: S.P. 85012, 00806 Armees, France.

S7, SEYCHELLES (IOTA DXpedition). Bert, PA3GIO, hopes to be active from Desroches Island in the Amirante Group, IOTA AF-033, 250 Km south of Mahe, Seychelles, September 2-14th as S79GI. Also, there will be some activity from Mahe AF-024, August 26-31st. QSL preferably by the Bureau to PA3GIO. Visit Bert's Seychelles Webpage at: http://www.xs4all.nl/~pa3gio/S79/

TF, ICELAND. After being active in this past weekend's IOTA Contest, look for Norbert, LX1NO (KM6RY/LX4A/LX9EG), to be active from several areas in Iceland as TF4/5/0/1/6 /LX9EG. Look for him on the IOTA frequncies and the WARC bands. QSL via LX1NO.

V7, MARSHALL ISLANDS. Bruce, AC4G, reports to OPDX that he has begun his AC4G/V7 operation on Kwajalein Island for the next 2 years. His activity will be on 160-10 meters. Bruce has applied for the callsign V73CW which he expects to obtain soon. He has already made about 500 QSOs and plans to pay special attention to the WARC bands, 40, and 80 meters with emphasis on CW with lots of SSB. In mid-August he will receive his satellite gear and hopes to be active on OSCAR 10 Satellite. QSL to AC4G (home address w/ mail forward to Kwajalein Island or via direct (best route) to: Bruce Smith, P.O. Box 1436, APO, AP 96555. Bruce mentions that he will be ordering color QSL cards soon.

VU7, LAKSHADWEEP (LACCADIVES). "QRZ DX" and "The Daily DX" report an operation by a team of operators will be active from here in the fall. Full details have not been released, but forthcoming.

XU, CAMBODIA. Tom, SP5AUC (ex-YI9CW), also known as 3W7CW, has been temporarily reassigned to Cambodia. He has already obtained a license there, and his callsign is XU7AAS. He promises to be active soon, time permitting. He has acquired a new rig, a TS-570D, and hopes to put it to good use. Due to the nature of his stay, Tom has no chance to set up antennas, but he will be using a commercial log periodic, fixed to Europe. Tom is scheduled to return to Vietnam on August 15th. QSL cards for XU7AAS should be directed to: P.O.BOX 11, 02-800 Warsaw 93, Poland.

YODX CONTEST. Ciprian, YO3FWC, reports that the 1999 YODX HF Contest will take place on Sunday, August 1st. Any QSO is permitted, ITU zone/YO counties exchanged. There is a great chance to work as many as needed Romanian counties to get a special award issued for the "Total Solar Eclipse" (August 11th), best viewed from Romania. Don't miss YR99E on SSTV - Solar Eclipse live! For rules and more info, check out the Romanian Amateur Radio Federation web site: http://www.qsl.net/yo3kaa

ZD8, ASCENSION ISLAND (Update). Paul, ZD8V (aka KF4OOX), is still having antenna problems. He reported to OPDX this week that his antenna "finally let go" and he will now have to take it down and fix it. The major problem is finding time to do the work since he is working during the mid-shift. He mentions that he hoped to take it down during this past weekend with some help from friends. Paul hopes to have it back up in a few days. As this bulletin was being written, we do not know if these events took place.

ZS8, MARION ISLAND. Deryck, ZS8D, has been refused permission to erect his tribander (donated by NCDXF) on the island after negotiations with the Prince Edward Island Management Committee. This means he will still have to use the dipole. The committee's reason of refusal seems to be the concern for birds flying into the antenna.

>1. When is the last time the author of the page your hate directory >refers to checked in to the liberty net?

Oh it hasn't been as long as you would like evryone to think. Besides, the HATE DIRECTIRY refers to the 3950 Liberty net"

>2. Does Sid, your compadre, use the word "faggot" on a regular basis?

I believe that he does when he hear faggots on a regular basis. LOL

>3. What pecentage of the posts on the deceased N5HDQ OPINION page are >over two years old?

Not sure, Don't care. It's irrellavant. the wav and information about the "So Called" net are cetainly CURRENT.

>4. Do a search on deja.com for KK7HO. How many times have people >complained about your posts?

You do the search. Not as many as have complained about the net. OH while your at it do a search for one of the net members. and read some racist articles. do a deja search for kevin strom. Also the chicken shit libNITS change their screen names on a regular basis. BUT.....

>. Has anyone on or associated with the Liberty Net been suspended or >fined by the FCC (ie a license modification)?

Well W2yee for malicious jamming and playing music. He was a regular net participant. Many members have had "letters" from OO's and the FCC regarding their activities. I suspect that if it continues you'll get your wish. Read all about it.

>6. Does the Christian Investigator Net or the Liberty Net (or anyone >for that matter) have the freedom to discuss politics on ham radio?

That's not for me to decide. I would assume that they do as long as "broadcasting" Tape Playing, Newsgathering, commercials, 1-800 numbers, all of which are described in part 97 are not involved in the "discussion".

>7. Are you now or have you ever been a member of the communist party or >any radical group that would give merit to the accusations of the >liberty net folk?

Hell No. LOL

>8. Do you know anything about the ZU woof dog incident?

Nope but you should have asked LO before he died.

Well, whom ever you are, and that's another issue. It would seem that if you had so much coviction about what you say you'd put a real name or call on it but we know that won't happen huh? I answered some of your questions - let's see if you'll reciprocate. I doubt it, and I don't want any damn spin doctoring from kkkevin.

1) Why is the conduct on the "So called" liberty net being questioned by the FCC?
2) Why do they never have anything good to say about the country, the government or the people?
3) Why do they never have anything good to say at all?
4) Why are so many people ENRAGED at the "so called" net?
5) Why does the liberty net call itself a "current events group" when all they discuss is political conspiracy?
6) Why is a "So Called" amateur radio net" listed as a Hate Group on a page that is used by law enforcement agencies all over the country?
7) Why is the Link between liberty net members and extremist groups so disproportionate as to be more than "coincidental"?
8) Why is it so evident that the liberty net wants to disenfranchise the people from their government.
9) What does an amateur radio net have to do to get listed as a Hate group

I am looking for info on the small amateur call sign plates that attach above your license plate. These are similar to the plates used by volunteer firefighters/EMS/etc. I saw them advertised in QST a while back. I cannot find the information on where to purchase them now.

If you have any information, please pass it along.

Thanks.

Chuck, buddy... Your not paying to upgrade, your paying for the hours that some programmer put in to provide you with a tool to help you accomplish your goal. IMHO, spend time on the air having QSO's your speed will increase rapidly if you have two good QSO's per evening, it's a lot more fun and when you take your test it will be a breeze without the QRM/QRN/QSB.
When you gain new CW bandwidth you'll be able to go there and keep up with the best of them. :)

As if it were true. FCC does not confiscate gear or even seize gear. The U S Marshal seizes gear and then only in compliance with a court order (warrant). It still requires a separate forfeiture proceeding in U S District Court to "take it away". Confiscation is warrantless seizure and procedure-less "keeping" and doesn't happen with radio gear.

The FCC will accept a voluntary surrender in lieu of further prosecution and that's a deal that can't be refused in most cases.

Whether or not the solar panel is "big" enough depends on how many amp hours your application is going to use and where you live will determine the number of amp hours you can expect, on the average, to be available to recharge what you remove. If you application needs to run during the winter, you will need more panel output than you would for a summer only appl.

From listening tonight it is obvious to that the majority of the amateur radio community that frequents 3950 is OUTRAGED and apparently has had enough of this liberty net. You would think that they'd use another fequency or something to avoid this. I wonder why they don't. One tried checking in most of the evening and was being ignored by the control operator. A few others claimed that white noise was jamming them, granted band conditions were'nt the greatest, but to to go that far is funny. One other read from a newspaper for 15 minutes. I heard the same statements that I heard from the same people last week. Was this a repeat? I just don't get it. What's thier purpose?? Anyone know? Bewildered

Scientists teach ham to speak

by Jonathan Leake, Science Editor

RESEARCHERS have for the first time taught hams how to speak. Two specimens, a retiree and a contester, have been able to hold conversations with humans.

The specimen, called Steve, has a vocabulary of 3,000 words and talks through a computer that produces a synthetic voice as he presses on a key.

He now speaks constantly, constructing sentences ranging from, "Please can I have an iced coffee" to discussing "This Old House" videos he has watched with the scientists who look after him at University of Bermuda's language research centre.

The 68-year-old retiree, called Jack, is a few miles away where it, too, is learning to use a voice synthesiser - a skill it is expected to master quickly, since it already has a 2,000-word vocabulary in ham language.

Among its first spoken words, delivered Stephen Hawking-style, was the request to keepers: "Please enroll me in Weight Watchers." Recently it saved money paid to it in return for carrying out tasks and building artefacts, then told scientists in sign language: "I want to buy a pool," because a heatwave was making life in the shack too uncomfortable.

The hams use a specially designed keys with about 400 Q-signals, each bearing a symbol. Some symbols have simple meanings such as "roger roger"; others represent more abstract concepts such as "girls", "wives", "dating" or "sex".

The hams have to learn all the symbols and then construct sentences by pressing keys in the right order. The computer speaks the words and flashes them up on a screen. Recently Steve has started writing words on the floor using chalk - apparently learning letters from the computer screens.

Duane Rumbaugh, the university's professor of psychology and biology, who is director of the centre, said tests suggested the hams had the language and cognitive skills of a four-year-old child.

Steve has gone further than just learning to speak and read. He is teaching the same skills to his wife, who has developed a vocabulary similar to that of a one-year-old child. She cannot create sentences yet, but her early start means she may soon outstrip Steve. Hams could soon be talking to non-hams and language skills could be passed from one generation to the next.

Jack's daughter, Matata, cannot use the keyboard, so she tells Jack, who then communicates his wife's needs, such as: "Matata wants a vegteable quiche."

When the hams look reflective, they may be asked what is wrong. Sometimes they just reply: "I'm thinking about eating something," or "I want to go to Campers Cavern" (a 55-acre trailer park).

Now Rumbaugh has been given a FCC government grant for a project to see if great hams can be given the power of true speech.

Until recently it had been thought they would never speak because their voice boxes could not produce the range of sounds used by humans.

Then researchers noticed that some hams were successfully copying human words and phrases. The sounds were distorted, but recognisable. A spokesman for the centre said: "Over time our opinions of hams could change and one day we may have to extend them human rights. Who knows, soon Steve may voice an opinion on that."

Why did you send me this nonsense via email after all you promised never to send me email again. Oh I forgot you never tell the truth do you.

There is no rule against blocking a net from using a frequency it is just a rude obnoxious thing to do. I wouldn't expect trash like you to understand ethics or manners. As you say no one has a right to a frequency but polite amateurs give way to scheduled nets as a matter of courtesy, you might look that word up.

I notice you talk a lot about hate groups why is that, envious? Perhaps we could prevail upon the good professor to make an exception and list you as a one member hate group.

Perhaps the FCC would like some tapes of your antics but perhaps you have already gotten some fan mail from them. You say no, but then you lie so who's to know.

I'd prefer to see a similar chart that graphs the age of all hams, rather than contesters. Any pointers?

Contesting, and doing it well, is a specialized activity. I'm not surprised that contesters tend to be a bit older. With age and time in the hobby comes experience. These same hams have had years to build a nice station. What about fox hunters, or QRPers? I suspect (but can't prove) that the age of both those groups is a bit younger.

To my knowledge none of the Clipperton amps had a tuned input. If you have a rig with a built in ATU, it should present no problem. If not, they can be modified or you can use a external small ATU between the exciter and the amp input.

Who gives 7HO the authority to edit a silent key's web page? See: http://www.angelfire.com/ga/3950Page2/. The page was last updated by N5HDQ before he passed away in 1998. 7HO has deleted much of the page and inserted edited recordings of 3950. The original N5HDQ page had selected opinions posted by several hams who are now silent keys. The links to a so-called hate directory were obsolete back in 1998. KO4FE has not been heard on 75 meters for years. I hope you ham radio operators who care about our future will recognize propaganda when you see it posted on this newsgroup 7HO has spammed this newsgroup to the point he is becoming a real nuisance. All one needs to do is listen to the racist, bigoted, foul mouth remarks by the infamous Sid, sidekick and defender of 7HO. I record these and forward them to FCC Chairman Kennard. Past recordings can be played from the web page at: http://pw1.netcom.com/~frg9600/jammers.html and http://members.xoom.com/_XOOM/kevin_strom/amateur_3950.html
It appears a notorious ham from South Carolina turned in his license as a result of his racist comments, yet Sid has reappeared with his constant "faggot" moaning and groaning. Is this not hypocrisy? I would stick up for 7HO is he didn't use these propaganda tactics. I will even support Dr. Hate when he presents the truth to the newsgroup (if he ever does), but these edited recordings, outdated and obsolete links, and unconditional support of jammers needs to stop. The spamming of this newsgroup needs to stop. We are capable of making informed judgements. We don't need your spin. Tim. At least we dont need a constant bombardment of "LOL" and other nonsense. Got something new? Got a copy of TA's affidavit to the FCC? Got a new recording of Sid violating Part 97? Got a copy of Jammer Daves new hours of operation? Got a copy of Danny Lee Graham threatening Monkey Vomit? It is amazing that many of you who were jammed one night in the summer of '93 are still crying today.

Well
I have read this entire thread and when it got down to the end everone is calling everyone else some kind of name. Lets face it the FCC isn't going to do anything about the trash on 11-meters. I mean they have known about Darrell Beard and what he does for years. Nothing has happened to him or a few others here in Madison Co GA. Beleive me the FCC knows about what these people are doing. They have known for years that old Darrell Beard A.K.A. ACE. They know that he has been modifing radios to work out of the CB band, bulding and modifing amps to work in the 11-meter band, and down right causing interferance in the 10-meter amateur band with his stolen 3-500 amp. Heck hear in the Athens GA area its very common place for the local CBers to work on frequencies not authorized for their use. The FCC refuses to do anything about it. That is just how it is. I think they are hoping for the bill to be passed to hand that juristiction over to the local authourities. WHAT A JOKE THATS GOING TO BE! Its been my experiance here in GA that local judges and police don't like to go after home grown people if you know what I mean. I have seen home grown people get away with out right stealing of equipment to lieing under oath. So this local thing is going to be a joke.
As far as how many so called amateur radio jammers the FCC has gotton. Well it seems to me that 75-meters and 20-meters have chilled a little. Rich Whiten is off the air. Boy he gave in quite easaly. The FCC must have something that they couldn't turn there back on. But yet they have caught people in the act of jamming and let them go James V. O'brien to name one, and nothing happened to him. Him and his buddy down in Hiram GA got caught in the act of QRM and nothing happened. Go figure I geuss the FCC figured that they where not going get anything from that guy. I can honestly say for now the FCC has put a few QRMers off the air whether they turned in their tickets or just fined, or put in time out by the FCC all together. I truly don't think that this is the end of this. Their are still high profile QRMers out there and I guess it will be just a matter of time. Time only knows the answer to this.
In closing I hope the FCC continues with the scare tactic. For now it seems to be working. They nead to make the proceedings more public though. The jamming is still going on but its no where near what it was. I would also like to the see the FCC crack down on the 11-meter band before turning it over to the local police. I would hope that the local police departments get help from the amateur radio community to do the policing. Boy that would get one heck of a reaction from the CB crowed here. The local CBers in this area hate most of us hams in the area.
So that is just my nickels worth on this subject.
73 and behaive and Riley will not be knoking on your door.

I think I've confused things a bit here. 100W on 10m causes problems with the power supply in my PC in the shack. 100W on any band seems to cause phone line problems.

Just that modem. No other sockets on that phone line in the house.
The modem isn't physically located in the shack, it is on the floor

Listen up goon; one of my most trusted and loyal agents reported this morning that you and a putz from 8 -land were disparaging me last night on your Nazi Net. I of course had better things to do than to listen to your bullsnot; like making a rehearsal dinner for 70 guests for my daughter's wedding this evening. But then again, just sitting on a toilet pot is far more rewarding than listening to you perverts.
Alright Misek, it's like this. You will have your chance to meet me and tell me in person what you say over your Berliner Rundfunkscheisswerfer microphone. In two weeks I'll be in the Nashua area with a certain group of guys who also would like to meet and GREET you. They are veterans of the IDF, Israeli Defense Forces, who are having an East Coast Convention in your state. Now you simply don't want to ever meet these veterans one on one so if I were you I'd sound the clarion call for all of your Nazi monkeys to be in attendance. These IDF guys are the meanest toughest battling bastards you can imagine and are on a par with, and might even excel, our great SEALS. I've been sending in tapes of the 3.950 group on weeknights on which I can copy despite lousy band conditions and it's obvious that the scum during the week are the same scum who gather around your on -the -air cesspool on Saturday evenings. Misek, I stand 6' and weight 200 lbs and I hate bigots. I want you to say one bigoted word to me face to face and Riley won't have to take you off the air. You will never want to ever get on the air again. Remember Billy Gasell, WB4GDPeeeeeeee? He thought the Holocaust was a joke. He talked about throwing people into microwave ovens to make carbon for ink factories. His stuff was aired over a 2 meter repeater in central Florida and Billy got uninvited company. You haven't heard him on the air in about three years. Of course the BARF will tell you he was out of the country on" assignment." What a joke! Assignment hospital! He's now on the Internet and the damned fool sent me an E-mail about which I warned him if he ever put anything in my mailbox again, he'd have to learn to type with his toes. He left. Now Misek, I'm not coming to New Hampshire to start a fight with you or anyone else and neither are my friends but I will have to calm down BIG ISAAC at 6'9" and 300 lbs, of muscle. I'm coming in peace and want to leave in peace but if you think I'm leaving in piece, you are making a BAD MISTAKE. And when we ring your bell, you'd better have matzoh ball soup prepared because to us Jews, that's like Wheaties. See you soon. Doc,AF2Y

This has been around for a couple of years, but if you haven't seen it before, you might find it familiar to what goes on here....

Q: How many newsgroup subscribers does it take to change a light bulb?

A: 1,445

1 to change the light bulb and to post that the light bulb has been changed;

14 to share similar experiences of changing light bulbs and how the light bulb could have been changed differently;

7 to caution about the dangers of changing light bulbs;

27 to point out spelling/grammar errors in posts about changing light bulbs;

53 to flame the spell checkers;

41 to correct spelling/grammar flames;

6 to argue over whether it's "lightbulb" or "light bulb";

another 6 to condemn those 6 as anal-retentive;

156 to email the participant's ISPs complaining that they are in violation of their "acceptable use policy"

109 to post that this group is not about light bulbs and to please take this discussion to alt.litebulb;

203 to demand that cross posting to alt.grammar, alt.spelling, and alt.illuminati about changing light bulbs be stopped;

111 to defend the posting to this group saying that we all use light bulbs and therefore the posts are relevant to this group;

306 to debate which method of changing light bulbs is superior, where to buy the best light bulbs, what brand of light bulbs work best for this technique and what brands are faulty;

27 to post URL's where one can see examples of different light bulbs;

14 to post that the URL's were posted incorrectly and the post the corrected URL's;

3 to post about links they found from the URL's that are relevant to this group which makes light bulbs relevant to this group;

33 to link all posts to date, quote them in their entirety including all headers and signatures, and add "Me too";

12 to post to the group that they will no longer post because they cannot handle the light bulb controversy;

19 to quote the "Me too's" to say "Me three";

4 to suggest that posters request the light bulb FAQ;

44 to ask what is "FAQ";

4 to say "didn't we go through this already a short time ago?"

143 to say "do a DejaNews search on light bulbs before posting questions about light bulbs"

34 to say "FA: on Ebay---vintage light bulbs---no reserve"

66 to killfile anything with the words "light" or " bulb" in it;

1 Autobot from the Usenet Self Awareness Project to post that the lightbulb controversy generated the most posts;

1 DejaNews subscriber to respond to the original post 6 months from now and start it all over again.....(Burt Fisher?)

Tim never answers the questions other than to claim "spin doctoring".
Here they are again:
1. When is the last time the author of the page your hate directory refers to checked in to the liberty net? I believe this is KO4FE, Ian McKinney, correct or not?
2. Does Sid, your compadre, use the word "faggot" on a regular basis?
3. What pecentage of the posts on the deceased N5HDQ OPINION page are over two years old? Is not KE2LO a silent key?
4. Do a search on deja.com for KK7HO. How many times have people complained about your posts? Is not this excessive?
5. Has anyone on or associated with the Liberty Net been suspended or fined by the FCC (ie a license modification)?
6. Does the Christian Investigator Net or the Liberty Net (or anyone for that matter) have the freedom to discuss politics on ham radio?
7. Are you now or have you ever been a member of the communist party or any radical group that would give merit to the accusations of the liberty net folk?
8. Do you know anything about the ZU woof dog incident?

He can't find out if there is a way to disable the auto tuner so that he can attempt to use his external tuner. Can someone help us please, perhaps referring to something in his owner's manual? The best job that high school dropout Polly could ever hope to get is a wrench-turner job. I mean, the fool actually thinks having a ham shack in a used horse stall is a status symbol. I bet he went to the Jethro Bodine primary school.

Very good idea. I think RileyGotcha could be chaplain for the service. For music there could be a choir made up of Oris, N0VFP, KC1ZQ, KT4TR, KV4FZ, WhiteNation and a few others. I think these fellows could do a fine job singing the PORK BUTT !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! song.

What is it about WB2OTK that causes you to spend so much of your day posting comments about him? He turned in his license for cancellation last week and you guys are still carrying on about him, have you so little going on in your life that you have nothing else to occupy your time with? For those of you who may have trouble interpreting donkboy's illiterate English (I guess English is what it is), I have edited his ranting, inserting correct spelling and other corrections where necessary. Corrections are in parentheses.

>big (Big; capitalize first word in a sentence.) supprise (surprise; correct spelling) coming down. When some body (somebody; correct spelling) hits me with a rock, I counter punts (punt; correct verb person) them (him or her; correct pronoun form) back with a brick. Now your big WTIA hero needs a warrent (warrant; no such word as "warrent") to pay you no who (you-know-who; correct spelling and hyphenation) a visit, the tribe will make sure (certain; correct word. "Sure" refers to solid, as in "sure footing." "Certain" refers to a matter of fact.) he can never get one, (. ; end of sentence) heh heh. (Heh, heh.)

Keep whistling in the dark, donkboy. Our hero does not need a warrant if you are operating a radio transmitter. And, in view of your past experience with the law -- that is, you being on the wrong side -- a warrant should be no problem.

Heh, heh.

HERB STILL HEAR? I wasn't aware that he was suffering from any hearing loss, or problems hearing. I don't know him but I'm really glad he can still hear. Just to kill the cat snake-man, is English your second language? I believe you mean Herb is still here don't you? Are you really that stupid or is this just an elaborate troll pretending not to know the basics of the English language?

Hi everybody,
sorry for this silly question but I have this doubt.
I've always known that the "/" is named "SLASH", ant its contrary "\" is backslash; recently someone told me that the "/" is named STROKE. I was not able to find anything on my dictionary so I thought to ask....
Thank you in advance.

RE: RX-330 PC RADIO and "PEGASUS" PC TRANSCEIVER

I've read the ads and articles about the RX-330 PC RADIO, and I happened to see an article in PC MAGAZINE (August 1999, p. 89) by John C. Dvorak who writes "INSIDE TRACK" about new stuff in computers. At the end of the column he said that Ten-Tec was going to bring out a PC-based transceiver called "PEGASUS". [Ten-tec - 423/453-7172 - www.tentec.com]

Has anyone heard anything about the PEGASUS? Sounds interesting.

Doc's threatening letter about Tom Valentine was already read and discussed all over international shortwave, and a few AM and FM stations around the country. If Doc wants to dig a bigger hole for himself, we can continue to have these threatening posts read FOR THE ENTIRE WORLD to hear.

The voltage is a bit low on the panel, but otherwise it should work fine! No need to buy a bigger panel, that small battery can't take much anyway.

I caught W1RFI last week working the Tin, I'm guessing from his home QTH, pretty cool, I'm sitting at the bench building MY TT2 when I hear a 539 CQ from W1RFI on 7040.&#65533; He later peaked at 559. Looks like a pretty spiffy cert. for the contact.

Well no OM, I do work, I sell industrial automation and sensors. I work as a Regional Manager for a European company.
I have an office in my home and a dedicated line for the modem so if I'm in the office like I have been the last couple weeks I'm usually connected.

Great, I'd love to hear about your AM tx and the HF amp you built, were they kits or scratch built?

Very good, did you work at the Akron plant? My mother and father are both retired from GTR as well. I worked at Wingfoot Lake Park my senior year in High School. I was also a member of the Goodyear ARC, were you ever a member there? Jim Trutko and Phil Worsencroft (sp) taught my Novice class back in 78. Do you know either of them? It was a great class.

A local collector of memorabilia recently allowed me to purchase the very unusual B.A.R.F. pin that is displayed on our "Start Page". I've already received several interesting letters concerning the pin.

http://www.deja.com/~barf

I am hoping that a knowledgeable collector can provide some background information on the pin. Of course, I am already aware of the folklore associated with the historic B.A.R.F. We are hoping to locate some surviving B.A.R.F. veterans for our 10th Anniversary (65th for them) Celebration in 2000.

Best Wishes to all from the Better Amateur Radio Federation.

Well your comming around Snake, it's really easy to make friends, and I'd be happy to be one of yours. It's really easy, make more posts about the transmitters you built, your ham activities, etc., and fewer hate posts directed at other amateurs and you'll have friends comming out of the wood work. You don't have to be, but at the same time you can be a gentleman and not post message after message of name calling, but again it's a matter of choice. I just wonder however if there were a bunch on the news group that didn't like what you had to say, or the way you said it, and they spent months and years posting remarks about you, your lifestyle, digging up legal documents on you and posting them to the net, making disparaging remarks about your daughter or family. Posting web pages of hate toward you. How would it make you feel Snake? Would it make you change in some way? Would you not go on the air anymore? I'd really like to know.

Thanks Phil for the clarification. Two questions then. First, what can the FCC unltimately do about bootleggers? Can they really collect those NALs against bank accounts, or file propoerty liens?

Second, if the FCC can't take gear, why is it so easy for various state and Federal agencies to take property, often of truly innocent owners, just by mumbling a few vague words about "drug proceeds"?

I don't see the connection between time licensed, and trying QRP. I know fellows who've been licensed longer than both of us yet only work HB QRP. This hobby was practically founded on gear that only operated QRP (see Adrian Weiss' "History of QRP in the U.S.").

> I have built some AM txmitter and rec.and some HF AMP.for SSB so I feel

The regs instruct us to use what minimal power is necessary to carry on reliable comms. Try 100W, if that works, then try 10W (you and the listener will be surprised at the results).

Jeff KH6O

P.S. Of course, it's your choice to be an anon ("snake" -- is that your CB handle?), but doing so means you have no credibility on here. You might not even be licensed nor even own a soldering gun.

There was an article in ARRL a couple of months ago about rangefinding with a repeater. They found there was a substantial delay time in the repeater system itself. The satellite would probably has a similar problem.

Also, the distance would have to be corrected for thechange in the velocity of light as it tcrosses from a vacuum to air.

The forced march through the world of dumbed down (if it's possible) ham radio came first, with a temporary employee who lasted 6 months leading the charge before (as I predicted) old D'wana Terry was moved along.

Then Stacey Mesa brought you the all-new Dirty Digest smut ring, including her friends at Sen. Dodd's office, HUD, et al.

FCC spokesman noted that the WB2OTK license was "surrendered" via e-mail. This is an outrageous prank. Let's note that in the past FCC required a DEATH CERTFICATE or hand-written letter to cancel a license.

I know let's just get a spambot to "cancel" all 625,000 licenses, shall we ?

Then maybe FCC will issue a form letter commending the amateur community on their forward thinking vis-a-vis cellphones and the web.

"In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes." Judges 17:6

"The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counsel is wise." Proverbs 12:15

Maybe these 2 Bible verses can explain why.

But really, did you think OTK could lay off the mike? no. Porkbutt thinks that because that since KV4FZ is no longer in the database, and that Herb is in appeal, Porky can do the same. This is not right.

Any Thoughts?

Hey
Didn't Rich Whiten turn in his ticket? Why is the slob still on the air? Hear is the deal fellows. I'm off the air waiting for parts. Yes the Digital board in my 930 finally took the big dump. I ordered a new one and it should be here by the end of the week. So this is what you do. Keep a log of date and times you heard Richard Whiten on the air.I also would sujest you a timed log on when he IDs and how long between IDs. Then send the information to rholling@fcc.gov. Also keep track of your logs in case you catch Riley out of town ands need to resend them. Richard Whiten Is not a Amateur radio operator at this time. Has he gone the way of the pirate after all the crap he gave me about pirates on the radio. Go figure! If your serous about keeping this known QRMer over powered radio theaf off the air this what YOU will do! Like I said befor I hope to have my station back on line by the end of the week. I'll keep a log then.

As predicted by some, PORKBUTT the obese, bigoted, amateur radio rule breaker and now unlicensed amateur. Is back on the air without benefit of a valid ticket to operate. He just can not stay away from a microphone. He has to give that mike a head job twentyfour hours a day.

I don't know how Mr Riley Hollingsworth and the FCC is going to take this "Fart in his face" as one well known amateur described Porkbutts actions.

I guess if they let him get by with this latest scofflaw action, we will have all the rowdy behavior again on ALL the ham bands. If so, this hobby is going down the drain I hope Mr Riley confiscates his equipment. By the way, all his lonely suckboys welcomed the miscreant back with open arms and lips. ....Rileygotcha

Hello,

I have an dismantled Rohn free-standing tower and the label, which is still mostly intact, says "Stratotower". This is a 40 foot tower (5, 8-foot sections) which I am now reconditioning.

I have called both Rohn and Texas Towers and cannot get any information about this model. Rohn was especially rude and unwilling to answer any questions. I need to build a base section and get specs for the size of the hole, etc.

Has anyone heard of this tower and if so do you know how I can find out more?

Thanks.

If your that old snake-man why not enjoy your golden years and go do something. Do you have any grandchildren? Perhaps you could take them to the park, maybe try a new mode on the air, build a QRP rig, take a flying lesson, have you so little going for you in the last years of your life that your going to spend them following OTK around?
Additionally, I've corrected this 4 or 5 times now, if your going to let us all know that HERB is still on the air at least use the right word. What you want to say is Herb is still HERE, here as in, at this place, or at the present. Not HEAR which is in reference to your hearing. I don't claim to be any smarter than you snake-man, I'm just curious about what your point is with all the childish comments about OTK, what exactly is the point? If you don't like him, why do you tune in every time he's on the air?

Heh heh heh bring a weapon? For snake-man? you? Neither of you have any sense, VFP and Rileygotcha included. You're all worked up over another radio amateur that you happen not to like, you spend hours burning up bandwidth thinking that somehow your accomplishing something. If VFP put as much time in to his amateur ticket as he has creating OTK worship pages he'd be an Extra by now. Plow me under? why would you want to do that? I'm happy to discuss any topic relative to ham radio, including your preoccupation with OTK if that's what your interest is. The difference between you and I is I'm here to discuss, your here to win or lose as if the FCC issuing an NAL or suspension of OTKs license makes you a winner.
So let's talk about your project, tell me exactly how your succeeding and what goal do you have in mind? Are you competent enough to discuss the subject or will your reply include some silly one liner and the above URL. Lets see.

You've really done all that I've mentioned? Tell me about the QRP rig you built, what sort of plane did you take a lesson in? Wouldn't talking about those things be so much more interesting than the pointless, meaningless posts about OTK? What modes/bands do you operate?

Now wait a minute,
When Rich Whiten was on the air did he use the WB2OTK call sign and did he identify every 10mins? Either way Rich Whiten is supposed to be on suspension 120 days. Is Rich Whiten fighting Mr Hollingsworth's decision on the 120 day time out? Or did Mr. Whiten truly turn in his ticket and now going pirate freebander A.K.A. illeagal CBer? Is it a fact that Mr.
Whiten turned in his license or is this a farse? Is Rich Whiten on 120 day suspension or has the FCC weeble woobled again? What is the real truth here? Maybe we all hit the FCC with the Freedom of Information act and find out the real truth here? I wonder if enough of us hit the FCC with this we could get the real story and all the letters to Mr.
Hollingsworth from Rich Whiten, and all the letters from Mr.
Hollingsworth to Richard Whiten. I do beleive the bands are going to become worse if this guy is allowed to continue to mess up the airwaves.
I'm also sending a Carbon copy of this message to Riley Hollingsworth. I want to know the real deal here! I think all of us in the Amateur community have a RIGHT to know!

Why do you use a proxy ? AOL has its own proxy. Is that what you did with FCC ?

Do you think we can't trace you through two proxies ?

Can't you think of an argument without using mine ? Please note I warned of "hackers" in my warnings of ULS pitfalls.

WB2OTK Tells FCC Cancellation Request Sent in Error

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 28, 1999--When FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, got word last Thursday via e-mail from Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, that Whiten was getting out of ham radio and wanted to turn in his license, Hollingsworth obliged. He promptly canceled Whiten's General-class amateur privileges and deleted WB2OTK from the FCC database. At the time, the South Carolina ham was facing an FCC enforcement action that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.

Hollingsworth explained that the FCC does not need the actual license document to cancel someone's amateur privileges. In the FCC's view, the license "grant" that exists in the FCC's database is all that matters in most cases.

"We do not need the license document for a modification, cancellation or revocation and rarely ask for it unless a licensee is offering to submit it in exchange for having a monetary forfeiture cancelled," Hollingsworth said.

Whiten subsequently claimed that the e-mail request to cancel his Amateur Radio license had been sent to the FCC in error, although the FCC says Whiten earlier "categorically denied" sending the e-mail request to cancel his ticket and also blamed it on "computer hackers." Hollingsworth has requested affidavits from Whiten explaining just what happened and says the FCC will take the information he supplies under consideration, but in the meantime, he's warned Whiten to stay off the air.

In a letter sent today, Hollingsworth said the FCC has information that WB2OTK has been on the air, and he warned Whiten that his amateur grant remains deleted from the FCC database.

Last month, the Commission modified Whiten's license for 120 days to prohibit operation below 30 MHz as part of a deal that would clear the books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues against Whiten. By going along with the proposal, Hollingsworth said in a June 30 letter to Whiten, "all enforcement issues related to the operation of WB2OTK would be moot and the case terminated" at the end of the suspension October 25. The FCC also said that if there were no violations of the modification order, it would grant Whiten's request--set aside by the FCC earlier this year--for the vanity call sign W2OTK.

Whiten has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about the operation of Whiten's station. Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify."

In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC did not go into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

Why? because of the voltage or the 250ma ?

A 4AH battery requires a charge rate of C/7 or 4000/7=570 ma for 10 hours.
The 250ma rate would take about 23 hours to recharge, or 2 days approx.
Once charged, the battery could discharge into load approximately 2500mah each day and still be recharged each day.

I would expect that sized panel to be unregulated output, so the voltage would swing between 0 and 16 or more volts during each day, and the current from 0-250ma (or maybe even a little more).

Normal charging requirement for a 4AH battery is about C/7 or a little over 250ma for cyclic charging over a 10H period. Although that panel would be marginal under heavy load, I would expect it to work fine under average conditions on that size battery.

What specifically would you consider problematic?

John... on that small a battery, with that kind of power input to it, you probably don't really need any charging regulation. The one thing I would pay attention to is the load usage pattern and the charging pattern, under average days, and see if they match plus about 10% for battery heat losses. If you are only floating the battery, you might want to current limit it to C/400+load or thereabouts. If you are using load out of the battery constantly or daily cyclically, then you need to have it replace the charge used plus the 10-20% overcharge factor. It sounds like it should do fine.

I can't point you to specific web sites for reference, but, if you run across any, holler them back.

Albright Sends 'Clone' To Sing

By Carol Giacomo

SINGAPORE (Reuters) - After spirited performances two years running, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright again produced the unexpected for a closing dinner skit at an Asian leaders conference -- a drag clone of herself.

Albright actually had to leave Singapore early for Rome so she could visit Kosovo Thursday and Bosnia Friday for a summit on Balkans stability.

So Tuesday night's U.S. musical review at the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) annual dinner featured a stand-in: Assistant Secretary of Defense Kurt Campbell.

He was dressed as Albright singing a spoof called ``Lone Superpower'' to the tune of an old American classic, ``Home on the Range.''

In a taped video message that opened the skit, Albright apologized for not being there herself.

But she said ``American technology can achieve miracles ... Before leaving Singapore, I had myself cloned. And I have left behind Madeleine II... who combines the modesty of (ex-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger with the shyness of Madonna -- me.''

Campbell, posing as Albright and wearing clothes similar to hers, proceeded to playfully exult about American hegemony.

Hegemony is something the United States is often faulted for in the post-Cold War era, including an unexpected attack on this very point Tuesday by the Chinese foreign minister during the formal (and serious) part of the ASEAN conference.

``Lone, lone superpower/From Pristina to Port Au Prince Haiti,'' reads one verse of the song, in which Campbell was supported by a chorus of other U.S. officials.

``Some countries complain/We feel their pain/But we're sticking with hegemony.''

As always with the performances during Albright's tenure, the Americans make fun of almost everyone -- themselves included -- and the verses often contain more than a grain of truth.

Some other verses:

``Oh, give me a home/Where the peacekeepers roam

``And the tariffs are lowered each day

``Where the people can vote/And the currencies float

``And the countries all do what we say ''I've met for some time/With the sheriff from China

``Our positions they sometimes conflict

``But we don't come to blows/As our soccer team knows

``We resolve things with penalty kicks''

``To my old friends in Asia/From Japan to Malaysia

``I dedicate this cowgirl song

``And to old North Korea/We really don't fear ya'

``Cause your missile is called the No Dong''

For many years, the U.S. skit at the dinner was decidedly uninspired. But In 1997 when she became secretary of state, Albright infused originality into the task, winning rave reviews for a performance based on the musical ``Evita.''

In 1998 she teamed up with then-Russian Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov for a spoof on the musical ``West Side Story'' re-named ``East-West Story.''

U.S. officials briefly considered doing something with the Chinese this year but given the state of their relations, neither side seemed ready for that.

This shows the value of licensing exams??? What's that mean?
A good exam will educate studious operators in techniques to avoid being caught? Q&A about FCC regs enforcements will scare the crap out of anyone even thinking about violating Part 97?

This is a good illustration of the value of a balanced diet and getting enough fiber. Of the value of reading a good book instead of watching television. Of tolerance and respect for the rights and feelings of others. Of going to church. Or maybe, just possibly, of the value of good RDF equipment, vans loaded with tens of thousands of dollars worth of locator equipment at taxpayer expense, and someone willing to enforce federal laws and regulations for once. I sincerely doubt exams make a difference. Last I checked, you could legally buy any ham gear you wanted, no CSCE needed. No FCC permission is needed to power it up, either. If you hit that PTT button without a license, you may be in violation of FCC regs, but the force required is the same, even if you have the weight of an Advanced license behind you. So how do exams make any difference? Answer that one, and maybe we can use the same principal to deal with violators of other federal regulations.

Their website has to be one of the most useless I've seen. It's terribly out of date (they only list ADMS-1D - no mention of ADMS-1E or the VX-5), and there is no description of what the various pieces of software actually do. Nor any pricing info I could find (the "online catalog" link gets an "under construction" message). And no email address to send queries to.

If I had to guess how good their software was by looking at their web site, I'd never buy anything from them.

However, I actually do have ADMS-1C, and know it is very useful. What I'd like to know is whether upgrading to -1E would let me read radio data from a text file rather than typing it in by hand - and, if so, how much the upgrade would cost. No info about either of these is on the web site so far as I could find.

What's Happening
Welcome to your Better Radio Discussion Group! This group was formed for the purpose of providing a forum for controversial topics related to Amateur Radio. It is 100% free from censorship or moderation. Don't expect Martin to moderate or referee your squabbles. As a matter of fact, you can expect Martin to jump into the fray and speak his mind. Nobody is going to be run out or kicked out. Let's make this forum just like an old-fashioned New England Town Hall Meeting.

Don't you see the statements that it's 100% free from censorship and that no one will be run out or kicked out? W9XN IS A LIAR. Chittum is actually BULLCHITTUM. I was kicked out for writing a dissenting opinion. Need proof? Here's what I got this morning.

You have been removed from the "Better Radio Discussion Group"

DEMOCRACY? What's ruining ham radio? Snotnosed bigots and here's an example of what a BARFie sent me-something approved and encouraged by Fartin' Martin.

Now please understand that whatever Lloyd Davies sends me reinforces my belief in his halfwittedness however it's interesting to note that a person like he is so readily accepted into such a subversive maniacal and destructive group. Why? Because his lack of intelligence allows him to be led around and set up by his masters such as "Bullchittum," the Saint Croix Felon and others.
I demand immediate reinstatement into this group not because I like it but because I challenge their so-called democratic principles. I say there is no democracy in the BARF. They are intolerant s.o.b.s and I should have a perfect right to express this opinion as I sit at the same table with them while spitting in their eyes.
So what do you have to say, "Wheezie?" I call your bluff. fatso. Are you going to reinstate me or as Hitler did, exclude me from "your private society?" Restricted clientele? Hell, I'll break your door down and you know it.
Put up or shut up, fats. Oh by the way, I'm not interested in buying your Nazi paraphernalia you're now hawking. All that Nazi scheiss is going to sit very well with one Riley Hollingsworth and you pro-Nazi muthas have the nerve to write and call him complaining about WB2OTK?
Also for anyone interested, to also prove how enamored is the BARF with Hitler, that other emblem being shown on the BARF home page represents the Ustasha, a neo-Nazi Balkan organization led by Ante Pavelitch. the mass murderer from Croatia who was caught and hanged at the end of W.W.II by Titoists.
W9XA, you are a sneaky bastard beyond description. A fat slob whose claim to fame is downing 10 pizzas at one time while catering to a bunch of perverts on a rundown piece of crap property in West Virginia, the Chittum Reichs Kanzlerei. You're crap, Wheezie and will pay for it.

This just goes to show you dipshits that the government should only deal with folks by certified mail-only. It does not make a difference who sent the e-mail message. The FCC did not verify the information in the message. It's a shame Riley chose to be employed in his current capacity. He would have made a fine lawyer in private practice. He would have fit right in, and made a better living.

The rest of you dipshits that are attacking Rich and Doc and the rest, if your life is so grand, why the FXXK are you in here to begin with? Your lives are so petty, with nothing better to do, what a shame...

Tens of thousands of hams and SWL listeners gathered in Easley, SC today for the WB2OTK memorial service. The choir sang all 37 verses of PORK BUTT song to open the ceremony, and Rileygotcha gave the eulogy. R-G's speech was as follows:

QUOTE

WB2OTK Tells FCC Cancellation Request Sent in Error
NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 28, 1999--When FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, got word last Thursday via e-mail from Richard L. Whiten, WB2OTK, of Easley, South Carolina, that Whiten was getting out of ham radio and wanted to turn in his license, Hollingsworth obliged. He promptly canceled Whiten's General-class amateur privileges and deleted WB2OTK from the FCC database. At the time, the South Carolina ham was facing an FCC enforcement action that would have kept him off the HF bands for four months.

Hollingsworth explained that the FCC does not need the actual license document to cancel someone's amateur privileges. In the FCC's view, the license "grant" that exists in the FCC's database is all that matters in most cases.

"We do not need the license document for a modification, cancellation or revocation and rarely ask for it unless a licensee is offering to submit it in exchange for having a monetary forfeiture cancelled," Hollingsworth said.

Whiten subsequently claimed that the e-mail request to cancel his Amateur Radio license had been sent to the FCC in error, although the FCC says Whiten earlier "categorically denied" sending the e-mail request to cancel his ticket and also blamed it on "computer hackers."

Hollingsworth has requested affidavits from Whiten explaining just what happened and says the FCC will take the information he supplies under consideration, but in the meantime, he's warned Whiten to stay off the air.

In a letter sent today, Hollingsworth said the FCC has information that WB2OTK has been on the air, and he warned Whiten that his amateur grant remains deleted from the FCC database.

Last month, the Commission modified Whiten's license for 120 days to prohibit operation below 30 MHz as part of a deal that would clear the books of any outstanding FCC enforcement issues against Whiten. By going along with the proposal, Hollingsworth said in a June 30 letter to Whiten, "all enforcement issues related to the operation of WB2OTK would be moot and the case terminated" at the end of the suspension October 25. The FCC also said that if there were no violations of the modification order, it would grant Whiten's request--set aside by the FCC earlier this year--for the vanity call sign W2OTK.

Whiten has run afoul of the FCC on several accounts. In late January, Hollingsworth and an FCC engineering team visited Whiten's station after what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints" about the operation of Whiten's station. Whiten reportedly cooperated in the station inspection. The FCC says it's received "numerous complaints" about Whiten "regarding profanity, obscenity, broadcasting extreme racial slurs, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify."

In April, the FCC sent Whiten tape recordings of transmissions from his station made on two occasions in November and asked him to explain their contents. Whiten responded in May. Citing privacy concerns, the FCC did not go into details about Whiten's explanations for what was on the tapes, but Hollingsworth noted in his June 30 letter ordering the modification that Whiten had apologized for the operation of his station on the dates in question.

END QUOTE

First he says he did not send the e-mail, it was sent by a hacker. Now, he says it was sent in error. Someone should have told this guy to start by telling the truth, there's less to remember that way.

This whole affair gets crazier and crazier.

The ADMS-1E software for my VX-1R produces gibberish in the dtmf dialing says To use an rdf file only.

I would stick with what you have or try to find the ADMS 1D instead.

I understand the OTK e-mail to FCC surrendering his ticket was not from him thus a hoax.

As crazy as this entire episode has been nothing would surprise me.

Jamers going scott free while those complaining about jamming get hammered!

How is it the jamer of the Liberty Net gets his suspension lifted and those being jammed get the hammer dropped.

I think things are getting a bit backward here.

You are obviously a very bitter and confused individual. Just stay tuned and you will be shown the facts and the facts will set things straight. Richard Whiten did in fact send Mr. hollingsworth the message that he was going to send his ticket in and in fact Mr. Hollingsworth made the post to the ARRL for the purpose of informing the public of the current state of affairs of the ongoing saga of OTK and the amateur community. Do not think for one minute that Riley made the posting without probable cause. The e-mail message will prove this and we will all find out once again that Richard is a liar. Isn't it strange to you that Richard was not on the air today and I bet that he will not be on the air tomorrow. OTK is desperate at this point and that was shown yesterday by his grandstanding on 20 & 75 meters. Even OTK was stating that he was going to join the ranks of K1MAN and challenge Hollingsworth, even hold him personally responsible, how stupid. It is obvious that Porkbutt is even more stupid than Herb has told us for many years. Open your ears and listen to this simple carpetbagger type character.

I really do enjoy the way you folks are subjected to the chicanery of your fellows and the "media" in the form of ARRL, and a clueless attorney at FCC doing the Officer Friendly bit.

Others of you think you are Nazis, yet would have been shot on site (sic.) by the Stasi.

Several of you early on though I was a Nazi, now you think I commune with little green men; I seem to be getting alot of those responses lately.

Poor, poor hams. Most so very much alike.

If I had a nickel for every pudgey middle-aged ham I've met who "worked for the NSA" or was "in Army Intelligence", I'd give them to charity as I don't need them. And America would be much more insecure tonight due to your big mouths and the sheer numbers of its intelligence community.

A local collector of memorabilia recently allowed me to purchase the very unusual B.A.R.F. pin that is displayed on our "Start Page". I've already received several interesting letters concerning the pin.

I am hoping that a knowledgeable collector can provide some background information on the pin. Of course, I am already aware of the folklore associated with the historic B.A.R.F. We are hoping to locate some surviving B.A.R.F. veterans for our 10th Anniversary (65th for them) Celebration in 2000.

Best Wishes to all from the Better Amateur Radio Federation.

*Your interpretation of the BARF pin is ABFALL which means "garbage" in German. First of all, there is no script on it saying BARF. It's your imagination. I see letters B and A. But the other two are P and possibly an S. In no way can anyone in his right mind link the script with BARF for another good reason. BARF is an allusion! There has never been any such group other than morons associated with that name. It was coined by moronic Billy Gasell in a moment of drunken stupor. He's the one, before getting some teeth knocked out plus broken ribs, who used to come on and announce himself as wb4gdPEEEEEEEEE! Thrown out of Jackson, Tennessee. Thrown out of Charlotte, North Carolina and after settling into Ocala, Florida, thrown into a hospital ward. gdPEEEEE. gdPEEEEEEE! Getting back to your so-called 1935 BARF medallion from Nazi Germany and let's remember that Germany was truly under Hitler in that year; in fact, on Sept.15th of that year, the Nuremberg Racial Laws were passed which was step one in the exclusion from society of German Jews leading to the Holocaust must certainly delight Shittum, gdPEEEEEEE and other reprobates. Notice the word RUNDFUNK on the emblem? That means radio. Notice the suffix TAGUNG? You know what that means? A session or a meeting. Therefore when everything is put together, the emblem means THE 1935 Berlin Radiomeeting. Under the Adlerkopf(Eagle's head) we see the emblem of a lightning charge which in many countries signifies RADIO. I cannot tell you what the RDR signifies except that one R must stand for RADIO, the D must stand for Deutsch(German) and undoubtedly the other R must stand for ROTTEN which aptly describes Berlin in 1935 and the BARF in 1999. Once more, there is no BARF written on that emblem. I however notice that many things connected to the BARF are of Nazi origin which puzzles me since the "brains" of these social outcasts uses JewishMail in his screen name. I also must comment on this: a while ago I sent the link to the BARF homepage to Riley Hollingsworth who did NOT appreciate its connotation. I am not at liberty to quote Mr. H. but he knows full well what a lousy bunch of racists are associated with it. The oddest thing is that I thought the BARF became subordinate to the Stump Jumpers but in reality, they're interchangeable. Both are composed of useless dregs who couldn't ascend to the stage of wannabes because they are already so low on the ladder to success. How strange it is that the FCC should be so obsessed by words said in jest between a Caucasian and Negro on the ham bands, yet so oblivious to racism of another type. I wonder if the FCC will ever wake up and realize that all types of bigotry in ham radio, STINKS? Or do they just care about the feelings and sentiments of our AfroAmerican brothers? Maybe I'm just being a bit melodramatic but fair play is supposed to be the byword of the American ethic and somehow it's being relegated into an invisible position. Let me close by telling everyone in the BARF to go to hell and anxiously I await Oct.18th which will mark the onset for "For Whom the Bells Toll" for KV4FZ. The FCC will do to him what the tribunal did to most of the Nazis on trial at Nuremberg. Is there really a difference in personalities?

That's an impressive capability, and confirms what I've heard from other sources.

But I must ask: Why then have the dozens of unidentified (and some identified) jammers that infect 3950 and environs, including several who have operated on nearly the same schedule and with the same modus operandi for the better part of a decade, and who have been repeatedly reported to the Commission starting years ago, not been caught?

Some of these jammers were chastened, and fell silent, when WA9KJI received his richly deserved suspension. But they are back again, and up to their usual tricks, since KJI "beat the rap" with a lying affidavit from a co-jammer.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Regarding your BARF pin, it's fraudulent. Having check with "Die Illustrierte Geshichte des Zweiten Weltkriegs" and "Die Geshichte der NSDAP Rundfunksanschaltungen von 1933 bis 1945," any and all medals, pins,medallions and badges worn in connection with the Radio Division of the Reich's Ministry of Propaganda under which Ham Radio was quartered, had to display a mini-swastika and you are missing it. The person who sold you that medal or badge as authentic is nothing but a Hun crook, probabaly related to the Schoenbohms. Furthermore if one consults "My Years in Radio Propaganda" by Hans Fritzche who was tried at Nuremberg, on page 224 he too makes reference to the fact that EVERYTHING connected to radio in Hitlerville had to display the swastika. One more bit of proof of fraudulent BARF tactics. It would behoove these miserable schweinhunds to stop the charade and begin passing out to all its members mini-Swastikas in order to identify them properly instead of skirting the issue or implying quasi-affection for German barbarity. And the wheezer thinks that Riley did not get my link to the BARF homepage and then did not react negatively? You keep deluding yourself Lungman because what I write is the absolute truth. You see fool, it's like this. Your lynch pin is one KV4FZ who obviously is loathed by the FCC. Although I cannot nor will not speak for Riley, I seriously doubt if he considers Herbie anything more than a zit with a mouth. A blowhard supreme. Now Herbie has made it his business for several years to run down the FCC which in turn has led to similar insults by his sheep. I am telling you outright that one by one, you BARFies will disappear from ham radio. How? By suspension or revocation? You will feel the sting of the FCC when time comes to RENEW. Make no mistake about it-the Feds know exactly who are the real instigators and bigots-the ones who equate KV4FZ with the incidents at Waco and Ruby-the ones who applaud the bombing of the Murrah Building in Oklahoma City,OK etc. The Feds know full well the IDs and M.O.s of these degenerates and your time is coming. Just watch what happens when its RENEWAL TIME GUYS and all you'll get to hold is air. Lastly I was told that the BARF is now selling Nazi paraphernalia on the Internet? Yep, that's going to sit very well with Riley Hollingsworth. Oh yes, one thing more. On your homepage you make a reference to what you'll do when KV4FZ is taken off the air for good. You say it won't alter things. That you'll continue infiltrating Intercon and causing trouble. Wanna bet? When Schoenbohm goes, YOU GO. Remember what I'm writing. You're history!

the Digital board in my 930 finally took the big dump. I ordered a new

do. Keep a log of date and times you heard Richard Whiten on the air.I also would sujest you a timed log on when he IDs and how long between IDs. Then send the information to rholling@fcc.gov. Also keep track of your logs in case you catch Riley out of town ands need to resend them.
Richard Whiten Is not a Amateur radio operator at this time. Has he gone

Yes! Ham radio's favorite throwback, K5BLB, has been heard back on the air on 3.950! Catch him and his fellow brain-dead fatass pals from around Midnite Central to the wee hours of the morning. You don't want to miss Sid's regressive commentaries on "faggits, maggits and queers", as well as his colorfully descriptive terms about bizzare human reproductive foreplay activities.
Ole Sid's show is gettin to be as good as the classic on 3.853 late night with Ole Slobberhead from Conroe. Looks like these two are in for the late night ham radio ratings sweeps! So don't miss the return of K5Brown Lacreica Boiler he's much more amusing than Porkbutt!

The correct spelling is "volkswagen." The VW was designed by Ferdinand Porsche. I already own and drive a 72 Beetle and have owned as many as five of them at one time.

No, the problem is that some percentage of Americans are sucked in by the likes of Rush Limbaugh, Benny Hinn, Pat Robertson, Art Bell, Jerry Falwell, Jack van Impe, Gary North, Bo Gritz, and other phonies. But, then, each generation has its conspiracy nuts. Witness the claims prior to 1,000 a.d.

Go placidly amid the noise and QRM and remember what peace there may be in a dead band.
As far as possible without losing contest points, be on good terms with all ops, even that guy on 75M with the 5KW amp. Speak your truth quietly and clearly: don't trip the ALC light; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story, especially the guy on the local repeater who is always there.

Avoid loud & aggressive persons, they are vexations to 75-meters. If you compare yourself with others you will become a contester; for always there will be greater and lesser ops than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans, like that half-built thing, you don't know what it is it's been in the basement so long.

Keep interested in ham radio, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing solar cycle. Exercise caution in sticking your fingers inside your equipment; for the world is full of voltage. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high QSL-rates; and everywhere life is full of 599 contacts.

Be yourself: use your own callsign. Especially, do not give inflated signal reports. Neither be cynical about voice-keyers; for in the face of all aridity & disenchantment it is foolproof as CW.

Take kindly the counsel of the OM, gracefully surrendering the rigs of youth. Nurture strength of guy-wires to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with un-grounded towers. Many fears are born of loose connections. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with your gear.

You are a child of the ARRL, no less than H.P. Maxim and Dr. Yagi; You have a right to your 3 KHz. And whether or not it is CL to you, no doubt the bands are opening as they should. Therefore be at peace with the ionosphere, whatever you perceive it to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of ham radio keep peace with your key.

With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful hobby.
Be careful.
Strive to be DXCC.

I just left a short note for W9XN, "Wheezer the Geezer" on his quickie Bigoted Amateur Radio Fascist note board which supposedly is part of a forum which doesn't exist since there's written "There is no forum for this community of nitwits." Go look for yourselves. Actually I added "nitwits" for clarification purposes. I didn't want to mislead anyone into thinking that the Wheezer's claptrap organization had even a modicum of credulity or sensibility.It's nothing more than a conglomeration of underachieving anti-Semitic skunks posing as FCC appointed policemen which is equating the Keystone Cops to the Navy SEALS. Looks as if Wheezie's rathole isn't turning out too well. Gee, I do hope it can hold up against my present and future onslaughts until which time it collapses along with Herbie Schoenbohm's ham radio future. It just thrills the hell out of me to be able to take apart such rotten machinery, piece by piece. Incidentally, this July 31st will mark either the fourth or fifth year of KA4MUJ's passing which most definitely benefitted both American and overseas ham radio. Michael Galego was an utter disgrace to us all and he died 63 years too late. His vicious, filthy and intolerant speech turned the stomachs of the staunchest of men and it's great not having to hear the wild man anymore. What did him in were two things: (1)when he intentionally jammed medical traffic which would have saved the life of a El Salvadorean baby (2) when he prayed for the reunification of Germany under Nazism in order to go "Jew hunting" all over again. I have the tape to prove it.
Believing in the power of the God of the Jews, Jehovah, I prayed for his destruction and lo and behold, the sonovabitch died from lung cancer. Incidentally my prayer also brought in Jesus so as not to offend those who think that he's God. Who knows what went on 2000 years ago and maybe there was something divine about the man, so why take chances? Right? Gotta keep my butt covered! I don't want any Gentiles getting mad at me but when a BARF officer,N0VFP, tells everyone in WRITING that he's a "born again Christain" (I swear it's exactly how the fool wrote it).,I simply can't put any stock in the Protestant movement since it obviously attracts mental dumpsters. Catholics are definitely smarter as attested to by that good looking (oy vey) Mother Angelica of EWTN whose brain makes up for her rather disturbing physiognomy. IN OTHER WORDS, SHE'S HOMELY BEYOND DESCRIPTION! But we are digressing too far astray from the theme of this post--why Martin Chittum has become Martin Bullchittum,Lungalong Cassidy, The Wheezer Geezer and Fartin' Martin, the consumate liar and troublemaker. This guy was a snake a decade ago playing both sides against the middle. A guy who ostensibly, through his writings, one of which helped reduce K3CQR's fine, and on-the-air dialogue, made it apparent he loathed the neo-Nazi swine Herbie Schoenbohm, the accomplished musician and singer. Pariah Carey and if I misspelled the last name, forgive me. I am still in the Paul Whiteman stage of music with a bit of Glen Gray's Casa Loma Orchestra thrown in too. W9XN is the consumate sneak of sneaks on amateur radio and I'm willing to bet that Riley knows it too and Wheezie will get a shock one of these days. My appeal to fellow hams is this:

NEVER UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES CONFIDE ANYTHING IN THE WHEEZER. He'll betray your pants off. He'll lie with a straight tongue and then backstab. Ah so, honorable Martinmaka Bullchittumoka. This is my compliment to the greatly repugnant Martin tonight and you can count on more in the future. I am just warming up.

Greetings... I have a problem with my Kenwood TM-741 that is this.... when I turn it on, the display comes up with the word "ON" on it and then does nothing else....it just stays there. I can't turn unit off unless I unplug unit from P/S, hold down Function and MHZ and plug back in. When I do this, the full display comes up (all icons lit) and then I can shut it off. If I don't do this, I can unplug it, and then plug it in and it comes back up to the "ON" without my even hitting the on button. It did this back a few months ago but then stopped mysteriously and worked normally. Then last weekend it gagged on me again. I'm hoping someone else has had this problem and can remember what either they or Kenwood did to remedy this. TIA

This group has featured many expressions of opinion about the FCC "Enforcer" Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH. I am inviting you to hear him in person, and judge for yourself.

Riley will be the banquet speaker at the ARRL SW Division Convention 2 October 1999 at 7 pm. on the Queen Mary in Long Beach, California. The banquet costs only $30 (cheap for such events, not cheap in itself), and convention registration is currently only $12, including a substantial trade show and an outstanding technical program. Check it out (and register for the convention) at http://www.qsl.net/arrlsw/hamcon/ and don't miss the show.

Riley is also scheduled to participate in an FCC Forum at the convention, Saturday at noon in the Britannia Salon. Your convention registration gets you into this meeting.

Hotel rooms on the ship are still available, at bargain rates: $74 inside cabins, $84 with a window on the world.

I have been using a 250 - 300 ma panel for my 5ah sealed lead/acid battery as is, no regulator or other circuit to run a DX394 on my boat. Seems to keep up fine. When I return home, it does need topping off overnight to be fully charged. Charging at 14.8v then 13.5v to float.

My solution to similar problem:

Take apart radio.
Unsolder one end of lithium battery.
Turn on w/ 12v, which resets CPU.
Turn off.
Resolder lithium battery.

My problem was caused by having radio on in car, and starting engine. Musta got a spike & corrupted rig CMOS. Now, I turn off the radio before starting engine. Previous vehicle I had no problem for years starting with rig on.

Little Timmy... if you consider that posting to be a "flame" then you have NEVER really been "flamed" (at least, not by me). I suppose that your minuscule perception (limited to one frequency [3950] and its happenings) combining with your persecution complex makes any opposition appear to be a flame.

For months, King Ashka-Nazi has done nothing but hurl insults at the participants of this ng. I have attempted to move him to a more suitable venue. It won't work. He is going to be camped in here until he is deprived of his Internet access.

With that in mind, Plan "B" is to attempt to convince the raging Philistine that he should argue issues instead of issuing forth a steady stream of insults and name-calling. I fully realize that Plan "B" probably isn't going to work either. He appears to be incapable of rational debate.

In the process, I have done a little name-calling of my own. By comparison, it has been very little. Yet, a "purist" could easily point out my failings in that regard.

Tim, you are not a "purist" by any stretch of the imagination. Yet, I will grant that you have the right to point any inconsistency in what I have written. I also have that same right with respect to you.

Thus far, I have not paid any attention to you. I really do not intend to be involved with you in any way. But you do deserve the courtesy of a reply and so now you have one. You don't need to lose any more sleep about what transpires between AF2Y and W9XN. [Insert your idiotic LOL LOL here] Concentrate on keeping your ham ticket for a few months. Remember what AF2Y said about the Great Judgment Day that is coming for some at renewal time. You never know... he might have been talking about you.

Please note that King Ashka-Nazi will continue to post his insults and personal attacks long after I have ceased to respond to them. Wise up, Timmy! AF2Y cannot control himself. I can. Here is a little example of self-discipline for you to emulate.

Name a date when you want me to make my next posting to this newsgroup. It can be any date from tomorrow through "never again".
Whatever date you specify... that will be the date when I make my next you do, you will learn a lesson of great value.

Tim, a word of advice. If you believe anything "Bullchittum" spews, you're nuts. He's made one hell of a reputation for himself as a hypochondriacal liar, an instigator and a staunch ally of the reprehensible KV4FZ while simultaneously attempting to persuade us of his love for Rich Whiten, his support of the FCC and hatred of bigotry. Keep your distance from "Gasper the

I use my filters every day, and yet I still can't get rid of the social misfits, mentally ill and severely retarded people on this group. Has the sewer of the world become the internet? I think so. One only has to look on here and see the grown men acting like 6 year old school children every day, calling names, making threats and generally acting like a group of inner city thugs. What on earth would make people act like this? Too much time I would say. Most probably don't have full time jobs or collect a check. The ones that do have a job most likely are low level morons who feel stepped on and have to take it out on someone. Get a grip folks and better yet, get a life. It's only radio.

I'm wondering how you get an Advanced class license and not know the answer to your first question. Yes the L7 works on SSB, FM, AM, RTTY, Packet, Clover, Pactor, Amtor,&#65533; Hellshcrieber, SSTV, FAX,&#65533; FSK, AFSK, PWM, but most important it will amplify a CW signal. Wow, that's a lot of capability!

The tubes are 3-500z you can find them at all over, prices vary. $100 at a flea and up.
You'll find the rest of your questions answered at the following sites.

2735. Loosen those pesky Kenwood Microphone Nuts!!!

(This is provided as a public service, and NOT as a way to make money...)

I have in my posession a tool that is positively brilliant at loosening/removing/tightening those annoying circular "nuts" that you'll find on various Kenwood rigs. Yes, you know the ones I mean, the ones that no amount of coaxing with the tip of a screwdriver will budge.

Why on earth would you want to remove this nut, you ask? Well for most of the affected Kenwood rigs, it's the ONLY way to get to things like digital front panels, lithium batteries, and so on.

You can see a photo of the tool at:

http://www.mv.com/ipusers/innermedia/kenwood/spanner.jpg

So here's the deal:

1. Send me a postal money order (no cash or checks please) for the amount of $37.50. This covers the cost of my packaging and shipping the tool ($17.50), plus a refundable deposit of $20.

2. I then ship the tool to you via UPS ground. If you want it faster, email or call me and I'll tell you the cost.

3. You use the tool (totally at YOUR risk!!!) to open your radio, do your work, then use the tool to close it up. PLEASE DON'T BREAK OR ABUSE THE TOOL!

4. Using the same box I sent it to you in, you send the tool back to me, via whatever method you choose.

5. When I receive the tool back undamaged, I send you a check for $20, thereby refunding your deposit.

Your net cost is therefore just $17.50. That's about 1/4 of what any Kenwood service facility will charge you, and you get to control what happens.

PLEASE DON'T USE THIS AS AN OPPORTUNITY TO BUY THIS TOOL. I can tell you where to get your own, please return mine.

If you want further info about any of this, just contact me as shown below.

Thanks, and best regards all!

Disclaimer:

I make absolutely NO warranty as to the applicability, performance, or safety involved in using the tool I send to you. If you damage your rig, or yourself, that is totally your responsibility. If you void your warranty, that's also your problem. THINK BEFORE YOU ACT!

If the tool is not as I described it, if you chicken out, or if it doesn't fit your rig, contact me, and I'll refund your entire price (less my UPS cost) as soon as the tool is returned to me undamaged. In other words, treat me fairly, and I'll return the same.

Let him defend himself, or destroy himself.

Why, you look like a youngster named Lloyd to me.

Besides, any moron knows you're using two proxies; AOL has one, then to further your paranoia, you go through Lucent's.

Besides, FCC already knows the real OTK is a wee confused, as Joe

And ladies and gents-keep in mind that El Warpo from "Tipped" Indiana is giving WB2OTK 'SOUND ADVICE" on how to resolve the situation with Riley Hollingsworth! Yeah sure-if Rich listens to that lying s.o.b., Rich will be off as long as Schoenbohm-120 years!
This happened about five years ago. I was there at the time but didn't realize just how damned sick Chittum was. He's tri-polar. Depressed and hypochondriacal; elated and pole pigged. I'll relay everything in the present tense so here goes.
Chittum, just about in tears, calls Rich Whiten. Boo hoo hoo. Rich asks what's happening. Martin comes out with,"The BARF got ahold of my credit card and ordered a big Icom VHF radio from AES and it's here, boo hoo hoo." Rich comes back by thinking that it sounds BOGUS because anything they typically send would be confirmed by a phone call since a credit card is involved.
Suspiciouly, Rich asks,"Marty, does it have this module in it?' Chittum replies, "Oh for sure; it does have that module." Immediately Rich knew he was lying because the radio in question did not have 903 in it. At that time, that transceiver did not offer such capability and still doesn't. However Marty was more concerned about his credit card being used by the screwy BARFies and all that rot. It was Ruth Hoffman,N4LMC of Clearwater,Florida who confirmed the LIE. She had a friend in the Clearwater AES look into it. The gent then called the main headquarters in Milwaukee to discover that no order had ever been placed in "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang's" name for any rig. What does that tell you, people?This guy is one sick dude who must be on something which triggers WHOPPERS. Yep, whoppers and a fat slob go hand in hand, don't they? I have more on this goofball which will be posted when I get the chance. Let's call this the beginning. And did you know that "Bullchittum" the Wheezer had cancer of the HEART AND LUNGS(that's another of his big whoppers) and he called John Occhipinti, gasping, wheezing and sneezing to ask that KC3AU pray for him and would you believe that "Brother" John did have a pipeline to God because just a day later, Wheezie was up and around chasing nurses down the hallway of the lunatic asylum?

I listened to you geeks on 14.313 yesterday and never in my life have I had such an urge to smash my radio. You all go in your deluded circles round and round with no end, engaging in mental masturbation. You're all losers.

FCC-Phile Kane- you're not even a lawyer; a real lawyer doesn't have time to post messages on abusenet

KV4FZ- Go run for president if you hate Democrats so much, harassing FCC won't cut it in the real world

AF2Y- Self medication. Need I say more ?

WB2OTK- Join the Klan if you dislike blacks, I'm sure they'd LOVE to serve you a nice Kosher meal.

N0VFP- Get a life, kid. You're headed for an ATF shootout at the rate you're going.

W9XN- I can't figure you out.

N3CND- You're rough hewn, but I thought you knew better than to waste your time on this never ending bullshit, get help before it's too late.

Hawaii Jeff- go to the beach and look at girls, loser. Unless you're gay, that is.

Donkboy2000- you're a riot, take your talent to Vaudeville.

Donkboy99- You're an illiterate ape, or are trying to make us think you are, chances are you're some BARF geek trying to hang WB2OTK.

They DO have a life, but it's this or they watch paint dry!
It doesn't take much to entertain this group :)

50hz/220v now. Just curious.

2762. FCC starts amateur ULS phase-in August 8

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 1999-07-29 00:00:00 UTC
From: "Roger L. Wiseman" <kc8jbo@juno.com> Message-ID: <19990729.171942.9990.0.kc8jbo@juno.com>
Source record: 135439

The FCC begins phasing in the Universal Licensing System for the Amateur Service August 8 at 4 PM Eastern Time. That's when the FCC will stop accepting batch files that contain new or upgraded licensee data from Volunteer Examiner Coordinators under the current amateur licensing system.

Being phased out under ULS is the familiar paper FCC Form 610 series. A ''universal'' Form 605--primarily designed for electronic use but also available on paper--will take its place.

An FCC Public Notice July 23 says the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau will begin use of the ULS for the Amateur Service on August 16. The existing Amateur Radio licensing data will be transferred into the ULS database during a weeklong phase-in period. During the phase-in period, the FCC will not process new or upgraded licenses.

Electronic filing of Amateur Radio license renewals using FCC Form 900 ends August 9 at 9 AM Eastern Time. Electronic filing of vanity call sign application Form 610V terminates August 13 at 5:30 PM Eastern Time. Hams should not attempt to file renewal or vanity applications until the ULS comes up August 16.

Starting August 16, hams registered in the ULS may file the new FCC Form 605 electronically at any time of day, seven days a week. FCC Form 605 will be used for license renewals, modifications, cancellations, vanity call sign application, application withdrawals and amendments, as well as requests for duplicate licenses and administrative updates (ie, a change of address or other clerical license modification). Applications for new or upgraded licenses will continue to be filed through a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator.

Automated processing of electronically filed applications will occur nightly each business day, but five days a week instead of seven. There will be no weekend processing under the ULS.

The FCC has warned that applicants should anticipate processing delays during the first couple of weeks the ULS is in effect.

The FCC will stop accepting most Form 610 applications next February 16, but club station Form 610B will continue to be valid beyond the six-month transition window to allow time for the FCC to implement new handling procedures.

One feature of the new ULS is a renewal reminder sent 90 days prior to a license's expiration date. ULS also will simplify the process of submitting fees to the FCC, and the FCC said it anticipates that the ULS will be capable of accepting credit card payments on-line in the near future.

Registration in the ULS is required. Applicants should use FCC Form 606 for both electronic or manual filing. To register online, visit http://www.fcc.gov/wtb/uls/ and click on ''TIN/Call Sign Registration.'' A paper FCC Form 606 is available at http://www.fcc.gov/formpage.html or from the FCC's Forms Distribution Center, 800-418-3676.

The FCC will not process future license grants, upgrades, modifications or renewals for any applicant not registered in the ULS. Individuals eligible to hold a Social Security Number must provide this number to the FCC in order to be registered in the ULS.

A copy of the July 23, 1999 Public Notice is available at http://www.fcc.gov/wtb/uls.

I don't quite get your point. Exams would somehow force bootleggers from CB-land to use CW? The plethora of CW being used today prevents bootlegging from finding open frequencies? If they're using CW, they _can't_ be bootlegging? Knowing CW somehow makes you less inclined to bootleg? A quasi-religious ephiphany takes place when you pass the CW portion of a ham exam--or even if you don't pass--which shows you the moral truth about the evil of bootlegging?

Neither exams nor CW, no matter how cunningly implemented, will prevent bootlegging. At best it will educate already law abiding citizens. I repeat: if you can say how any exam will improve compliance with federal regulations (those which don't have anything to do with exams, anyway) let us know. This might help every federal regulatory agency. Better start studying up for your IRS exams. I hear they're a killer.

By the way, more cops are murderers, more MDs are drug addicts, and more grandparents are child molesters than there are licensed hams who are bootleggers. Personally, I doubt this has anything to do with either exams or CW. But maybe this proves it's easier to get a medical license than a ham license. Make ham exams easier until there are roughly the same number of illegally operating hams as there are drug addicted doctors. Or take seriously the notion that exams prevent violations of standards of conduct...somehow...and make medical student exams harder. Putting more barriers in place will make those who get past them much more likely to obey all pertinent laws and regulations. Right, KCI people?

Anyone out there have any ideas as to my problem. I have a ft-51r and ADMS 1E (diskette is 050599 so its new software) and I can download info from my radio no problem, but when I change somethings and try to upload the info I get an err at 33% everytime without fail. Not to mention the software erased all my memories on my radio. I made a template without any problems either.

I called tech support and that was the biggest waste of time and money. I bet there's someone out there who can REALLY help me out.

I listened to you geeks on 14.313 yesterday and never in my life have I had such an urge to smash my radio. You all go in your deluded circles round and round with no end, engaging in mental masturbation. You're all losers.

FCC-Phile Kane- you're not even a lawyer; a real lawyer doesn't have time to post messages on abusenet

KV4FZ- Go run for president if you hate Democrats so much, harassing FCC won't cut it in the real world

AF2Y- Self medication. Need I say more ?

WB2OTK- Join the Klan if you dislike blacks, I'm sure they'd LOVE to serve you a nice Kosher meal.

N0VFP- Get a life, kid. You're headed for an ATF shootout at the rate you're going.

W9XN- I can't figure you out.

N3CND- You're rough hewn, but I thought you knew better than to waste your time on this never ending bullshit, get help before it's too late.

Hawaii Jeff- go to the beach and look at girls, loser. Unless you're gay, that is.

Donkboy2000- you're a riot, take your talent to Vaudeville.

Donkboy99- You're an illiterate ape, or are trying to make us think you are, chances are you're some BARF geek trying to hang WB2OTK.

THAT'S FUNNY STUFF,"LEWDER." PLEASE STICK AROUND-YOU'RE A GAS

Hi Dave:

I'm one the Fat Heads you were referring to, while I'm willing to submit that morse has faded away in the commercial arena due to other faster more efficient digital modes, morse is far from dead, tune the bands during CQ WW CW and tell me what you hear from ALL OVER THE PLANET. All I have seen so far is a call for the elimination of morse, put together a solid proposal for more advanced testing and I'll get behind you all the way. I have seen NOTHING to replace morse as a testing requirement, only a call for the elimination.

While morse is not a filter for all bad apples it does present a small barrier that tends to separate the wheat from the chaff,
I spent several months learning morse and spending time to become a good CW operator, this invested time made me appreciate the hobby that much more, before I'm willing to support a no code HF ticket I need to see something to replace morse. What are you offering?

Tim ka8ddz

P.S Aren't you looking for No Code International? Know Code of course is the group that supports morse, No code is the group proposing dropping the code as a requirement for HF. Your post is a bit confusing.

I just recently bought a HamStick for use on 75 meter mobile. I was told that the 75 Meter mobile whips are hard to tune, and I found this out with this antenna. I have tried to get the antenna tuned for use on 75 meters, but I didn't even come close when I tried to tune it using a Kenwood TS-50. I have the Hamstack mounted in a Hustler truck lip mount on the back of my Olds 88. There is 15 feet of RG-58/U coax leading from the whip to the PL259 plug. I probably don't have the best ground in the world on the mount, and I also don't have a matching system for the whip, it is just plugged directly into the 3/8x24 truck lip mount. I am having a lot of difficulty getting this antenna to tune for 75 Meters. Do I need more coax? A better way of grounding to the chasis of the vehicle? A matching load coil? Any suggestions would be appreciated.

I, I, I...
Pork Butt Song...
Pork Butt Song...

And here's ANOTHER classic!

(Sung to the tune of the Beverly Hillbillies....)

Let me tell ya a little story, about a man named "Pork".
A real fat and ugly guy,
some even called him "dork".

He use to like to write bad checks,
and wouldn't pay his bills.
And then the law was after him,
so he headed for the hills.

Easly that is....South Carolina....with his million dollar K-Mart settlement.....

Well the first thing ya know it,
Pork is cussin' on the air.
Callin' people nigger,
and a lot of times he'd swear.
Ole' Riley caught right up with him,
and told him where to go.
And now he's on the CB band, sellin' amps to "Twinkle Toe".

Apparently correct on all points. After 22 years of CW work on the ham bands I not aware of having had a QSO with any bootleggers. Each call was checked in the Callbook, and QSL cards exchanged. Postmark on each card matched the home of record of the callsign.

The purpose of this weekly newsletter is to bring those of us in emergency communications closer together by sharing common ideas, and by introducing new technology into the emergency services community. All individuals with an interest in emergency communications, disaster preparedness or helping the community at large are encouraged to participate here in an open forum.

You will find a virtual community here, with representatives from many different organizations with the same common goal: emergency response. We encourage everyone, from whatever organization you represent (or just yourself!) to bring us your ideas, suggestions, concerns, manuals, handbooks, or opinions so that we may share them with the group. To those of you who have just joined us, welcome aboard!

Current Events:

From: nn7b@powernet.net

Hello Dave -

Would you please post in the next ACS bulletin the following information for all interested people: On behalf of Sheriff Anthony Craver and Sgt. Tim Marsh ofthe Mendocino County Search and Rescue Unit, I would like to pass along information on their SAREX-99 Search and Rescue exercise. The exercise is planned for September 10, 11 and 12, 1999. This year's search and rescue exercise(s) will be conducted at the "Masonite-Navarro Boys Scout Camp" which is near the town of Philo, Ca. (along highway 128, between Boonville and the coast). They will provide excellent training opportunities for all types of SAR disciplines. One of our main goals in conducting this training is to encourage a fun, social atmosphere where SAR folks can get to know each other and exchange ideas and information.

A list of anticipated courses of instruction include:
- Effective area searching
- Using your GPS on a search operation
- Man tracking
- Your pack, clothing & nutrition
- ATV operations
- Map & compass
- Search operations for missing aircraft
- Wilderness survival
- Radio communications
- Search dog disciplines
- Horses in search & rescue
- Urban search & rescue
- Marijuana & drug labs
- Low angle rescue
- Body identification
- Static display of helicopters
- Cave rescue
- Swift water rescue
- Mountain bike

Cost of the event is $40 per person, plus $10 for horses and $25 for cabins (on a first come-first serve basis), sleeps 8. Your registration fee includes:

- Friday night dinner
- Three meals on Saturday
- Two meals on Sunday
- Camping facilities
- Course instruction
- Live music Saturday night

Visit their web site which includes a registration form at: http://www.goright.to/sarex99/ Early registration allows for better planning for meals so please register early. If you have any questions you may contact Sgt. Tim Marsh at (707)463-4099 or by E-mail to: mendosar@pacific.net or Morgan and Norma Gibson at (707) 462-2208 and by E-mail to: mngibson@pacific.net

What's New on the Web:

FEMA's popular Y2K course for local and state emergency managers, Getting Ready for Y2K, can now be completed online. You can get to it by going to http://www.fema.gov/Y2K/y2k701.htm

The course's goal is to provide the emergency management community with information and tools that will allow them to prepare for the Year 2000 conversion. The course consists of five lessons --

Understanding the Y2K Challenge
Assessing Y2K Readiness Developing Y2K Contingency Plans
Promoting Y2K Public Awareness
Exercising Y2K Plans

Also included in the course are a toolkit that contains actual documents to be used in Y2K preparedness activities, links to other Y2K resources, and a glossary of terms.

The course is also available from FEMA's Publications Distribution Facility by calling 1-800-480-2520 or the material can be downloaded from a link at the bottom of http://www.fema.gov/y2k/y2k701.htm

EMC193 Thinking Different 1/2 For release 7/19/99

With apologies to Apple Computer for borrowing their "Think Different" slogan, let's look at how thinking affects results.

[Quoted from a message submitted to EvangeList Digest V1 #1198, 5/19/98. (Edited.)]

"I recently took a position as a teacher's aide. I work one to one with a 13 year old student who is learning disabled, blind, and has the use of only her left hand. I was working with her one morning, when I heard the two teachers discussing that it was simply _not possible_ for this student to learn to use a computer. The road blocks were said to be (a) her blindness, (b) use of only one hand, and (c) the school district having Macintosh computers.

At this point I walked over to the classroom Power Mac and highlighted a student's poem in ClarisWorks. Clicking on the appropriate button, the Mac began to _speak_ the poem.

"How did you do that?" they both exclaimed. A demo ensued.

"Well, that is nice but she has only her left hand."

"Not a problem" I said, "There are Dvorak keyboards. I'll install the left handed one."

"But then how can other students use the classroom Mac?" the teacher replied.

"Okay, what if I get her one for only her use?" I responded. They agreed to try, confident that I could not do it.

I went to the local Mac User Group meeting where one of the members donated an older, pre PowerMac computer for the student to use _at home_.

I went to Apple's Disability Web site for freeware to get the computer tuned up, installed MacinTalk and enabled the left handed keyboard.

The student has taken eagerly to learning the keyboard. She presses the instructor each week for new letters. She delights in hearing her sentences read back to her. Her teacher is now looking into a grant for a PowerMac for her to use in school."

How does this apply to communications? Habit in thinking is where we can mislead ourselves. It is easy to fall into a thinking process that is unintentionally restrictive (the teachers 'not possible' in the example) instead of seeking an innovative solution, as did the teachers aide. It may be a matter of being objective, although in some cases it may require additional research and/or knowledge.)

For how this applies to communications read EMC194 next week!

hi all,

i am very interested in learning more about ham radio but don't know where to start. i have searched the web and most of the sites i have visited thus far were informative but already a little over my head. i need a book or website that starts with the basics.

i know i should join a ham club in my area if i want to get licensed but i want to do a little reading before so i am not totally clueless.

any suggestions on a good book?
any good web sites with all the basics?

thanks!
take care,

2797. RNARS "Scuttlebutt" net

All RNARS members are cordially invited to participate in a new worldwide "net" called "Scuttlebutt", and you don't even need a radio!

"Scuttlebutt" is an informal and unofficial eMail reflector for members of the Royal Navy Amateur Radio Society.

This service will augment the EMail-Net list which is so ably run by Diana, G0RNO, the RNARS Datacomms Manager. While the official EMail-Net bulletins carries "news of the society" and "bulletin-style" messages, the Scuttlebutt "net" is intended be used by the members for more personal and relaxed conversations.

Scuttlebutt will operate a bit differently than the EMail-Net also. When you send a message to "Scuttlebutt" it is automatically resent to all subscribers immediately, sort of like a "repeater in cyberspace".

To make an analogy, Dianas' list is run like a well organized net, and this list will be more on the order of an informal ragchew frequency.

Subscribing to the "Scuttlebutt" email reflector also gives you access to other features, such as a calendar of events, a database where you can post your name, call, RNARS #, email address, and ships/stations served in, perhaps to "hook up" with old shipmates. There will also be a "document vault" where you can post photos and other memorabilia associated with Amateur Radio and Navy matters. All of this right from your web browser.

"Scuttlebutt" is strictly informal and unofficial. It is a private project initiated by Hans, K0HB, RNARS #4420 for the enjoyment of RNARS members who are inclined to participate. Opinions expressed are the personal views of the respective author, not necessarily reflective of RNARS or its officials.

HERE IS HOW YOU JOIN THE NET.

Send a message to:

Scuttlebutt-subscribe@egroups.com

In the text of the message place just your name, callsign if you have one, and your RNARS membership number. You will receive a confirmation message and further instructions on how to use the many features of this new service.

If you have other questions about Scuttlebutt, address them directly to me (I rarely check this USENET, so please send direct email to "k0hb@arrl.org".

Enjoy!

Hell, I'm having toomuch fun mocking you people to leave. By the way Hawaii Jeff, you can republish ARRL MO info you dweeb. I love FCC using tapes supplied by citizens as evidence; they just indicted Linda Tripp for almost the same thing. Who taught their lawyers rules of evidence, Sears Robuck ?

I did enjoy his Watergate era solution though.

FCC Takes North Carolina Ham off HF for Six Months

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 30, 1999--The FCC says that John Abernethy, K4OKA, of Hickory, North Carolina, will have to restrict his hamming to the VHF and UHF bands for the next six months. Unless he appeals the action, Abernethy may not get back on HF until January 22, 2000.

As a follow-up to a station visit in January and alleged malicious interference earlier this month, FCC Attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, notified Abernethy July 27 that the Commission was modifying his license to prohibit operation below 30 MHz for 180 days, effective immediately.

The FCC letter included a copy of a tape recording--supplied by complainants--of transmissions said to be of Abernethy's station on July 16. Hollingsworth's letter described the tape as "consisting of deliberate interference on 3.965 MHz" and noted that Abernethy had been warned about deliberate interference at the time his station was inspected.

Abernethy, 75, has 30 days to protest the sanction.
FCC personnel inspected Abernethy's station January 21 and 22 in the wake of what Hollingsworth called "longstanding complaints from other amateurs and from our field offices regarding the operation of your station." In particular, he said, the FCC had received "numerous complaints" about profanity, obscenity, deliberate interference, and failure to properly identify.

Other complaints to the FCC alleged that Abernethy had aired something called the "Porkbutt Song," the letter said, "for the purpose of harassment or deliberate interference." The FCC's High Frequency Direction Finding Center in Maryland tracked the transmissions of the "Porkbutt Song" to K4OKA, Hollingsworth said in his letter.

During the January station inspection, FCC personnel found a cassette tape "installed in a cassette player" in Abernethy's ham shack. Abernethy "voluntarily destroyed the tape recording" while FCC personnel looked on, Hollingsworth's letter relates.

The FCC letter also said the Commission had received complaints that Abernethy had used AM and upper sideband on 75 "for the purpose of interference to communications on or near 3894.5 kHz.

Hollingsworth's letter also spends also four paragraphs outlining the FCC's position on what constitutes obscene and indecent transmissions. "From our monitoring, and from conversations with you, it is apparent that you are seriously misinformed about the Commission's enforcement of the prohibition against obscene or indecent Amateur Radio transmissions," he wrote.

Hollingsworth said the station inspection found Abernethy's station to be technically in order, but noted that personnel had "serious concerns" about a linear amplifier in K4OKA's shack that was capable of operation "substantially above the power limits set for the Amateur Service." Abernethy was warned in the letter about over-power operation.
The FCC has no plans to start revocation proceedings against Abernethy, Hollingsworth said, "unless we have evidence of continued violations" of the type described in the July 27 letter.

Dan is right, pay no attention to him. If you get a license and get on the air, then start telling people you are going to kill them as w4NTI has, you might not be as lucky as he is and the FBI will take you away to the pokey. He is a doofus, so pay attention to him....Rileygotcha

Due to N0VFP's web page, Riley cancelled my license. I have decided to go full time in the amp business. These custom made amps will have a dozen 8877's for plenty of pile-up busting power when 27mhz LSB gets tough. Don't miss these 11 meter band openings. Special pricing for N0VFP, Rileygotcha, Snake and Whitenation and Oris. Heh heh. Order yours today. Operators are standing by. Ask for the "N" word special sale price. Heh heh.

Nice and wonderful to hear that you have been banished from the amateur bands and back to your first love, the illegal high power amp business. I guess you will lay a pile of those "N" word specials with the multiple 8877 final tubes on those CB boys down at the "Gypsy Homes" trailer park. As soon as the word gets out that you are a full time underground amp maker-operator on the CB bands you will have all the business you can take care of. As you have said "This Mr R is a pain in my big ass" I do not condone your construction of these amps. But it is a life...Rileygotcha

P. S. Be sure and don't forget the PORKBUTT RF FILTERS for those other poor souls in that trailer park . Promise that those filters will keep their screens from blacking out when the afore mentioned big rigs get to cooking. Yeah yeah promise them anything. But in your tradition, Deliver nothing.

2806. AF2Y presents the EVIDENCE!

Ladies and gentlemen of this esteemed board: I bring the following to your attention and scrutiny. The date was Sept.13.1993. Remember a fellow on .313 whom the idiot KA4MUJ dubbed "Raincoat Charlie?" His name was Bill Irwin and the FCC cited him.Someone decided to intervene to get his fine reduced. On 9/13/93 a letter was sent to the Chief,Legal Branch,FCC,Mail Stop1500E3,1919 M Street N.W.,Washington,DC 20554. I will quote part of that letter. Question: who wrote it?

"Mr.Irwin wishes to bring to the Chief's attention some of the unusual circumstances surrounding the case so that it may be readily determined that Mr.Irwin's case deserves special consideration. For the past four years(perhaps longer) the amateur radio community has been plagued with vigilante terrorism under the guise of "self policing." This rule of terror has been brought about by an organization calling itself The Better Amateur Radio Federation. This group has set itself up as judge and jury over amateur radio, usurping and disdaining the authority of the FCC. The prime targets of the Better Amateur Radio Federation(known as the "BARF") have been the various amateur service networks such as the Maritime Mobile Service Network and the Intercontinental Network.

The Better Amateur Radio Federation has as its nominal leader one Herbert L.Schoenbohm,KV4FZ, an expatriate convict residing in the American Virgin Islands. Mr.Schoenbohm has a long history of nefarious activities and has been a constant problem for the FCC over the past ten years. He was recently convicted on a federal charge associated with telephone toll fraud. The FCC has had numerous complaints on this individual including international complaints filed through diplomatic channels. While living under "Home Confinement" imposed by a Federal Court, he continued to direct the activities of the BARF. Under the guise of "self-policing," the BARF has attempted to curtail what it imagines to be "illegalities" using any method of which it can avail itself,including breaking the very rules it claims to be upholding. This includes:establishing communications on frequencies in close proximity to the nets for the purpose of interfering with the nets, criticizing and harassing net members, breaking into and interrupting net activities for "enforcement purposes," and the continual broadcasting of taped,public domain amateur radio communications; excerpted, edited, and replayed in an innacurate and provocative manner. One of the BARF's most insidious activities is its constant playing upon ethnic issues and its promotion of ehtnic hatred. The BARF describes net members as "Sanhedrins," "Kikes,"Shylocks," and ":Arrogant Jews." The BARF maintains a policy of blatant anti-Semitism, critical of everything concerning Israel, the Jewish Community, the Jewish Faith, or individual amateurs who happen to be Jewish. The BARF's leader,KV4FZ,calls the Jewish Community, "The Evil Empire" and never misses an opportunity to downplay or dismiss the Holocaust as a "Jewish Hoax."..................................

Did I, AF2Y, write it? Although I agreed 100% with it , the answer is NO. It's an excellently and intelligently drafted piece of literature and asbsolutely truthful.

The author was none other than Martin Chittum, then NG9J, now W9XA. The same person who runs the BARF web site filled with anti-government and anti-Semitic garbage. The same guy who runs the BARF forum. The same guy who now so desparately wants to help Richard Whiten who was so essential in PROTECTING nets and net personnel from BARF defamation. The same guy who now exhorts his degenerate BARF buddies to flood Riley Hollingsworth with negative comments about Mr. Whiten. You've read my calling Chittum a turncoat s.o.b. Now do you think I had a right to? Do you now feel I have every right to blast him non-stop for turning into the rat he is? Turn your back on this Tipton,Indiana creep and you'll feel the sting of a knife blade. I'll now end...I've made my point.

Although I've only spoken to Martin, whose callsign you persist in getting wrong, a couple of times, my impression is that he is a reasonable, reasoning man who doesn't pre-judge anyone.

Perhaps, after reviewing the evidence, he changed his mind on certain things. That's the mark of a mature individual; and it is the polar opposite of a bigot, to whom evidence means nothing.

As far as anti-Jewish sentiments are concerned, all I can say is that the worst thing possible for the reputation of the Jews would be for examples like you to speak for them, which you are in fact doing in this forum.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Take one apart and examine it component by component. That's what I used to do as a kid (although I had trouble putting such items back together!). From the layout, you might be able to sketch a schematic. A university which has a college of EE should have library books on the subject.

Good Idea. I think the cost is a little high but its still a good idea!
You might want to redesign it for different size nut washers. It looks like it would be handy for working on copy machines too.
I wouldn't pay any attention to some of these guys. I don't think that

What is with these guys (like W5GI) who day after day go through the same BS of asking for radio checks (audio reports) while they add compression, take compression out, add reverb , take it out etc ad naseum. I get the biggest laugh out of these guys when for the most part there is little change in their audio no matter what they do and I have a pretty good ear as a musician. It really makes one wonder what sized ego W5GI must have to keep asking people day after day

" Now...how do I sound " These guys belong on 11 meters where 'how about a radio check' is the normal QSO.

Noooo Oris. The medical term for his condition is called "Porkius Buttikus". It's a Slobovian term, meaning "obsession with Radiosigses jock strap". The main symptoms are making CB amps with 8877 tubes and using the "N" word on 14.313. There is a cure though. Massive doses of Vitamin Riley. You need do do a backup of your radio first to a file as a .RDF. Then you edit the file that has your radio profile. then try to reload. Do not save as a template because you cannot edit a template .TPL. Keep in touch if this works.

Yes, he does. Fortunatly transmitting on an amateur radio frequency is a privilege not a right, all you need to do is read Part 97 and and then maybe you will understand.

GLENCOE, IL--Shock, outrage and fear were just some of the emotions that failed to sweep through this affluent Chicago suburb Monday, when word got out among residents that a white family had moved to town over the weekend.

Challenging none of the close-knit community's long-held beliefs and traditions, maxillofacial surgeon Bill Hanson, his wife Marge, and children Kevin and Sue are the first Caucasians to relocate to Glencoe in more than two days.

"I'll admit, I was concerned at first," said longtime Glencoe resident and neighborhood-watch president Linda Brubaker, 50. "I thought, how will having a white family move here affect property values? Then I realized it wouldn't at all."

"After all," Brubaker added, "once I looked beneath the surface, I realized that this new family of white people isn't really so different from my own white family. Come to think of it, they're pretty much the same on the surface, as well."

Brubaker wasn't the only local to have concerns. Many openly questioned the Hansons' ability to fit in. But their trepidation vanished upon seeing that the Hansons were much like, if not exactly like, themselves, regardless of--indeed, because of--the color of their skin.

"You know what they say about white people," insurance agent Jack Lundegard said. "They drive sensible cars, they bake things, they're always noodling about doing yardwork--all those stereotypes. But then I took a look at the man in the mirror, and I realized, 'Hey, I'm not so unlike that myself.'"

Area investment banker Harold Boyce agreed: "I've got nothing against whites. Some of my best friends are white," Boyce said. "Actually, I guess they all are."

Although Bill and Marge Hanson privately harbored doubts about the move, they quickly discovered that the nearly identical sociocultural background they shared with the people of Glencoe proved not to be a handicap, but an asset, allowing them to offer something familiar to their unfamiliar new neighbors.

"I did have some fears about the kids' ability to blend in and make friends with the other kids at their new school," Marge said. "But luckily, their classmates were very open-minded about meeting new people of the same race. In no time at all, their peers accepted them as white kids just like themselves."

Above: The Schukals, who say they have "no worries" about living right next door to the Hansons.

Though 10-year-old Kevin came from a different white neighborhood than his new classmates, he was soon invited to join the Glencoe junior soccer league. The experience has turned out to be enriching for all involved, giving Kevin and his fellow white children the opportunity to work together as a team, regardless of their lack of differences.

Thirteen-year-old Sue had a harder time adjusting. The day she arrived in Glencoe, she cried for hours, saying she missed her white friends back in Bloomfield Hills, MI. But within a few days, she began to adjust.

"I think it's helped Sue to be around other white kids," said Dana Berner, leader of Sue's new Girl Scout troop. "Moving is never easy, but it's lots easier when the new people are just like you."

The children's teachers say they are already fitting in at school and doing just as well, socially and academically, as their new white peers. "I think having strong white role models in their surroundings has helped foster a sense of belonging," said Glencoe Middle School guidance counselor Tom Luchs. "I can identify with them, coming from a white background myself."

Perhaps the situation was best summarized by the Hansons' new next-door neighbor, Peggy Schukal, who has become fast friends with the Hansons despite their racial similarities.

"When I heard who would be moving next door, I thought to myself, 'Hanson? Isn't that a Swedish name?' It sounded sort of Scandinavian to me," Schukal said. "But now I know that there's no reason to judge people by such arbitrary categories. To me, the Hansons, and for that matter everyone living here in Glencoe, are more than just German-Americans, Anglo-Americans, Italian-Americans, or even Swedish-Americans. What's important is to see past all that and realize that, deep down, we're all just white Americans."

Schukal admitted that she was initially rattled by the notion that her 11-year-old daughter Sandra could one day end up dating the Hansons' son. But upon realizing that Kevin is a well-behaved, college-bound young man from a well-to-do family, her fears vanished.

"We here in Glencoe are very open about including all different types in our community," said Fred Schukal, a dentist and Bill Hanson's new golf partner. "To be honest, it really doesn't matter to us what part of Europe you're originally from. As the Hansons' experience here shows, there's room in Glencoe for every shade of Caucasian in God's white rainbow."

Community leaders are pleased that the Hansons' arrival has been trouble-free.

"I'm both pleased and relieved to say that having this new white family in town, at least so far, hasn't caused a single problem," Glencoe police chief Wayne Girardeau said. "Glencoe can be proudly held up as a model to other suburban communities across America that would like to integrate more whites, but are afraid it wouldn't work out."

Easley S.C. July 29, 1999.

Cancelled radio amateur Wb2OTK made this statement today. " I have to tell you that I did not send that E mail to Riley Hollingsworth cancelling my license. I think I know who sent it.. To tell you the truth, the day that message went out, I had gone to eat Chinese food. When we came back in the house with the big doggie bags I always request for me, not the dog. I came into the computer room, My dog Star who is super intelligent I might add, was hunched over the key board. I knew then that the dog was doing a job on me and was up to no good, it was the first time that she has done a job either. That bitch had opened AOL E mail and sent a letter of resignation to Riley. I know this to be a fact, and that is why I am protesting. Star sent the message not me." end of statement. We will have to wait and see if Mr Riley H. buys this another wild story from PORKBUTT!!!!!!!!Rileygotcha.. I myself have my doubts about this, but Star is smarter than her master.

Oh Deary me... poor Chuckie feels excluded. Listen moron, I didn't

When are you going to realize that all of your name-calling, gutter language and foul tactics are of no value in a real debate? You can call me a zillion different names and it won't change the fact that I am right... and you are wrong. The reason you resort to these tactics is because you cannot hold up your end of an argument. What makes you think that I am not capable of trading insults with you? Are you brain-dead? ANYONE can trade insults with you.

In a house full of teenagers, I get to overhear how they argue. They argue just like you. They usually don't know crap about the subject (just like you) so they call each other names. It usually ends up with the biggest teenager saying that he is going to kick everyone's ass. Well... you washed-up old fart... you're not going to end a argue in here by threatening someone. You can either start arguing the issues or you can continue to behave like an undisciplined school child. But don't start up with your threatening crap, you broken-down, toothless scumbag. I know how to short-circuit that business and you won't like the result.

Now go back to your Voodoo Master in Hell and report to him that W9XN (not W9XA, you moron) has given you YET ANOTHER newsgroup whipping.

martin W9XN

Where can I buy a copy of that cockamamie book written by your relative Thomas who predicts another civil war? The same guy supposedly posing with KLA or whatever freedom fighters but in reality took the picture with some drunken hoodlums in a carnival in downtown Tipton celebrating the loss of 150 pounds off your wife's fat ass.

FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log <Snipped>
HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee Victor A. Misek, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written Misek to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that Misek's station and members of the group for which he was acting as net control "began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress." In his response, supplied upon request to the FCC, Misek told the FCC that other stations had yielded the frequency to the net on May 1 and that he's been "diligent in avoiding starting the net 'on top' of ongoing communications" and often moves the net to another frequency where "the jammers stalk us." Misek also has requested a copy of a tape recording supplied to the FCC that Hollingsworth used in deciding to rescind a license modification that would have kept David Castle, WA9KJI, off the HF bands for two years (see "FCC Withdraws License Modification" elsewhere on the AWE news page). Hollingsworth also had asked Misek to justify the Liberty Net's use of Amateur Radio frequencies and said the FCC "cannot tolerate deliberate jamming among licensees, including retaliatory jamming." Misek declined to justify the net's existence, citing no legal requirement in Part 97 to do so. Misek said the net was a forum "to discuss current events and other subjects," and he asked the FCC to "review perceived problems of which I am not aware, so that the net can be brought into compliance should there be a problem."

Morse sure isn't dead on the ham bands, especially on contest weekends, where CW QSOs out-number phone QSO.

Why ham radio is not dependant upon what happens in the military:

*We ragchew for hours, the military doesn't
*We install repeaters that duplicate coverage of already existing rptrs, the military doesn't
*We use rptrs when simplex would suffice, the military doesn't
*We have on-the-air contests, the military doesn't
*We bounce signals off the moon (EME) for fun, the military doesn't
*We purposely reduce power (QRP) for fun, the military doesn't
*We have antenna measuring contests, the military doesn't
*We work meteor scatter for fun, the military doesn't *We're under control of the FCC, the military isn't
*We build and modify radios for fun, the military doesn't
*We go to swap meets and bargain for junk, the military doesn't
*We have radio club meetings, the military doesn't
*We think of radio as a hobby, the military doesn't
*We have DXpeditions, the military doesn't
*CW is our second-most used mode on HF, not so with the military
*We still use AM on HF, the military doesn't
*We have antenna restrictions imposed upon us, the military doesn't

Yes fellow amateur radio operators I'm back on the air!!!!!!!!! The new digital board came in as I was bulding my new Pentium II computer. I'm listening PORKY porkbut I DARE YOU TO START RUNNING YOU MOUTH ON 75 till the 25 of OCTOBER 1999. I will log each account and be sure to get the information to Riley Hollingsworth at the FCC. Nothing more than just loving the fact that if you get caught you will no longer be on the air, NO GRID SQUARS on 6 NO 2 KWs on 6 maybe that will help you clear up your little skin problem. You know all that VHF RF cann't be to good for you. I'm back!

I have gotton my new digital board from PIEXX in NH. It works! I haven't gotton to use the computer controll yet but I'm looking forward to playing with it. We have it hooked up to my Pentium II out in the hamshack. I'll download the software and play around with it tomorrow. As far as tunning accross tha band it seems to be faster than the old boardThe dial feels like that once I hit a sertant speed with the dial it takes off. I'll fill you all in as I go if your interested.

W9XA, you are not wanted here. Keep off the grass! We are sick and tired of your duplicity,lying,hypochodria and malevolent politics cloaked in democratic principles. Take your Herbie Schoenbohm Nazi-loving ass down the road and crawl under the sheets with a slimeball like "Stromitler," WB4EIEIO. Most importantly keep the hell away from my friend Richard Whiten because now he knows without a doubt what a lying evil rat you are. How dare you give him advice regarding the situation with Riley while knowing that you are intentionally leading him to destruction yet pretending to be a friend. You stinking dog! Sure, give him 'SOUND ADVICE" like getting on the air during suspension. "SOUND ADVICE" about suing. "SOUND ADVICE" about using Schoenbohm tactics of lying and subterfuge. Why not? Your lord and master is headed for hell come Oct.18th so why not take out my dear friend Richard too? Rich was right about you years ago..he had you pegged to the T but it was I who was gullible. You're a snivelling backstabbing fat slob of an s.o.b. who is mentally ill. You'd have to be to concoct all those stories you've been spreading like manure on 20 and 75 for a decade. I guarantee Riley knows how worthless you are; how you promoted and encouraged unlicensed Frankie Todd to jam and play music on 75 and 20 and how you encouraged drunken worthless Al Abernethy and his stooges to create mayhem as well. You were the BRAINS behind much of the disorder that Riley stopped and you'll be stopped when renewal time comes up. The next time you call Rich and start wheezing your ideology and "practical" solutions to his problems, I hope he slams the receiver down on you. He's far too much of a gentleman to be involved with the likes of you. So hit the road you sneaky s.o.b. and sell your Nazi paraphernalia on your website. Herbie's lawyer Colby is probably demanding payment for services rendered.

Sorry Walt, but it's a custom hand-machined part, welded and hardened. At $50 an hour, which is what a juniour machinist charges, you'll be lucky to make one for a couple of hundred dollars.

At that rate, you should just buy one from Kenwood (yes they sell them) for $80.

Honestly, this is not how I make a living. If that were the case, I'd have to live in a cardboard box.

Lighten up please. It's just a hobby.

Does anyone out there know anything about pager components? I need to learn as much as possible, as quickly as possible, about pagers, particularly how pagers operate when in silent/vibrate mode. What components are contained within a pager? What sort of motors can be used for silent/vibrate mode? Where can such motors be purchased (in the United States)? What sort of code to the pager does the wireless company transmit? How does the pager store numbers -- in a RAM, in a flash ROM, or what? Who manufactures the components, and what model numbers should I look for? How do pagers conserve power? Is there a good web site that provides very extensive explanations in easy-to-read format? Any information about the motors in pagers would be of use to me, and the more detailed and extensive the better.

Less relevant to me at the moment: How are the tones generated, when not in silent/vibrate mode? What frequencies are possible?

Lest anyone need to know the model of pager: I am looking for general information about all pagers! I really, really appreciate any help you can give. Thank you.

Please leave "pager_components" in the subject line so that I can search for responses. Anything you can add to anyone else's responses would be invaluable.

I hate to break it to you, Nimrod, that the CSA had been over and done with for 108 years in 1973. I know there are a few illiterates who wish to ressurect the CSA, but fortunately, those that do either belong to the KKK or wish they had.
Missouri was a border state who was in favor of slavery, but didn't have the balls to secede. And why is it that in 1864 presidential election Lincoln-Union had the majority vote over McClellan-Democratic?
Maybe the people realized what a bankrupt concept the CSA really was.

Not actually. He died 5 years ago today,7/31/94 after battling a long illness. Insanity. He's the guy who told Fat Judy, his on- the- air mistress, KA1SKV, that he'd like to see Germany re-united under the Nazis to go Jew hunting again. We lost relatives because of that theory which took hold in Berlin on 1/30/33.
Therefore in commemoration of his passing at age 63, I say he lived 63 years too long. May that bastard burn in hell for eternity and may Schoenbohm join him as quickly as possible. AMEN Brother John!

I am no expert in communication laws, but your point above suggests that there might be laws that conflict with the crystal clear meaning of section 326 that Kevin Strom quoted. Perhaps there are. If so, it is a good illustration of how our out-of-control government ignores its' own laws and issues contradictory laws. Gun registration laws that seem to run contrary to the 2nd amendment of the constitution certainly seem to be unlawful!

Our government has become nothing but a self-perpetuating employment opportunity for lawyers. I wonder if anyone has graphed (charted) the number of laws passed vs the year they were passed?
I bet it has increased exponentially in the last 25 years or so. Just how many laws are there in this country? One hundred thousand? Half a million? Millions? Does anyone even know?

"Free" country my butt!!!

Yes I agree, however, more specifically my point was that taking one paragraph from a communications act doesn't really give you the whole picture and is far from crystal clear. For example Part 97 clearly states that no one way transmissions are permitted for radio amateurs, however when you look closer beacon transmissions are very much permitted. It also prohibits music from being played, but exceptions are made for music that may inadvertently be transmitted while in the car, or running communications for a parade etc. So if I took one paragraph from Part 97 and ignored the rest the interpretation would be quite different.

I am no expert in communication laws either, nor am I fluent with the 2nd amendment, so won't get into gun registration laws because that's not what this NG is for but I own a gun, it is registered, and I have no problem with that. I pray to God I never have to use it. (Other than at the range)

I have as much freedom as I need, not sure what I'd do if I had any more.

Last month, the Central States VHF Society filed a Petition for Rulemaking with the FCC, asking for changes in the FCC's Rules which would ban FM,
most data modes, spread spectrum, and other "wideband" modes from large portions of the 6m, 2m, 220, and 440 bands.

Since this Petition, like the ARRL's "Request for Declaratory Ruling," sought to unnecessarily codify mode usage into rigid sub-bands. NCI has filed formal comments with the FCC opposing the Petition for Rulemaking. (both the NCI
membership and the amateur communigy in general overwhelmingly opposed the ARRL's request)

The initial comment period on the Petition closed on July 28th and at that time, a scan of the FCC's ECFS showed that the comments posted were again overwhelmingly opposed to codifying bandplans and mode usage.

Both the CSVHFS's Petition and NCI's opposing Comments can be viewed at htpp://www.nocode.org under the "Articles" button.

In my best Big Al impersonation, may I say: "You hit that one right on the head - Boy!!" One of two things will now happen: Either fat Al with his retractable legs will go absolutely apeshit all up an down 75 Meters beginning this evening - OR - he will drink himself into a stupor of such proportions that a month from now the local police will have to break his door down and find his underwear-clad dead, bloated, blue rotting carcass on the floor, in a pool of his own disgusting bile.
(surrounded by liquor bottles and jamming tapes)

BTW: a casual tune across 75 finds almost every well known group frequency in a celebratory spirit. Even CAPTAIN TRUTH made an appearance on a couple 75 Meter freq"s so far! Ho-Ho-Ho-Ho-Ho!!!!!!

He did say, somewhere in there, that he can tell you where to find one if you want to buy it. The implication is that he doesn't sell the tool, and isn't interested in selling the one he has and having to buy more.

If you do want to buy one, why not send him email asking who

I agree! Watch for two things to happen now:

1. K4OKA goes completely insane and jams all up and down 75 and 20 Meters.
Captain Fruit was even on 75 a bit earlier sharing a virtual "victory toast" with the boys on 3.8NN and 3.9NN! It THIS don't put Big Al out of his ghourd and into geosynchronos orbit - then nothing will.

2. K4OKA literally drinks himself to death before Y2K. A very REAL possibility.

Then again, he can also take up playing "white noise" - just like a certain fellow who used to like to play "German Marching Music" has allegedly been doing of late.....

Polly's got a case of sour grapes. Dan is right the ARRL web page has all kinds of information for new hams.
George "Polly"(Rileygotcha) Ashley, is an ex-cber, who had a Conditional

Dan, however, has the highest class of amateur license, an Extra, which Surely he couldn't have been anything but a primary school teacher in the

Tim, et all;

The argument that is being presented, "moving in on an occupied frequency" is just so much crap. This is exactly the same crap Herby and his bunch of malcontent's pulled. The bottom line is this....if you and your "self appointed" defender of the knee jerk bleeding heart liberal mindset really wanted to talk about your prefered subjects, then you would do it on ANOTHER FREQUENCY. The only reason you are on 3.950 is to cause this problem. Now shut up already.

Although I've only spoken to Martin, whose callsign you persist in getting wrong, a couple of times, my impression is that he is a reasonable, reasoning man who doesn't pre-judge anyone.

Perhaps, after reviewing the evidence, he changed his mind on certain things. That's the mark of a mature individual; and it is the polar opposite of a bigot, to whom evidence means nothing.

As far as anti-Jewish sentiments are concerned, all I can say is that the worst thing possible for the reputation of the Jews would be for examples like you to speak for them, which you are in fact doing in this forum.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Ladies and gentlemen of this esteemed board: I bring the following to your attention and scrutiny. The date was Sept.13.1993. Remember a fellow on .313 whom the idiot KA4MUJ dubbed "Raincoat Charlie?" His name was Bill Irwin and the FCC cited him.Someone decided to intervene to get his fine reduced. On 9/13/93 a letter was sent to the Chief,Legal Branch,FCC,Mail Stop1500E3,1919 M Street N.W.,Washington,DC 20554. I will quote part of that letter. Question: who wrote it?
"Mr.Irwin wishes to bring to the Chief's attention some of the unusual circumstances surrounding the case so that it may be readily determined that Mr.Irwin's case deserves special consideration. For the past four years(perhaps longer) the amateur radio community has been plagued with vigilante terrorism under the guise of "self policing." This rule of terror has been brought about by an organization calling itself The Better Amateur Radio Federation. This group has set itself up as judge and jury over amateur radio, usurping and disdaining the authority of the FCC. The prime targets of the Better Amateur Radio Federation(known as the "BARF") have been the various amateur service networks such as the Maritime Mobile Service Network and the Intercontinental Network.
The Better Amateur Radio Federation has as its nominal leader one Herbert L.Schoenbohm,KV4FZ, an expatriate convict residing in the American Virgin Islands. Mr.Schoenbohm has a long history of nefarious activities and has been a constant problem for the FCC over the past ten years. He was recently convicted on a federal charge associated with telephone toll fraud. The FCC has had numerous complaints on this individual including international complaints filed through diplomatic channels. While living under "Home Confinement" imposed by a Federal Court, he continued to direct the activities of the BARF. Under the guise of "self-policing," the BARF has attempted to curtail what it imagines to be "illegalities" using any method of which it can avail itself,including breaking the very rules it claims to be upholding. This includes:establishing communications on frequencies in close proximity to the nets for the purpose of interfering with the nets, criticizing and harassing net members, breaking into and interrupting net activities for "enforcement purposes," and the continual broadcasting of taped,public domain amateur radio communications; excerpted, edited, and replayed in an innacurate and provocative manner. One of the BARF's most insidious activities is its constant playing upon ethnic issues and its promotion of ehtnic hatred. The BARF describes net members as "Sanhedrins," "Kikes,"Shylocks," and ":Arrogant Jews." The BARF maintains a policy of blatant anti-Semitism, critical of everything concerning Israel, the Jewish Community, the Jewish Faith, or individual amateurs who happen to be Jewish. The BARF's leader,KV4FZ,calls the Jewish Community, "The Evil Empire" and never misses an opportunity to downplay or dismiss the Holocaust as a "Jewish Hoax."..... Did I, AF2Y, write it? Although I agreed 100% with it , the answer is NO. It's an excellently and intelligently drafted piece of literature and asbsolutely truthful.

The author was none other than Martin Chittum, then NG9J, now W9XA. The same person who runs the BARF web site filled with anti-government and anti-Semitic garbage. The same guy who runs the BARF forum. The same guy who now so desparately wants to help Richard Whiten who was so essential in PROTECTING nets and net personnel from BARF defamation. The same guy who now exhorts his degenerate BARF buddies to flood Riley Hollingsworth with negative comments about Mr. Whiten. You've read my calling Chittum a turncoat s.o.b. Now do you think I had a right to? Do you now feel I have every right to blast him non-stop for turning into the rat he is? I'm curious Lloyd, since your a born again Christian, is this type of comment Christ like?

Tim ka8ddz

Tim, you have the wrong guy. According to his QRZ profile, Lloyd is a

Mr. Chittum is indeed a true snake in the grass. Several months ago I presented a peace proposal to both the BARF/Stumpers and the Goodfellows. It was discussed at length by both sides. Unfortunatly, at that time in history, neither side could put down their swords.

At the same time the words of support and approval being sent to me by e-mail from Marty, he was up here on this group attacking me viciously.
Under a false name, of course.

That is the point I realized I was dealing with a sick personality.
Since then I have kept him at arm's length. However, being the eternal optimist, I joined his "better radio discussion group". I learned my lesson there also, when he started selling nazi pins. I won't be associated with such a newsgroup. What was his response? A totally discusting e-mail. Which I will not post here because I do NOT pass along other's e-mail without permission.

My point is this...Marty is definetly in need of help. A frontal lobotomy may be in order.

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 30, 1999--The FCC says that John Abernethy, K4OKA, of Hickory, North Carolina, will have to restrict his hamming to the VHF and UHF bands for the next six months. Unless he appeals the action, Abernethy may not get back on HF until January 22, 2000

Seems to me that date is no where near New Year's Eve.

The FCC's High Frequency Direction Finding Center in Maryland tracked the transmissions of the "Porkbutt Song" to K4OKA, Hollingsworth said in his letter.

During the January station inspection, FCC personnel found a cassette tape "installed in a cassette player" in Abernethy's ham shack. Abernethy "voluntarily destroyed the tape recording" while FCC personnel looked on, Hollingsworth's letter relates.

The FCC letter also said the Commission had received complaints that Abernethy had used AM and upper sideband on 75 "for the purpose of interference to communications on or near 3894.5 kHz.

Hollingsworth's letter also spends also four paragraphs outlining the FCC's position on what constitutes obscene and indecent transmissions. "From our monitoring, and from conversations with you, it is apparent that you are seriously misinformed about the Commission's enforcement of the prohibition against obscene or indecent Amateur Radio transmissions," he wrote.

Hollingsworth said the station inspection found Abernethy's station to be technically in order, but noted that personnel had "serious concerns" about a linear amplifier in K4OKA's shack that was capable of operation "substantially above the power limits set for the Amateur Service." Abernethy was warned in the letter about over-power operation.

Is Polly, oopps, George as he would like to be called now, IS NEXT, for playing the crow and harmonica...

All of you know that Rich has come out clean in all the other encounters with the FCC, so who cares, I, I, I this dipshits.....

I used to listen to ole Porkbutt for laughs, but now he is gone and I can't get any more thrills of his weird logic. Darn, just when it was getting exciting. Maybe I can just replay all the tapes I made of that weirdo. Anyway.............

I have the Yaesu FT-900 A/T, the Yaesu MD-100a8x Station mike, the Yaesu MH-31a8j hand mike, the manual, no separation kit as this rig has never been mobile, all for $850 plus shipping.(a good price for the above equipment). Now.....for the surprise, I am giving up amateur radio and will include at no expense...a CSI Private Patch V for VHF and UHF to make a repeater or Private Autopatch. This value is roughly $150 as seen on other ads. If you need further info on the Private Patch, email for more info.

As far as the actual transmissions are concerned, we need and acknowledge the function of the FCC to prevent anarchy and chaos in all radio services, just as we need traffic regulations to prevent anarchy on the roads and highways.

As for one's rights, they aren't given up when operating a licensed station, any more than they are given up when driving -- that's what "inalienable" means.

The enabling legislation that created the FCC makes that clear in at least one respect:

Section § 326. Censorship (Communications Act of 1934)

Nothing in this chapter shall be understood or construed to give the Commission the power of censorship over the radio communications or signals transmitted by any radio station, and no regulation or condition shall be promulgated or fixed by the Commission which shall interfere with the right of free speech by means of radio communication.

Happy hamming and girl-watching,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

I don't get the point of your response Jim. I posted this because this guy (W5GI) is on everyday ..day after day...month after month constantly asking someone how he sounds and ' testing audio equipment ' on the air. It is obvious he is so sold on the sound of his own voice he has become a 'perpetual radio check'. It is funny and disgusting at the same time. IMHO he should be stopped and trained to use a dummy load and a transmit monitor to ' test ' his audio equipment. The last time I monitored him he gave a rundown of all the crap he has in line between the mic and the rig...he had 5 or 6 contraptions all coupled together to ' improve his audio '. Odd thing he sounds very much the same no matter what he does.....I suggested to him in email he take all that crap out and transmit with his real voice. No dice. 73

Jeff, it takes a contest to get someone to use code? How about a

Hello & thanks for reading this message. I recenly spent some time in Hospital down at Harefield in Middlesex here in the UK. During the time I wasn't being treated for my problem I spent many happy hours listening to CWon my Jupiteru MVT7100 RX when out of the hospital Ward and in the hospital grounds although it wasn't very good reception due to me only having an indoor whip antenna !
Anyhow it set me thinking of asking the hospital for permission to TX on QRP CW say on either 20m OR 40M on my next long stay. So my question is .....
If they say YES i can use HF QRP CW. I'll need a rig for TX/RXing. I have been looking in PW and Rad-Com at the MFJ 9040 & 9020 range of rigs. I also noticed a very small unit called a MIZUHO SSB/CW radio in an ad which I dont know anything about at all ! So i wondered if any of you guys have either used the MFJ or Mizuho range and if so do you have any opinions about them Good OR Bad !
Also what Antenna would you reccomend for QRP /Portable operating as it must be compact and easy to put UP and take Down in between use. I'd probably string an antenna up in a nearby tree in the grounds if permission was given, then remove it once I finish my CW Session.
Any help or info regarding this subjet would be most welcome.

P.S. : I'm USELESS with a soldering iron so thats why I'm thinking of getting a ready built unit instead of building my own - (also the smell of solder fumes affects my chest)

Please eitther reply direct or via this newsgroup.

Many thanks best wishes from Paul G4RVM

Me thinks you are bending the rules just a bit, while your rights are not given up simply because your driving an automobile, you must abide by the laws setforth for driving an automobile. For example you have the right to drink yourself into a stupor, however you do not have the right to do that and then get behind the wheel of an automobile. The same goes for operating an amateur station, there are things you can and can not do, broadcasting for example. Would the fact that you can not broadcast somehow be an infringment on your freedom of speech? I don't think so.

If this is true then one would think that someone with money i.e network television would have had it licked long ago. There are dozens of words/phrases that can not be said over the air without a penalty. There must be more to it than just this communications act.

American "business" at its inventive best! However, for those unable/unwilling to afford the "tool", simply grind down a pair of good quality 6" long-nose pliers, just a bit. It works first time, every time and it won't ruin the pliers for normal work!. Especially, if you're in a hurry!

Yes, I somewhat get that notion.

Let's start with the Liberty Net. I do agree with alot of what they say, some things they say I don't agree with. But they say mostly views which are unpopular with our current government are being threatened to be silenced. I do think some of the tatics on 3950 need to be looked at by both sides. Mr. Hollingsworth has taken the liberty to ask W1WCR to "justify" his Net. W1WCR does not have to justify his net, he has his rights.

Why till now for the FCC to make a decsion? humm, something is not all right here. I just hope AL will stay quiet, unlike the gentleman from SC, which now his Ham ticket is no longer his.

The FCC has taken new meausres. In years past, micorpower radio stations were raided by the FBI. Will this happen to us?? Let's hope not.

2951. TM -741 turn on problem solved

Thanks to Clif Holland, KA5IPF, owner of AVVid, a Kenwood and Icom repair facility, I was able to repair the Tm-741... I appreciate all your help.. all the things that most people suggested I had already tried, but only a experienced Kenwood tech would have known that the battery inside the body of the radio (not the display) will leak over time and actually eat away several runs going directly under it that go ultimately to the processor. After he suggested looking there, I did and sure enough, one of the runs, for about 1-2 mm, had disappeared!! I jumpered it with a piece of #38 wire and voila, it worked. Clif could've done what Kenwood told me to do and that was to send it in for repair and he would've made some money off me but he shared his knowledge with me and it saved me $$$. I guess this is what drew me to Ham Radio almost 20 years ago and it's nice to see that there are still alot of Hams out there willing to help out when needed. Thanks again Clif!!!
BTW here is Clif's e-mail address. Send along some business his way.. I know I will when I have a problem I can't fix

I've heard it all now. FCC in the hands of the New World Order. That sounds like something straight from the net. If you recall they (the "So called" net) were the ones that wqere screaming for FCC action, enforcement, enforcement, enforcement. They must have been thinking that since they were the ones beckoning the FCC into action that they themselves would be immune to 'enforcement' action. Facts are Facts. Proof is Proof. Evidence is Evidence and the TRUTH IS the TRUTH. Do you have a problem with that?

Yes, I somewhat get that notion.

Let's start with the Liberty Net. I do agree with alot of what they say, some things they say I don't agree with. But they say mostly views which are unpopular with our current government are being threatened to be silenced. I do think some of the tatics on 3950 need to be looked at by both sides. Mr. Hollingsworth has taken the liberty to ask W1WCR to "justify" his Net. W1WCR does not have to justify his net, he has his rights.

Yes, the internal impedance of the solar cell array is quite significant, when you load it up to 250ma, the output voltage will probably fall to 12-13V. remember a voltmeter is a high impedance input device.

I have a T41 Icom handheld that the nicad pack has died on. Icom does not make this battery any more and I found out too late to buy any. What I really would like is the just the AA battery case for this. If I have to get the nicad battery, I'll do that but hopefully a case will surface. Thanks

Well
Loyd
I cryed for help from the FCC back in 1996, 1997, 1998 with letter apound letter. James Obrien jamming me and telling me that my wife goes with Niggers,and I didn't even know this idoit. Al Abernasty jamming everyone and I didn't even know this clown. All becaused I talked to that lowlife Rich Whiten. Guys I didn't even know coming up from 3.8945 and jamming me. I couldn't hear crap on 3898 because of the bullshit! I mean I cryed to get help from the FCC. I put up web page after web page stating the facts and who was doing what and what the FCC was doing about it. At the time that was NOTHING! What did I get back from the FCC
"Oh we don't have the funds to do our job." Hell we have a guy right here in downtown Danielsville with a sign up and everything stealing equipment and making illeagal modifications to CB radios and building and repairing amps for CBers. I reported that clown and got the same response from the FCC. I like how that Morph guy likes to wine about me living in a glass house. I haven't done anything wrong! Oh so now I'm a NARC??? Whats that? I'm a amateur radio operator that beleives in having fun but in the same breath I go by the rules. The rules say I am to report bad behaivor. Which in every case I have known about I have! I questioned Rich Whiten on sevral occasions about his mouth and his tactics. He said," The FCC is going to do anything and who is to say what profanity is. The supreme court couldn't define it."

I requested time and time again for years for the FCC to do something about all the bullshit that was going on on 75-meters. The band was and is in places just plain BAD! FCC has done nothing until NOW! Really they haven't done anything NOW. Rich Whiten 120 day time out,Whats THAT??? James Obrien a slap on the hand and he and his buddy got caught in the act, Whats that??? Al Abernasty I have no idea what is going on with that clown. I have complained about him since day one! I can remeber back in the old days the FCC didn't play. Maybe they have been out of action for awhile and that is why they seem to be a kinder more gentaler FCC. I don't know but I will say this
ITS ABOUT DAMN TIME THE FCC DID SOMETHING!
I have said this before I will support the FCC any way I can. I have always taken that stand. I was really dissapointed in the FCC in 1996 97 and early 98.
Let me remind everyone about Mr Whiten. I really didn't say much when he stole my radio. I did ask for my money back when the filter didn't work he said no and I let that slide. I lost it and began to run the gambit on that bastard when he lied to a Fedral offical. That bastard just plain lied about that amp and I knew about it and I wasn't going to lie for him and act like I knew nothing that makes me as guilty as him. That was the straw that broke the camels back!
So as I have said before I will support the FCC when they are right.
As far as the Liberty net is concerned I really don't know the whole story there. I will say this! I used to check into that net back in the late 91,92 and never had a problem with any of them. I have always notced that there where alot of stations out there that didn't like what was going on on 3.950. There was always alot of Jamming going on there. They helped me with my first loop. I always like to listen to what was being said there. I didn't always agree but I always got my turn. So I truly don't know what the FCC's problem with that net is. I myself haven't seen any rules broken. Like I have heard Jimmy Obrien and Rich Whiten and a few others breakin' the rules. So thats how I see it!!!

2979. Transcript Proves KK7HO Made False Claim

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 1999-07-31 00:00:00 UTC

On an almost daily basis KK7HO exhorts readers of the radio newsgroups to visit http://www.angelfire.com/ga/3950Opinions

and

http://www.angelfire.com/ga/3950Page2

These are his rather amateurish web pages where, he promises us, we will find evidence of the terrible "hate" expressed by the legitimate 3950 participants, some of whom are so incredibly "evil" that they actually want their race to survive.

One piece of "evidence" repeatedly touted by KK7HO has been the Real Audio file of AA8DP talking on 3950 (entitled AA8DP61.ra), which could be heard at Timmy's site until a few days ago.

Timmy quietly removed it when I pointed out that I was going to expose his lies about the recording for all to see.

Before Timmy was able to pull the recording, however, I downloaded it (on July 21st) and have now archived it at my site, where you may download it at

http://members.xoom.com/_XOOM/kevin_strom/AA8DP61.ra and listen to it at your leisure. If Timmy is reckless enough to claim that this file is not precisely, bit for bit, identical to the one he recently pulled from his site, he merely needs to produce the original file for all to see and hear.

KK7HO claimed that, in this recording, AA8DP (Steve Anderson) talked about how he had "run" all the "Blacks out of town" in his home town of Somerset, Kentucky. That is essentially how the file was headlined on Timmy's web page, and that was how he promoted it here in the newsgroups.

When I pointed out to him the utter falsity of that claim and stated that AA8DP was actually talking about how Somerset's Black community had itself run racial agitators out of town, Timmy repeated just eleven days ago in his message <19990718152728.20181.00001767@ng-fh1.aol.com>:

> STOP the spin doctoring kevin, aa8dp DID say that the BLACKS were > ran out of town.

I then challenged Timmy to post the url to the file, so all participants could see that he had lied. He then promised in his message <19990718205838.08779.00001724@ng-fx1.aol.com>:

> I'll do better than that kevin, I'll have the wav put here.

But he didn't do that.

He didn't post the url, either. Instead, he pulled the file from his site, with no fanfare or announcement of any kind.

Why?

Because I was right, of course. And he was about to be caught in yet another lie.

For those who still need proof of KK7HO's false witnessing and false testimony, or who relish the skewering of a liar, here is a transcript of the file.

As far as Timmy himself is concerned, I would say that the best thing he could do is admit that he falsely represented what AA8DP said, and issue a contrite apology.

While you are at it, Tim, will you admit that you edited the files alleging that W1WCR jammed 3950? They're on your site as:

http://www.angelfire.com/ga/3950Page2/images/Vicjams3.wav

and

http://www.angelfire.com/ga/3950Page2/images/vicjams4.wav

They're next on the list of your lies which I intend to expose.

Honor bright,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

---begin transcript of AA8DP61.ra---

[other station talks; inaudible]

AA8DP: Well, they're tryin'. They're tryin' to be like the big city boys.

It doesn't set too well with either side of the community.

I'll give you a little history about Somerset, Kentucky.

We've got a pretty good Black community down here, and when the "Freedom Riders" were ridin' around in their school buses, agitatin' all over the country, they decided they were gonna come down to Somerset.

And the Black church leaders, and all the congregations, met 'em out on what used to be the main highway out here, Old Route 80, with baseball bats and stopped their buses, dragged the leaders off the buses and bluntly told 'em right outside of town that they were not gonna come into Somerset and start any trouble; that we did not have any racial problems down here; things were just fine the way they were; and they were not welcome.

And then they proceeded to beat all the windows out of the buses with the baseball bats; and the Black people in town ran the agitators out!

[other station talks; inaudible]

AA8DP: They'd find that old boy hangin' from a railroad bridge down here; and I think his own people'd do it to him. AA8DP.

[other station talks; inaudible]

AA8DP: Well these folks down here are _real_ conservative, all hard workin', church-goin', Bible-believin' Christian folks. And, we live in harmony down here. We got a pretty sizable community in town...

K5ZU [uninvited, jamming]: You dumb son of a bitch.

AA8DP: ...and they're all good, clean-livin' folks. And that's all the Bible asks of anybody. And there's a couple of them that I have helped -- there's a couple of Black farmers live in town in this one section out west of me here, and I've helped them a time or two. Did some welding on one of their guys' piece of equipment for him. He brought it over here and I welded it up for him. And he knows exactly who I am and wouldn't hesitate to ask me for help.

So, I don't wanna hear from all these "liberals" how I "hate the Black race." I _don't_ hate the Black race.

I don't like people that break God's law. And that, there's a big difference between Blacks and these race-mixing agitators that you see in these big city TV shows. And everybody can get along if everybody just lives by the Book. AA8DP.

[the remainder of the recording, omitted here, consists mainly of K5ZU jamming and trading insults with the legitimate QSO participants]

what a spin doctoring LIAR you are the file is still on the page, has been and has never been pulled. Keep searching kkkevin one day you may find the tiniest of things that you may be correct on. until then stop Spin Doctoring ever thing factual or easily interpreted by anyone who listens and has 2 brains cells. You myust think people are really guliible and unable to hear, see, speak and think for themselves.
Find something "useful" to do with your time. What a real loser you are proving yourself to be.

>I then challenged Timmy to post the url to the file, so all >participants could see that he had lied.

Idiot it's on the page - go listen. LOL
You bitch about me posting the URL's then ask me to do it. LOL Get a Life.

>> STOP the spin doctoring kevin, aa8dp DID say that the BLACKS were >> ran out of town.

that statement above is correct despite your Spin Doctoring attempt at distorting the truth.

>> I'll do better than that kevin, I'll have the wav put here.

I was going to but the server, since this isn't a binary group won't allow it. It's called spam then kkkevin- you should know that you put enough of it here.

>But he didn't do that.
>He didn't post the url, either. Instead, he pulled the file from his

I did no such thing GO LOOK and LISTEN it's there and has never been removed LIAR.
Why do you seem so upset you asked me several times yourself to remove this or that anyway? Of couse I didn't but you did try. You really do need some help kkkevin

>While you are at it, Tim, will you admit that you edited the files

Duke, I don't think there is a website for teh ARRL repeater directory, but this may help: http://www.artscipub.com:80/USMAP.html

Some state repeater coordinators also have websites that list repeaters in their area.

October - CQ WW SSB Contest, Multi/Single by DL2OBF, JH4RHF and others
November - CQ WW CW Contest, Multi/Single by DL6RDR, JH4RHF and others
December - ARRL 10 Meter Contest, VE3IAY
Please note that 4U1VIC is a separated multiplier (county) for the WAE and WW contest. QSL via OE bureau unless otherwise mentioned.

9A2000, BRIONI ISLANDS (Brijunska Otocja, IOTA DXpedition/Special Event). Sado, 9A2OP, reports that a team of operators (Kreso/9A7K leader, Sado/9A2OP and 4 others) will activate these Croatian islands located in the Adriatic Sea, September 1-6th (possibly 2 extra days). The IOTA reference number is EU-110. The callsign to be used will be 9A2000FT in celebration of the President's 77th birthday (FT stands for President Franjo Tudjamn, and the 2000 is to celebrate the upcoming new millenium). Also, these islands are the exclusive summer residence of the Croatian President Franjo Tudjman. Activity will be on all bands including the WARC bands and 2/6 meters. QSL via 9A7K, Kresimir Juratovic, POB 88, KR-48000, Koprivnica, Croatia.

HU4, EL SALVADOR (Special Prefix/Event). Operators from Spain and El Salvador will be active as HU4U, on August 16-23rd. This special operation is organized by URE, Spanish Radioamateurs Association, to rebuild all the digital net destroyed by hurricane Mitch. The Spanish radio amateurs will carry everything from Europe, incluiding PCs, transceivers, antennas, etc, to help establish a new network in El Salvador for packet radio users. This big and expensive operation is possible thanks to the sponsoring of La Rioja province goverment, and the help of the URLR (La Rioja Radiomateurs Association), Radioamateurs Without Frontiers (RSF) and the perfect organization of URE, the Spanish bureau, and Angel, EA1QF its General Secretary. The HU4U operators will be: EA1AU, EA1QF, EB1ADG, EA3CUU, EA4BT from Spain and YS1AG, YS1FAF, YS1FI, YS1GF, YS1MS, YS1RR and some more YSs from El Salvador. The suggested operating frecuencies will be:
CW - 1833, 3503, 7003, 10103, 14023, 18073, 21023, 24893 and 28023
RTTY - 7034, 10114, 14084, 18094, 21084, 24924 and 28184 kHz
QSL cards via EA4URE.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-066. This one was sent in late. Operators Mike/UA0MF. Alex/RU0LL and Vitaliy/UA0LCT will be active CW/SSB on 15/20 meters from Putyatina Island (RR-16-03) between July 30th and August 2nd. QSL for UA0MF/A to his Box 20, Vladivostok-21, Russia. QSL all others per operators instruction.

EU-???. Look for F6HQP, F5NGB and F6JSI to be active from some different islands from Britany (Finistere Nord) between Aug 1st to 15th. Those islands will count for IOTA and DIFM.

EU-004. Members of Radio Club Mallorca will be active August 13-15th from the island of "Na Galera". Other reference numbers: DIE-Spanish Island award E-126 and Grid Location JM19IM. Activity will be on 2, 10, 15, 20, 40 and 80 meters with two stations running at the same time on HF plus another on VHF. The activity will take place mainly on SSB, although an ocasional operation will also be on CW. The callsign used will be ED6EIG and the QSL Manager is EA6VC.

EU-067. Members of the Southwest Scania Radio Amateurs (SSRA) will activate Santorini Island, August 9-15th. Operators will be SM7BCX/Yngve, SM7DXQ/Mats, SM7EQL/Bengt, SM7GIB/Mats and SM7MPM/Tore. Look for the operators to sign SV8/homecall and be active on the usual IOTA frequencies SSB and CW. QSL to the respective operator's homecall, direct or bureau.

EU-121. The WestNet DX Group will once again team up with the Saltee Dog DX Group from Switzerland from the island of Ireland's Eye on the east coast of Ireland. The group plans to be active from the evening of Thursday, August 5th, until the early afternoon of Monday, August 9th. The callsign used will be EJ7NET and QSLs will be handled by EI2GX. They will be active on all bands but hope to concentrate heavily on 6m.

LIGHTHOUSE SPECIAL EVENT. The Western New York DX Association will operate Special Event Callsign K2L during the period of August 8-22nd, in conjunction with the Buffalo (New York) Harborfest and culminating with an operation from the Buffalo Lighthouse during the Lighthouse/Lightship Activity Day August 22nd. The August 22nd operation will be on or near these frequencies:
CW - 3531, 7031, 14031, 2031 and 28031 kHz SSB - 3821, 7261, 14231, 23331 and 28421 kHz During the August 8-21st period, activity will be on CW, SSB and RTTY on all bands, including WARC. A special photo QSL will be available for QSOs of August 22nd, and a regular QSL will be used for all other dates.
QSL via WB2YQH, P.O. Box 73, Spring Brook, NY 14140 with SAE/SASE.

OH0, ALAND ISLANDS. Just a reminder! Start looking for Hartmut, DJ7ST, as OH0/DJ7ST. He will be here until August 20th. Activity will be on all bands CW running 5 watts. QSL via DJ7ST.

P29, PAPUA NEW GUINEA (IOTA activity). Uwe, DJ9HX, will be active as P29VHX from August 7-31st. He will activate a few IOTAs while in the area.
Uwe will first be active from Loloata Island (OC-153) from the August 7-9th. From August 10-12th, look for him to be on Rabaul (OC-008) and from Kavieng (OC-008) August 13-15th. Activity will continue on to Manus Island (OC-025) August 16-18th, and ending with activity from Madang (OC-034) August 19-22nd. Uwe still may plan to travel to other IOTAs between August 23-31st. Activity will be on 40-10 meters CW/SSB. QSL via DJ9HX (he prefers via bureau).

QSL INFO AND NEWS......
The logs for KH3/NH6D are now online and are updated frequently at:
http://dx.qsl.net/logs
By the way, Bill's older callsigns KH2/NH6D and KH4/NH6D logs are also online.

Wayne, N2WK, reports that he is NOT the QSL Manager for 5B4AGC.
Please send direct to G3LNS. He also mentions that W2UTH is NOT the QSL Manager for any station.

QSL Manager Jean, F6AJA, reports that he has received the HK3JBR/1 (SA-040) QSL cards for the activity during July 17-20th. Also, he reports that he has the logs for Gerard's operation as 5K8T (SA-081) and is ready to QSL any request.

QSL SV2EWN to: Kouras Vagelis, Fraglinou Rousvelt 79, Neapoli, 56728 Thessaloniki, GREECE.

QSL RZ1OA/A for activity on EU-153 (July 24-30th) via RZ1OA, Vlad Sadakov, P.O. Box 48, Arkhangelsk, 163040, Russia.

QSL UA1OLM/A for activity on EU-153 (July 24-30th) via UA1OLM, Dima Kucherin 26-23 Pavla Usova str., Arkhangelsk, 163002, Russia.

VE3ZZ/VE2 was activated by Gregg, VE3ZZ, for a few hours on Sunday, August 1st (beginning approx 1500Z) from Ile Bizard. Ile Bizard is an island in the suburbs of Montreal and does not count for IOTA, but is PQ027 for the Canadian Islands Award. Coincidentally, July 31st-August 1st was also the weekend for the annual W/VE islands contest. QSL to VE3ZZ direct or via Bureau.

ZL9CI QSL cards are being received. Ken, ZL2HU, reports, "The Kermadec DX Association has received 11,700 envelopes containing approximately 45,000 QSOs, and all envelopes RECEIVED up to and including July 31, 1999, have now been processed. Please note that if we DID NOT receive them, it is impossible to process them." Ken's complete press release with more details will be sent out to all OPDX InterNet Subscribers as an additional bulletin.

SV5, DODECANESE. Dieter/DL9UDS and Andreas/DL9USA, will be active from Kos as J45K until August 11th. Activity was spotted on 30 (around 1330z) and 17 meters (around 2300z) so far.

WEB PARTY GOING ON! Yep! David, VK3EW, one of the lucky few to work P51BH, has added a new twist in celebrating on working a new one. Join in on the fun and see a rare QSL card from P5 at:
http://www.qsl.net/vk3ew/p51bh.htm

ZK1, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS. Watch for Yoshi, JJ8DEN, to be active as ZK1MSG until August 6th from Mangaia Island (OC-159). Activity will be on 80-10 meters, including the WARC bands, on RTTY and CW. Operations will be limited because he has only power between 0500 and 2400 local time. As this bulletin was being prepared, QSNs were reported that he was on 10106 kHz at 0904z and 18084 kHz at 0246z. QSL via JJ8DEN.

ZK3, TOKELAU ISLANDS (DXpedition JULY-AUGUST 2002). Following their very highly successful DXpeditions to Campbell Island in January 1999, Chatham Island in October 1997, and Raoul Island, Kermadec Island Group in May 1996, the Kermadec DX Association is planning a further Dxpedition to the Tokelau Islands in July/August 2002. They are planning a multi band all mode operation with approximately three weeks on the island. Because of the shipping situation and the logistical costs involved their target is substantial at around 515,000 USD. They report donations are vital at this early stage to ensure ZK3 is activated in July/August 2002. Donations for this operation can be sent to: Kermadec DX Association ZK3 DXpedition, C/O - Ken Holdom, ZL2HU, P.O. Box 56099, TAWA, Wellington, New Zealand. OPDX InterNet Subscribers will receive the complete press release as an additional bulletin.

I am not surprised one bit at anything he would say or do. Roger Wiseman has been a unidentified qrmer on the seventyfive and twenty

How many of you folk's remember the sixties and early seventies? These knee jerk bleeding heart liberals which are today's leaders, were criminals back then. Remember events like Kent State? Remember the "Chicago seven" ? Remember the "students for a democratic society"?
And how about the "Simbonese (sp) liberation army? etc.

It won't be long before we can (if we are willing) vote these jerks out.

Now that is the TRUE AMERICA.

I think this shows their long history of jamming and moving in on occupied frequencies, i.e. starting the net on top of existing QSOs.
I think some would like to hear this. Have a listen!

Well, the current MSC sale flyer does have an adjustable pin spanner for $9.95. It would do this task. These nuts are commonly used by the optical and electronic industries in a variety of sizes, so it shouldn't be surprising that there are ready made tools to fit them available from the larger tool jobbers. IMHO Kenwood is just gouging at $60.

Once again, we have Tim Volz aka KK7HO, playing the victim, when it is Volz that is the criminal. For those that may have tuned in late, a brief treatment of Volz's past will be illustrative.

Volz disagrees with the patriotic views sometimes expressed on the amateur radio frequency 3.950 mHz.

This frequency is a well known gathering spot for patriotic minded Americans. It is host to a weekly shortwave amateur radio net known as the Liberty Net. It is one of 1000's of weekly amateur radio nets that are a long standing tradition.

Because Volz is a socialist, and liberal, he doesn't like the content of what is said at times on 3.950. He attempts to block the regular and legal transmissions that occur there. He uses a variety of methods to harass the other amateur radio operators on 3.950 as they try to communicate with one another.

His favorite method is to encourage and mislead other amateur radio operators into thinking that it is their civic duty to jam and harass the conversations that are taking place on 3.950. He continues to tell outrageous lies, stating that there are "Nazis" and "Faggots" on the this frequency. Volz is able to convince some of the more gullable amateurs into his twisted world view of what happens on 3.950. Volz also beleives there is a grand conspiracy operating on 3.950, and this is part of the reason that he is loosing touch with reality.

Week by week, and month by month Volz continues to move further from reality. Recently, when confronted by Liberty Net members about a "pornographic" mass email message that was sent out from his home computer, he actually accused his minor daughter of the deed. A new low even for KK7HO.

Finally, Volz litters the newsgroups with his delusion of how he is the victim of the Liberty Net members. He uses a variety of 'screen names' to do this, so that he can shore up his outregeous lies, and futher play the victim.

Volz has gone as far as to threaten the lives of other amateur radio operators. One of his threats can be heard

on the web page: http://members.xoom.com/frg9600/500.wav

So the next time you see a "newsgroup rant" from Volz or one of his imaginary personalities here on the newsgroups, don't encourage him. As unstable as Volz has become, and in light of his death threats, It's bese to just ignore him and his lies.

Once again, we have Tim Volz aka KK7HO, playing the victim, when it is Volz that is the criminal. For those that may have tuned in late, a brief treatment of Volz's past will be illustrative.

Volz disagrees with the patriotic views sometimes expressed on the amateur radio frequency 3.950 mHz.

This frequency is a well known gathering spot for patriotic minded Americans. It is host to a weekly shortwave amateur radio net known as the Liberty Net. It is one of 1000's of weekly amateur radio nets that are a long standing tradition.

Because Volz is a socialist, and liberal, he doesn't like the content of what is said at times on 3.950. He attempts to block the regular and legal transmissions that occur there. He uses a variety of methods to harass the other amateur radio operators on 3.950 as they try to communicate with one another.

His favorite method is to encourage and mislead other amateur radio operators into thinking that it is their civic duty to jam and harass the conversations that are taking place on 3.950. He continues to tell outrageous lies, stating that there are "Nazis" and "Faggots" on the this frequency. Volz is able to convince some of the more gullable amateurs into his twisted world view of what happens on 3.950. Volz also beleives there is a grand conspiracy operating on 3.950, and this is part of the reason that he is loosing touch with reality.

Week by week, and month by month Volz continues to move further from reality. Recently, when confronted by Liberty Net members about a "pornographic" mass email message that was sent out from his home computer, he actually accused his minor daughter of the deed. A new low even for KK7HO.

Finally, Volz litters the newsgroups with his delusion of how he is the victim of the Liberty Net members. He uses a variety of 'screen names' to do this, so that he can shore up his outregeous lies, and futher play the victim.

Volz has gone as far as to threaten the lives of other amateur radio operators. One of his threats can be heard

on the web page: http://members.xoom.com/frg9600/500.wav

So the next time you see a "newsgroup rant" from Volz or one of his imaginary personalities here on the newsgroups, don't encourage him. As unstable as Volz has become, and in light of his death threats, It's bese to just ignore him and his lies.

It seems that the W.N.G. has been D-F'ed as comming from the Midwestern USA.

There are just too many idiots running wild and loose on this forum. I mean real goofballs like Roger Wisehomo, AF2Y, Lrod and all the other social misfits who set in front of a computer all day posting long useless letters to people they do not even know but think they would like to know and are envious of.. Kind of like the wrestlers on WWF and WCW cable TV shows who talk like fools about other wrestlers in the interviews, mean time the guys they are talking about are not even in the building or better yet don't even have the TV on and don't care. These fools just set there day after day reading these posts and then trying to write something they think will change some one who really does not give a rats ass how they think, or what they think about any subject. So stowe it wannabes, or better yet go give your wife or live in male friend some much needed attention. If you were successful in life you would not be on here twenty four hours a day. Get a life for gods sake. Lets talk about amateur radio on here. Quit tryig to act like your heros the wrestlers... Rileygotcha

Simpleton electronics 101.

1. Take a ohm-meter.
2. Find common (ground) by putting one lead to ground of mic and other to any ole wire you want till you see zero resistance. Thats common.
3. Leave one lead on ground and hunt around for another wire that goes to ground (short) when you hit the PTT (push to talk).
4. Find the mic common and mic hot by using your eyes. It will be the shielded wire.
5. Look at the diagram in your book...it probably called microphone wireing. Follow the pinout and hook it up.

That will be 25 bux please.

Can I get in on the action? There is no doubt in my mind that braindead AL will be on 75 jamming away. Anyone that goes up on a public service net and plays the "porkbutt song" aint all together.
Maybe he can get some other songs from John. Or he could bring back the famous mexican gibberish tape, or even the famous printer tape. Hell he has a library full of them. Sorry Riley you didn't get em all. Only way he will quit is when they carry him off to the dump.

In case anyone is interested....Al, ex KJ4JX, ex K4OKA already got busted way back in the hayday of the 3895 "Alligator net". He got out of a hefty fine by turning in his original K4OKA. Did it stop him then, NOPE. It won't stop him now. Keep an ear pealed Riley.

My names Big Al, and I love to rap,
but all I can do is this computer crap.

They got my license again! ho ho

As the foremost leader of the Stumpjumpers,
I would like all of you to put this to bed,
while I put a bullet in my head.
(hope I miss the metal plate)

Porkbutt drove me crazy, but it was those late night white sheet parties with Marty that drove me to drinkin in my hot rod maverick.

I should have had Frankie take the tape, but after so many Highballs, who could remember.

Now Polly, get rid of those tapes I sent ya, and bury that harmonica, ole Riley is too smart, why didn't he believe me about that Henry 8K would not go over 1500 watts?

See ya boys

I'm off to see MUJ

It wouldn't be surprising that it cost a lot more than $37.50... I've seen

NOW go LOOK at the "So Called" LIBERTY NET LISTED as a HATE GROUP

http://www.bcpl.lib.md.us/~rfrankli/hatedir.htm

This "Hate Directory IS maintained by a college professor, has been put up and is used by law enforcement agencies all over the country.
To see the CONNECTIONS.
goto http://www.officer.com
LOOK around TAKE the HATE GROUPS LINK.....Then the Hate Directory
LINK.....Then you'll see... that the LIberty net is a Listed Hate Group.
They cannot change that. They are Classified as a "subversive" group and that's what they are. period.

It's all going to come home to roost (soon). Mark my word. They'll (lying lib nets) be sorry they started it.
Here you go again kkkevin, spin doctoring the TRUTH or the facts. You seem to think that your purpose in life is bestow upon everyone your version of "what is". LOL

>One piece of "evidence" repeatedly touted by KK7HO has been the Real

kkkevin I have not "removed" anything that has been placed on that page. Just another Lie or trying propagate.
what a spin doctoring LIAR you are the file is still on the page, has been and has never been pulled. Keep searching kkkevin one day you may find the tiniest of things that you may be correct on. until then stop Spin Doctoring ever thing factual or easily interpreted by anyone who listens and has 2 brains cells. You myust think people are really guliible and unable to hear, see, speak and think for themselves.
Find something "useful" to do with your time. What a real loser you are proving yourself to be.

>I then challenged Timmy to post the url to the file, so all >participants could see that he had lied.

Idiot it's on the page - go listen. LOL
You bitch about me posting the URL's then ask me to do it. LOL Get a Life.

>> STOP the spin doctoring kevin, aa8dp DID say that the BLACKS were >> ran out of town.

that statement above is correct despite your Spin Doctoring attempt at distorting the truth.

>> I'll do better than that kevin, I'll have the wav put here.

I was going to but the server, since this isn't a binary group won't allow it. It's called spam then kkkevin- you should know that you put enough of it here.

I know that proving that KK7HO lies is a little like proving that the surface of the Sun is a tad warm, but there is a certain elegance in simple tasks done well -- so here goes.

Sometime today Timmy altered his "3950 Opinion Page 2" to restore the file.

In anticipation of exactly this kind of transparent hanky-panky from Timmy, I downloaded his page this morning, before he restored the file, and have mirrored it at my site as:

http://members.xoom.com/_XOOM/kevin_strom/3950Page2_19990731_0933amcdt.html

The page as it stands this evening, after he restored the file, I have also mirrored as:

http://members.xoom.com/_XOOM/kevin_strom/3950Page2_19990731_1048pmcdt.html

Compare the two to see his changes.

At any rate, the liar failed utterly to address the fact that I have proved beyond any peradventure of doubt that he is deliberately attempting to mislead the reader when he states, as he now again does on his web page's link to the file in question:

"AA8DP discusses running blacks out of his town on the Liberty net!
6/12/99"

As I have shown by the file itself and the transcript of what was said, AA8DP discusses no such thing.

Listen for yourself, read the transcript, and then tell KK7HO exactly what you think of his duplicity.

And bear that duplicity in mind the next time you read or hear his wild mischaracterizations of the acts or views of others.

Bear it in mind especially when the Las Vegas Liar accuses _others_ of what he himself chronically supports and engages in -- deliberate interference on amateur radio.

Honor bright,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

kkkevin you twisting spinning LIAR. The page was UPDATED. A text file of KN4CF was added but that was all that I noticed, unless you might be refering to a difference in spacing - which is irrelevant. I'm sorry, KK7HO....but you've been caught dead to rights. An added file wouldn't have altered the Doctor Pepper file. You've lied....again.

I always enjoy it when a liar gets so obviously cornered, and STILL will try to lie his way out of it. Same with Pork Butt. Now HE is really cornered. Told the FCC that the Email he sent requesting his license to be terminated, was a "hacker". The FCC KNOWS they can trace his IP #. So they requested a SWORN AFFIDAVIT from Porky, SWEARING that he never sent the Email. That way, if Porky does send an affidavit, it will be proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that he has lied to federal officials.

But wait a minute. Look at this "democratic" format by Martin,W9XN.
ï¿½----------
Welcome to your Better Radio Discussion Group! This group was formed for the purpose of providing a forum for controversial topics related to Amateur Radio. It is 100% free from censorship or moderation. Don't expect Martin to moderate or referee your squabbles. As a matter of fact, you can expect Martin to jump into the fray and speak his mind. Nobody is going to be run out or kicked out. Let's make this forum just like an old-fashioned New England Town Hall Meeting. If you want to shout... use CAPS

Martin is declaring that no one will be run out or censored-I didn't make it up and now my friends are saying that the guy is banning me from his board because I posted HIS LETTER TO THE FCC WHICH SLAMMED THE HELL OUT OF THE BARF AND SCHOENBOHM!
I concocted nothing but merely quoted his own words and I have the originals to prove it. But then again,what can one expect from this two faced obese wheezing bastard who talks out of both orifices simultaneously?
Have you seen his neo-Nazi BARF website? If not, take a peek and you'll see glorification of everything W.W.II Germany i.e. tanks,medals,weaponry,air force,politics,souvenirs, you name it. That wretched Tipton re-tread is supposed to be an American who served in our Navy? He's as subversive as anyone ever ensconced on 3.950. And a few days ago when I mistakenly heard that my posts were being censored on his board, he APOLOGIZED. "Oh no, it never happened. You're still a BARF member. Since Dan,W4NTI asked to be dropped, I figured you were going along for the ride." That's pure B.S. "Bullchittum" and I demand that you uphold your own policy stating that your board represents free expression and no one will be run out or censored. I dare you to uphold that,W9XN. I say you're yellow and afraid of me too. You are scared of your OWN WORDS which now have returned to haunt the living hell out of you. What's your reply, meathead?

Last night I and my wife returned home from dinner at 9:50 and I decided to give a listen to what's going on regarding the 3.950 creeps and Riley Hollingsworth. And my advice to Riley is that, based on what I heard, he's washed up and I suggest finding employment elsewhere. It's tough for me to be so blunt, but it looks as if the man has no future with the FCC.
Riley, how can you survive under the "gun" of W1WCR. He's tough-real tough and boy did he tell you off. And then there was big bold Al Parker, N2SAG. Did you quiver if you heard him take you apart? I felt for you, Mr. H. N2SAG DEMANDS subservience by the FCC to bigots! And he has a right to since he said that our being on the air is our RIGHT, not a privilege. Did you know that Riley? It's our RIGHT therefore hams can use a frequency, as the Liberty Netnuts do, to degrade minorities, preach anti-Semitism, call Bill Clinton a communist, brag about the white color of their skin, run down and bash this marvelous country and either trivialize or disregard the murder of innocent men, women and children by the Nazis. And sorry to say, Mr.H., you're powerless to stop it.
W3KE, Eugene Breech, the racist from Bloomsburg, PA., (I think it was he) said that you're acting irrationally because you're understaffed and overworked but how could he know since he's underbrained. Sorry to see you go, Mr.H. You're doing the best you can but these 3.950 monsters decree your termination therefore you're outta here. Best of luck. Doc,AF2Y

Nothing is so forceful and compelling to prove a point than by using your foe's own words against him. W9XN is NOT to be trusted. A one time hard line foe of Schoenbohm and BARF,he has become an agent of subversion and has the gall to try and advise our fearless leader,WB2OTK, on how to resolve the problem with Riley Hollingsworth. And I know for a fact that had Richard listened to the treacherous louse, our man in S.C. would be doing a "Schoenbohm."

Ladies and gentlemen of this esteemed board: I bring the following to your attention and scrutiny. The date was Sept.13.1993. Remember a fellow on .313 whom the idiot KA4MUJ dubbed "Raincoat Charlie?" His name was Bill Irwin and the FCC cited him.Someone decided to intervene to get his fine reduced. On 9/13/93 a letter was sent to the Chief,Legal Branch,FCC,Mail Stop1500E3,1919 M Street N.W.,Washington,DC 20554. I will quote part of that letter. Question: who wrote it?
"Mr.Irwin wishes to bring to the Chief's attention some of the unusual circumstances surrounding the case so that it may be readily determined that Mr.Irwin's case deserves special consideration. For the past four years(perhaps longer) the amateur radio community has been plagued with vigilante terrorism under the guise of "self policing." This rule of terror has been brought about by an organization calling itself The Better Amateur Radio Federation. This group has set itself up as judge and jury over amateur radio, usurping and disdaining the authority of the FCC. The prime targets of the Better Amateur Radio Federation(known as the "BARF") have been the various amateur service networks such as the Maritime Mobile Service Network and the Intercontinental Network.
The Better Amateur Radio Federation has as its nominal leader one Herbert L.Schoenbohm,KV4FZ, an expatriate convict residing in the American Virgin Islands. Mr.Schoenbohm has a long history of nefarious activities and has been a constant problem for the FCC over the past ten years. He was recently convicted on a federal charge associated with telephone toll fraud. The FCC has had numerous complaints on this individual including international complaints filed through diplomatic channels. While living under "Home Confinement" imposed by a Federal Court, he continued to direct the activities of the BARF. Under the guise of "self-policing," the BARF has attempted to curtail what it imagines to be "illegalities" using any method of which it can avail itself,including breaking the very rules it claims to be upholding. This includes:establishing communications on frequencies in close proximity to the nets for the purpose of interfering with the nets, criticizing and harassing net members, breaking into and interrupting net activities for "enforcement purposes," and the continual broadcasting of taped,public domain amateur radio communications; excerpted, edited, and replayed in an innacurate and provocative manner. One of the BARF's most insidious activities is its constant playing upon ethnic issues and its promotion of ehtnic hatred. The BARF describes net members as "Sanhedrins," "Kikes,"Shylocks," and ":Arrogant Jews." The BARF maintains a policy of blatant anti-Semitism, critical of everything concerning Israel, the Jewish Community, the Jewish Faith, or individual amateurs who happen to be Jewish. The BARF's leader,KV4FZ,calls the Jewish Community, "The Evil Empire" and never misses an opportunity to downplay or dismiss the Holocaust as a "Jewish Hoax."..... Did I, AF2Y, write it? Although I agreed 100% with it , the answer is NO. It's an excellently and intelligently drafted piece of literature and asbsolutely truthful.

The author was none other than Martin Chittum, then NG9J, now W9XA. The same person who runs the BARF web site filled with anti-government and anti-Semitic garbage. The same guy who runs the BARF forum. The same guy who now so desparately wants to help Richard Whiten who was so essential in PROTECTING nets and net personnel from BARF defamation. The same guy who now exhorts his degenerate BARF buddies to flood Riley Hollingsworth with negative comments about Mr. Whiten. You've read my calling Chittum a turncoat s.o.b. Now do you think I had a right to? Do you now feel I have every right to blast him non-stop for turning into the rat he is? Turn your back on this Tipton,Indiana creep and you'll feel the sting of a knife blade. I'll now end...I've made my point.

Why make it nationalistic Walt? I responded the way I did because of the tone of your post not because of where you live.
If you look at the offer he proposed he clearly isn't going to retire soon on the hand full that may take him up on his offer. It's a very expensive tool if you buy it from Kenwood, and for those not willing or able to modify a set of needle nose pliers it seemed like quite a nice offer. The traditional Ham Spirit is very much alive and well here too.

Heh heh, yea I know that's why there is more Dutch and English investment in the U.S than any other foreign country. I guess you know a good thing when you see it. Your right about being a capatalist country though, it's nice to live in a place where you can be middle class, rasied by a stepmother and go on to be the President of the country. Money isn't King here Walt, we just have so damn much of it, it makes it look that way.

Hola OM Johnston, you bloomin idjit!

The OM's on 14.178 have a "thing" about exceptionally good audio. Nothing harmful in that pursuit, and I can't imagine why you'd be against such efforts, unless you think dirty

The proper spelling is "anemic" which could indicate a number of disorders with red blood cell count and/or hemoglobin. Most often this is due to an ongoing nutritional deficiency. (not uncommon among hams who most often live off of danish, coffee, BurgerKing and KFC fare) I'd recommend the gentleman in the photo consider a regimine of a multivitamin suppliment, with particular attention to iron. Stay away from hot dogs! Their filled with more nitrates, coloring, saturated fat and cholesterol than you'll believe. Next time your at the Quickie Mart take a look at the "Nutritional Facts" label on those frankfurters.
Will give you a bout of Angina Pectoris just thinking about it.

People wonder why their so SICK - the answer lies in what you EAT.

Especially you ham radio operators - OYVey! I goto hamfests and I have never seen a greater collection of bloated, overweight people in my life! I'll bet you 25 healthy carrots and a nice big Florida grapefruit that most hams cannot go just one week without downing a Mega-Supersize batch of greasy McDonalds french fries and BigMacs, that DRIP more oil than the underside of a 77 Ford.
Saw one guy at the last Md Fairgrounds Hamfest (Timonium) who had no less than five inches worth of BLUBBER hanging over his belt out in front.
Guy lookel like a cross between a real-life Pokemon Monster and a Duck!
His fat-belly and fat-ass actually waddled from side to side like an electric gallon-can-of-paint mixer going in slow motion! WHOOMP!-de-do-da-de WHOOMP!-de-do-da-de WHOOMP... you get the idea. How can anyone LIVE like this???
This ham must be well-loved by the shareholders of McDee's and Wendy's.

It's OK, -cause it's your body, not mine. Give all of your life's saving$ to the medical industry as you die young on the end of an IV in a ICU. Then we can get all your radio gear from the estate sale for PEANUTS as you widow will no doubt be happy to unload all that "radio crap" for nothing.

I know this does not represent all hams, but it sure does the great majority of em.

Dear Newswatch Magazine Listeners/Readers:

In the March 1 and April 15, 1999 Newswatch, we took an overview of the plan for world government thus far. We gave the history of the founding of the Illuminati on May 1, 1776, and their avowed purpose for a Novus Ordo Seclorum - New World Order.

Albert Pike of Little Rock, Arkansas, had reached the head of all the lodges of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry when he worked with Mazzinni of Italy to layout the final program to achieve world government toward the end of the 20th Century or shortly thereafter.

Pike stated there had to be many revolutionary wars and three world wars. The third world war would destroy atheism, which they would establish as a seen enemy of the western world of Christianity [Russia], and Christianity at the same time. The horror would be so extensive that the world would finally lay down their will to remain as sovereign nations and would accept their world government.

Once Russia had been overthrown during Pike's predicted first world war, V. I. Lenin added to the program to achieve world government by the close of the 20th Century. FIRST, they would take Eastern Europe. That was achieved out of the ashes of the second world war. After each world war, an international organization was attempted to be set up for world government. After World War 1, the League of Nations was attempted unsuccessfully. After World War 11, the United Nations was successfully established by Communists who had infiltrated into the Departments of State and Treasury.

Albert Pike's two of three world wars had now been achieved by 1945. As Lenin said: Eastern Europe was taken as the first step of three in establishing world government. SECONDLY, Lenin said they would take the masse of Asia. High infiltrators in government set up the strategy to supply

Mao Tse-tung's Communist insurgents with Lend-Lease military equipment through Russia to Mao. The State Department then cut off all military aid to U.S. ally Chiang Kai-shek of free Nationalist China. With no part replacements, ammunition and new equipment, Chiang retreated to Formosa. The SECOND step of Lenin's plan was underway. During the 60s and 70s, Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia along with other smaller nation-states fell to Communism.

The THIRD step was to surround the United States and cause it to fall: 1) From infiltration from within; and 2) Disarm the U.S. and Communism's military might from without.

Cuba fell to Fidel Castro with aid from the U.S. State Department and the mass media - newspapers and TV. The following years have seen Central and South American nations embroiled in government overthrow or guerilla warfare with Communists. Someone has forgotten to tell them and their African counterparts that Communism is supposed to be dead, and the cold war is supposed to be over. Was there a PLAN by which the United States would fall into a deep sleep militarily, so Communism could eventually SMASH us with a clinched fist?

Did V. I. Lenin say that "treaties are like pie crust, to be broken?" Is that one of numerous reasons WHY you cannot TRUST Communism to be dead, dying, decaying, and now acceptable to be friends with the modern world? What if THEY have infiltrated as Fabian Socialists to gradually legislate Socialism/Communism upon the American people? Would any President do so? We showed clearly the Republican President's Reagan and Bush records to determine an answer! Would a Democratic President prepare America for its fall and collapse into a one-world-government with United Nations military occupying our nation? Read on and judge the facts as to where truth lies!

Sincerely,

David J. Smith

Two things ' my friend '

1. Their 'exceptional audio' sounds no better then mine or yours

2. I will post and bitch about whatever I want and whenever I want.

Thank goodness Outlook Express has a nice 'block sender' feature. Consider yourself 'blocked' from my screen.

They do have a couple of others that are running close second.
You know, I heard it also, it was disgusting.
They trashed Riley, (they think they can intimidate or manipulate by harassment - believe me i know) the FCC, this country, everyone in it that isn't white, the politicians, the economy, other nations, the president and I could go on but you get the picture. Vic even asked if an attorney was listening that he may need the help of one for a big lawsuit against the FCC. I guess so after the slander job Vic, KE, SAG,and Wide Goober Mouth gave Riley. He'll need a damn good one i think.

A while back I started digging for some designs for crystal radio sets for our boy scout troop to build. I came across one that seemed neat in that it used a transformer to drive a small speaker or low impedence ear piece.

I misplaced the design!!!

Has anyone seen a design like this one? If so, please either post or e-mail it to me.

Thanks.

it looks pretty good. I'm no expert but I think you might might be disappointed trying to drive a set of low impedance phones. I tried impedance matching transformers before and never had enough energy to hear anything. Good luck

While leading the Friday evening services, the Rabbi noticed a member of the congregation, Doc, walk in with a St. Bernard dog. The Rabbi, horrified, asked the Cantor to continue the service and went to talk to
Doc. Rabbi: "What are doing here with a dog?"

Doc: "The dog came here to pray."

"Oh, come on." says the Rabbi. "I don't believe you.
You are just fooling around; that's not a proper thing to do in temple."

"Honest," says Doc, "Its true!"

"Ok", says the Rabbi (thinking he would call Doc's bluff), "then show me what the dog can do."

"OK" says Doc nodding to the dog...The dog proceeds to open up the barrel under his neck and removes a yarmulke, a tallis (puts them on his head) and prayer book and actually starts saying prayers in Hebrew!
The Rabbi is so shocked he listens for a full 15 minutes.

When the Rabbi regains his composure, he is so impressed with the quality of the praying he says to Doc. "Do you think your dog would consider going to Rabbinical school????"

Doc, throwing up his hands in disgust says,
"YOU TALK TO HIM! He wants to be a dentist!"

Once again, we have Tim Volz aka KK7HO, playing the victim, when it is Volz that is the criminal. For those that may have tuned in late, a brief treatment of Volz's past will be illustrative.

Volz disagrees with the patriotic viewsWHAT PATRIOTIC VIEWS? SINCE WHEN DID RACISM BECOME PATRIOTISM?* sometimes expressed on the amateur radio frequency 3.950 mHz.

This frequency is a well known gathering spot for patriotic minded Americans. HUH? IT'S A WATERING HOLE FOR THE UGLIEST ELEMENTS IN AMERICAN SOCIETY It is host to a weekly shortwave amateur radio net known as the Liberty Net.WHICH IS DEDICATED TO UNDOING LIBERTY IN THE U.S.A.
It is one of 1000's of weekly amateur radio nets that are a long standing tradition.TRADITION OF WHAT?*

Because Volz is a socialist,HEY NAZI SCHWEINHUND, HAVE YOU PROOF OF VOLZ'S SOCIALISM?and liberal, he doesn't like the content of what is said at times on 3.950.
He attempts to block the regular and legal transmissions that occur there. He uses a variety of methods to harass the other amateur radio operators on 3.950 as they try to communicate with one another.YOU ARE OUT TO OVERTHROW THIS GOVERNMENT. YOU ARE SUBVERSIVES AND YOU WILL BE STOPPED DEAD IN YOUR TRACKS

His favorite method is to encourage and mislead other amateur radio operators into thinking that it is their civic duty to jam and harass the conversations that are taking place on 3.950. IT IS MY CIVIC DUTY TO SOUND THE CLARION AGAINST YOU ROTTEN BASTARDS WHO HAVE NO USE FOR THIS WONDERFUL COUNTRY> He continues to tell outrageous lies, stating that there are "Nazis" and "Faggots" on the this frequency.YOU ARE AS NAZI AS HITLER HIMSELF WAS Volz is able to convince some of the more gullable amateurs into his twisted world view of what happens on 3.950. Volz also beleives there is a grand conspiracy operating on 3.950, and this is part of the reason that he is loosing touch with reality.THE SPELLING OF THE WORD IS "LOSING," NOT LOOSING, YOU MORON>*

Week by week, and month by month Volz continues to move further from reality. Recently, when confronted by Liberty Net members about a "pornographic" mass email message that was sent out from his home computer, he actually accused his minor daughter of the deed. A new low even for KK7HO.YOU HAVE A VIVID IMAGINATION

Finally, Volz litters the newsgroups with his delusion of how he is the victim of the Liberty Net members. He uses a variety of 'screen names' to do this, so that he can shore up his outregeous lies, and futher play the victim.

Volz has gone as far as to threaten the lives of other amateur radio operators.YOU'RE A LIAR. I KNOW TIM FOR 30 YEARS AND HE WOULDN'T HURT A FLY One of his threats can be heard on the web page: http://members.xoom.com/frg9600/500.wav

So the next time you see a "newsgroup rant" from Volz or one of his imaginary personalities here on the newsgroups, don't encourage him. As unstable as Volz has become, and in light of his death threats, It's bese BESE IS THE IMPERATIVE MOOD OF "KISS" IN Small portions of the 6m, 2m, 220, and 440 bands would be an accurate summation of the petition.

I guess they want to be able to press the pickle on their HT's and not have to worry about all those numbers on the display. Too much to think about. Might arta petition to make it ok to transmit on the band edges too, just to be safe.

> Both the CSVHFS's Petition and NCI's opposing Comments can be viewed

People would be well served to read the petition, rather than just NCI's take on it. The only problem caused by the proposal would be to those who had intentions of operating FM and data below the FM part of the bands. Quite a highbrow aspiration. NCI would evidently like to fancy themselves as a watchdog group.

Let us know about this. If true, it's remarkable, especially since you've only been licensed on HF for a few of those years.

Dave, get real. You're wasting your money if you QSL, save it and buy a radio.

QSLs are still exchanged via mail as if they can't be forged, because ARRL is stuck in the 3rd century, and thinks e-mail QSLs aren't equal.

Plus what would N1FOC do with his time if he wasn't being paid to run the ARRL's money-making post office ?

DXCC will cost you about 40 bucks in postage for a worthless computered generated certificate they don't even have the courtesy to sign by hand anymore (their wrists would go limp as they're giving them away).

Figure if you only QSLd via managers, the 323 countries will cost 214 lus the stupid ARRL fees. You want to pay $300 for a paper you can make yourself once you work them ?

Why do you think every year they add 10 new entities ? It makes busy work for another ARRL revenue cutter and gives its fart contesters something to live for between ruining the bands.

Oh god, what a surprise, another "underprivileged" ham trying to lower

Where are all the Advanced and Extras calling for this sort of crap ?

Hey Paranoid Lloyd, you missed a conspiracy. They are pushing this simpleton crap to sell 2 meter CBs and get more of those (codeless) hams who are experts and want to rid the world of all code. Like you. I think Riley told me last week you were really the kind of ass-ette they wanted when they created codefree licenses; you who can't program your own radio and need a computer to clone it at the store befor you leave.

Then AfRcRcL can say lookey, 500,000 hams licensed in 2 years want no theory test, by golly we'll do it as it's the Democratic (sic.) thing to do.

As I reach in the desk drawer for a ruler, ah, well it's metric only but that's ok. 9x14 cm Dave, is probably 97% of the cards I receive. I make them myself using a word processor, insert a couple .bmp files and print it to the HP printer. For small runs of color cards it's great. I print mine on 110 lb.
stock which runs just fine through most printers and then hand cut them at Kinko's or equiv. using a good straight edge. I've also had Kinkos take my master and run black and white copies on heavier stock.
I'll be happy to email the template I use if you like. It's simple, nothing fancy.

Tim ka8ddz

Now on to the one of the more bizarre posts today:

Where do you get the idea he's QSLing just for DXCC? I was exhanging cards and QSLing short wave stations long before I ever heard of DXCC.

Or perhaps he just wanted the WAS award which would only cost him $20 assuming he sent two cards to each state surface mail. Or mabey he didn't want that award either but might just enjoy getting a card from another country.
Or mabye he could do like I did and collect about 160 countries just from what came into the bureau. Probably 15 envelopes full over a period of several years, Hmm $1.00 ea * 15 =&#65533; $15

All this in response to a single question about QSL card size?
You really don't like QSL cards do you?

Poor, poor, pathetic Lloyd. He has to respond to his own posts using a fake name. Lloyd, You’re a credit to your profession of village idiot.
You've proven to one and all: you _are_ the classic reason AOL gets such a bad name.
You've made it abundantly clear by this action that you, in fact, are incapable of acting like an adult, nor should be in the company of adults. As to the issue of "exposing" me: Get real. It's not really a surprise that you chose to announce to the newsgroup that your meager intellect is inadequate to the challenge you foolishly entered, considering the ineptitude you display time and again in the newsgroup, in particular your total inability to compose even a simple on-topic article, much less one that doesn't invariably consist of a single lengthy, tedious and incoherent paragraph consisting of dim-witted, monosyllabic phrases that translate to "Whine, duh, whine, duh, duh, whine." Why, I wonder, would you purposely choose to be an international laughing stock by your endless public proclamations of not just your dismissal of, but your utter disdain for intelligence to the literate of rec.radio.amateur's readers and participants (as opposed to the illiterate, maladjusted trolls with whom you "communicate" [I use the word loosely and with a great deal of charity; "grunt" is more likely the better description])? Why, I wonder, would you insist upon presenting yourself to the world as an babbling idiot? One never knows who is reading, does one? More than a few of the more, let's say, "well-connected" of our readership have already commented to me about your buffoonishness. You've proven them to be right, haven't you?
But, hey, if that's what you want them to think, don't let me stop you.

This is a Pot calling the kettle black of nearly pre-Sherman Act trust proportions. (You'll in all probability have to look that one up, Polly!)

>I mean real goofballs like Roger Wisehomo,

You couldn't come up with anything better than a name lame, huh Polly? My little pet rileygotcha has shown made some very telling and, quite frankly, sad personal admissions about his utter, complete, and total failure to win a single solitary victory even when the campaign degenerated into his flaccid and inept area of lame mewling. First, and most satisfying of all, my little pet had thought that some messages with my name in the subject header might work in favor of his minuscule talent after he realized that he couldn't shine my shoes, let alone answer an incisive and proficient posting from me. He tried his best, slaving away for hours after school let out, and even overslept the next morning (boy!..was one tooth ruthie ever mad!).
This tactic was, like all things in his life, a failure.

>AF2Y, Lrod and all the other >social misfits who set in front of a computer all day posting long >useless letters to people they do not even know but think they would >like to know and are envious of..

What a pompous, arrogant ass you are! Did you actually think I would spend my time fuming over your pathetic attempts to flame me? Did you think I would spend my time plotting and planning my revenge, anxiously counting down the hours until I could get back to my computer and pummel you with my indignant fury? What an over-inflated sense of self-importance you have!

YEE-HAW! What a knee-slapper, Jethro!
Oh, Polly, so "wrassling"[sic] and "Barney" are your two favorite programs.
It must really be hard to sit out in a horse stall, on a decrepid wooden stool amid the pungent smell of horse dung, squinting at a 12 inch black and white tv. Of course, compared to your own body odor, the stall must smell like a bed of roses. I enjoy lashing the boil-encrusted shindles of a slobbering sub-moron like you, Polly.

You seem to post more than anybody besides Lloyd Davies, Polly.
I do hope that your next response displays at least an attempt at something that could conceivably pass, even by your troll stumpjumper friends, as coherent thought, because at present your witless drivel is barely worth my time.

I've released version 1.5.0 of Morse Mania.

Morse Mania is a morse code tutor for the Macintosh. The software package helps you learn morse code at speeds ranging from 5 to 30 words per minute. Morse Mania is ideal for amateur (ham) radio operators who desire to learn or improve their morse code proficiency, especially in order to upgrade their license class.

With this version, Morse Mania is able to convert text files, and transmit them through your Mac's speaker, making it possible to make up your own practice exercises.

Morse Mania is shareware. A copy of Morse Mania may be downloaded from the Morse Mania web site. The URL is http://www.blackcatsystems.com/software/morsemania.html

Trying to forget his life of quiet desperation...On 01 Aug 1999 03:47:57 GMT "Lloyd Asswipe Davies" <n0vfp@aol.com> lamely mewls:

>And a turd too!

Are you _sure_you're twenty-something years old, Lloyd? The turd lames are something kindergardeners do.
Maybe later in life, after you have learned to read, write, spell, and count, you will have more success.
True, these are rudimentary skills that many of us "normal" people take for granted that everyone has an easy time of mastering. But we sometimes forget that there are "challenged" persons in this world who find these things more difficult. If I had known, that this was your case then I would have never read your post. I wish you the best of luck in the emotional, and social struggles that seem to be placing such a demand on you.

Once again, we have Tim Volz (aka KK7HO), agitating, and harassing other amateur radio operators here on this newsgroup. Every time Volz's actions are exposed he calls them "lies" and promptly threatens to sue everyone around him. Reminds me of Andy Kaufman.

Because Volz is a socialist he doesn't agree with the political content of what is said at times on 3.950. He attempts to block the regular and legal transmissions that occur there. He uses a variety of methods to harass the other amateur radio operators on 3.950 as they try to communicate with one another.

His favorite method is to mislead other amateur radio operators into thinking that it is their civic duty to jam and harass the conversations that are taking place on 3.950. He continues to tell outrageous lies, about the participants on the this frequency.

Week by week, and month by month Volz continues to move further from reality. Recently, when confronted by Liberty Net members about a "pornographic" mass email message that was sent out from his home computer, he actually accused his minor daughter of the deed. A new low - even for KK7HO.

Finally, Volz has found a 'left leaning professor's web page that lists 100's of organizations that socialists disagree with. Buried deep within the page is an entry for the Liberty Net. It is this insignificant enrty that Volz promotes as proof that the Liberty Net is a bad thing.

Volz has gone as far as to threaten the lives of other amateur radio operators. One of his threats can be heard on the web page: http://members.xoom.com/frg9600/500.wav

So the next time you see a "newsgroup rant" from Volz or one of his imaginary personalities here on the newsgroups, don't encourage him. As unstable as Volz has become, and in light of his death threats, It's best to just ignore him and his 'spin', after all - his incompetence only serves to further the 'other side'!

Hello Paul,

I've had an MFJ 9040 QRP CW rig for quite a few years now (mine is set down to 4 watts). My rig includes not only the CW transceiver, but also the cross-needle antenna tuner and the portable power supply. This makes for a very nice "stack" of three small boxes and a carrying handle -- very, very convenient.

Generally, the design and operation is very sound and good.
There are a few "mechanical" flaws with my rig in particular.
First, the analog dial is about 10 kHz off and gradually increases. Not a big deal in practice. Second, when I installed my narrow CW filter, the holes in the circuit board did not line up properly with the mounting posts on the main board. Also not a big deal, but someone was not paying attention when they drilled it. Lastly, I found the clicking of the relay very annoying, but have learned to live with it.

Overall, the performance of the unit is very good. It's not as whizzy or modern-looking as some of the other QRP units, but you do get a lot for your money. Their documentation is excellent.

For an antenna, MFJ has a twinlead dipole that works well or you can use a random wire.

Dave, W7DAM

I can say only one thing. Go back to the CB 11 meter band. They need jackasses.

People get there amateur ticket so they don't have to contend with the CB idots.

You ever try to use channel 19? Its a lovely joke.

Try using what little brains you have before you write stupid notes and say stupid remarks about Ham Radio.

At least the FCC watches ham radio can you say the same for CB?

JIGGER BOO??
NIGGER??

Look's like your buddy Rich is in deep bowel movement, Doc. Riley KNOWS that his e-mail can be traced back to him! And I'll bet Rich knows it, too. So he's stuck! He pathilogically lied AGAIN, and this time he is caught dead to rights with a federal officer! I love it!

By the way, Doc....if you don't believe you can't be tracked around the internet, go visit this site real quick and tell me what pops up:

http://www.glr.com/danger

That is YOUR personal and very own IP number that AOL and the feds can trace back to you twenty four hours a day, seven days a week!! And that IP number just might be the death of PORK BUTT!!!!!!

LOLOLOLOLOLOLOLOLOLOLOL!!!!!!!!

Earl

AOL can trace me faster if they stop to ask me if something is attributable to me. I'll tell them exactly what they wish. However it will never come to pass because never once have I posted anything obscene or under a different name than radiosigs. I have been and will continue to be completely forthright especially on the Internet because I appreciate the freedoms it grants.

3146. Ham Radio 101

- HAM RADIO 101 -

HAM RADIO 101 is a novice/technician exam study class taught over international shortwave! HAM RADIO 101 airs Monday through Friday, from 23:00 to 23:30 UTC (7:00pm to 7:30pm Eastern) on WGTG, McCaysvile, GA on 6.890 MHz. upper sideband.

The show is hosted by Bill Lauterbach, WA8MEA. Bill has been a ham for thirty years and owns DWM COMMUNICATIONS, a ham and shortwave radio mail order company located in Hanover, Michigan.

HAM RADIO 101 is pre-recorded and WGTG rotates their various programs in order to allow new people to hear a former program they might have missed. The show also rotates with code practice lessons given by WGTG's owner, Dave Frantz.

HAM RADIO 101's emphasis is on the study of electronic and radio theory material for the novice/technician class amateur radio examinations.

The text for the course is: TECHNICIAN NO-CODE PLUS by Gordon West, WB6NOA and is available from any local RADIO SHACK store for $9.99 (catalog # 62-2426)

As far as Bill and Dave know, this is the very first time anyone has attempted to teach an amateur radio course over international shortwave! Let's wish them luck and hope they bring many new hams into the fraternity!

- Disclaimer -

Although "HAM RADIO 101" costs money to produce, DWM Communications DOES NOT solicit contributions for the show. But you CAN help with the financial costs by purchasing one of our fine little "gadgets" featured on this website.

"HAM RADIO 101" is NOT affiliated with ANY amateur radio, political or religious organization. The sole purpose of "HAM RADIO 101" is to bring new people into the exciting hobby of amateur radio.

Many people have asked if we plan on doing radio classes for General, Advanced and Extra class exams. Sorry, but until the FCC's Mr. W. Riley Hollingsworth makes a SERIOUS effort to remove problem ham radio operators like WA9KJI and WB2OTK, we feel EMBARRASSED to bring new amateurs up onto the HF spectrum. Until the day the HF ham bands are properly "cleaned up," any plans for upgrading to the higher license classes will remain ON HOLD

Maybe Doc can't, but here are a couple of Al's cute comments;

"Hey Dan, did you hose of your girlfriend after she came home tonight?"

"Those niggers are 20,000 years down the evolutionary track"

rec.radio.amateur.space (satellites, meteor scatter, EME) rec.radio.amateur.misc (any topic not covered in the above groups)

(At least two other English language radio hierarchies exist, prefixed

Again, cross-posting should rarely be necessary. Many times, a long-

Is there an "official" (or even preferred) size for QSL cards?
I ask primarily because I would like to design my own QSL card, but want to make sure I conform to standard, if any.

Once again, we have Tim Volz (aka KK7HO), agitating, and harassing other amateur radio operators here on this newsgroup. Volz disagrees with the patriotic views sometimes expressed on the amateur radio frequency 3.950 mHz.

This frequency is a well known gathering spot for patriotic minded Americans and is host to a weekly shortwave amateur radio net known as the Liberty Net. It is one of 1000's of weekly amateur radio nets that are a long standing tradition.

Because Volz is a socialist he doesn't agree with the political content of what is said at times on 3.950. He attempts to block the regular and legal transmissions that occur there. He uses a variety of methods to harass the other amateur radio operators on 3.950 as they try to communicate with one another.

His favorite method is to mislead other amateur radio operators into thinking that it is their civic duty to jam and harass the conversations that are taking place on 3.950. He continues to tell outrageous lies, about the participants on the this frequency.

Week by week, and month by month Volz continues to move further from reality. Recently, when confronted by Liberty Net members about a "pornographic" mass email message that was sent out from his home computer, he actually accused his minor daughter of the deed. A new low - even for KK7HO.

Finally, Volz has found a 'left leaning professor's web page that lists 100's of organizations that socialists disagree with. Buried deep within the page is an entry for the Liberty Net. It is this insignificant enrty that Volz promotes as proof that the Liberty Net is a bad thing.

Volz has gone as far as to threaten the lives of other amateur radio operators. One of his threats can be heard on the web page: http://members.xoom.com/frg9600/500.wav

So the next time you see a "newsgroup rant" from Volz or one of his imaginary personalities here on the newsgroups, don't encourage him. As unstable as Volz has become, and in light of his death threats, It's best to just ignore him and his lies.

There was a hint in QST (I think) lately on this one.
It was sugested that a dual voice coil speaker from RS was a solution. The coils are separate windings driving the same cone.

Fair question.
There ia a 'standard' at most buros. It has to fit in a DL envelope or it gets folded at our buro. These are about 90x145mm

A Brief Historical Overview

If there is any one constant in the changing state of the communications art, it is that "Hams" (Amateur Radio Operators) have always been on the forefront of it. Rumors abound where the term "Ham" came from. Some of the more amusing are described in the list of Frequently Asked Questions for this newsgroup.

Regardless of origin of the name, a "Ham" is universally recognizable as one who experiments in radio and communications.

Whether it be constructing a low-power CW radio with vacuum tubes, or designing TCP/IP packet networks, such experimentation has historically spilled over into the mainstream such as was the case with Howard Armstrong, who developed the regenerative oscillator and FM radio, or General Curtis E. LeMay (K0GRL, W6EZV) who was instrumental in making Single-Sideband the communications standard for the Strategic Air Command (1946-1992, now reorganized into a joint command called USSTRATCOM) and eventually the U.S. Air Force. Although packet-switching techniques originated from DARPA (Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency) and the ARPANet, no one can deny the tremendous influence that amateurs, including those within TAPR (Tucson Amateur Packet Radio), have had in demonstrating the viability of TCP/IP and AX.25 communications via radio links. The efforts of AMSAT (the Amateur Satellite Corporation), including the development of many ham satellites and the low-orbiting Microsats (communications satellites no bigger than a breadbox that use store-and-forward packet techniques), have certainly advanced the state-of-the-art in communications, one of the defined purposes of the Amateur Radio Service, as recognized by international treaty.

What is an Elmer?

Since in many cases hams are writing "the book", there is often no "book" or other established reference for a beginner to refer to. Traditionally, information has been passed on from ham to ham via word-of-mouth. Like many of the traditional crafts, a variation of the Master-Apprentice system has emerged, the Elmer-Novice relationship.

The term Elmer has probably been in use since at least the 1950's (I'm told, but haven't yet confirmed, that it appears in British amateur radio publications from that period). The name Elmer was likely chosen because Elmers are usually older and wiser, having the benefit of many years in the hobby, including several failed projects, and an electric shock or two. The first U.S. reference to Elmer in print was from Rod Newkirk, W9BRD, in his "How's DX" column in QST from the early-to-mid-1970's.

Such Elmers have traditionally been the mainstay of amateur radio, and the source of many new hams, particularly those interested in working on emerging technologies. Even more importantly, Elmers provided an outlet for the impatient newcomer who wanted "to know everything, and right away." Faced with such a request, a good Elmer will smile and proceed to lead the novice through some project or operating experience. Several hours, days, or weeks later, the novice would have his answers, but would have earned them. Even better, the sense of accomplishment would boost the novice's confidence and nudge him or her down the road to being a model, experienced ham operator.

Many present hams feel that such an experience is missing today. In today's hustle-bustle world, the response to such natural curiosity and desire to learn is, more often than not, "I'm too busy" or "RTFM." As a result, the quality of new hams declines and the knowledge and operating habits they develop in their first formative months and years leave much to be desired. And the very same hams who claim that they "can't understand the new generation" also, in almost the same breath, lament about the "decline of amateur radio."

What is an Elmer Today?

An Elmer today is of any age, male or female, who has some expertise and is willing to share it with beginners. Elmers don't even need to be licensed amateurs, just people with knowledge in some area of electronics or communications technology.

How do I become an Internet Elmer?

With the ever-widening scope of the Internet, the amateur radio newsgroups on Usenet, and now the World-Wide Web, the potential for Elmers to share their knowledge to a wide audience has never been greater. To that end, I maintain a list of such Elmers. Volunteers may register via my formatted, on-line, World-Wide Web Registration Form:

http://www.novia.net/~pschleck/elmers/register.html

I would prefer that you register using the above form (which not only ensures that nothing is omitted, but also makes adding your entry much easier by automatically converting it to HTML). However, volunteers who are not yet on the Web are also quite welcome, and may register by writing me at elmers-request@novia.net with their name, amateur radio callsign(s) (if any), E-mail address, and area(s) of expertise. URL-format pointers to resources they maintain, such as WWW home pages, FTP archives, mail servers, or mailing lists, would also be quite welcome. The list has gotten large enough that there should be plenty of suitable examples to model your entry after. If you need some further assistance formatting your entry, drop me a line and tell me a bit about yourself. Ironically, sometimes the best Elmers write to me saying, "I'm not an expert, but..."

I have set up an administrivia mailbox for correspondence related to this list (elmers-request@novia.net, the default Reply-To: of this message when posted to Usenet News). I would prefer that all such correspondence be directed to that address. In addition to saving it into a special folder, my incoming E-mail filter will also send you an automated return-receipt.

Also, an unfortunate increase in the amount of unsolicited junk-mail that I receive (often dozens of messages _every day_) has forced me to become much more ruthless about filtering incoming E-mail. While I can guarantee that I will read all mail sent to elmers-request before the next bimonthly posting of the list, mail sent to pschleck may not only not get reviewed for some time, my incoming mail filter (procmail) may even bounce it back to the sender if it can't be automatically categorized as originating from known, friendly senders or have known, welcome keywords in the headers (Elmer is obviously one of those keywords).

How may I obtain the latest copy of the Elmers List?

There are currently 5 ways of obtaining the Elmers List. Any site at least reachable by Internet E-mail can use the Mailing-List or Mail-Server options:

World-Wide Web (WWW):

This is the recommended method for accessing the Elmers list, as it allows this resource to be viewed as hypertext. The home site at www.novia.net features immediate updates each month, hypertext-linked subject and geographic indexes, keyword searching, and registration and feedback forms. The other two sites use automatically-converted versions of the Usenet news articles, but are still usable, particularly if you are outside North America. The site marked with an asterisk also offers Wide-Area Information Service (WAIS) index searching by keyword for all Usenet News FAQ's:

* http://www.novia.net/~pschleck/elmers/
* http://www.lib.ox.ac.uk/internet/news/faq/rec.radio.amateur.misc.html
* http://www.cs.ruu.nl/cgi-bin/faqwais *

(_Note:_ Because of maintenance problems - FAQ documents not being promptly updated in particular - the sites at Ohio State and Smart Pages are no longer recommended for accessing a current copy of the Elmers List and have been removed from the above list.)

see also the newsgroups under comp.infosystems.www.* (I haven't listed URL's for all of the newsgroups under this hierarchy as there are now about a dozen of them (!!!).)

Usenet News:

This was the original distribution medium for the Elmers list. It continues to be supported for users who cannot access the World-Wide Web. Since the document uses URL's throughout, the news article version may also be viewed as hypertext via some mail and news readers. The latest copy of the list can be found in the news articles with Subjects like _"Amateur Radio: Elmers Resource Directory Part / [-]"_ (The * represents a wildcard character, as the need to split the list evenly, as well as keep all parts under the 64K message limit for Usenet, requires that I adjust the split occasionally). Since the list is cross-posted to the following newsgroups:

* news:rec.radio.amateur.misc
* news:rec.radio.info
* news:rec.answers
* news:news.answers

on the first Monday of each even-numbered month, with an expiration date 10 weeks into the future, there should always be a copy available at most news sites. Check your newsreader documentation for information about reading previously-read articles or articles that are "threaded" to this one. Also complain to your local news administrator (E-mail to "news@localhost" or "usenet@localhost") if your local news server is configured to ignore Expires headers (and thus prematurely delete the articles) in worthwhile, mostly moderated, information newsgroups like those listed above.

Anonymous FTP:

If your site is directly connected to the Internet, you may retrieve the latest copy via File Transfer Protocol (FTP) from the following sites:

* ftp://ftp.novia.net/customers/pschleck/elmers/
* ftp://rtfm.mit.edu/pub/usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/
* ftp://ftp.uu.net/usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/

Mailing-List:

Since the list is cross-posted to rec.radio.info, the latest copy may be obtained from the mailing-list gateway for that newsgroup (along with many other informational articles about radio) when it is published each even-numbered month. To subscribe, send E-mail to:

listserv@ucsd.edu

and in the BODY (not the Subject) of the message, write:

subscribe radio-info

The server may not be able to determine your return address. In that case write:

subscribe radio-info (your E-mail address)

You should get an acknowledgement very shortly.

Mail-Server:

If you don't want to read through the entire gateway of rec.radio.info, or want a copy of the list right away, send E-mail to:

mail-server@rtfm.mit.edu

and in the BODY (not the Subject) of the message, write:

send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/README
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/index/subject/part1
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/index/subject/part2 send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/index/geographic send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part1
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part2
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part3
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part4
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part5
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/list/part6
send usenet/news.answers/radio/ham-radio/elmers/diff and the latest copy of the list should be sent to you E-mail within 24 hours (the mail-server uses batch priority to reduce system demand).

Acknowledgements

By using this resource, you are benefitting the net by obtaining assistance in the fastest and most efficient way possible. By volunteering to appear on this list, you are contributing to the good reputation of the radio-related newsgroups.

Thanks to all the volunteer Elmers, as well as courteous list users, for making this service a success.

John Ackermann N8UR

jra@febo.com

http://www.febo.com/

My primary interests are in packet radio network building (particularly higher speed stuff) and TCP/IP. I've got quite a lot of info on using the Kantronics D4-10 19.2kB radios, as that's the hardware we've been struggling with here.

I'm now working heavily with Linux, and help run a TNOS/Linux BBS, and a Linux native-AX.25 switch. Although I'm not "the world's greatest authority" on either, I'd be happy to help folks with questions to the extent I can.

I've developed some experience with full-duplex packet repeaters. I've built 2 19.2 repeaters, and am working on a 9600 Baud one now.

My World-Wide Web Page above has a reasonable set of resources for digital networking, including HTML versions of some of my work, sample configuration files for Linux AX.25, and some Linux software tools, as well as the Ohio IP address coordination info.

I've just finished writing a book on TCP/IP that TAPR will publish (hopefully) by the end of the year. It'll be called _Networking Without Wires_ and is a completely rewritten, and greatly expanded, version of the old _IntroNOS_ document I wrote several years ago. In the meantime, I've made the old _IntroNOS_ available in HTML format on my World-Wide Web Page above.

TAPR (Tucson Amateur Packet Radio) has formed a special interest group to discuss issues of regional packet networking (Net-SIG). As a result, the TAPR net-sig mailing list was born, and is now ready for operation.

This list is <not> intended to replace any of the existing packet-related mailing lists. Its purpose is provide a medium for communications among those interested in packet radio networking, both dealing with technical issues and political/regulatory ones. We'll discuss things like how the potential 219MHz band will fit into the networking picture, how to link areas using different networking schemes, how to set network parameters, etc. The list's charter will be posted there regularly.

The address of the list is net-sig@tapr.org and you can subscribe by sending mail to listserv@tapr.org with the text "join netsig".

Apart from subscribing to the list, you can contact me for further details about the Net-SIG (including upcoming conferences).

Contesting is my favorite activity. I operate as many contests as possible, mainly on phone. I do operate CW often on the HF bands. Field Day is a big deal for me. I have been Field Day coordinator for two different groups in the past two years, including one in Mississippi that used my callsign this past year. I operate mostly on the HF bands, especially ten meters.

I am experienced with IBM-compatible computer systems, as well as packet radio networking and BBS systems, specifically MSYS. I am also experienced in APRS. I familiar with repeaters and controllers, specifically the CAT-300 (DX). I am also involved in the recruiting and licensing of other youth, and am planning classes for local Cub Scouts/Boy Scouts.

I am an IOTA chaser, I work DX and I join contests. Actually I'm in love with RS sats and DOVE telemetry. I'm the Shortwave Listening (SWL) coordinator of the Italian Amateur Radio Association and I have
I joined the 425 gang that produces the 425 DX News bulletin. I translate it into English and send it to many DXers via E-mail. I also maintain a WWW page to provide the bulletins graphically with previous numbers and more to come. I've been an SWL since 1974 when I received a receiver as gift from my parents. Now I'm 36 and I'm running also a free BBS devoted to HAM/SWL.

During the school year, I am in Baltimore college ARC at University of Maryland, Baltimore County, which is home of the UMBC Amateur Radio Club and KB3CVD:

http://umbc.edu/~rcarls2/hamradio/

During the winter and summer, I am in New Jersey. I am active in ARES/RACES/NTS and local clubs in both areas, and would be glad to help other young people get into the hobby of Amateur Radio, particularly in the interests of Public Service and Disaster Management.

I'm willing to act as a reference for anyone wanting info on getting tapes (especially Callsign tapes) from the Department of Commerce National Technical Information Service (NTIS) or wanting other info on callsign-project related stuff.

One of these days I'll actually be around for the un-net! I promise, really! (Well, maybe not. Is anyone even doing the un-net any more? If so, E-mail me and maybe we'll actually do it!)

My job is currently System Administrator for a large UNIX site so I know a little bit about day-to-day UNIX operations and UNIX installation :-) My laptop currently runs Linux most of the time (over 99% of the time). I also have much experience with constructing E-mail paths that will work rather than bounce. Currently I do software full time (yay!), and am fiddling with some laser experiments - if I could get some 'spare' time.

I also have a fair amount of experience in hardware/software interfacing and machine control.

I am available most days; work from home. I am especially interested in teaching the practical side of ham radio technology. I will help troubleshoot kits, old radios, etc., but will expect the new or prospective ham to pitch in.

Expertise gained from over 45 years of ham radio and almost as many years in broadcast engineering.

I have been a radio amateur since 1954, first licensed as KN2HYZ in Peekskill, New York at the age of 14. I have been active in periods ever since, never losing the ham spirit.

I would like to be involved in helping young people start in ham radio. Especially those who are already licensed and are "lost" looking for ways to operate or set up a station.

The purpose of the Digital Systems Directory is not to manage, coordinate, or regulate the usage of digital systems, but to provide the most up to date and accurate listing of digital systems that can be provided. Neither is it a formal organization, but a mechanism to allow regional groups to provide and share information regarding digital systems.

The Digital Systems Directory listing is intended for use by individuals to further their enjoyment of the hobby and by organizations to help plan and develop digital networks.

I have been a ham since 1956. I have held the positions of SEC, Technical Co-ordinator, Army Mars AAT4TK. I am an avid homebrewer and antenna experimenter. I hold a EE degree and have 30 years experience in computer design, programming, and system analysis. Present station is all home brew except the receiver (75A4) and can be heard on 3973 kHz Friday mornings from 0300 to 0500 ET when I am NCS for the before breakfast club. W4JLE is my original call which I just reclaimed under the vanity call sign program. I am NO LONGER a member of the ARRL and that has hampered my efforts with RACES.

* Equipment Testing

I have been at ARRL HQ for over 13 years. During that time, I have become ARRL's RFI and RF-exposure guru. If you have questions about RFI or RFI exposure, first go to the ARRL's Technical Information Service World-Wide Web Page:

http://www.arrl.org/tis/

and download the applicable information packages. From there, you can direct questions about RFI or RF exposure directly to me. I will either answer your question directly, or refer you to some of my contacts in industry, in the cable industry, etc. ARRL also publishes the _ARRL RFI Book_ and _RF Exposure and You_.

I have also had experience with testing of transmitters and receivers, mainly in conjunction with ARRL's Product Review testing. A copy of ARRL's Test Procedures Manual can be downloaded from:

http://www.arrl.org/members-only/prodrev/testproc.pdf

Before I came to ARRL, I spent a number of years as a TV and audio service technician, so can often help with troubleshooting questions. I wrote the troubleshooting chapter of the ARRL Handbook.

The ARRL Technical Information Service (TIS) Coordinator is now another member of the ARRL HQ staff. Please direct all TIS queries to tis@arrl.org, _NOT_ my E-mail address above.

See Mary Lau's entry for more information about the ARRL Info Server.

Amateur Television Quarterly (ATVQ) Magazine

The magazine's E-mail address and mine are the same: ATVQ. There is also a ham radio section for "manufacturers and dealers" on America On-Line in which we list Amateur Television Quarterly, as expert and manufacturer. That is where most of the Frequently-Asked Questions (FAQ's) come from.

Most FAQ's are answered in one of two books we published. ATV Secrets for Aspiring ATV'ers is a non technical book, and Volume II is a 300-page technical manual with theory and projects for all equipment necessary to operate an ATV station. Prices in US funds are $9.95 and $24.95 plus postage ($3.10). Most of your inquires can be answered by either of these two books.

I am also compiling a set of W6ORG Notes, a regular column in ATVQ, which answers many of the technical FAQ's on various equipment and operations. This will be available for $9.95 also.

I am involved in commercial RF and wireless design, and willing to share experience with other amateurs. I have a complete test equipment facility for checking radios, antennas, etc.

Local NEWSLINE outlet: Program airs on the 147.30 repeater right after the Monday night net.

I am active on HF, VHF and UHF, including voice and digital modes, and will help in whatever areas I can for most of Southern Oregon.

I have been active in the Hobby for over 28 years, in a wide range of activities from local clubs, special events, public service communications, emergency communications, contesting, DXing, packet, repeaters, traffic handling, and more. I have served as an officer of local radio clubs, newsletter editor, Events Coordinator, Field Day Chairman, Local County Emergency Coordinator and Area District EC, member of several emergency preparedness planning groups, SKYWARN coordinator, and liaison to numerous served agencies in North Carolina. I have taught amateur radio licensing classes (theory and code) and have been active in developing small group "seminars" for training (everthing from "how to build a dipole" or "handle traffic" to "how to work with/at various agencies when dispatched during and emergency." I hold WAS (both novice CW and the "Geratol" award, DXCC, WAC and a wide range of on-the-air operating experiences. I was selected for membership in the A-1 Operating Club, have been award "Ham of the Year" awards for local clubs, and am willing to work with new-comers on most any project.

Civil Air Patrol (CAP)

I was Communications Officer and former unit Landstation Bluebird 284, 1980-87. Statistically, Landstations are relatively rare. A land station in CAP is an HF-capable station operating from both mobile and permanent locations as needed. As a land station, I checked into several regional nets for the Missouri Wing of the CAP. I am familiar with the CAP emergency protocol as well as MARS and ARRL. Also, I have extensive teaching experience for Novice to General levels and currently am a teacher.

I would like to help any new or prospecting hams in any way that I can. My personal experience is limited, but I am net control of a local Elmer Net here in Pittsburgh. This net meets every Saturday evening at 9:00 PM local time on one of the repeaters of the North Hills Amateur Radio Club (146.88- MHz). This net is intended to help all new hams. Many experienced hams also check in and can answer questions and share their wisdom with beginners.

General Information about TAPR:

* Ever heard of a TNC?
* Interested in general packet radio information?
* Interested in Spread Spectrum Communications?
* Interested in high-speed packet operations?
* Interested in other types of digital communications?
* Interested in experimenting or building kits?
* Interested in keeping up-to-date on national digital and packet issues?

Then you might be interested in TAPR!

Goals:

* Support Research and Development efforts in the area of amateur digital communications
* Disseminate information on packet and digital communications
* Provide affordable and useful kits for experimenters and hobbyists
* Pursue and help advance the amateur art of communications through publications, meetings, and standards

History:

If you have used a packet radio TNC, then you are already a part of TAPR history.

The TNC (Terminal Node Controller) project was the first big project that TAPR tackled and completed. Now TAPR covers a wide range of interests including: APRS, Spread Spectrum, networking, Timing, DSP, HF, and much more.

TAPR was founded in 1982 as a national organization with interests in the areas of packet and digital communications. Today, TAPR continues as a membership supported non-profit amateur educational research and development organization. TAPR currently has more than 2500 members, worldwide. TAPR continues to develop kits for the amateur community and is working actively on publications and communications standards.

Membership:

Membership in TAPR includes a subscription to the quarterly published Packet Status Register newsletter. PSR has been published since 1982 and is recognized as an authoritative source for up-to-date user and technical information on packet radio. Much of the material in PSR is timeless. Back issues may be obtained from the TAPR office. Membership in TAPR is $20 US for one year in USA, Canada, and Mexico. Outside North America is $25 US.

High-Performance Software Modem Project

Recently I've been working on a prototype SQPSK (staggered quadrature phase shift keyed) modem for the amateur satellite channel. This modem is implemented totally in software running on a PC with an ordinary (non-DSP) Soundblaster card. It runs at 1200 bps and fits into a SSB transceiver bandwidth.

I've made good progress and have put some info up on my web page about it, including an audio file to show what it sounds like in noise when the signal is still copyable, available from:

http://people.qualcomm.com/karn/ham.html

Watch that page for an announcement of when I actually release the code, which I plan to integrate into KA9Q NOS.

Spread Spectrum

I've been trying to answer the question of consequences of promoting relatively wide-band digital modes on band occupancy and throughput (i.e., What gets optimized? Are there tradeoffs in quality vs. quantity?) in the context of the spread spectrum rules debate, but I think it needs to be a much wider discussion. See my reply comments to the FCC on this issue:

http://people.qualcomm.com/karn/papers/index.html

(See also Steve Bible for more information on Spread Spectrum)

[_Editor's Note:_ I'm honored by the presence of many advanced-level Elmers in this directory, including Jeffrey Angus, Gary Coffman, and now Phil Karn. Phil has graciously agreed to appear in this directory for the purpose of elmering and technical exchange for the advanced topics listed above. As with all of my Elmers, please respect their time by only seeking assistance from them for the topics under which they are listed. There are many Elmers willing to answer more beginning-level packet radio questions, including basic questions about IBM PC hardware, TCP/IP and NOS. Consult the "IBM PERSONAL COMPUTER (PC) AND CLONES" and "PACKET AND DIGITAL NETWORKING" categories in the Subject Quick-Search Index for a complete list.]

EDUCATION DIVISION:

Develops and distributes amateur radio self-training materials, including the Gordon West/WB6NOA line of audio, video, computer software and printed study materials. Credit card orders and information from (toll free): +1 800 669-W5YI (9594). All materials are guaranteed current and shipped within 24 hours with 2-day priority delivery. They offer a special discount for instructors conducting training classes.

W5YI Amateur Radio written license exam and Morse Code training products are also available from every Radio Shack nationwide. Color photographs of the major training products are available at their Express Order or Radio Shack Unlimited desk.

THE W5YI-VEC:

Coordinates the activities of more than one thousand volunteer examining teams world-wide. The locations of test sites near you can be determined by calling +1 (817) 461-4663 anytime, including evenings and weekends. Any General, Advanced or Extra Class amateur may form their own VE team by calling +1 (817) 860-3800 during normal business hours.

All examination results are electronically filed with the FCC. Amateur radio licenses and call signs are normally issued within 48 hours of VEC receipt of the examination paperwork. New amateurs may determine their call signs by calling the FCC's toll free consumer assistance line: +1 (800) 322-1117.

I am involved in training for new and upgrading Hams, paying back for Elmering received over the years as I came into Ham Radio. I am a VE for VEC's active in local area. I am most interested in assisting young, old, and handicapped persons to discover Ham Radio. However, I want to help anyone that is committed to getting a Ham license or upgrading. I am most active on Ham satellites, mobile and fixed HF,

Digital modes and construction. I am an avid electronics constructor, repairer and experimenter. I am trying to sample all modes, bands, and interest areas. I am also skilled in Public Relations, demonstrations, and "de-mystifying."

I have been involved in Packet since 1984. I currently run a Packet BBS with the F6FBB software, as well as a number of Packet Nodes using TheNet Software. I have coordinated the Volunteer Exam Session in this area for a number of years. I operate 2 meters and HF, both CW and SSB. DX'ing and Contesting are some of my activities, along with collecting prefixes.

I have had NWS spotter training and am part of organizing the spotter network in the Siouxland area. AS the EC of Dakota county, I work with the Woodbury County, Iowa EC in the spotter effort.

During my business activity as a Systems Engineer with IBM, I have developed some expertise in PC's and have worked with the DOS, Windows and Windows 95 Operating Systems along with many Ham-related applications.

I have organized a number of Ham events such as Packet Symposiums and am the current Chairman of a Regional Ham Radio Convention.

I have a large collection technical manuals. Copies are available for the cost of duplication and postage. THIS NOT A BUSINESS. It is done as a courtesy to those needing assistance.

I lecture and conduct workshops on the subject of ElectroMagnetic Interference, primarily related to problems encountered in the Clinical (Hospital) environment. This is a program based on papers of which I am the principal author published in journals related to Biomedical Engineering. Related to this activity, I have and use signature analysis equipment and, depending on area and time, am available to assist in location and identification of sources of severe interference to radio amateur activities.

Dayton, Ohio E-mail Elmers

Sponsored by the Miami Valley (Ohio) FM Association (MVFMA):

http://www.febo.com/

The Dayton E-mail Elmers service allows new or prospective hams in Dayton and Southwestern Ohio, or even experienced amateurs who are venturing into a new aspect of the hobby, to send an E-mail request for assistance. Volunteer on-line Elmers then can provide a response in the "Elmer" tradition of mentoring new or less-experienced hams.

Today, many hams prepare for their license exams through classroom programs, and the individual Elmer's touch isn't as common as it once was. The E-mail Elmer service is an attempt to restore this long tradition. The MVFMA hopes that the initial E-mail exchange will be the start of an ongoing Elmer relationship in the best tradition of Amateur Radio."

Hams may use the E-mail Elmer service simply by sending an E-mail message to:

elmer@febo.com

and posing the ham radio question they'd like to have answered. Users will get a machine-generated confirmation, and within a few days, they will get a response from one or more of the volunteer Elmers.

For more information, or to volunteer as an E-mail Elmer, contact me at my phone number or E-mail address above.

I'm a software engineer specializing in Macintosh development, and I've been a ham since 1982. I was first licensed at age 14, and I now hold an Extra class license. My expertise is in antenna-building and theory, CW (Morse Code), DXing, SWLing, and HF operating practices in general. I also operate mobile in a '96 Ford Ranger pickup. I'd be happy to help any new or aspiring amateur radio operators.

(RAC is Canada's national amateur radio society.)

RAC World-Wide Web Page:

http://www.rac.ca/

Callsign E-mail Addresses for All Interested Canadian Amateurs

Any licensed Canadian amateur radio operator can now have an E-mail address of the form:

callsign@rac.ca

This means that you will no longer have to advise all your contacts of any new E-mail address if you change your Internet service provider. Canadian amateurs will not have to keep track of dozens or hundreds of E-mail addresses. Just remembering the callsign is all they will need.

RAC is able to offer this free service thanks to the volunteer help and support of Information Gateway Services (IGS) of Kanata, Ontario, Canada, and in particular the work of Rene Kahle, VA3RDK. Rene developed the E-mail aliasing software, and set up the server hardware (IGS also donates server space for the RAC and ARAS World-Wide Web Pages that contain much useful information for Canadian amateurs).

If you wish to obtain a callsign E-mail address, simply send a message to:

alias@rac.ca

with:

callsign = realaddress

in the BODY of the message.

For example, if my callsign was VA4KP and my real (current) E-mail address was:

ham@qsy.ca

I would put the following in the BODY of the message:

VA4KP = ham@qsy.ca

Any subsequent mail addressed to:

VA4KP@rac.ca

would be redirected by the IGS server to:

ham@qsy.ca

Of course, such mail would NOT go anywhere near RAC headquarters, nor be seen by RAC officials, nor placed in a public database that could be exploited for "junk-mail" distribution. Any E-mail addressed directly to:

ham@qsy.ca

will also be delivered as in the past without passing through the IGS server.

The E-mail aliasing service is currently set up on a trial basis. If it works well and amateurs find it useful, it will remain available for all who wish to use it.

I am a consulting engineer, which takes me to various locations. My home address is shown above and in the call book. I can answer E-mail (as everyone knows) from anywhere that I may be.

Don't know where you are going to use a old horse like myself. I am part of the old and part of the new displine. I have fabricated all my wire antennas which includes the matching device (transformer) and been building equipment for more than a quarter of a century. I also manage to repair all my equipment - when parts are available. I restore early age broadcast receivers and HF transceivers. I know the old Heathkit HW100 and HW101 very well and built a Heathkit 5400 transceiver with matching Power Supply. I have constructed many amplifiers and own a Swan, Collins (S-Line), Kenwood, Heathkit, and Johnson. I am very active in the two meter band.

In addition, I have restored many an old Coleman Lanterns (which is very enjoyable) and also have some American Gas Machine Lanterns (1930's).

To open the pages, a Packet Radio Glossary that I began writing in 1988, and updated as new mnemonics and acronyms were added to the Packet jargon, is at:

http://www.packetradio.com/glossary.htm

Next there is the "original" Packet Radio Primer for the Novice or beginning Packet Radio operator at:

http://www.packetradio.com/primer.htm

Since 1996, the TNC to Transceiver diagrams from these pages are the most used and imitated on the WWW. I maintain these drawings directly from the Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEM's) and insure they are of the latest makes and models. These interface diagrams are at:

http://www.packetradio.com/tnc2rad.htm

These interface drawings are taken from over 14 years of the PACKET USERS NOTEBOOK column in CQ Magazine. In addition, I've included many TNC and transceiver 9600 baud modifications at:

http://www.packetradio.com/9600mods.htm

I've included several zip files of the latest X-1J4 Rev C code and Packet Radio terminal programs. This site contains information and instructions that enable the reader and user to build and configure a Packet Radio network. Complete with the TNC changes and MODS plus both user level and backbone node parameter suggestions, at:

http://www.packetradio.com/network.htm

The parameters and mode guidelines are at:

http://www.packetradio.com/x1j4pram.htm

To round out these pages to be the most helpful to all Amateurs, there are pages that describe "How to...":

* Design and build antennas, complete with drawings and formulas
* Build a superb ground system for your QTH, node/repeater, or comm site
* Build a solar powered site where no utility mains are present
* A coaxial cable table for the most used Coax by Amateurs
* WX Watch and SKYWARN links
* A Packet Radio bandplan
* An online callbook lookup link
* Hamfest Calendar
* Network maps of the 11 State SEDAN emergency comm network and much, much more.

I have been a ham since 15. I have been an Extra class operator since age 17, and a VE since age 18. [_Editor's Note:_ Possibly the youngest Contact VE ever.]

I am an avid HF QRP (low power) and mobile operator. I have spent literally hundreds of hours installing my mobile station (IC-706 and Screwdriver antenna, plus more grounding straps than I can remember) in my 1995 Neon.

Most of the time I operate QRP CW mobile.

Why? It challenges my operating skills as much as possible, plus QRP is safer (RF-wise) than is 100 or 1500 watts. With the effects of RF exposure still unknown, I don't feel like exposing myself to high-power RF fields any more than necessary, and if 3 watts will do the job, so be it, I'll emit it.

In addition, people are generally amazed when you mention that not only are you running just 3 measly watts output power, and on top of that you're doing it from your car as it's zipping down the Interstate at 65 mph. They just can't believe it's possible that less power than a nightlight is bouncing off the ionosphere and ground three times, and is still able to be detected 10,000 miles away.

I'm here to tell them it is.

I enjoy building kits, and consider myself to be a good builder.

I am a fair contest operator, and enjoy 35 WPM CW ragchews as well as hunting for DX.

I moved from Laurel, MD to Eugene, OR in November, 1998. It has been strange to not hear European stations 24 hours a day, although I am getting used to hearing Japanese stations 24 hours a day. I am a member of the Valley Radio Club of Eugene, and give VE exams with the local group. In the past I have been very active with both the Laurel (Maryland) and University of Maryland Amateur Radio Clubs, and operated with both during public service events, contests, special events, and emergency operations (earthquakes, hurricanes, etc.). I have been the chief HF operator at University of Maryland HF-related events (Field Day and Sweepstakes) for the past three years.

As a Volunteer Examiner, I have conducted roughly 150 test sessions, testing at minimum a thousand applicants.

I have given Novice/Technician/General license class instruction, as well as taught a 5 WPM code class. I have been told that I have a knack for describing complex subjects in ways that make them far easier for laypeople to understand. I developed a presentation touting the best points of QRP, and made presentations at four radio clubs in Maryland, and at the QRP forum at the 1998 Dayton Hamvention. I organized the Dayton QRP banquet in 1998, and am doing the same in 1999.

Most of all, I love a good challenge, and proving I can do something I've been told is practically impossible.

For instance, would anyone believe that communicating on 20 meters over a distance of 14,000 miles from your car at 2.5 watts was possible?

My favorite aspect of amateur radio is contesting. It drives my station improvements and operating proficiency. I have played around with antennas and made various station modifications to improve my contact efficiency. Along the way I have solved some RFI problems, built many of my station accessories, installed and built some HF antennas, put up a small (40') tower, etc.

I volunteer as a RACES operator in no particular capacity. I help with a few VE test sessions a year mostly representing the ARRL VEC with the Burlington ARC team.

I work as a SRAM design/product engineer at IBM Microelectronics in Essex Junction, Vermont. I have been interested in electronics and computers since a young age, but only got my amateur radio license in 1993 as a Technician at the age of 31. I got to know the code and upgraded to Extra in February of 1994.

Recently I undertook some academic research into packet radio using KA9Q's Multiple-Access/Collision Avoidance (MACA) link-layer protocol. I attempted a literature survey as well as some software simulations of the protocol (with varying degrees of success). I would welcome any opportunities to improve on my work, find out about any actual MACA implementations, share information, and build on my bibliography (available on request). ARRL Technical Specialist

I am a pilot (N6141F) with more than 10 years as air and ground search and rescue. Active in ARES, RACES, and Civil Air Patrol (CAP West 41).

I also have a home in Alpine, Texas, USA.

I now teach classes four times a year. I do classroom work in 15 hours. I teach the Technician class using the ARRL video course.

I also do an adult class where I give them a study guide and have them get the study materials and home study for six weeks. Then I do a Saturday review, and (if needed) a Sunday review, then set up the test the next weekend.

I have information pertaining to Amateur Radio and physical disabilities or sensory impairments, such as blindness.

Visit us on the World-Wide Web:

http://www.mtn.org/handiham/

HELP WANTED: READERS NEEDED BY HANDI-HAMS

The Courage HANDI-HAM Center needs volunteer readers to record ham radio books and publications on audio tape. Volunteer readers provide a valuable service to persons with severe physical disabilities and sensory impairments who cannot use regular printed books.

Volunteers should hold an Amateur Radio license and be familiar with hobby terms and expressions. A clear speaking voice and the ability to read the written text of Amateur Radio books and describe the diagrams and pictures are essential.

HANDI-HAMS will provide a tech sheet and a sample tape to new volunteers, as well as a copy of the book to be read and cassette master tapes. Readers will need a good-quality cassette tape recorder and a quiet place to record. Some of the books we would ask readers to tape would be ARRL license manuals, special interest Amateur Radio books, and instruction manuals for radios.

This volunteer work can be done in one's own home, at one's own pace, as long as there is a quiet place to read. It is a wonderful way to share Amateur Radio with others!

I work QRP CW and enjoy wilderness backpacking. I am happy to meet beginning CW ops on the air and take some time to make QSO's. I love simple wire antennas and simple antenna tuners, and enjoy introducing others to these simple pleasures.

I have some experience troubleshooting the Kenwood TS 520, 830 and 440 radios. I also have experience with the older Ten Tec radios like the Triton IV, Corsairs and sometimes work on my OMNI VI. I am happy to help others troubleshoot the rigs, and am willing to take it slowly with beginners (and to find the answer from others when we can't figure it out!)

I am beginning to get interested in better fidelity SSB, and am learning about IF filter options for Kenwood and Ten Tec rigs. I have experience with the aftermarket Fox Tango, IRCI and now INRAD filters. I am happy to share information on these options, I currently use several.

If you are nearby, or coming through the University, stop in to visit my shack, just for fun. You might force me to clean it up, and that makes my wife, KC6TKO, very happy.

I am currently a mature student at King's College, University of Aberdeen, studying for the B.Sc. (Hons.) Computing Science. I enter the third year of this course on 25th September 1997.

I also have my own IBM compatible computer, which has a P166 processor, 32M of RAM and a total of 4.6G of hard drive space, spread between three EIDE hard drives. This computer normally runs under the Linux operating system, and I am gradually moving the above Fidonet BBS system across from MSDOS to Linux. Because of the lack of suitable software under Linux, I am writing one myself, having had 15 years experience as a professional programmer.

I am a regular participant in AuroraMUSH, a MultiUser system, and have authored several patches to the suftware controlling it. It may be visited at:

telnet://amush.cx:4190/

Status Servers:

telnet://status1.amush.cx:4191/
telnet://status2.amush.cx:4191/

I have been involved with Packet radio for over a decade now. Indeed, it was packet radio that got me interested in Amateur Radio in the first place.

I started up a mailing list connected with the Amateur Satellite world, currently using manual subscriptions. The list is:

Space.Repeater@cus.umist.ac.uk and is for the discussion of the possibility of placing an amateur band repeater or transponder in orbit around a planet other than Earth, or on the surface of one of the other planets.

I will add that, although I can claim to be something of an expert on both Linux and Packet Radio, I am definitely NOT an expert on the two together.

The Icom Q7A wins hands down. It has better audio, great sensitivity, and much better scan perfomance. Plus if you use the programming software you can listen down into the shortwave frequencies.

Good luck,
Ed

Richard Whiten alias PorkButt told us he had $3,200,000.00 so my guess is we will be reading about his court case being read by the Supreme Court any day now. Is DocHate advising him? I certainly hope so.

Al will be back, he needs a break from the Nit-Noids.

Meanwhile, Riley should try to find the "Sodimizer".

Hey, since I really need money right now I am selling the following radio and accessories as a package:

Yaesu VX-5R Tri-Band HT with VERY wide receive:

TX: 50-54 MHz, 144-148 MHz, 430-450 MHz (can be extended WAY beyond that)
RX: 0.5-15.995 MHz, 48-728.990 MHz , 800-998.990 MHz (Cellular Blocked)
AM/NFM/WFM modes selectable in ANY band
5 W Power Output (430MHz: 4.5 W)
220 Memory Channels plus Home Channels
Ten Auto-Scan Weather Channels
MIL-STD 810 Rating
Aluminum Diecast Case
AM Aircraft Receive AM Broadcast
FM Broadcast
Shortwave Broadcast
CTCSS Encode/Decode, Digital Coded Squelch (DCS)
Backlit Keypad
Auto Range Transponder System (ARTS)
8 Character Alpha Numeric Display Time Out Timer (TOT)
Dual Watch (two freqs displayed at one time)
Dot Matrix LCD
Smart Search
Spectrum Analyzer
Temperature Display Read-Out
Barometric Pressure Sensor
Automatic Power-Off (APO)
ADMS-1E Windows PC Programmable (Optional)
High-Capacity Lithium-Ion Battery 7.2V @ 1100mAh (Supplied)
Super Thin Profile/Lightweight Design
16-Digit 9-Memory DTMF Autodialer Busy Channel Lock Out (BCLO)
Innovative Multi-Section Antenna
The radio also comes with the full schematics
Warranty Card UNFILLED OUT so you can send it in and get the FULL warranty

Here's what else you get with the radio:

1. The optional SU-1 Unit which is already installed. This chip tells you your elevation and the barometer (the radio also has a tempature display.)

2. Brand new JDI Speaker/Mic (JD-3604) in the box. This is the appropriate speaker/mic for the VX-5R. It also has an extra output for an earphone.

3. Larsen Mag Mount antenna for 2m/440 (also does very well for RX out of band). I am not sure which wave lengh it is (1/4 wave, maybe?) It's about 17 inches tall and has a coil in the middle. I lost the manual so I can't tell you how many DB gain it has, but needless to say I can hit repeaters 50 miles away with it using the VX-5R @ 5 watts. This antenna has been used TWICE mobile and is in PERFECT condition. Comes with the mag mount and the coax with PL-259 on the end.

4. MFJ Telescopic 2m/440 whip. 19 inches tall when fully extended. PL-259 connection plug. Very handy when reaching those repeaters that seem to be just a bit out of range of the rubber duck.

5. SMA to BNC converter. This means you can use the VX-5R with both the telescopic antenna and the mobile antenna. Also I'll throw in a PL-259 to BNC converter.

6. SAM Amateur Radio Callsign Database CD

The radio is in LIKE NEW condition. Very rarely have I used the radio outside or in the car, so there are no scratches or marks on it AT ALL! I have the box and the receipt for it, the NC-72B charger and two manuals (the first manual had an error in it so I was sent a new copy). This is the version of the VX-5R which has the PL tone problem FIXED (right from the factory, I didn't have to send it in). This is also the one which you can mod for out of band using the software OR the hardware mod (check out <http://www.icongrp.com/~sllewd/vx5rmain.html>)

So anyway, I am looking for BEST OFFER for this entire package (US hams only, please). If interested please email me. Thanks for your time.

Interesting to note that when the knee jerk liberal jerks are on 3.950 there is NO JAMMING. However when the "Liberty net" or any of their usual members are on 3.950 then the jamming is wall to wall. WHAT'S WRONG WITH THAT PICTURE?

Here is my opinion of 3950.....If you don't like what you hear, then go somewhere else stupid.

What the hell gives you the right to tell ANYONE what they can or can't say. Read the damn constitution, if you are able to.

This government was established with a system of checks and balances.
Honest debate is not only alright, but DESIRED. Otherwise you have a DICTATORSHIP.

Oh I keep forgeting....that's exactly what you liberal fools seem to want. You just call it Clinton speak.

I'm sick and tired of all this talk about 3950. IF YOU DONT LIKE IT GO
THE HELL AWAY.

No, he didn't kick me out. I QUIT. I think chitty chitty bump bump is just on another "episode". He will get over it, or not. I dont care which. I wont be involved with a BARF of any sort, unless Im pukeing my guts out.

What gets me about these jerks is, that for me, I am able to maintain a friendship with someone that I am politically 180 degrees out of phase with. That someone is DOC. For nearly 8 years now Doc and I have gone round and round about liberal vs conservative. We still maintain a friendship.

I don't agree with a lot Herby says and does, but we maintain a friendship.

I don't agree with a lot Rich say's and does, but we maintain a friendship.

I don't like a lot of things Oris say's but we maintain a friendship.

A intelligent individual is able to discuss things rationally with someone of the opposite viewpoint. Marty is indeed intelligent, he is college educated. I am not college educated. I am a graduate of the school of hard knocks.

But I can damn well tell a backstabber when I see one. Marty qualifies.

Gentlemen:
This is a travesty and a gross insult to the marvelous Internet which allows us free expression and lack of censorship. Allow me to point out the following. Please look at the preamble of the BARF Discussion Group from which I've been tossed off.
nnouncements What's Happening
Welcome to your Better Radio Discussion Group! This group was formed for the purpose of providing a forum for controversial topics related to Amateur Radio. It is 100% free from censorship or moderation. Don't expect Martin to moderate or referee your squabbles. As a matter of fact, you can expect Martin to jump into the fray and speak his mind. Nobody is going to be run out or kicked out. Let's make this forum just like an old-fashioned New England Town Hall Meeting. If you want to shout... use CAPS!
I read where it is supposed to be 100% free of censorship and that no one will be run off or kicked out. What happpened is a violation of those precepts.
I was thrown out because my posts differed with "the party line." What "party line?" Nazi lovers! The BARF Discussion Group is the official organ of the BARF Website which is pro-Nazi and very very anti-American government. Here's the link to their disgusting homepage.<A HREF="http://www.angelfire.com/in/w9xn/">B.A.R.F. Home Page</A> Now as you peruse the materiel you will come across links to pages crammed with pro-W.W.II Germany sentiment. The same Germany that killed hundreds of thousands of our men and God knows how many Jews and dissenting Christians in extermination camps? Tanks, weaponry,air force,propagandistic books-everything to want to make a person barf.
I have a right to counter this garbage and do it right in their faces which is exactly what I did which explains why I got tossed out, meaning of course the right to post. The right to post the TRUTH!
Now let's put the shoe on the other foot. I come running to you demanding that you disallow such anti-American materiel. You would tell me that the BARF is allowed to post their garbage because the the Internet means free expression and I WOULD RECOGNIZE THAT TO BE TRUE. Even though I loathe anti-Americanism, I would put up with it because I am supposed to. I DEPLORE CENSORSHIP, period.
But what does Martin Chittum do? Just what Hitlers and Stalins and other despots have done-guarantee freedom and then destroy it.
I demand my right to free expression on the Internet. I demand my right to speak up for my countrydirectly in the faces of those demeaning her. I demand

my right to speak out AGAINST the German Wehrmacht during WWII as well as against every vestige of murder and torture attributable to it.
I implore you to leave the BARF Discussion Group and BARF website alone because I abide by basic freedoms granted in this nation as well as on the Internet. In return, I want my rights recognized as well.
And according to Chittum, I am going to be thrown off AOL for opposing anti-Americanism?
��There are, at least, ten threads in this discussion to which you could choose to respond.�Instead, you are continuing to duck the issues and carry on a hate campaign using personal attacks.�I suggest that you carefully read your AOL TOS and the Deja Newsgroup Policy. You are in danger of losing your Deja posting privileges and your account on AOL.
�
��From now on, there will be no more tolerance of your rule-breaking.�Either step up to the plate or take your personal vendetta elsewhere.�I told everyone from the onset that violations of Deja's policy would not be acceptable.�Otherwise, this discussion shall remain 100% uncensored.
�
��How about showing some respect for yourself?�Follow Deja and AOL's rules.
�
�����martin�W9XN
I rest my case and anxiously await your reply. Martin Chittum,W9XN, is a two bit dictator and crybaby. Incidentally on that BARF discussion board now are seen defamatory posts about me. Why should I not have a chance to respond.
Hello democracy. Where are you?

FCC Enforcement in Amateur Radio
MYTH or REALITY?
News Alert
NEWS ALERT would like to thank Rick Lindquist at the ARRL for publishing the W1WCR response to Riley Hollingsworth's May 7, 1999 letter. The ARRL published a summary of the letter on its ARRL News Services website in theARRL Web Extra column Enforcement News (for members only)

We here at the News Alert welcome the cooperation of the ARRL in combatting jammers who violate FCC Rules and Regulations and the civil rights of their victims. Thanks for defending our First Amendment Rights, ARRL.
ï¿½

Has the FCC re-organization of September, 1998 helped or hindered? I present Riley Hollingsworth's (FCC) letters of 7 May, 1999 and 9 July, 1999 and my comments based on actual on-the-air experiences.

ï¿½SUBJECT: Amateur Radio License W1WCR
Dear Mr. Misek:
ï¿½This letter concerns the operation of your station, along with a group of other operators informally referring to themselves as the "Liberty Net" and operating on 3.950 MHz on Saturday evenings at 10:00 p.m. Monitoring on May 1, 1999 showed your station, and members of the group for which you were acting as "net control", began operating on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress on that frequency before and at 10:00 p.m. You are reminded that Amateur frequencies are shared frequencies and the "net" has no greater rights than any other licensed operator on any given frequency. Operation of this type is considered deliberate interference and connot be tolerated on the Amateur frequencies.

ï¿½Furthermore, pursuant to Section 308(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, we are requesting that you review Section 97.1 or the Commission's rules regarding the Amateur Radio Service and explain how the operation of the "net" is justified. Congress has authorized the Commission to seek information pursuant to Section 308(b) to enable it to determine the qualifications of radio licensees or applicants. You are requested to provide this information within 20 days of the date of this letter. We are so far unable to determine how the transmissions of this group meet the standards of, or contribute to the purposes of, the allocation of frequencies for the Amateur Radio Service. Your group may wish to explore operation on the Internet, or, should the Commission authorize such services as a result of the current proceeding, a low power FM broadcast grant. We remind you that rule Rule 97.113(a)(5) prohibits communications on the Amateur frequencies that, on a regular basis, "could reasonably be furnished alternatively through other radio services." Additionally, Rule 97.113(b) prohibits broadcasting.

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license W1WCR
Dear Mr. Misek:
ï¿½On May 7, 1999, we sent a letter to you concerning the operation of your station, along with a group of other operators informally referring to themselves as the "Liberty Net" and operating on 3950 MHz (sic) on Saturday evenings at 10:00 p.m. In that letter we reminded you that amateur frequencies are shared frequencies and that regardless of content or discussion topics, the "net" has no greater rights on any given Amateur frequency than any other Amateur operator or any other Amateur net.
ï¿½Monitoring on May 1, 1999, showed that your station, and members of the group for which you were acting as "net control", began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress on that frequency before 10:00 p.m. and until 10:05 p.m. We emphasize that operation of this type would be considered deliberate interference and cannot be tolerated on the Amateur frequencies. The Commission cannot tolerate deliberate jamming among licensees, including retaliatory jamming.
ï¿½The URL site of your group, http://www.angelfire.com/ky/libertynet, appears to advertise to Shortwave listeners and to appropriate 3950 MHz (sic) for your use. We are again reminding you that all amateur frequencies are shared equally among licensees of appropriate license classes, and that Rule 97.113(b) specifically prohibits broadcasting.

My Comments about the Hollingsworth LettersW1WCR Comments on the Hollingsworth Letters
ï¿½As net control operator of the "Liberty Net", which meets Saturday evenings at 10 PM ET on or near 3950 kHz, I and those I chat with have been subjected to malicious jamming for at least seven years. This jamming is prevalent because of a nearly total lack of enforcement of the Rules and Regulations by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). My initial complaints about jamming, sent to the FCC by registered mail and by telephone to the Watch Office, date back to 1994. The Watch Office refused action based, they said, on a policy of "self policing", an undefined policy under which they referred all amateurs with complaints to the ARRL. The ARRL, when approached, claimed they had no authority to take action. Thus it was that the jammers ran wild while the victims were ping-ponged between the FCC and the ARRL. We were treated to years of chaos, jamming and slander on the h-f bands.
ï¿½In September, 1998 the FCC was re-organized to attack the jamming problem which had grown to colossal proportions. Mr. Riley Hollingsworth was placed in charge of the CIB. Much acclaim heralded his arrival because it was seen as a reversal of the longstanding and much lamented FCC policy of non-enforcement on the Amateur bands. Finally relief from the disastrous chaos was seen as a possibility. Hundreds of jamming complaints were consequently submitted to Hollingsworth and the CIB. Hollingsworth spoke before the Dayton Hamvention and received wild acclaim from an enthusiastic audience. Chilling statements were made proclaiming the ability of the FCC's vaunted computerized direction finding system which had a legendary ability to locate a jammer in milliseconds to within a few hundred feet.
ï¿½In less than two months the "Re-organization" will celebrate its Anniversary. I find it impossible to celebrate, however, because the FCC has yet to apprehend and punish a single jammer within my own operating experience in spite of the submission of dozens and dozens of jamming complaints week after week, month after month. Hollingsworth claims in his letters (to which these comments are referenced) that "The Commission cannot tolerate deliberate jamming....." This claim is, from my own actual operating experience since the inception of "re-organization", the most misleading and deceptive of the false claims in these letters. Over the past ten-and-a-half months I and others have experienced repeated, multi-source jamming consisting of white noise, music, monologue, distorted voice, filthy language, slander and rebroadcast of FM stations. Night after night the white noise jammer lurks, waiting to pick off the weaker signals so that they can't be copied. The vaunted monitoring stations can't seem to find an elephant in a tea-cup. The general character of the jamming has now shifted almost, but not entirely, to anonymous white noise and music operations. The word is out in jammer circles to use white noise because it is harder to track down.

ï¿½As if this weren't bad enough, Hollingsworth alleges that I started a net "on top of an existing communication" between un-named stations as monitored by an un-named monitor. I believe these charges to be totally without merit, since the persons in the existing communication "handed" the frequency over to me at the start of the 1 May net. Mr. Hollingsworth himself (as K4ZDH) checked onto the Liberty Net that evening and was promptly jammed and cursed by several hyper-active jammers. At that point Hollingsworth shrank away from the contact and I received the first of his letters a week later. I would like to remind Mr. Hollingsworth that this constituted willful and malicious jamming which makes his response surreal and bizarre.
ï¿½As for his instructions about "broadcasting", if it exists why not crack down on it and stop it ?
Finally, I must indicate that the URL http://www.angelfire.com/ky/libertynet is not a website owned, controlled or operated by myself. To the best of my belief it is not owned by a person who has checked into the Liberty Net. Hollingsworth should have checked the owner out before making another preposterous claim. Hollingsworth's claim that a website can appropriate Amateur radio frequencies is truly a new break-through in innovative radio law, as is the concept that he can micro-manage private websites on the Internet.
I believe I need a public apology from Riley Hollingsworth.

Bad Precedent for W1AWI have been licensed and operating as an amateur since 1946, obtaining much of my code profiency training by listening to code practice sessions on W1AW. As far back as I can remember, W1AW transmissions were made at scheduled times on scheduled frequencies simultaneously on many bands. Ongoing communications on these frequencies for the last 50+ years have been demolished when W1AW came on. No big deal! We turned the VFO dial 3 kHz or flipped sidebands and all was well. Now comes Riley Hollingsworth and declares that "operation of this type is considered deliberate interference and cannot be tolerated on the Amateur frequencies" (see May 7 Riley letter). I know of no warnings ever being sent to W1AW, neither do I expect any or wish any to be sent. In my own personal operations I have always had respect for legitimate ongoing communications and have moved frequency many times on the Liberty Net to avoid problems. Yet, if I am singled out for attack by Riley on behalf of a jammer who has been ambushing the Liberty Net with jamming, slander, tape playing and monologing for the last seven years, it is a precedent which should be reviewed with care at the ARRL.

Other Websites Discuss JammersMore information is available on other websites which deal with 3950 kHz. From these websites it is apparent that 3950 is a frequency shared by many individuals with differing viewpoints. They present a good overview of jamming problems encountered over a span of approximately seven years all the way to the current situation. I have no control over these sites, do not contribute financially to them, do not own them and have no control over their content. I cannot speak for them, although I must thank them for exercising their civic responsibilities, so I present their URL's here.

Broadcasting Defined"Broadcasting" is defined at 97.3(a)(10) as "transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed." It would seem that if there is no transmission , either direct or relayed, which is INTENDED FOR RECEPTION BY THE GENERAL PUBLIC, then there is no Broadcasting. There is no correlation in the Rules between Broadcasting and "one-way transmissions."

What's funny is how you call peole names or classify them as liberals because they disagree with you or the "so called" net, and you don't even know them.

>Interesting to note that when the knee jerk liberal jerks are on 3.950
>there is NO JAMMING. <(That's a lie. the lib nits and others are almost always in there heckling or jamming.)> However when the "Liberty net" or any of their People just seem to dislike the way the "So called" operates. They have pissed off many many amateurs over the years and it may just be, an expression of OUTRAGE.

While leading the Friday evening services, the Rabbi noticed a member of the congregation, Doc, walk
in with a St. Bernard dog. The Rabbi, horrified, asked the Cantor to continue the service and went to talk to
Doc. Rabbi: "What are doing here with a dog?"

Doc: "The dog came here to pray."

"Oh, come on." says the Rabbi. "I don't believe you.
You are just fooling around; that's not a proper thing to do in temple."

"Honest," says Doc, "Its true!"

"Ok", says the Rabbi (thinking he would call Doc's bluff), "then show me what the dog can do."

"OK" says Doc nodding to the dog...The dog proceeds to open up the barrel under his neck and removes a yarmulke, a tallis (puts them on his head) and prayer
book and actually starts saying prayers in Hebrew!
The Rabbi is so shocked he listens for a full 15 minutes.

When the Rabbi regains his composure, he is so impressed with the quality of the praying he says to Doc. "Do you think your dog would consider going to Rabbinical school????"

Doc, throwing up his hands in disgust says,
"YOU TALK TO HIM! He wants to be a dentist!"

No, he didn't kick me out. I QUIT. I think chitty chitty bump bump is just on another "episode". He will get over it, or not. I dont care which. I wont be involved with a BARF of any sort, unless Im pukeing my guts out.

What gets me about these jerks is, that for me, I am able to maintain a friendship with someone that I am politically 180 degrees out of phase with. That someone is DOC. For nearly 8 years now Doc and I have gone round and round about liberal vs conservative. We still maintain a friendship.

I don't agree with a lot Herby says and does, but we maintain a friendship.

I don't agree with a lot Rich say's and does, but we maintain a friendship.

I don't like a lot of things Oris say's but we maintain a friendship.

A intelligent individual is able to discuss things rationally with someone of the opposite viewpoint. Marty is indeed intelligent, he is college educated. I am not college educated. I am a graduate of the school of hard knocks.

But I can damn well tell a backstabber when I see one. Marty qualifies.

Roger Wideman AKA Wiseman, is a known (BY US) unidentified qrmer who has been active for the last eight years just like Charles Eartzbard, AF2Y, AKA Swartzbard, on the twenty and seventy five meter bands. AF2 Y had to stop his NAZI archives tape playing and jamming after hearing from Mr R. Hollingsworth . Roger Wideman aka Wiseman is the jammer called "Blabber Mouth" very active to this date. Prove it, POLLY. W4FQF was on 20 meters as "Polly" unidentified for years. Maybe it's because you were grandfathered from a Conditional

It is known to the amateur radio community that rileygotcha has the mental capacity of a tachyon. Polly was attending a play at a theatre, but he didn't stay for the second act of the play because it said on the program: "Act 2, two weeks later."

You mean like he caught Big AL? Or sent no less than 4 warning letters to

I AM POSTING THIS MESSAGE TO THIS NEWSGROUP AS I SEE ROLAND GETER CONDUCTING BUSINESS ON THIS NEWSGROUP. IT IS MEANT AS A WARNING TO THOSE CONSIDERING DOING BUSINESS WITH ROLAND GETER, I AM NOT LOOKING FOR FLAMES, REPLIES, ADVICE, ETC...THANKS

Hello Everyone,

On August 26, 1998, I posted a warning message about doing business with Roland S. Geter, Sr., WB6LNA. Mr. Geter posted a "wanted" message on the newsgroups in late June, 1998 for laptop computers for a "law enforcement" project. I e-mailed him about a Toshiba Pentium notebook I had for sale that was not working and needed minor repair. I specifically explained to him what was wrong with the notebook, we agreed on a price and Roland Geter agreed to pay shipping. He requested Fed Ex C.O.D. shipping, since he "did a lot of business with the shipping depot in Phoenix Arizona" and things would go a lot easier. It cost me $132.58 in shipping and C.O.D. charges to ship the package.
I shipped the package as per his specifications and request and advised him of such. When the package arrived in Arizona, Roland Geter failed to pick up the package as requested by Federal Express several times. After several days the package was returned to me less my shipping charges I had already paid.
After that, I contacted Roland Geter several times by e-mail and phone to no avail. He always told me he was sending payment but never did. I finally took further action in late August, 1998. I posted the original warning message, contacted the proper authorities and filed a formal complaint with the Maricopa County Sheriffs' Office in Arizona. Roland Geter had stated to me he was a deputy with that sheriffs' office, (which later proved to be false).
After a lot of pressure from many on the newsgroups and the sheriffs' office, Roland Geter contacted me in late September, 1998, to call a "truce" and settle our dispute. I had received several e-mails from others who had been ripped off by Roland Geter so he agreed to pay me and then "square up" with the others. At that time I also agreed to stop the pressure from the newsgroups and the sheriffs' office.
To make a long story short, to this day I still have not received my money. I have tried to contact him several times a week to no avail. The others involved also have not received payment. I made the mistake of not doing a search on Deja News about Roland Geter, if I had, I would have found many others who ended up with the same fate as I did with my business dealings with Roland Geter.
I am posting this message to warn others of Roland Geter's bad dealings, i.e. bad checks, failed payments, bad trades, etc., that he has done to many, many others and myself. Do yourself a big favor, do not deal in any way with Roland S. Geter, Sr.

Dear Friend,
This month our Search Contest is a unique one. We are looking for someone who has a clip of a "faceslapping scene" (a person slapping another person's face). If you have one and can get it on computer format (movie files: avi, mpg, mov, etc) then you've just made $250. We are willing to pay $100 for each additional clip that you immediately include. This "clip" can be a faceslapping scene from a TV show, movie, etc. The Clip(s) MUST include sound and be a girl/guy situation. Meaning it MUST be a woman faceslapping a man or a man faceslapping a woman. Clip(s) are to be sent to: imakangpeh@aol.com. E-Mail's with no file (clip) attachments will automatically be deleted. This contest ends on 9/31/99. Thank you.

Yours Truly,
Jason Fent

This is from the guy who has been harassing Intercon for more than ten years because he feels that the net is controlled by Jews for the purpose of stealing money from telephone companies while he's been convicted of telephone fraud and has been thusly disgraced on the Virgin Islands as well as on ham radio. The BARF website has chosen the perfect person as their spokesman. A two-but lying deceitful anti-Semitic crook!

"Very worrying", Colonel-General Heinz Guderian, Commander of Second Panzer Army.

"We had nothing comparable", Major-General F.W. Mellenthin, Chief of Staff of XLVIII Panzer Corps.

"The finest tank in the world", Field-Marshal Ewald von Kleist, First Panzer Army.

During World War II, German Wehrmacht and Waffen SS formations were the biggest non-Allied users of Soviet built T-34s ever. During the fighting on the Eastern Front (1941-45), Germans captured few hundred of various models of T-34 (Tridsatchedverka). Large number of T-34/76s (models A to F) was captured, contrary to only few T-34/85s captured. T-34/76s were more often captured since from 1941 until early 1943, Soviets were partially on the retreat and Germans were on the offensive. T-34/85s appeared on the battlefield in the winter of 1943/44, when Germans were already retreating westwards after successful Soviet offensives. Overall, more than three hundred captured T-34s were used in combat as late as March of 1945. Other, retired or battle damaged T-34s were used as sources of spare parts (for captured T-34, SU-85, SU-100 and SU-122) and for testing purposes or target practice as late as 1944

PzKpfw T-34 747(r) of 10th Panzer Division's 7th Panzer Regiment.

First T-34/76s entered German service as early as Summer of 1941, during the early stage of Operation Barbarossa. 1st, 8th, 10th and 11th Panzer Division, were the first Wehrmacht units which were equipped with captured T-34s. When in March 1943, SS Panzer Corps recaptured Kharkov, some fifty various T-34/76s were captured. All of those were being repaired in local tractor (tank) factory which was overrun by the Germans. Later on they were repaired (modified to German standards) and repainted (and marked) in the same factory designated - SS Panzerwerk (SS Tank Workshop). All of them entered service with 2nd SS Panzer Division "Das Reich". All T-34/76s were grouped into a special 3rd (Pz.Jag.Abt) Panzer Battalion (part of "Das Reich") exclusively equipped with captured T-34/76s. SS-Hauptscharfuhrer Emil Seibold from 3rd Panzer Battalion scored 69 kills including those on his T-34 during July and August of 1943 at Kursk. Also 3rd SS Panzer Division "Totenkopf" used captured T-34s. In the summer of 1943, few captured T-34/76s were even operated by Italian crews. In the winter of 1943/44, 20th Panzer Division (21st Panzer Abteilung) captured a large number of T-34 (model 1943) tanks which were very quickly put in service. In December of 1944, number of T-34/76s from Das Reich were handed over to 100 Ski Jager Division. In 1944, 5th SS Panzer Division "Wiking" captured first example of a newer T-34/85 during their fighting in central Poland and also pressed into service.

The Concept of Blitzkrieg
"The Lightning War"

The foundation of mobile warfare has its roots in Ancient and Medieval World. The German Army late in World War I initially developed the tactics of modern mobile warfare. Germans developed those tactics in an attempt to overcome the static trench warfare. Elite "Sturmtruppen" (Stormtroops) infantry units were created to attack enemy positions using the momentum of speed and suprise but eventually failed because of the lack of mobility. During 1920s, British military philosophers Captain Sir Basil Liddell Hart, General J.F.C. Fuller and General Martell further developed tactics of mobile warfare. All of them found tank to be an ultimate weapon able to penetrate deep into enemy territory while followed by infantry. In late 1920s and early 1930s, Charles De Gaulle, Hans von Seekt, Heinz Guderian and many others became interested in the concept of mobile warfare and tried to implement it in an organizational structure of their armies. Heinz Guderian organized Panzers into self-contained Panzer Divisions working with the close support of motorized infantry. From 1933 to 1939, Germany was on a quest to fully mechanize their army for an upcoming conflict. German High Command used Spanish Civil War (1936-38) as a testing ground for Blitzkrieg tactics, which proved to be a formidable combination of land and air action. In September of 1939, Germany invaded Poland using mechanized ground force (Wehrmacht) working with the close support of the airforce (Luftwaffe) to breakthrough and penetrate deep behind Polish lines of defense. In May of 1940, during the invasion of the Low Countries and France, the Germans once again used same tactics to shock and disorganize the defenders. From October of 1940 to March of 1941, Germans conquered Balkans using the same proven tactics. When in June of 1941, Germany invaded Russia, tactics of Blitzkrieg allowed them to reach the outskirts of Moscow in December of 1941. Tactics of Blitzkrieg were also implemented with great success by Erwin Rommel in North Africa (1941-1943). Since late 1942, outnumbered German Army was fighting a defensive war and was unable to launch any major offensives with exception of Kursk (June of 1943) and Ardennes (December of 1944) offensive. Overall, tactics of Blitzkrieg were the main contributor of early German victories (1939-1942). At the same time, potential of Blitzkrieg was fully appreciated by the Allies, who implemented its tactics on all fronts. US Army General George Patton used Blitzkrieg tactics in his European operations of 1944. After World War II, tactics of Blitzkrieg were used by Israeli forces during their numerous conflicts with Arab Nations as well as by American forces during the Operation Desert Storm. Overall tactics of Blitzkrieg are based on concentrated air and land attacks to provide a rapid and powerful punch through the enemy's lines in order to attack them from behind. Although, it is often forgotten that suprise was also very important to the success of Blitzkrieg and that is why Germany never declared war on any country that it attacked. The revolutionary tactics of Blitzkrieg formed a base for future development of weaponry and warfare.

CERTIFIED MAILï¿½RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED
Mr. John A. Abernethy
501 3rd Avenue NE
Hickory, N.C. 28601
ï¿½
Subject: Follow-up to station inspection: K4OKA
and
Notification of Modification of Station License

To Prohibit Operation Below 30 MHz for 180 Days

Dear Mr. Abernethy:
This is in response to the inspection of your Amateur radio station by Commission personnel on January 21 and 22, 1999.
The Commission conducted an inspection of your station pursuant to its enforcement responsibilities in the Amateur Radio Service and as a result of longstanding complaints from other Amateurs and from our Field Offices regarding the operation of your station. Particularly, we received numerous complaints regarding profanity, obscenity, deliberate interference and failure to properly identify.
We received complaints that you played tape recordings over the air of a song entitled "Porkbutt", for the purpose of harassment or deliberate interference, and radio direction finding bearings from our Laurel, Maryland High Frequency Direction Finding Center indicated that such transmissions were originating from your station. Finally, we received complaints that you had used the DSB with carrier and USB modes of operation on 75 Meters for the purpose of interference to communications on or near 3894.5 MHz. ï¿½
Also from our monitoring, and from conversations with you, it is apparent that you are not only seriously misinformed about the Commissionï¿½s enforcement of the prohibition against obscene or indecent Amateur radio transmissions. The Commissionï¿½s rules prohibit Amateur stations from transmitting obscene or indecent words or language. You are advised that, for indecency purposes, the Commission treats Amateur transmissions the same as commercial broadcasts. Utterances of "any obscene, indecent or profane language by means of radio communications" are prohibited by Title 18, U.S.C. Section 1464. Under the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Commission may revoke any station license for violation of Section 1464 of Title 18. See 47 U.S.C. Section 312(a)(6).
Obscene speech is not protected by the First Amendment and cannot be broadcast at any time. To be obscene, material must meet a three prong test: (1) an average person, applying contemporary community standards, must find that the material, as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest; (2) the material must depict or describe, in a patently offensive way, sexual conduct specifically defined by applicable law; and (3) the material, taken as a whole, must lack serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value. See Miller v. California, 413 U.S. 15 (1973).

The Commission defines indecency as language or material that, in context, depicts or describes, in terms patently offensive as measured by contemporary community standards, sexual or excretory activities or organs. The Supreme Court has repeatedly rejected arguments that this definition is unconstitutionally vague. See Action for Childrenï¿½s Television v. F.C.C., 58 F.3d. 654 (D.C. Cir. 1995), FCC v. Pacifica Foundation, 438 U.S. 726 (1977).
Although at the inspections we found the technical aspects of you station basically in order, we have serious concerns about a linear amplifier in use that had the capability of operation substantially above the power limits set for the Amateur Service. You are reminded of Commission rule 97.313 relating to transmitter power limits in the Amateur Radio Service.
At the inspection on the first day, January 21, we found a cassette tape at your station control desk, installed in a cassette player, containing a recording of the "Porkbutt Song". At that inspection you voluntarily destroyed the tape recording in the presence of Commission personnel.
Enclosed also is a tape recording of transmissions from your station on July 16, 1999 consisting of deliberate interference on 3.965 MHz. You were warned at the time of the station inspections about such interference on the Amateur bands. As we have discussed, such operation from your station endangers the basis and purpose of Amateur radio as a service, degrades it for other licensed operators and cannot be tolerated.
We do not intend to initiate license revocation proceedings unless we have evidence of continued violations such as those described above. However, pursuant to Section 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. Section 316, and Amateur Radio Service rule 97.27, your Amateur Radio license K4OKA is modified to prohibit, for a period of 180 days from that date of this letter, operation on HF frequencies (below 30 MHz).
In accordance with rule 97.27, you have 30 days from the date of this notice to protest this modification. Such protest should contain specific facts that you wish the Commission to consider in this matter, along with any documentation you may wish to submit.
If no protest is filed, this modification order will EXPIRE AUTOMATICALLY at midnight January 22, 1999.
Sincerely,
ï¿½

Re: Application for Technician Class Amateur License

Dear Mr. Anderson:
We have under consideration your application, dated May 2, 1999, for a new Technician Class Amateur radio licensee. The Commission is conducting an audit of the Amateur radio Service license examination session administered in Yonkers, N.Y. on May 2, 1999.
Pursuant to Section 308(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Congress has given the Commission authority to request information from licensees and applicants that the Commission needs in order to determine whether a licensee is qualified to retain a license, or whether an applicant should be granted a license.
Enclosed are color copies of the answer sheets for the examination session signed by you on May 2, 1999. We note that on the answer sheet for Element 3(A), all answers are indicated solely by a blue marker. On the answer sheet for Element 3(B), however, there are ballpoint pen marks as well as marks from a blue marker on each answer. These marks are being analyzed, but it appears that they are either on top of or underneath the ballpoint pen marks. Please provide the following information in regard to the examination you took:
1. Were you present at the examination of May 2, 1999 in Yonkers ?
2. What marks were placed on the answer sheet by you ?
3. Were there any marks on the answer sheet when it was passed out to you in at the start of the examination ?
4. State the name of the volunteer examiner who handed you the exam and answer sheet.
5. State the name of the volunteer examiner to whom you handed the answer sheet at the conclusion of the examination.
6. State in detail any discussions you had with the volunteer examiners before and after the session.
7. During the code portion of the examination, did you write down any of your code copy? If so, what did you did with those notes?
8. Did you have access to an answer template for either Element 3(A) or 3(B) before or during the examination? If so, give complete details.
This information will be used in order to determine what, if any, action to take in this matter. We have not made a finding that you engaged in misconduct.

Please furnish in writing the information requested, to the above address, within 30 days of the date of this letter. If you do not respond to this request, your application for a Technician Class license will be dismissed. You re also advised that Congress has determined that a willful misrepresentation or omission in response to letters of this type is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Application for Extra Class upgrade
ï¿½
Dear Mr. Murphy:
We have under consideration your application, dated May 2, 1999, for an upgrade to Amateur Extra Class licensee. The Commission is conducting an audit of the Amateur radio Service license examination session administered in Yonkers, N.Y. on May 2, 1999.
Pursuant to Section 308(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Congress has given the Commission authority to request information from licensees and applicants that the Commission needs in order to determine whether a licensee is qualified to retain a license, or whether an applicant should be granted a license.
Enclosed is a color copy of the answer sheet for the examination session signed by you on May 2, 1999. We note that in all but two of the 40 answers, a blue mark appears in addition to, and either on top of or underneath, what is apparently a pencil mark indicating your choice as the correct answer. Please provide the following information in regard to the examination you took:
1. What marks were placed on the answer sheet by you ?
2. Were there any marks on the answer sheet when it was passed out to you in at the start of the examination ?
3. State the name of the volunteer examiner who handed you the exam and answer sheet.
4. State the name of the volunteer examiner to whom you handed the answer sheet at the conclusion of the examination.
5. State in detail any discussions you had with the volunteer examiners before and after the session.
6. During the code portion of the examination, did you write down any of your code copy ? If so, what did you did with those notes ?
This information will be used in order to determine what, if any, action to take in this matter. We have not made a finding that you engaged in misconduct. Please furnish in writing the information requested, to the above address, within 30 days of the date of this letter. If you do not respond to this request, your application for upgrade to Extra Class will be dismissed.
You re also advised that Congress has determined that a willful misrepresentation or omission in response to letters of this type are

Notice of Requirement for Re-Testing
ï¿½
Dear Mr. Kenwood:
Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commissionï¿½s rules, 47 C.F.R. Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VEï¿½s). We are requiring you to re-take the Amateur General Class examination (Elements 1(B) or 1(C), 2, 3(A), and 3(B)), under the supervision of FCC personnel. This examination must be completed on or before July 30, 1999, at the Commissionï¿½s offices, 3777 Depot Road, Room 420, Hayward, CA 94545-2756. You must call ahead for an appointment at 510-732-1633. Please be prepared to verify your current address when you appear.
Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be given credit, and your license modified accordingly, for any elements you pass.

I am happy to see you cutting LLLLllloyd some slack. After all he can't help it if he was raised by a retarded mule in Mo. He moves off to the heart of dixie and claims to be a soldier of the south. He suck's up to the biggest biggots in amateur radio history, the BARF/Stumpers. And then claims to not hate Jews, but spew's the same day after day. It is obvious to me he is in need of a frontal lobotomy and possible a injection of air.

Roger, the boy child is obviously frustrated with his lot in life.
When all you have to do is spew idiotic statements, listen to hate shortwave and wake up night after night fearing a attack from the Janet Reno goon squad...what would you do?

RE: Warning Notice: Amateur radio license K4YE
Dear Mr. Wilson:
The Commission has information that you have been willfully and maliciously interfering with DX net operations on 14.247 MHz. This has apparently occurred as recently as July 27, on which date it occurred between 5 PM and 7 PM. Information also indicates that you deliberately interfered with a station in Iceland.
Such operation is contrary to the basis and purpose of Amateur Radio, degrades the service for legitimate communications and cannot be tolerated.
Continued instances of such operation will result in a monetary forfeiture action against you and in a revocation and suspension action against your Extra Class license before an Administrative Law Judge. Additionally, should the violations continue, we will move for an in rem seizure of your transmitting equipment through the United States Attorneyï¿½s office in Georgia.
You are requested to immediately contact me at 717-338-2502 to discuss this matter. It is our understanding that you may have some objection to the manner in which stations identify when checking into the net. Commission rules require identification of licensed call sign at certain times. How a station identifies at other times is not a concern of the Commission so long as the identification method is not deceptive. Any objections along those lines, or about the operation of the net generally, should be addressed to this office.

Who is this "Roger Wiseman" character? I seem to remember him as especially antagonistic on this newsgroup and causing far more than his share of problems, along with "CB Rambo", "Casey" in Alabama, some guy in Arizona, and assorted other misfits. Seems to me that he disappeared suddenly about a year ago. Rumor was that someone had contacted his employer and notified him/her of the offending posts. Now he appears to be back, posting on USENET from a free Juno account and DejaNews.

Interesting.

Actually, yes.

You see, what you put up that I quote is always turned into the ARRL Letter which is sent out on Friday as you know.

So, you now see, those articles inevitably end up in the public domain, transmitted over the air by packet and other means, where Part 97 and the Communications Act specifically allow myself or any other listener to reconvey, even CNN if they were bored silly.

Unless ARRL wishes to prohibit "retransmission, rebroadcast or unauthorized use" of its W1AW bulletins like a baseball game, but then I'm SURE Riley will ask that you find "other services" "more suitable" to that "activity."

You'll note I don't reprint features or reviews which are not retransmitted on ham radio.

Your case is one of ARRL trying to control the flow of information. You also walked into my "trap" as my group conveyed FCC related info to ARRL which ARRL then used, generating a stream of "ARRL is looking out for you" bullshit bulletins and ARRL did not give us credit; the truth is you often have your heads in the sand. ARRL tries to act like ham radio's NRA and thinks it knows everything going on in Washington. It doesn't.

Speed, and ease of sending. 25 wpm is about the upper limit for a much fatigue. (No, I can not do 50.)

From what I heard he _did_ offer it on load free of charge. There was a returnable deposit, which I believe is fair when lending over a medium as diverse as the Internet, and the non returnable part could be interpreted as paying for the weardown of the tool.

Has anybody had problem with the radio after using ADMS 1E? I have a problem: I have a FT-51R and a VX-5R. There are 2 particular repeaters
I can hit with the 51R but not the 5R. Both memories have the same exact setting but the 51R hits the repeater everytime and the 5R 1/3 of the time. And I've swapped antennas and that's not the problem. Both repeaters are on UHF if that helps. Is there something inherently wrong with this radio? I hear someone mention something about the oscillator going bad after using ADMS. I also heard something about one person's radio not locking on to UHF freqs. Can anyone help?

Also I heard some hams saying that the ADMS software messes up the VX-5R. Is this true? I heard that it wacks the microprocessor up among other things.
Anyone heard of this?

Mark

Not everything published on the Members Only site makes it into the ARRL Letter. Even the items that do aren't under the reuse provisions of the Letter until they are published there. Some items are also published (perhaps in abbreviated form) in W1AW bulletins, which can of course be resent.

You're welcome to post W1AW bulletins or items from the Letter. If you post items from the Members Only site you are violating the copyright, even for items that later are published in less restricted form.

Now, Polly, how utterly STUPID can you be? If I have been how

Riley,
I posted this on rec.radio as a warning to those who have made it a career to slander Ruth Hoffman as well as to jam and harass Intercon. There was no religious connotation whatsoever to my post.

Please note that Mr.Davies has no trouble spelling LOUD MOUTH JEW despite the fact that in his own QRZ profile, he doesn't know enough to capitalize his own denomination and to correctly spell his religion. And I thought in 1973, Missouri was part of the United States of America.

He also "HAVE A COLLEGE EDUCATION IN COMPUTER OPERATIONS" which incidentally was amended from the original rape of English stating "HAVE A COLLEGE EDUCATION IN COMPUTER." It's because of a numbskull like he, egged on by the well-known bigots about whom you have information, that 14.313 turned into a cauldron. Davies is a wind up toy of Schoenbohm,the Liberty Net, Martin Chittum,W9XN and his neo-Nazi BARF website. The stupid are the most easily manipulated. Therefore I reserve my right both on the Internet as well as on ham radio to not only defend myself against a person of Davies's mindset but to shread him to pieces.
I am not writing to ask for any intercession on your or anyone else's part since the Internet equates to non-censorship but if Mr. Davies ever acquires the brainpower to attain a General, which is highly unlikely, or anyone on .313 talks to me on the bigoted behalf of Mr.Davies, my thus far superlative restraints are being tossed out the window.
Respectfully submitted,

You can also get post-card stock from just about any of the office supply stores. I use The Print Shop Deluxe III which has templates for post cards. If you use a word processor you can pick up a copy of the Avery at no cost which will let you set up your printer for all of their products including the post card stock.

Although 99 percent of the cards I have received have always been in the 3.5 x 5.25 inch range I don't think there is any official size as long as they fall in the required range for post cards.

A copper tape dipole could work well, but of course it's somewhat directional. If your tail is high enough, you could do a vertical dipole, which will work well unless it's right above you.

One thing to try might be a pair of dipoles, one vert, and the other horizontal, fed with half the power each. I fly rockets, so I don't get that much of a choice. :)

Hi

Found this on the web and thought you might be interest you.

About.com, Inc., (http://About.com), the Internet guide network, has launched an all-talk Internet radio show "Talking About This Week." The show is transmitted live every Thursday from 3-4 PM (ET) (http://www.broadcast.com/shows/aboutcom/radioshow) and takes a topical look at the people, news and events around the world through the lens of various experts. Featured regularly on the show will be Keith Porter - world current events; Brenda Ross - dating advice; David Emery - net hoaxes and urban legends; and Frank Fiore expert about on-line shopping. Also featured everyweek is "Stump the Guide," where Websearch Guide Chris Sherman tackles an on-line search in real time. If he can't find the answer by the end of the hour-long show, the caller who posed the challenge wins a prize.Net Radio, Internet Broadcasting, Online News, News just an FYI... I found that I can take my finished JPEG to Kinko's where they can print it on their high-res printer on 8.5 x 11 card stock for $0.18/sheet (so about a nickel a card) B&W, or $1.74/sheet color.

.....blah, blah, blah.

Burt, you bloomin' idjit! You seem as lonesome as Senator Robert Dole. Speaking of the discipline of loneliness, your country lives in terror of Bob "Boner" Dole's awful "erectile dysfunction" commercials. If you've resisted the urge to disable your television, you've probably noticed that Boner Dole's ads aren't the only Viagra spots on the tube. You may also have noticed an interesting difference between Viagra commercials starring Boner Dole and ones starring attractive white actors. In every other commercial, men beam at their freshly fucked wives, who beam right back. These couples are shown on a beach, watching a sunset, dancing--something, you know, romantic and boner-inducing. Boner Dole, on the other hand, is shown all alone in a deserted office, looking sad and abandoned, sitting at his desk staring out a window. Part of what makes Boner Dole's Viagra ads so hard to watch is how tragic they are. Why is this poor old man taking Viagra all alone in his office? Where's Liddy? Where's Burt? Where's AF2Y? Where's Enema King W4SCO? Where's anybody?

Hey Doc, cut the boy child some slack. He obviously lives in a world of monsters and terror. Oh and BTW, the station he is calling "waiver boy" (WB3HGW) was in reality WA4HGW or something like that. Poor LLLlloyd .....now we know how credible his "reception reports" are.

It's a riot!!!

I couldn't agree more John. These guys (especially W5GI) do the very same 'audio checks' day after day and month after month. What in God's name are they trying to achieve that can't be done in one session of 'tests'. What really gets me is that for the most part I hear no difference in their 'audio' even after extensive tweaking.

I had my self recorded from on-the-air a few times about 3 years ago to see how I sounded to myself and made a few mic gain adjustments and installed a D104 and set the gain on it. I haven't touched the settings since. I get through to the DX and occasionally someone compliments me on the crisp clear audio. After all the bottom line I think is how do I sound 'to my own ear' not some other jack-leg's opinion. You can ask for 5 audio checks and probably get 5 different 'expert opinions'. I heard my own recorded transmissions and set my station's audio to please me and no one else. I did have one guy with a monitor scope check my bandwidth after I was satisfied with the settings and I was OK.

I am convinced these jokers like W5GI want to hear their own voice and badger people for compliments more than any other aspect of Ham radio. IMHO it is a total waste of a license. Thanks for your remarks John.

You could _truthfully_ admit to being a total JACKASS. Not only do you offer nothing of benefit here you spam the news group with your ignorant lengthy sig file and then this time you repeated every thing in HTLM.

A _JACKASS_ describes you quite accurately.

Actually, Jon, you're right ... to a degree. While entire pieces would be protected under Copyright laws, portions could, I believe, be legally excerpted under the "fair use" provisions of the Copyright laws, no?
(Though I think one should stil credit the source, even if that were not legally required.)

Jon,

I think your last paragraph is confusing. It seems only logical that any item from the ARRL Letter can, by definition, be re-posted, with proper source credit, even if that same material first appeared on the MO site.
And again, I believe that (reasonable) excerpts under the "fair use" provisions would also apply.

Subpart A--General Provisions

Sec. 97.1 Basis and purpose.

The rules and regulations in this part are designed to provide an amateur radio service having a fundamental purpose as expressed in the following principles:

(a) Recognition and enhancement of the value of the amateur service to the public as a voluntary noncommercial communication service, particularly with respect to providing emergency communications.
(b) Continuation and extension of the amateur's proven ability to contribute to the advancement of the radio art.
(c) Encouragement and improvement of the amateur service through rules which provide for advancing skills in both the communication and technical phases of the art.

(d) Expansion of the existing reservoir within the amateur radio service of trained operators, technicians, and electronics experts.
(e) Continuation and extension of the amateur's unique ability to enhance international goodwill.

Sec. 97.3 Definitions.

(a) The definitions of terms used in part 97 are:
(1) Amateur operator. A person holding a written authorization to be the control operator of an amateur station.
(2) Amateur radio services. The amateur service, the amateur-satellite service and the radio amateur civil emergency service.
(3) Amateur-satellite service. A radiocommunication service using stations on Earth satellites for the same purpose as those of the amateur service.
(4) Amateur service. A radiocommunication service for the purpose of self-training, intercommunication and technical investigations carried out by amateurs, that is, duly authorized persons interested in radio technique solely with a personal aim and without pecuniary interest.

(5) Amateur station. A station in an amateur radio service consisting of the apparatus necessary for carrying on radiocommunications.
(6) Automatic control. The use of devices and procedures for control

station when it is transmitting so that compliance with the FCC Rules is achieved without the control operator being present at a control point.
(7) Auxiliary station. An amateur station, other than in a message forwarding system, that is transmitting communications point-to-point within a system of cooperating amateur stations.

(8) Bandwidth. The width of a frequency band outside of which the mean power of the transmitted signal is attenuated at least 26 dB below the mean power of the transmitted signal within the band.
(9) Beacon. An amateur station transmitting communications for the purposes of observation of propagation and reception or other related experimental activities.

(10) Broadcasting. Transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed.
(11) Call sign system. The method used to select a call sign for amateur station over-the-air identification purposes. The call sign systems are:
(i) Sequential call sign system. The call sign is selected by the FCC from an alphabetized list corresponding to the geographic region of the licensee's mailing address and operator class. The call sign is shown on the license. The FCC will issue public announcements detailing the procedures of the sequential call sign system.
(ii) Vanity call sign system. The call sign is selected by the FCC from a list of call signs requested by the licensee. The call sign is shown on the license. The FCC will issue public announcements detailing the procedures of the vanity call sign system.

(iii) Special event call sign system. The call sign is selected by the station licensee from a list of call signs shown on a common data base coordinated, maintained and disseminated by the amateur station special event call sign data base coordinators. The call sign must have the single letter prefix K, N or W, followed by a single numeral 0 through 9, followed by a single letter A through W or Y or Z (for example K1A). The special event call sign is substituted for the call sign shown on the station license grant while the station is transmitting. The FCC will issue public announcements detailing the procedures of the special event call sign system.

(12) Control operator. An amateur operator designated by the licensee of a station to be responsible for the transmissions from that station to assure compliance with the FCC Rules.

(13) Control point. The location at which the control operator function is performed.
(14) CSCE. Certificate of successful completion of an examination.
(15) Earth station. An amateur station located on, or within 50 km of, the Earth's surface intended for communications with space stations or with other Earth stations by means of one or more other objects in space.

(16) EIC. Engineer in Charge of an FCC Field Facility.
(17) External RF power amplifier. A device capable of increasing power output when used in conjunction with, but not an integral part of,
a transmitter.
(18) External RF power amplifier kit. A number of electronic parts, which, when assembled, is an external RF power amplifier, even if additional parts are required to complete assembly.
(19) FAA. Federal Aviation Administration.
(20) FCC. Federal Communications Commission.
(21) Frequency coordinator. An entity, recognized in a local or regional area by amateur operators whose stations are eligible to be auxiliary or repeater stations, that recommends transmit/receive channels and associated operating and technical parameters for such stations in order to avoid or minimize potential interference.
(22) Harmful interference. Interference which endangers the functioning of a radionavigation service or of other safety services or seriously degrades, obstructs or repeatedly interrupts a radiocommunication service operating in accordance with the Radio Regulations.
(23) Indicator. Words, letters or numerals appended to and separated from the call sign during the station identification.
(24) Information bulletin. A message directed only to amateur operators

consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the amateur service.
(25) International Morse code. A dot-dash code as defined in International Telegraph and Telephone Consultative Committee (CCITT)
Recommendation F.1 (1984), Division B, I. Morse code.
(26) ITU. International Telecommunication Union.
(27) Line A. Begins at Aberdeen, WA, running by great circle arc
to the intersection of 48 deg. N, 120 deg. W, thence along parallel 48

deg.
N, to the intersection of 95 deg. W, thence by great circle arc through the southernmost point of Duluth, MN, thence by great circle arc to 45 deg. N, 85 deg. W, thence southward along meridian 85 deg. W, to its intersection with parallel 41 deg. N, thence along parallel 41 deg. N, to its intersection with meridian 82 deg. W, thence by great circle arc through the southernmost point of Bangor, ME, thence by great circle arc through the southernmost point of Searsport, ME, at which point it terminates.

(28) Local control. The use of a control operator who directly manipulates the operating adjustments in the station to achieve compliance with the FCC Rules.
(29) Message forwarding system. A group of amateur stations participating in a voluntary, cooperative, interactive arrangement where communications are sent from the control operator of an originating station to the control operator of one or more destination stations by one or more forwarding stations.

(30) National Radio Quiet Zone. The area in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia Bounded by 39 deg. 15'N on the north, 78 deg. 30'W on

the
east, 37 deg. 30' N on the south and 80 deg. 30' W on the west.
(31) Physician. For the purpose of this part, a person who is licensed to practice in a place where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC, as either a Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) or a Doctor of Osteophathy (D.O.)

(32) Question pool. All current examination questions for a designated written examination element.
(33) Question set. A series of examination on a given examination selected from the question pool.
(34) Radio Regulations. The latest ITU Radio Regulations to which the United States is a party.
(35) RACES (radio amateur civil emergency service). A radio
service
using amateur stations for civil defense communications during periods of local, regional or national civil emergencies.

(36) Remote control. The use of a control operator who indirectly manipulates the operating adjustments in the station through a control link to achieve compliance with the FCC Rules.

(37) Repeater. An amateur station that simultaneously retransmits the transmission of another amateur station on a different channel or channels.

(38) Space station. An amateur station located more than 50 km above the Earth's surface.
(39) Space telemetry. A one-way transmission from a space station of measurements made from the measuring instruments in a spacecraft, including those relating to the functioning of the spacecraft.
(40) Spurious emission. An emission, or frequencies outside the necessary bandwidth of a transmission, the level of which may be reduced without affecting the information being transmitted.
(41) Telecommand. A one-way transmission to initiate, modify, or terminate functions of a device at a distance.
(42) Telecommand station. An amateur station that transmits communications to initiate, modify or terminate functions of a space station.
(43) Telemetry. A one-way transmission of measurements at a distance from the measuring instrument.
(44) Third party communications. A message from the control operator (first party) of an amateur station to another amateur station control operator (second party) on behalf of another person (third party).
(45) VE. Volunteer examiner.
(46) VEC. Volunteer-examiner coordinator.
(b) The definitions of technical smybols used in this part are:
(1) EHF (extremely high frequency). The frequency range 30-300 GHz.
(2) HF (high frequency). The frequency range 3-30 MHz.
(3) Hz. Hertz.
(4) m. Meters.

(5) MF (medium frequency). The frequency range 300-3000 kHz.
(6) PEP (peak envelope power). The average power supplied to the antenna transmission line by a transmitter during one RF cycle at the crest of the modulation envelope taken under normal operating conditions.
(7) RF. Radio frequency.
(8) SHF (super-high frequency). The frequency range 3-30 GHz.
(9) UHF (ultra-high frequency). The frequency range 300-3000 MHz.
(10) VHF (very-high frequency). The frequency range 30-300 MHz.
(11) W. Watts.
(c) The following terms are used in this part to indicate emission types. Refer to Sec. 2.201 of the FCC Rules, Emission, modulation and transmission characteristics, for information on emission type designators.
(1) CW. International Morse code telegraphy emissions having designators with A, C, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1 as the second symbol; A or B as the third symbol; and emissions J2A and J2B.

(2) Data. Telemetry, telecommand and computer communications emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1 as the second symbol; D as the third symbol; and emission J2D.
Only a digital code of a type specifically authorized in this part may be transmitted.
(3) Image. Facsimile and television emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1, 2 or 3 as the second symbol; C or F as the third symbol; and emissions having B as the first symbol; 7, 8 or 9 as the second symbol; W as the third symbol.
(4) MCW. Tone-modulated international Morse code telegraphy emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H or R as the first symbol; 2 as the second symbol; A or B as the third symbol.
(5) Phone. Speech and other sound emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1, 2 or 3 as the second symbol; E as the third symbol. Also speech emissions having B as the first symbol; 7, 8 or 9 as the second symbol; E as the third symbol. MCW for the purpose of performing the station identification procedure, or for providing telegraphy practice interspersed with speech. Incidental tones for the purpose of selective calling or alerting or to control the level of a demodulated signal may also be considered phone.
(6) Pulse. Emissions having designators with K, L, M, P, Q, V or W as the first symbol; 0, 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9 or X as the second symbol; A, B, C, D, E, F, N, W or X as the third symbol.
(7) RTTY. Narrow-band direct-printing telegraphy emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1 as the second symbol; B as the third symbol; and emission J2B. Only a digital code of a type specifically authorized in this part may be transmitted.
(8) SS. Spread-spectrum emissions using bandwidth-expansion modulation emissions having designators with A, C, D, F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; X as the second symbol; X as the third symbol. Only a SS emission of a type specifically authorized in this part may be transmitted.
(9) Test. Emissions containing no information having the designators with N as the third symbol. Test does not include pulse emissions with no information or modulation unless pulse emissions are also authorized in the frequency band.

Sec. 97.5 Station license required.

(a) The person having physical control of the station apparatus must have been granted a station license of the type listed in paragraph (b) of this section, or hold an unexpired document of the type listed in paragraph (c) of this section, before the station may transmit on any amateur service frequency from any place that is:
(1) Within 50 km of the Earth's surface and at a place where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC;
(2) Within 50 km of the Earth's surface and aboard any vessel or craft that is documented or registered in the United States; or (3) More than 50 km above the Earth's surface aboard any craft that

documented or registered in the United States.
(b) The types of station licenses are:
(1) An operator/primary station license. One, but only one, operator/primary station license is granted to each person who is qualified to be an amateur operator. The primary station license is granted together with the amateur operator license. Except for a representative of a foreign government, any person who qualifies by examination is eligible to apply for an operator/primary station license. The operator/primary station license document is printed on FCC
Form 660.
(2) A club station license. A club station license is granted only to the person who is the license trustee designated by an officer of the club. The trustee must be a person who has been granted an Amateur Extra, Advanced, General, Technician Plus, or Technician operator license. The club must be composed of at least four persons and must have a name, a document of organization, management, and a primary purpose devoted to amateur service activities consistent with this part.

The club station license document is printed on FCC Form 660.

(3) A military recreation station license. A military recreation station license is granted only to the person who is the license custodian designated by the official in charge of the United States military recreational premises where the station is situated. The person must not be a representative of a foreign government. The person need not have been granted an amateur operator license. The military recreation station license document is printed on FCC Form 660.
(4) A RACES station license. A RACES station license is granted only to the person who is the license custodian designated by the official responsible for the governmental agency served by that civil defense organization. The custodian must be the civil defense official responsible for coordination of all civil defense activities in the area concerned. The custodian must not be a representative of a foreign government. The custodian need not have been granted an amateur operator license. The RACES station license document is printed on FCC Form 660.
(c) The types of documents are:
(1) A reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee (FCC Form 610-AL) issued to the person by the FCC.
(2) An amateur service license issued to the person by the Government of Canada. The person must be a Canadian citizen.
(d) A person who has been granted a station license of the type listed in paragraph (b) of this section, or who holds an unexpired document of the type listed in paragraph (c) of this section, is authorized to use in accordance with the FCC Rules all transmitting apparatus under the physical control of the station licensee at points where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC.

[59 FR 54831, Nov. 2, 1994, as amended at 62 FR 17567, Apr. 10, 1997]

Sec. 97.7 Control operator required.

When transmitting, each amateur station must have a control operator. The control operator must be a person who has been granted an amateur operator/primary station license, or who holds an unexpired document of the following types:
(a) A reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee (FCC Form 610-AL) issued to the person by the FCC, or
(b) An amateur service license issued to the person by the Government of Canada. The person must be a Canadian citizen.

[59 FR 54832, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.9 Operator license.

(a) The classes of amateur operator licenses are: Novice, Technician, Technician Plus (until such licenses expire, a Technician Class license granted before February 14, 1991, is considered a Technician Plus Class license), General, Advanced, and Amateur Extra. A person who has been granted an operator license is authorized to be the control operator of an amateur station with the privileges of the operator class specified on the license.
(b) A person who has been granted an operator license of Novice, Technician, Technician Plus, General, or Advanced class and who has properly submitted to the administering VEs an application document, FCC Form 610, for an operator license of a higher class, and who holds a CSCE indicating that the person has completed the necessary examinations within the previous 365 days, is authorized to exercise the rights and privileges of the higher operator class until final disposition of the application or until 365 days following the passing of the examination, whichever comes first.

[59 FR 54832, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.11 Stations aboard ships or aircraft.

(a) The installation and operation of an amateur station on a ship or aircraft must be approved by the master of the ship or pilot in command of the aircraft.

(b) The station must be separate from and independent of all other radio apparatus installed on the ship or aircraft, except a common antenna may be shared with a voluntary ship radio installation. The station's transmissions must not cause interference to any other apparatus installed on the ship or aircraft.

(c) The station must not constitute a hazard to the safety of life or property. For a station aboard an aircraft, the apparatus shall not be operated while the aircraft is operating under Instrument Flight Rules, as defined by the FAA, unless the station has been found to comply with all applicable FAA Rules.

Sec. 97.13 Restrictions on station location.

(a) Before placing an amateur station on land of environmental importance or that is significant in American history, architecture or culture, the licensee may be required to take certain actions prescribed by Sec. 1.1301-1.1319 of the FCC Rules.

(b) A station within 1600 m (1 mile) of an FCC monitoring facility must protect that facility from harmful interference. Failure to do so could result in imposition of operating restrictions upon the amateur station by an EIC pursuant to Sec. 97.121 of this part. Geographical coordinates of the facilities that require protection are listed in Sec. 0.121(c) of the FCC Rules.

(c) Before causing or allowing an amateur station to transmit from any place where the operation of the station could cause human exposure to RF electromagnetic field levels in excess of those allowed under Sec. 1.1310 of this chapter, the licensee is required to take certain actions.

(1) The licensee must perform the routine RF environmental evaluation prescribed by Sec. 1.1307(b) of this chapter, if the power of the licensee's station exceeds the limits given in the following table:

Wavelength band \1\	Evaluation required if power (watts) exceeds MF
160 m	500
HF
80 m	500
75 m	500
40 m	500
30 m	425
20 m	225
17 m	125
15 m	100
12 m	75
10 m	50
VHF (all bands)	50
UHF
70 cm	70
33 cm	150
23 cm	200
13 cm	250

SHF (all bands)..... 250
EHF (all bands)..... 250
Repeater stations (all bands)..... non-building-mounted antennas: height above ground level to lowest point of antenna 10 m and power >500 W ERP building-mounted antennas: power >500 W ERP

\1\ Power = PEP input to antenna except, for repeater stations only, power exclusion is based on ERP (effective radiated power).

(2) If the routine environmental evaluation indicates that the RF electromagnetic fields could exceed the limits contained in Sec. 1.1310 of this chapter in accessible areas, the licensee must take action to prevent human exposure to such RF electromagnetic fields. Further information on evaluating compliance with these limits can be found in the FCC's OET Bulletin 65, ``Evaluating Compliance with FCC-Specified Guidelines for Human Exposure to

Radio Frequency Electromagnetic Fields.''

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 55 FR 20398, May 16, 1990; 61 FR 41019, Aug. 7, 1996; 62 FR 47963, Sept. 12, 1997; 62 FR 49557, Sept. 22, 1997; 62 FR 61448, Nov. 18, 1997]

Sec. 97.15 Station antenna structures.

(a) Unless the amateur station license has received prior approval from the FCC, no antenna structure, including the radiating elements, tower, supports and all appurtenances, may be higher than 61 m (200 feet) above ground level at its site.

(b) Unless the amateur station licensee has received prior approval from the FCC, no antenna structure, at an airport or heliport that is available for public use and is listed in the Airport Directory of the current Airman's Information Manual or in either the Alaska or Pacific

Airman's Guide and Chart Supplement; or at an airport or heliport under construction that is the subject of a notice or proposal on file with the FAA, and except for military airports, it is clearly indicated that the airport will be available for public use; or at an airport or heliport that is operated by the armed forces of the United States; or at a place near any of these airports or heliports, may be higher than:

(1) 1 m above the airport elevation for each 100 m from the nearest runway longer than 1 km within 6.1 km of the antenna structure.
(2) 2 m above the airport elevation for each 100 m from the nearest runway shorter than 1 km within 3.1 km of the antenna structure.
(3) 4 m above the airport elevation for each 100 m from the nearest landing pad within 1.5 km of the antenna structure.
(c) An amateur station antenna structure no higher than 6.1 m (20 feet) above ground level at its site or no higher than 6.1 m above any natural object or existing manmade structure, other than an antenna structure, is exempt from the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) Further details as to whether an aeronautical study is required or if the structure must be registered, painted, or lighted are contained in part 17 of this chapter, Construction, Marking, and Lighting of Antenna Structures. To request approval to place an antenna structure higher than the limits specified in paragraphs (a), (b), and

(c) of this section, the licensee must notify the FAA using FAA Form 7460-1 and the structure owner must register the structure using FCC Form 854.
(e) Except as otherwise provided herein, a station antenna structure may be erected at heights and dimensions sufficient to accommodate amateur service communications. [State and local regulation of a station antenna structure must not preclude amateur service communications. Rather, it must reasonably accommodate such communications and must constitute the minimum practicable regulation to accomplish the state or local authority's legitimate purpose. [See PRB-1, 101 FCC 2d 952 (1985) for details.]

Sec. 97.17 Application for new license or reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee.

(a) Any qualified person is eligible to apply for an amateur service license.
(b) Each application for a new amateur service license must be made on the proper document:
(1) FCC Form 610 for a new operator/primary station license;
(2) FCC Form 610-A for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee; and
(3) FCC Form 610-B for a new amateur service club or military recreation station license.
(c) Each application for a new operator/primary station license must be submitted to the VEs administering the qualifying examination.
(d) Any eligible person may apply for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee. The application document, FCC Form 610-A, must be submitted to the FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245.
(1) The person must be a citizen of a country with which the United States has arrangements to grant reciprocal operating permits to visiting alien amateur operators is eligible to apply for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee.

[[Page 585]]

(2) The person must be a citizen of the same country that issued the amateur service license.
(3) No person who is a citizen of the United States, regardless of any other citizenship also held, is eligible for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee.

(4) No person who has been granted an amateur operator license is eligible for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee.
(e) No person shall obtain or attempt to obtain, or assist another person to obtain or attempt to obtain, an amateur service license or reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee by fraudulent means.

(f) One unique call sign will be shown on the license of each new primary, club, and military recreation station. The call sign will be selected by the sequential call sign system.
(g) Each application for a new club or military recreation station license must be submitted to the FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245. No new license for a RACES station will be issued.

[59 FR 54832, Nov. 2, 1994, as amended at 60 FR 7460, Feb. 8, 1995; 60

FR 53132, Oct. 12, 1995]

Sec. 97.19 Application for a vanity call sign.

(a) A person who has been granted an operator/primary station license or a license trustee who has been granted a club station license is eligible to make application for modification of the license, or the renewal thereof, to show a call sign selected by the vanity call sign system. RACES and military recreation stations are not eligible for a vanity call sign.

(b) Each application for a modification of an operator/primary or club station license, or the renewal thereof, to show a call sign selected by the vanity call sign system must be made on FCC Form 610-V.

The form must be submitted with the appropriate fee to the address specified in the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau Fee Filing Guide.

(c) Only unassigned call signs that are available to the sequential call sign system are available to the vanity call sign system with the following exceptions:

(1) A call sign shown on an expired license is not available to the vanity call sign system for 2 years following the expiration of the license.

(2) A call sign shown on a surrendered, revoked, set aside, cancelled, or voided license is not available to the vanity call sign system for 2 years following the date such action is taken.

(3) Except for an applicant who is the spouse, child, grandchild, stepchild, parent, grandparent, stepparent, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, or in-law, and except for an applicant who is a club station license trustee acting with the written consent of at least one relative, as listed above, of a person now deceased, the call sign shown on the license of a person now deceased is not available to the vanity call sign system for 2 years following the person's death, or for 2 years following the expiration of the license, whichever is sooner.

(d) The vanity call sign requested by an applicant must be selected from the group of call signs corresponding to the same or lower class of operator license held by the applicant as designated in the sequential call sign system.

(1) The applicant must request that the call sign shown on the current license be vacated and provide a list of up to 25 call signs in order of preference.

(2) The first assignable call sign from the applicant's list will be shown on the license grant. When none of those call signs are assignable, the call sign vacated by the applicant will be shown on the license grant.

(3) Vanity call signs will be selected from those call signs assignable at the time the application is processed by the FCC.
(4) A call sign designated under the sequential call sign system for Alaska, Hawaii, Caribbean Insular Areas, and Pacific Insular areas will be assigned only to a primary or club station whose licensee's mailing address is in the corresponding state, commonwealth, or island. This limitation does not apply to an applicant for the call sign as the spouse, child, grandchild,

[[Page 586]]

stepchild, parent, grandparent, stepparent, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, or in-law, of the former holder now deceased.

Sec. 97.21 Application for a modified or renewed license.

(a) A person who has been granted an amateur station license that has not expired:
(1) Must apply for a modification of the license as necessary to show the correct mailing address, licensee name, club name, license trustee name, or license custodian name. The application document must be submitted to: FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245.

For an operator/primary station license, the application must be made on FCC Form 610. For a club, military recreation, or RACES station license,
the application must be made on FCC Form 610-B.
(2) May apply for a modification of the license to show a higher operator class. The application must be made on FCC Form 610 and must be submitted to the VEs administering the qualifying examination.
(3) May apply for renewal of the license for another term. (The FCC
may mail to the licensee an FCC Form 610-R that may be used for this purpose.)
(i) When the license does not show a call sign selected by the vanity call sign system, the application may be made on FCC Form 610-R if it is received from the FCC. If the Form 610-R is not received from the FCC within 30 days of the expiration date of the license for an operator/primary station license, the application may be made on FCC Form 610. For a club, military recreation, or RACES station license, the application may be made on FCC Form 610-B. The application may be submitted no more than 90 days before its expiration to: FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245. When the application for renewal of the license has been received by the FCC at 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245 on or before the license expiration date, the license operating authority is continued until the final disposition of the application.

(ii) When the license shows a call sign selected by the vanity call sign system, the application must be filed as specified in Section 97.19(b). When the application has been received at the proper address specified in the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau Fee Filing Guide on or before the license expiration date, the license operating authority is continued until final disposition of the application.

(4) May apply for a modification of the license to show a different call sign selected by the sequential call sign system. The application document must be submitted to: FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245. The application must be made on FCC Form 610. This modification is not available to club, military recreation, or RACES stations.

(b) A person who had been granted an amateur station license, but the license has expired, may apply for renewal of the license for another term during a 2 year filing grace period. The application document must be received by the FCC at 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245 prior to the end of the grace period. For an operator/primary station license, the application must be made on FCC Form 610.

For a club, military recreation, or RACES station license, the application must be made on FCC Form 610-B. Unless and until the license is renewed, no privileges in this part are conferred.
(c) Each application for a modified or renewed amateur service license must be accompanied by a photocopy (or the original) of the license document unless an application for renewal using FCC Form 610-R is being made, or unless the original document has been lost, mutilated or destroyed.
(d) Unless the holder of a station license requests a change in call sign, the same call sign will be assigned to the station upon renewal or modification of a station license.

(e) A reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee cannot be renewed. A new reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee may be issued upon proper application.

Sec. 97.23 Mailing address.

(a) Each application for a license and each application for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee must show a mailing address in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the licensee or permittee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Each application for a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee must also show the permittee's mailing address in the country of citizenship.

(b) When there is a change in the mailing address for a person who has been granted an amateur operator/primary station license, the person must file a timely application for a modification of the license.

Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the person failed to provide the correct mailing address.
(c) When a person who has been granted a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee changes the mailing address where he or she can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service, the person must file an application for a new permit. Cancellation of the reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the permittee failed to provide the correct mailing address.

[59 FR 54833, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.25 License term.

(a) An amateur service license is normally granted for a 10-year term.
(b) A reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee is normally granted for a 1-year term.

[59 FR 54833, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.27 FCC modification of station license.

(a) The FCC may modify a station license, either for a limited time or for the duration of the term thereof, if it determines:
(1) That such action will promote the public interest, convenience, and necessity; or
(2) That such action will promote fuller compliance with the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, or of any treaty ratified by the United States.
(b) When the FCC makes such a determination, it will issue an order of modification. The order will not become final until the licensee is notified in writing of the proposed action and the grounds and reasons therefor. The licensee will be given reasonable opportunity of no less than 30 days to protest the modification; except that, where safety of life or property is involved, a shorter period of notice may be provided. Any protest by a licensee of an FCC order of modification will be handled in accordance with the provisions of 47 U.S.C. 316.

Sec. 97.29 Replacement license document.

Each person who has been granted an amateur station license or reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee whose original license document or permit document is lost, mutilated or destroyed must request a replacement. The request must be made to: FCC, 1270 Fairfield Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325-7245. A statement of how the document was lost, mutilated, or destroyed must be attached to the request. A replacement document must bear the same expiration date as the document that it replaces.

[59 FR 54833, Nov. 2, 1994]

Subpart B--Station Operation Standards

Sec. 97.101 General standards.

(a) In all respects not specifically covered by FCC Rules each amateur station must be operated in accordance with good engineering

good amateur practice.
(b) Each station licensee and each control operator must cooperate in selecting transmitting channels and in making the most effective use of the amateur service frequencies. No frequency will be assigned for the exclusive use of any station.

(c) At all times and on all frequencies, each control operator must give priority to stations providing

[[Page 588]]

emergency communications, except to stations transmitting communications
for training drills and tests in RACES.
(d) No amateur operator shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radio communication or signal.

Sec. 97.103 Station licensee responsibilities.

(a) The station licensee is responsible for the proper operation
of the station in accordance with the FCC Rules. When the control operator
is a different amateur operator than the station licensee, both persons are equally responsible for proper operation of the station.
(b) The station licensee must designate the station control operator. The FCC will presume that the station licensee is also the control operator, unless documentation to the contrary is in the station
records.
(c) The station licensee must make the station and the station records available for inspection upon request by an FCC representative.
When deemed necessary by an EIC to assure compliance with the FCC Rules,
the station licensee must maintain a record of station operations containing such items of information as the EIC may require in accord with Sec. 0.314(x) of the FCC Rules.

Sec. 97.105 Control operator duties.

(a) The control operator must ensure the immediate proper operation of the station, regardless of the type of control.
(b) A station may only be operated in the manner and to the extent permitted by the privileges authorized for the class of operator license

held by the control operator.

Sec. 97.107 Alien control operator privileges.

(a) The privileges available to a control operator holding an amateur service license issued by the Government of Canada are:
(1) The terms of the Convention Between the United States and Canada (TIAS No. 2508) Relating to the Operation by Citizens of Either Country of Certain Radio Equipment or Stations in the Other Country;
(2) The operating terms and conditions of the amateur service license issued by the Government of Canada; and
(3) The applicable provisions of the FCC Rules, but not to exceed the control operator privileges of an FCC-issued Amateur Extra Class operator license.
(b) The privileges available to a control operator holding an FCC-issued reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee are:
(1) The terms of the agreement between the alien's government and the United States;
(2) The operating terms and conditions of the amateur service license issued by the alien's government;
(3) The applicable provisions of the FCC Rules, but not to exceed the control operator privileges of an FCC-issued Amateur Extra Class operator license; and
(4) None, if the holder of the reciprocal permit has obtained an FCC-issued operator/primary station license.
(c) At any time the FCC may, in its discretion, modify, suspend, or cancel the amateur service privileges within or over any area where radio services are regulated by the FCC of any Canadian amateur service licensee or alien reciprocal permittee.

Sec. 97.109 Station control.

(a) Each amateur station must have at least one control point.
(b) When a station is being locally controlled, the control operator must be at the control point. Any station may be locally controlled.
(c) When a station is being remotely controlled, the control operator must be at the control point. Any station may be remotely controlled.
(d) When a station is being automatically controlled, the control operator need not be at the control point. Only stations specifically designated elsewhere in this part may be automatically controlled. Automatic control must cease upon notification by an EIC that the station is transmitting improperly or causing harmful interference to other stations. Automatic control must not be resumed without prior approval of the EIC.

(e) No station may be automatically controlled while transmitting third party communications, except a station transmitting a RTTY or data emission. All messages that are retransmitted must originate at a station that is being locally or remotely controlled.

[54 FR 39535, Sept. 27, 1989, as amended at 60 FR 26001, May 16, 1995]

Sec. 97.111 Authorized transmissions.

(a) An amateur station may transmit the following types of two-way

communications:
(1) Transmissions necessary to exchange messages with other stations
in the amateur service, except those in any country whose administration has given notice that it objects to such communications. The FCC will issue public notices of current arrangements for international communications;
(2) Transmissions necessary to exchange messages with a station in another FCC-regulated service while providing emergency

communications;
(3) Transmissions necessary to exchange messages with a United States government station, necessary to providing communications in RACES; and
(4) Transmissions necessary to exchange messages with a station in a service not regulated by the FCC, but authorized by the FCC to communicate with amateur stations. An amateur station may exchange messages with a participating United States military station during an Armed Forces Day Communications Test.

(b) In addition to one-way transmissions specifically authorized elsewhere in this part, an amateur station may transmit the following types of one-way communications:
(1) Brief transmissions necessary to make adjustments to the station;
(2) Brief transmissions necessary to establishing two-way communications with other stations;
(3) Telecommand;
(4) Transmissions necessary to providing emergency communications;
(5) Transmissions necessary to assisting persons learning, or improving proficiency in, the international Morse code; and
(6) Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins.
(7) Transmissions of telemetry.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 56 FR 56171, Nov. 1, 1991]

Sec. 97.113 Prohibited transmissions.

(a) No amateur station shall transmit:
(1) Communications specifically prohibited elsewhere in this part;
(2) Communications for hire or for material compensation, direct or indirect, paid or promised, except as otherwise provided in these rules;

(3) Communications in which the station licensee or control operator
has a pecuniary interest, including communications on behalf of an employer. Amateur operators may, however, notify other amateur operators
of the availability for sale or trade of apparatus normally used in an amateur station, provided that such activity is not conducted on a regular basis;

(4) Music using a phone emission except as specifically provided elsewhere in this section; communications intended to facilitate a criminal act; messages in codes or ciphers intended to obscure the meaning thereof, except as otherwise provided herein; obscene or indecent words or language; or false or deceptive messages, signals or identification;

(5) Communications, on a regular basis, which could reasonably be furnished alternatively through other radio services.
(b) An amateur station shall not engage in any form of broadcasting, nor may an amateur station transmit one-way communications except as specifically provided in these rules; nor shall an amateur station engage in any activity related to program production or news gathering for broadcasting purposes, except that communications directly related to the immediate safety of human life or the protection of property may be provided by amateur stations to broadcasters for dissemination to

the public where no other means of communication is reasonably available before or at the time of the event.
(c) A control operator may accept compensation as an incident of a teaching position during periods of time when an amateur station is used by that teacher as a part of classroom instruction at an educational institution.

(d) The control operator of a club station may accept compensation for the periods of time when the station is transmitting telegraphy practice or information bulletins, provided that the station transmits such telegraphy practice and bulletins for at least 40 hours per week;

schedules operations on at least six amateur service MF and HF bands using reasonable measures to maximize coverage; where the schedule of normal operating times and frequencies is published at least 30 days in advance of the actual transmissions; and where the control operator does not accept any direct or indirect compensation for any other service as a control operator.

(e) No station shall retransmit programs or signals emanating from any type of radio station other than an amateur station, except propagation and weather forecast information intended for use by the general public and originated from United States Government stations and communications, including incidental music, originating on United States Government frequencies between a space shuttle and its associated Earth stations. Prior approval for shuttle retransmissions must be obtained from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Such retransmissions must be for the exclusive use of amateur operators. Propagation, weather forecasts, and shuttle retransmissions may not be conducted on a regular basis, but only occasionally, as an incident of normal amateur radio communications.
(f) No amateur station, except an auxiliary, repeater, or space station, may automatically retransmit the radio signals of other amateur station.

[58 FR 43072, Aug. 13, 1993; 58 FR 47219, Sept. 8, 1993]

Sec. 97.115 Third party communications.

(a) An amateur station may transmit messages for a third party to:
(1) Any station within the jurisdiction of the United States.
(2) Any station within the jurisdiction of any foreign government whose administration has made arrangements with the United States to allow amateur stations to be used for transmitting international communications on behalf of third parties. No station shall transmit messages for a third party to any station within the jurisdiction of any foreign government whose administration has not made such an arrangement. This prohibition does not apply to a message for any third party who is eligible to be a control operator of the station.
(b) The third party may participate in stating the message where:
(1) The control operator is present at the control point and is continuously monitoring and supervising the third party's participation; and
(2) The third party is not a prior amateur service licensee whose license was revoked; suspended for less than the balance of the license term and the suspension is still in effect; suspended for the balance of the license term and relicensing has not taken place; or surrendered for cancellation following notice of revocation, suspension or monetary forfeiture proceedings. The third party may not be the subject of a cease and desist order which relates to amateur service operation and which is still in effect.

(c) At the end of an exchange of international third party communications, the station must also transmit in the station identification procedure the call sign of the station with which a third party message was exchanged.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989; 54 FR 39535, Sept. 27, 1989]

Sec. 97.117 International communications.

Transmissions to a different country, where permitted, shall be made in plain language and shall be limited to messages of a technical nature relating to tests, and, to remarks of a personal character for which, by reason of their unimportance, recourse to the public telecommunications service is not justified.

Sec. 97.119 Station identification.

(a) Each amateur station, except a space station or telecommand station, must transmit its assigned call sign on its transmitting channel at the end of each communication, and at least every 10 minutes during a communication, for the purpose of clearly making the source of the transmissions from the station known to those receiving the transmissions. No station may transmit unidentified communications or signals, or transmit as the station call sign, any call sign not authorized to the station.

(b) The call sign must be transmitted with an emission authorized for the transmitting channel in one of the following ways:
(1) By a CW emission. When keyed by an automatic device used only for identification, the speed must not exceed 20 words per minute;
(2) By a phone emission in the English language. Use of a phonetic alphabet as an aid for correct station identification is encouraged;

(3) By a RTTY emission using a specified digital code when all or part of the communications are transmitted by a RTTY or data emission;
(4) By an image emission conforming to the applicable transmission standards, either color or monochrome, of Sec. 73.682(a) of the FCC Rules when all or part of the communications are transmitted in the same image emission; or
(5) By a CW or phone emission during SS emission transmission on a narrow bandwidth frequency segment. Alternatively, by the changing of one or more parameters of the emission so that a conventional CW or phone emission receiver can be used to determine the station call sign.
(c) One or more indicators may be included with the call sign. Each indicator must be separated from the call sign by the slant mark (/) or by any suitable word that denotes the slant mark. If an indicator is self-assigned, it must be included before, after, or both before and after, the call sign. No self-assigned indicator may conflict with any other indicator specified by the FCC Rules or with any prefix assigned to another country.
(d) When transmitting in conjunction with an event of special significance, a station may substitute for its assigned call sign a special event call sign as shown for that station for that period of time on the common data base coordinated, maintained and disseminated by the special event call sign data base coordinators. Additionally, the station must transmit its assigned call sign at least once per hour during such transmissions.
(e) When the operator license class held by the control operator exceeds that of the station licensee, an indicator consisting of the call sign assigned to the control operator's station must be included after the call sign.
(f) When the control operator is a person who is exercising the rights and privileges authorized by Sec. 97.9(b) of this part, an indicator must be included after the call sign as follows:
(1) For a control operator who has requested a license modification from Novice Class to Technical Class: KT;
(2) For a control operator who has requested a license modification from Novice or Technical Class to General Class: AG;
(3) For a control operator who has requested a license modification from Novice, Technician, or General Class operator to Advanced Class: AA; or
(4) For a control operator who has requested a license modification from Novice, Technician, General, or Advanced Class operator to Amateur

Extra Class: AE.
(g) When the station is transmitting under the authority of a reciprocal permit for alien amateur licensee, an indicator consisting
of
the appropriate letter-numeral designating the station location must be included before the call sign issued to the station by the licensing country. When the station is transmitting under the authority of an amateur service license issued by the Government of Canada, a station location indicator must be included after the call sign. At least once during each intercommunication, the identification announcement must include the geographical location as nearly as possible by city and state, commonwealth or possession.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 54 FR 39535, Sept. 27, 1989;
55 FR 30457, July 26, 1990; 56 FR 28, Jan. 2, 1991; 62 FR 17567, Apr.

Sec. 97.121 Restricted operation.

(a) If the operation of an amateur station causes general interference to the reception of transmissions from stations operating in the domestic broadcast service when receivers of good engineering design, including adequate selectivity characteristics, are used to receive such transmissions, and

this fact is made known to the amateur station licensee, the amateur station shall not be operated during the hours from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., local time, and on Sunday for the additional period from 10:30 a.m. until 1 p.m., local time, upon the frequency or frequencies used when the interference is created.
(b) In general, such steps as may be necessary to minimize interference to stations operating in other services may be required after investigation by the FCC.

Subpart C--Special Operations

Sec. 97.201 Auxiliary station.

(a) Any amateur station licensed to a holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class operator license may be an auxiliary station. A holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class operator license may be the control operator of an auxiliary station, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held.

(b) An auxiliary station may transmit only on the 1.25 m and shorter wavelength bands, except the 219-220 MHz, 222.000-222.150 MHz, 431-433 MHz, and 435-438 MHz segments.
(c) Where an auxiliary station causes harmful interference to another auxiliary station, the licensees are equally and fully responsible for resolving the interference unless one station's operation is recommended by a frequency coordinator and the other station's is not. In that case, the licensee of the non-coordinated auxiliary station has primary responsibilty to resolve the interference.
(d) An auxiliary station may be automatically controlled.
(e) An auxiliary station may transmit one-way communications.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 56 FR 56171, Nov. 1, 1991; 60 FR 15687, Mar. 27, 1995]

Sec. 97.203 Beacon station.

(a) Any amateur station licensed to a holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class operator license may be a beacon. A holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class operator license may be the control operator of a beacon, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held.
(b) A beacon must not concurrently transmit on more than 1 channel in the same amateur service frequency band, from the same station location.
(c) The transmitter power of a beacon must not exceed 100 W.
(d) A beacon may be automatically controlled while it is transmitting on the 28.20-28.30 MHz, 50.06-50.08 MHz, 144.275-144.300 MHz, 222.05-222.06 MHz or 432.300-432.400 MHz segments, or on the 33 cm and shorter wavelength bands.
(e) Before establishing an automatically controlled beacon in the National Radio Quiet Zone or before changing the transmitting frequency, transmitter power, antenna height or directivity, the station licensee must give written notification thereof to the Interference Office, National Radio Astronomy Observatory, P.O. Box 2, Green Bank, WV 24944.
(1) The notification must include the geographical coordinates of the antenna, antenna ground elevation above mean sea level (AMSL), antenna center of radiation above ground level (AGL), antenna directivity, proposed frequency, type of emission, and transmitter power.
(2) If an objection to the proposed operation is received by the FCC

from the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, Pocahontas County, WV, for itself or on behalf of the Naval Research Laboratory at Sugar Grove, Pendleton County, WV, within 20 days from the date of notification, the FCC will consider all aspects of the problem and take whatever action is deemed appropriate.
(f) A beacon must cease transmissions upon notification by an EIC that the station is operating improperly or causing undue interference to other operations. The beacon may not resume transmitting without prior approval of the EIC.

(g) A beacon may transmit one-way communications.
(h) The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to repeaters that transmit on the 1.2 cm or shorter wavelength bands. Before establishing a repeater within 16 km (10 miles) of the Arecibo Observatory or before changing the

transmitting frequency, transmitter power, antenna height or directivity of an existing repeater, the station licensee must give notification thereof at least 20 days in advance of planned operation to the Interference Office, Arecibo Observatory, Post Office Box 995, Arecibo, Puerto Rico 00613, in writing or electronically, of the technical parameters of the proposal. Licensees who choose to transmit information electronically should e-mail to: prcz@naic.edu
(1) The notification shall state the geographical coordinates of the antenna (NAD-83 datum), antenna height above mean sea level (AMSL), antenna center of radiation above ground level (AGL), antenna directivity and gain, proposed frequency and FCC Rule Part, type of emission, effective radiated power, and whether the proposed use is itinerant. Licensees may wish to consult interference guidelines provided by Cornell University.
(2) If an objection to the proposed operation is received by the FCC from the Arecibo Observatory, Arecibo, Puerto Rico, within 20 days from the date of notification, the FCC will consider all aspects of the problem and take whatever action is deemed appropriate. The licensee will be required to make reasonable efforts in order to resolve or mitigate any potential interference problem with the Arecibo Observatory.

Sec. 97.205 Repeater station.

(a) Any amateur station licensed to a holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class operator license may be a repeater. A holder of a Technician, General, Advanced or Amateur Extra

Class operator license may be the control operator of a repeater, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held.
(b) A repeater may receive and retransmit only on the 10 m and shorter wavelength frequency bands except the 28.0-29.5 MHz, 50.0-51.0

MHz, 144.0-144.5 MHz, 145.5-146.0 MHz, 222.00-222.15 MHz, 431.0-433.0 Mhz, and 435.0-438.0 Mhz segments.
(c) Where the transmissions of a repeater cause harmful interference to another repeater, the two station licensees are equally and fully responsible for resolving the interference unless the operation of one station is recommended by a frequency coordinator and the operation of the other station is not. In that case, the licensee of the non-coordinated repeater has primary responsibility to resolve the interference.

(d) A repeater may be automatically controlled.
(e) Ancillary functions of a repeater that are available to users on the input channel are not considered remotely controlled functions of the station. Limiting the use of a repeater to only certain user stations is permissible.
(f) Before establishing a repeater in the National Radio Quiet Zone or before changing the transmitting frequency, tramsitter power, antenna height or directivity, or the location of an existing repeater, the station licensee must give written notification thereof to the Interference Office, National Radio Astronomy Observatory, P.O. Box 2, Green Bank, WV 24944.

(1) The notification must include the geographical coordinates of the station antenna, antenna ground elevation above mean sea level (AMSL), antenna center of radiation above ground level (AGL), antenna directivity, proposed frequency, type of emission, and transmitter power.
(2) If an objection to the proposed operation is received by the FCC
from the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, Pocahontas County, WV, for itself or on behalf of the Naval Research Laboratory

at Sugar Grove, Pendleton County, WV, within 20 days from the date of notification, the FCC will consider all aspects of the problem and take whatever action is deemed appropriate.
(g) The control operator of a repeater that retransmits inadvertently communications that violate the rules in this part is not accountable for the violative communications.
(h) The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to repeaters that transmit on the 1.2 cm or shorter wavelength bands. Before establishing a repeater within 16 km (10 miles) of the Arecibo

Observatory or before changing the transmitting frequency, transmitter power, antenna height or directivity of an existing repeater, the station licensee must give notification thereof at least 20 days in advance of planned operation to the Interference Office, Arecibo Observatory, Post Office Box 995, Arecibo, Puerto Rico 00613, in writing or electronically, of the technical parameters of the proposal. Licensees who choose to transmit information electronically should e-mail to: prcz@naic.edu

(1) The notification shall state the geographical coordinates of the antenna (NAD-83 datum), antenna height above mean sea level (AMSL), antenna center of radiation above ground level (AGL), antenna directivity and gain, proposed frequency and FCC Rule Part, type of emission, effective radiated power, and whether the proposed use is itinerant. Licensees may wish to consult interference guidelines provided by Cornell University.
(2) If an objection to the proposed operation is received by the FCC
from the Arecibo Observatory, Arecibo, Puerto Rico, within 20 days from the date of notification, the FCC will consider all aspects of the problem and take whatever action is deemed appropriate. The licensee will be required to make reasonable efforts in order to resolve or mitigate any potential interference problem with the Arecibo Observatory.

Sec. 97.207 Space station.

(a) Any amateur station may be a space station. A holder of any class operator license may be the control operator of a space station, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held by the control operator.
(b) A space station must be capable of effecting a cessation of transmissions by telecommand whenever such cessation is ordered by the FCC.
(c) The following frequency bands and segments are authorized to space stations:
(1) The 17 m, 15 m, 12 m, and 10 m bands, 6 mm, 4 mm, 2 mm and 1 mm bands; and
(2) The 7.0-7.1 MHz, 14.00-14.25 MHz, 144-146 MHz, 435-438 MHz, 1260-1270 MHz, and 2400-2450 MHz, 3.40-3.41 GHz, 5.83-5.85 GHz, 10.45-10.50 GHz, and 24.00-24.05 GHz segments.
(d) A space station may automatically retransmit the radio signals of Earth stations and other space stations.
(e) A space station may transmit one-way communications.
(f) Space telemetry transmissions may consist of specially coded messages intended to facilitate communications or related to the function of the spacecraft.
(g) The licensee of each space station must give two written, pre-space station notifications to the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, FCC, Washington, DC 20554. Each notification must be in accord with the provisions of Articles 11 and 13 of the Radio Regulations.
(1) The first notification is required no less than 27 months prior to initiating space station transmissions and must specify the information required by Appendix 4 and Resolution No. 642 of the Radio Regulations.
(2) The second notification is required no less than 5 months prior to initiating space station transmissions and must specify the information required by Appendix 3 and Resolution No. 642 of the Radio Regulations.
(h) The licensee of each space station must give a written, in-space station notification to the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, FCC, Washington, DC 20554, no later than 7 days following imitation of space station transmissions. The notification must update the information contained in the pre-space notification.
(i) The licensee of each space station must give a written, post-space notification to the Wireless Telecommuncations Bureau, FCC, Washington, DC 20554, no later than 3 months after termination of the space

Sec. 97.209 Earth station.

(a) Any amateur station may be an Earth station. A holder of any class operator license may be the control operator of an Earth station, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held by the control operator.

(b) The following frequency bands and segments are authorized to Earth stations:
(1) The 17 m, 15 m, 12 m, and 10 m bands, 6 mm, 4 mm, 2 mm and 1 mm bands; and
(2) The 7.0-7.1 MHz, 14.00-14.25 MHz, 144-146 MHz, 435-438 MHz, 1260-1270 MHz and 2400-2450 MHz, 3.40-3.41 GHz, 5.65-5.67 GHz, 10.45-10.50 GHz and 24.00-24.05 GHz segments.

Sec. 97.211 Space telecommand station.

(a) Any amateur station designated by the licensee of a space station is eligible to transmit as a telecommand station for that space station, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held by the control operator.
(b) A telecommand station may transmit special codes intended to obscure the meaning of telecommand messages to the station in space operation.
(c) The following frequency bands and segments are authorized to telecommand stations:
(1) The 17 m, 15 m, 12 m and 10 m bands, 6 mm, 4 mm, 2 mm and 1 mm

bands; and
(2) The 7.0-7.1 MHz, 14.00-14.25 MHz, 144-146 MHz, 435-438 MHz, 1260-1270 MHz and 2400-2450 MHz, 3.40-3.41 GHz, 5.65-5.67 GHz, 10.45-10.50 GHz and 24.00-24.05 GHz segments.
(d) A telecommand station may transmit one-way communications.

Sec. 97.213 Telecommand of an amateur station.

An amateur station on or within 50 km of the Earth's surface may be under telecommand where:
(a) There is a radio or wireline control link between the control point and the station sufficient for the control operator to perform his/her duties. If radio, the control link must use an auxiliary station. A control link using a fiber optic cable or another telecommunication service is considered wireline.
(b) Provisions are incorporated to limit transmission by the station to a period of no more than 3 minutes in the event of malfunction in the control link.
(c) The station is protected against making, willfully or negligently, unauthorized transmissions.
(d) A photocopy of the station license and a label with the name, address, and telephone number of the station licensee and at least one designated control operator is posted in a conspicuous place at the station location.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 56 FR 56171, Nov. 1, 1991]

Sec. 97.215 Telecommand of model craft.

An amateur station transmitting signals to control a model craft may be operated as follows:
(a) The station identification procedure is not required for transmissions directed only to the model craft, provided that a label indicating the station call sign and the station licensee's name and address is affixed to the station transmitter.
(b) The control signals are not considered codes or ciphers intended to obscure the meaning of the communication.
(c) The transmitter power must not exceed 1 W.

Sec. 97.217 Telemetry.

Telemetry transmitted by an amateur station on or within 50 km of the Earth's surface is not considered to be codes or ciphers intended to obscure the meaning of communications.

[56 FR 56172, Nov. 1, 1991. Redesignated at 59 FR 18975, Apr. 21, 1994]

Sec. 97.219 Message forwarding system.

(a) Any amateur station may participate in a message forwarding system, subject to the privileges of the class of operator license held.
(b) For stations participating in a message forwarding system, the control operator of the station originating a message is primarily accountable for any violation of the rules in this part contained in the message.
(c) Except as noted in (d) of this section, for stations participating in a message forwarding system, the control operators of forwarding stations that retransmit inadvertently communications that violate the rules in this part are not accountable for the violative communications. They are, however, responsible for discontinuing such communications once they become aware of their presence.
(d) For stations participating in a message forwarding system, the control operator of the first forwarding station must:
(1) Authenticate the identity of the station from which it accepts communications on behalf of the system; or
(2) Accept accountability for any violation of the rules in this part contained in messages it retransmits to the system.

[59 FR 18975, Apr. 21, 1994]

Sec. 97.221 Automatically controlled digital station.

(a) This rule section does not apply to an auxiliary station, a beacon station, a repeater station, an earth station, a space station, or a space telecommand station.
(b) A station may be automatically controlled while transmitting a RTTY or data emission on the 6 m or shorter wavelength bands, and on the 28.120-28.189 MHz, 24.925-24.930 MHz, 21.090-21.100 MHz, 18.105-18.110 MHz, 14.0950-14.0995 MHz, 14.1005-14.112 MHz, 10.140-10.150 MHz, 7.100-7.105 MHz, or 3.620-3.635 MHz segments.
(c) A station may be automatically controlled while transmitting a RTTY or data emission on any other frequency authorized for such emission types provided that:
(1) The station is responding to interrogation by a station under local or remote control; and
(2) No transmission from the automatically controlled station occupies a bandwidth of more than 500 Hz.

Sec. 97.303 Frequency sharing requirements.

The following is a summary of the frequency sharing requirements that apply to amateur station transmissions on the frequency bands specified in Sec. 97.301 of this part. (For each ITU Region, each frequency band allocated to the amateur service is designated as either a secondary service or a primary service. A station in a secondary service must not cause harmful interference to, and must accept interference from, stations in a primary service. See Secs. 2.105 and 2.106 of the FCC Rules, United States Table of Frequency Allocations for complete requirements.)

(a) Where, in adjacent ITU Regions or Subregions, a band of frequencies is allocated to different services of the same category, the basic principle is the equality of right to operate. The stations of each service in one region must operate so as not to cause harmful interference to services in the other Regions or Subregions. (See ITU Radio Regulations, No. 346 (Geneva, 1979).)

(b) No amateur station transmitting in the 1900-2000 kHz segment, the 70 cm band, the 33 cm band, the 13 cm band, the 9 cm band, the 5 cm band, the 3 cm band, the 24.05-24.25 GHz segment, the 77.0-77.5 GHz segment, the 78-81 GHz segment, the 144-149 GHz segment, and the 241-248 GHz segment shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, the Government radiolocation service.

(c) No amateur station transmitting in the 1900-2000 kHz segment, the 3 cm band, the 77.0-77.5 GHz segment, the 78-81 GHz segment, the 144-149 GHz segment, and the 241-248 GHz segment shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations in the non-Government radiolocation service.

(d) No amateur station transmitting in the 30 meter band shall cause

harmful interference to stations authorized by other nations in the fixed service. The licensee of the amateur station must make all necessary adjustments, including termination of transmissions, if harmful interference is caused.
(e) In the 1.25 m band:
(1) Use of the 219-220 MHz segment is limited to amateur stations participating, as forwarding stations, in point-to-point fixed digital message forwarding systems, including intercity packet backbone networks. It is not available for other purposes.

(2) No amateur station transmitting in the 219-220 MHz segment shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due
to operation of Automated Maritime Telecommunications Systems (AMTS), television broadcasting on channels 11 and 13, Interactive Video and Data Service systems, Land Mobile Services systems, or any other service
having a primary allocation in or adjacent to the band.
(3) No amateur station may transmit in the 219-220 MHz segment unless the licensee has given written notification of the station's specific geographic location for such transmissions in order to be incorporated into a data base that has been made available to the public. The notification must be given at least 30 days prior to making such transmissions. The notification must be given to: The American Radio Relay, Inc., 225 Main Street, Newington, CT 06111-1494.
(4) No amateur station may transmit in the 219-220 MHz segment
from a location that is within 640 km of an AMTS Coast Station that uses frequencies in the 217-218/219-220 MHz AMTS bands unless the amateur station licensee has given written notification of the station's specific geographic location for such transmissions to the AMTS licensee. The notification must be given at least 30 days prior to making such transmissions. The location of AMTS Coast Stations using
the 217-218/219-220 MHz channels may be obtained from either:

The American Radio Relay League, Inc., 225 Main Street, Newington, CT 06111-1494;

or

Interactive Systems, Inc., Suite 1103, 1601 North Kent Street, Arlington, VA 22209; Fax: (703) 812-8275; Phone: (703) 812-8270.

(5) No amateur station may transmit in the 219-220 MHz segment
from a location that is within 80 km of an AMTS Coast Station that uses frequencies in the 217-218/219-220 MHz

AMTS bands unless that amateur station licensee holds written approval from that AMTS licensee. The location of AMTS Coast Stations using the 217-218/219-220 MHz channels may be obtained as noted in paragraph (e)(4) of this section.

(f) In the 70 cm band:

(1) No amateur station shall transmit from north of Line A in the 420-430 MHz segment.

(2) The 420-430 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service in the United States on a secondary basis, and is allocated in the fixed and mobile (except aeronautical mobile) services in the International Table of allocations on a primary basis. No amateur station transmitting in this band shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed and mobile (except aeronautical mobile) services.

(3) The 430-440 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a secondary basis in ITU Regions 2 and 3. No amateur station transmitting in this band in ITU Regions 2 and 3 shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the radiolocation service. In ITU Region 1, the 430-440 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a co-primary basis with the radiolocation service. As between these two services in this band in ITU Region 1, the basic principle that applies is the equality of right to operate. Amateur stations authorized by the United States and radiolocation stations authorized by other nations in ITU Region 1 shall operate so as not to cause harmful interference to each other.

(4) No amateur station transmitting in the 449.75-450.25 MHz segment shall cause interference to, nor is protected from itnerference due to the operation of stations in, the space operation service and the space research service or Government or non-Government stations for space telecommand.

(g) In the 33 cm band:

(1) No amateur station shall transmit from within the States of Colorado and Wyoming, bounded on the south by latitude 39 deg. N., on the north by latitude 42 deg. N., on the east by longitude 105 deg.

W., and on the west by longitude 108 deg. W. This band is allocated on a secondary basis to the amateur service subject to not causing harmful interference to, and not receiving protection from any interference due to the operation of, industrial, scientific and medical devices, automatic vehicle monitoring systems or Government stations authorized in this band.

(2) No amateur station shall transmit from those portions of the States of Texas and New Mexico bounded on the south by latitude 31 deg.41' N., on the north by latitude 34 deg.30' N., on the east by longitude 104 deg.11' W., and on the west by longitude 107 deg.30' W.
(h) No amateur station transmitting in the 23 cm band, the 3 cm band, the 24.05-24.25 GHz segment, the 77-77.5 GHz segment, the 78-81 GHz segment, the 144-149 GHz segment, and the 241-248 GHz segment
shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due
to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the radiolocation service.
(i) In the 1240-1260 MHz segment, no amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations in the radionavigation-satellite service, the aeronautical radionavigation service, or the radiolocation service.

(j) In the 13 cm band:
(1) The amateur service is allocated on a secondary basis in all
ITU
Regions. In ITU Region 1, no amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, and shall be not protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed and mobile services. In ITU Regions 2 and 3, no amateur station shall cause
harmful interference to, and shall not be protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed, mobile and radiolocation services.
(2) In the United States:
(i) The 2300-2305 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service
on a secondary basis. (Currently the 2300-2305 MHz segment is not allocated to any service on a primary basis.);
(ii) The 2305-2310 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service

secondary basis to the fixed, mobile, and radiolocation services;
(iii) The 2390-2400 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur

service
on a primary basis; and
(iv) The 2400-2402 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a secondary basis. (Currently the 2400-2402 MHz segment is not allocated to any service on a primary basis.) The 2402-2417 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a primary basis. The 2417-2450 MHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a co-secondary basis with the Government radiolocation service. Amateur stations operating within the 2400-2450 MHz segment must accept harmful interference that may be caused by the proper operation of industrial, scientific, and medical devices operating within the band.

(k) No amateur station transmitting in the 3.332-3.339 GHz and 3.3458-3525 GHz segments, the 2.5 mm band, the 144.68-144.98 GHz, 145.45-145.75 GHz and 146.82-147.12 GHz segments and the 343-348 GHz segment shall cause harmful interference to stations in the radio astronomy service. No amateur station transmitting in the 300-302 GHz, 324-326 GHz, 345-347 GHz, 363-365 GHz and 379-381 GHz segments shall cause harmful interference to stations in the space research service (passive) or Earth exploration-satellite service (passive).

(l) In the 9 cm band:
(1) In ITU Regions 2 and 3, the band is allocated to the amateur service on a secondary basis.
(2) In the United States, the band is allocated to the amateur service on a co-secondary basis with the non-Government radiolocation service.
(3) In the 3.3-3.4 GHz segment, no amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the radiolocation

service.
(4) In the 3.4-3.5 GHz segment, no amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed and fixed-satellite service.

(m) In the 5 cm band:
(1) In the 5.650-5.725 GHz segment, the amateur service is allocated in all ITU Regions on a co-secondary basis with the space research (deep space) service.
(2) In the 5.725-5.850 GHz segment, the amateur service is allocated in all ITU Regions on a secondary basis. No amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed-satellite service in ITU Region 1.

(3) No amateur station transmitting in the 5.725-5.875 GHz segment is protected from interference due to the operation of industrial, scientific and medical devices operating on 5.8 GHz.

(4) In the 5.650-5.850 GHz segment, no amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the radiolocation

service.
(5) In the 5.850-5.925 GHz segment, the amateur service is allocated in ITU Region 2 on a co-secondary basis with the radiolocation service.
In the United States, the segment is allocated to the amateur service on a secondary basis to the non-Government fixed-satellite service. No amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed, fixed-satellite and mobile services. No amateur station shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations in the non-Government fixed-satellite service.
(n) In the 3 cm band:
(1) In the United States, the 3 cm band is allocated to the amateur service on a co-secondary basis with the non-government radiolocation service.
(2) In the 10.00-10.45 GHz segment in ITU Regions 1 and 3, no amateur station shall cause interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations authorized by other nations in the fixed and mobile services.
(o) No amateur station transmitting in the 1.2 cm band is protected from interference due to the operation of industrial, scientific and medical devices on 24.125 GHz. In the United States, the 24.05-24.25 GHz segment is allocated to the amateur service on a co-secondary basis with the non-government radiolocation and Government and non-government Earth exploration-satellite (active) services.

(p) The 2.5 mm band is allocated to the amateur service on a secondary basis. No amateur station transmitting in this band shall cause harmful interference to, nor is protected from interference due to the operation of, stations in the fixed, inter-satellite and mobile services.

(q) No amateur station transmitting in the 244-246 GHz segment of the 1 mm band is protected from interference due to the operation of industrial, scientific and medical devices on 245 GHz.
(r) In the 4 mm band:
(1) Authorization of the 76-77 GHz segment of the 4 mm band for amateur station transmissions is suspended until such time that the Commission may determine that amateur station transmissions in this segment will not pose a safety threat to vehicle radar systems operating in this segment.
(2) In places where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC, the 77.5-78 GHz segment is allocated to the amateur service and amateur-satellite service on a co-primary basis with the Government and non-Government radiolocation services.

Sec. 97.305 Authorized emission types.

(a) An amateur station may transmit a CW emission on any frequency authorized to the control operator.

(b) A station may transmit a test emission on any frequency authorized to the control operator for brief periods for experimental purposes, except that no pulse modulation emission may be transmitted on any frequency where pulse is not specifically authorized.
(c) A station may transmit the following emission types on the frequencies indicated, as authorized to the control operator, subject to the standards specified in Sec. 97.307(f) of this part.

Sec. 97.307 Emission standards.

(a) No amateur station transmission shall occupy more bandwidth than necessary for the information rate and emission type being transmitted,
in accordance with good amateur practice.
(b) Emissions resulting from modulation must be confined to the band or segment available to the control operator. Emissions outside the necessary bandwidth must not cause splatter or keyclick interference
to operations on adjacent frequencies.
(c) All spurious emissions from a station transmitter must be reduced to the greatest extent practicable. If any spurious emission, including chassis or power line radiation, causes harmful interference to the reception of another radio station, the licensee of the interfering amateur station is required to take steps to eliminate the interference, in accordance with good engineering practice.

(d) The mean power of any spurious emission from a station transmitter or external RF power amplifier transmitting on a frequency below 30 MHz must not exceed 50 mW and must be at least 40 dB below

the mean power of the fundamental emission. For a transmitter of mean power less than 5 W, the attenuation must be at least 30 dB. A transmitter built before April 15, 1977, or first marketed before January 1, 1978, is exempt from this requirement.

(e) The mean power of any spurious emission from a station transmitter or external RF power amplifier transmitting on a frequency between 30-225 MHz must be at least 60 dB below the mean power of the fundamental. For a transmitter having a mean power of 25 W or less,

the mean power of any spurious emission supplied to the antenna transmission line must not exceed 25 <greek-m>W and must be at least 40 dB below
the mean power of the fundamental emission, but need not be reduced below the power of 10 <greek-m>W. A transmitter built before April 15, 1977, or first marketed before January 1, 1978, is exempt from this requirement.

(f) The following standards and limitations apply to transmissions on the frequencies specified in Sec. 97.305(c) of this part.

(1) No angle-modulated emission may have a modulation index greater than 1 at the highest modulation frequency.
(2) No non-phone emission shall exceed the bandwidth of a communications quality phone emission of the same modulation type. The total bandwidth of an independent sideband emission (having B as the first symbol), or a multiplexed image and phone emission, shall not exceed that of a communications quality A3E emission.

(3) Only a RTTY or data emission using a specified digital code listed in Sec. 97.309(a) of this part may be transmitted. The symbol rate must not exceed 300 bauds, or for frequency-shift keying, the frequency shift between mark and space must not exceed 1 kHz.
(4) Only a RTTY or data emission using a specified digital code listed in Sec. 97.309(a) of this part may be transmitted. The symbol rate must not exceed

1200 bauds, or for frequency-shift keying, the frequency shift between mark and space must not exceed 1 kHz.

(5) A RTTY, data or multiplexed emission using a specified digital code listed in Sec. 97.309(a) of this part may be transmitted. The symbol rate must not exceed 19.6 kilobauds. A RTTY, data or multiplexed emission using an unspecified digital code under the limitations listed in Sec. 97.309(b) of this part also may be transmitted. The authorized bandwidth is 20 kHz.

(6) A RTTY, data or multiplexed emission using a specified digital code listed in Sec. 97.309(a) of this part may be transmitted. The symbol rate must not exceed 56 kilobauds. A RTTY, data or multiplexed emission using an unspecified digital code under the limitations

listed
in Sec. 97.309(b) of this part also may be transmitted. The authorized bandwidth is 100 kHz.

(7) A RTTY, data or multiplexed emission using a specified digital code listed in Sec. 97.309(a) of this part or an unspecified digital code under the limitations listed in Sec. 97.309(b) of this part may be transmitted.

(8) A RTTY or data emission having designators with A, B, C, D, E,

F, G, H, J or R as the first symbol; 1, 2, 7 or 9 as the second symbol;
and D or W as the third symbol is also authorized.
(9) A station having a control operator holding a Novice or Technician Class operator license may only transmit a CW emission using the international Morse code.
(10) A station having a control operator holding a Novice or Technician Class operator license may only transmit a CW emission using the international Morse code or phone emissions J3E and R3E.
(11) Phone and image emissions may be transmitted only by stations located in ITU Regions 1 and 3, and by stations located within ITU Region 2 that are west of 130 deg. West longitude or south of 20 deg. North latitude.

(12) Emission F8E may be transmitted.
(13) A data emission using an unspecified digital code under the limitations listed in Sec. 97.309(b) also may be transmitted. The authorized bandwidth is 100 kHz.

Sec. 97.309 RTTY and data emission codes.

(a) Where authorized by Secs. 97.305(c) and 97.307(f) of the part, an amateur station may transmit a RTTY or data emission using the following specified digital codes:

(1) The 5-unit, start-stop, International Telegraph Alphabet No. 2, code defined in International Telegraph and Telephone Consultative Committee Recommendation F.1, Division C (commonly known as Baudot).
(2) The 7-unit code specified in International Radio Consultative Committee Recommendation CCIR 476-2 (1978), 476-3 (1982), 476-4 (1986) or 625 (1986) (commonly known as AMTOR).

(3) The 7-unit code defined in American National Standards Institute X3.4-1977 or International Alphabet No. 5 defined in International Telegraph and Telephone Consultative Committee Recommendation T.50 or in International Organization for Standardization, International Standard

ISO 646 (1983), and extensions as provided for in CCITT Recommendation

T.61 (Malaga-Torremolinos, 1984) (commonly known as ASCII).
(4) An amateur station transmitting a RTTY or data emission using a digital code specified in this paragraph may use any technique whose technical characteristics have been documented publicly, such as CLOVER,

G-TOR, or PacTOR, for the purpose of facilitating communications.
(b) Where authorized by Secs. 97.305(c) and 97.307(f) of this part,
a station may transmit a RTTY or data emission using an unspecified digital code, except to a station in a country with which the United States does not have an agreement permitting the code to be used. RTTY and data emissions using unspecified digital codes must not be transmitted for the purpose of obscuring the meaning of any communication. When deemed necessary by an EIC to assure compliance with

the FCC Rules, a station must:

[[Page 605]]

(1) Cease the transmission using the unspecified digital code;
(2) Restrict transmissions of any digital code to the extent instructed;
(3) Maintain a record, convertible to the original information, of all digital communications transmitted.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 54 FR 39537, Sept. 27, 1989;
56 FR 56172, Nov. 1, 1991; 60 FR 55486, Nov. 1, 1995]

Sec. 97.311 SS emission types.

(a) SS emission transmissions by an amateur station are authorized only for communications between points within areas where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC. SS emission transmissions must not be used for the purpose of obscuring the meaning of any communication.

(b) Stations transmitting SS emission must not cause harmful interference to stations employing other authorized emissions, and must accept all interference caused by stations employing other authorized emissions. For the purposes of this paragraph, unintended triggering of carrier operated repeaters is not considered to be harmful interference.
(c) Only the following types of SS emission transmissions are authorized (hybrid SS emissions transmissions involving both spreading techniques are prohibited):

(1) Frequency hopping where the carrier of the transmitted signal
is modulated with unciphered information and changes frequency at fixed intervals under the direction of a high speed code sequence.
(2) Direct sequence where the information is modulo-2 added to a high speed code sequence. The combined information and code are then used to modulate the RF carrier. The high speed code sequence dominates

the modulation function, and is the direct cause of the wide spreading of the transmitted signal.

(d) The only spreading sequences that are authorized are from the output of one binary linear feedback shift register (which may be implemented in hardware or software).
(1) Only the following sets of connections may be used:

Number of stages in shift register	Taps used in feedback
7	7,1.
13	13,4, 3, and 1.
19	19, 5, 2, and 1.

(2) The shift register must not be reset other than by its feedback
during an individual transmission. The shift register output sequence must be used without alteration.
(3) The output of the last stage of the binary linear feedback shift
register must be used as follows:
(i) For frequency hopping transmissions using x frequencies, n consecutive bits from the shift register must be used to select the next frequency from a list of frequencies sorted in ascending order. Each consecutive frequency must be selected by a consecutive block of n bits.
(Where n is the smallest integer greater than log<INF>2</INF> x.)
(ii) For direct sequence transmissions using m-ary modulation, consecutive blocks of log<INF>2</INF> m bits from the shift register must be used to select the transmitted signal during each interval.
(e) The station records must document all SS emission transmissions
and must be retained for a period of 1 year following the last entry.
The station records must include sufficient information to enable the FCC, using the information contained therein, to demodulate all transmissions. The station records must contain at least the following:
(1) A technical description of the transmitted signal;
(2) Pertinent parameters describing the transmitted signal including the frequency or frequencies of operation and, where applicable, the chip rate, the code rate, the spreading function, the transmission protocol(s) including the method of achieving sychronization, and the modulation type;
(3) A general description of the type of information being conveyed,
(voice, text, memory dump, facsimile, television, etc.);

(4) The method and, if applicable, the frequency or frequencies used for station identification; and
(5) The date of beginning and the date of ending use of each type of transmitted signal.

(f) When deemed necessary by an EIC to assure compliance with this part, a station licensee must:

(1) Cease SS emission transmissions;
(2) Restrict SS emission transmissions to the extent instructed; and
(3) Maintain a record, convertible to the original information (voice, text, image, etc.) of all spread spectrum communications transmitted.
(g) The transmitter power must not exceed 100 W.

Sec. 97.313 Transmitter power standards.

(a) An amateur station must use the minimum transmitter power necessary to carry out the desired communications.
(b) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 1.5

kW PEP.
(c) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 200 W PEP on:
(1) The 3.675-3.725 MHz, 7.10-7.15 MHz, 10.10-10.15 MHz, and 21.1-21.2 MHz segments;
(2) The 28.1-28.5 MHz segment when the control operator is a Novice or Technician operator; or
(3) The 7.050-7.075 MHz segment when the station is within ITU Regions 1 or 3.
(d) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 25 W PEP on the VHF 1.25 m band when the control operator is a Novice operator.
(e) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 5 W

PEP on the UHF 23 cm band when the control operator is a Novice operator.
(f) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 50 W PEP on the UHF 70 cm band from an area specified in footnote US7 to Sec. 2.106 of the FCC Rules, unless expressly authorized by the FCC after mutual agreement, on a case-by-case basis, between the EIC of the applicable field facility and the military area frequency coordinator

at the applicable military base. An Earth station or telecommand station, however, may transmit on the 435-438 MHz segment with a maximum of 611

W
effective radiated power (1 kW equivalent isotropically radiated power)
without the authorization otherwise required. The transmitting antenna elevation angle between the lower half-power (-3 dB relative to the peak or antenna bore sight) point and the horizon must always be greater than 10 deg..

(g) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 50
W PEP on the 33 cm band from within 241 km of the boundaries of the White
Sands Missile Range. Its boundaries are those portions of Texas and New Mexico bounded on the south by latitude 31 deg. 41' North, on the east by longitude 104 deg. 11' West, on the north by latitude 34 deg. 30' North, and on the west by longitude 107 deg. 30' West.

(h) No station may transmit with a transmitter power exceeding 50
W
PEP on the 219-220 MHz segment of the 1.25 m band.

Sec. 97.315 Certification of external RF power amplifiers.

(a) No more than 1 unit of 1 model of an external RF power amplifier capable of operation below 144 MHz may be constructed or modified during any calendar year by an amateur operator for use at a station without a grant of certification. No amplifier capable of operation below 144 MHz
may be constructed or modified by a non-amateur operator without a grant
of certification from the FCC.
(b) Any external RF power amplifier or external RF power amplifier kit (see Sec. 2.815 of the FCC Rules), manufactured, imported or modified for use in a station or attached at any station must be certificated for use in the amateur service in accordance with subpart of part 2 of the FCC Rules. This requirement does not apply if one or more of the following conditions are met:

J

(1) The amplifier is not capable of operation on frequencies below

144 MHz. For the purpose of this part, an amplifier will be deemed to be incapable of operation below 144 MHz if it is not capable of being easily modified to increase its amplification characteristics below 120
MHz and either:
(i) The mean output power of the amplifier decreases, as frequency decreases from 144 MHz, to a point where 0 dB or less gain is exhibited at 120 MHz; or

[[Page 607]]

(ii) The amplifier is not capable of amplifying signals below 120 MHz even for brief periods without sustaining permanent damage to its amplification circuitry.
(2) The amplifier was manufactured before April 28, 1978, and has been issued a marketing waiver by the FCC, or the amplifier was purchased before April 28, 1978, by an amateur operator for use at that amateur operator's station.
(3) The amplifier was:
(i) Constructed by the licensee, not from an external RF power amplifier kit, for use at the licensee's station; or
(ii) Modified by the licensee for use at the licensee's station.
(4) The amplifier is sold by an amateur operator to another amateur
operator or to a dealer.
(5) The amplifier is purchased in used condition by an equipment dealer from an amateur operator and the amplifier is further sold to another amateur operator for use at that operator's station.
(c) Any external RF power amplifier appearing in the Commission's database as certificated for use in the amateur service may be marketed
for use in the amateur service.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 63 FR 36611, July 7, 1998]

Effective Date Note: At 63 FR 36611, July 7, 1998, Sec. 97.315, paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) were amended by removing the term ``type acceptance'' each place it appears and adding in its place ``certification'', and by removing the term ``type accepted'' each place
it appears and adding in its place ``certificated''; paragraph (c) was amended by removing the first sentence, and by removing the term ``on this list'' and adding in its place ``in the Commission's database'', effective Oct. 5, 1998.

Sec. 97.317 Standards for certification of external RF power amplifiers.

(a) To receive a grant of certification, the amplifier must satisfy the spurious emission standards of Sec. 97.307(d) or (e) of this part,

as applicable, when the amplifier is:
(1) Operated at its full output power;
(2) Placed in the ``standby'' or ``off'' positions, but still connected to the transmitter; and
(3) Driven with at least 50 W mean RF input power (unless higher drive level is specified.)
(b) To receive a grant of certification, the amplifier must not be capable of operation on any frequency or frequencies between 24 MHz and 35 MHz. The amplifier will be deemed incapable of such operation if it:

(1) Exhibits no more than 6 dB gain between 24 MHz and 26 MHz and between 28 MHz and 35 MHz. (This gain will be determined by the ratio of the input RF driving signal (mean power measurement) to the mean RF output power of the amplifier); and
(2) Exhibits no amplification (0 dB gain) between 26 MHz and 28 MHz.
(c) Certification may be denied when denial would prevent the use of these amplifiers in services other than the amateur service. The following features will result in dismissal or denial of an application for certification:
(1) Any accessible wiring which, when altered, would permit operation of the amplifier in a manner contrary to the FCC Rules;
(2) Circuit boards or similar circuitry to facilitate the addition of components to change the amplifier's operating characteristics in a manner contrary to the FCC Rules;

(3) Instructions for operation or modification of the amplifier in a manner contrary to FCC Rules;
(4) Any internal or external controls or adjustments to facilitate operation of the amplifier in a manner contrary to the FCC Rules;

(5) Any internal RF sensing circuitry or any external switch, the purpose of which is to place the amplifier in the transmit mode;
(6) The incorporation of more gain in the amplifier than is necessary to operate in the amateur service; for purposes of this paragraph, the amplifer must:
(i) Not be capable of achieving designed output power when driven with less than 50 W mean RF input power;
(ii) Not be capable of amplifying the input RF driving signal by more than 15 dB, unless the amplifier has a designed transmitter power of less than 1.5 kW (in such a case, gain must be reduced by the same number of dB as the transmitter power relationship to 1.5

kW; This gain limitation is determined by the ratio of the input RF driving signal to the RF output power of the amplifier where both signals are expressed in peak envelope power or mean power);
(iii) Not exhibit more gain than permitted by paragraph (c)(6)(ii) of this section when driven by an RF input signal of less than 50 W mean power; and

(iv) Be capable of sustained operation at its designed power level;
(7) Any attenuation in the input of the amplifier which, when removed or modified, would permit the amplifier to function at its designed transmitter power when driven by an RF frequency input signal of less than 50 W mean power; or (8) Any other features designed to facilitate operation in a telecommunication service other than the Amateur Radio Services, such as the Citizens Band (CB) Radio Service.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 63 FR 36611, July 7, 1998]

Effective Date Note: At 63 FR 36611, July 7, 1998, Sec. 97.317, the section heading was revised; paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) were amended by removing the term ``type acceptance'' each place it appears and adding in its place ``certification'', effective Oct. 5, 1998.

Subpart E--Providing Emergency Communications

Sec. 97.401 Operation during a disaster.

(a) When normal communication systems are overloaded, damaged or disrupted because a disaster has occurred, or is likely to occur, in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC, an amateur station may make transmissions necessary to meet essential communication needs and facilitate relief actions.
(b) When normal communication systems are overloaded, damaged or disrupted because a natural disaster has occurred, or is likely to occur, in an area where the amateur service is not regulated by the FCC, a station assisting in meeting essential communication needs and facilitating relief actions may do so only in accord with ITU

Resolution
No. 640 (Geneva, 1979). The 80 m, 75 m, 40 m, 30 m, 20 m, 17 m, 15 m, 12 m, and 2 m bands may be used for these purposes.
(c) When a disaster disrupts normal communication systems in a particular area, the FCC may declare a temporary state of communication emergency. The declaration will set forth any special conditions and special rules to be observed by stations during the communication emergency. A request for a declaration of a temporary state of emergency should be directed to the EIC in the area concerned.
(d) A station in, or within 92.6 km of, Alaska may transmit emissions J3E and R3E on the channel at 5.1675 Mhz for emergency communications. The channel must be shared with stations licensed in the Alaska-private fixed service. The transmitter power must not exceed 150
W.

Sec. 97.403 Safety of life and protection of property.

No provision of these rules prevents the use by an amateur station of any means of radiocommunication at its disposal to provide essential communication needs in connection with the immediate safety of human life and immediate protection of property when normal communication systems are not available.

Sec. 97.405 Station in distress.

(a) No provision of these rules prevents the use by an amateur station in distress of any means at its disposal to attract attention, make known its condition and location, and obtain assistance.

(b) No provision of these rules prevents the use by a station, in the exceptional circumstances described in paragraph (a) of this section, of any means of radiocommunications at its disposal to assist a station in distress.

Sec. 97.407 Radio amateur civil emergency service.

(a) No station may transmit in RACES unless it is an FCC-licensed primary, club, or military recreation station and it is certified by a civil defense organization as registered with that organization, or it is an FCC-licensed RACES station. No person may be the control operator of a RACES station, or may be the control operator

of an amateur station transmitting in RACES unless that person holds a

FCC-issued amateur operator license and is certified by a civil defense organization as enrolled in that organization.
(b) The frequency bands and segments and emissions authorized to
the control operator are available to stations transmitting communications in RACES on a shared basis with the amateur service. In the event of an emergency which necessitates the invoking of the President's War Emergency Powers under the provisions of Section 706 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. 606, RACES stations and amateur stations participating in RACES may only transmit on the following frequencies:

(1) The 1800-1825 kHz, 1975-2000 kHz, 3.50-3.55 MHz, 3.93-3.98
MHz,
3.984-4.000 MHz, 7.079-7.125 MHz, 7.245-7.255 MHz, 10.10-10.15 MHz, 14.047-14.053 MHz, 14.22-14.23 MHz, 14.331-14.350 MHz, 21.047-21.053
MHz, 21.228-21.267 MHz, 28.55-28.75 MHz, 29.237-29.273 MHz, 29.45-29.65
MHz, 50.35-50.75 MHz, 52-54 MHz, 144.50-145.71 MHz, 146-148 MHz, 2390-2450 MHz segments;
(2) The 1.25 m, 70 cm and 23 cm bands; and
(3) The channels at 3.997 MHz and 53.30 MHz may be used in emergency areas when required to make initial contact with a military unit and for communications with military stations on matters requiring coordination.
(c) A RACES station may only communicate with:
(1) Another RACES station;
(2) An amateur station registered with a civil defense
organization;
(3) A United States Government station authorized by the responsible agency to communicate with RACES stations;
(4) A station in a service regulated by the FCC whenever such communication is authorized by the FCC.
(d) An amateur station registered with a civil defense organization
may only communicate with:
(1) A RACES station licensed to the civil defense organization
with which the amateur station is registered;
(2) The following stations upon authorization of the responsible civil defense official for the organization with which the amateur station is registered:
(i) A RACES station licensed to another civil defense
organization;
(ii) An amateur station registered with the same or another civil defense organization;

(iii) A United States Government station authorized by the responsible agency to communicate with RACES stations; and
(iv) A station in a service regulated by the FCC whenever such communication is authorized by the FCC.
(e) All communications transmitted in RACES must be specifically authorized by the civil defense organization for the area served. Only civil defense communications of the following types may be transmitted:

(1) Messages concerning impending or actual conditions jeopardizing the public safety, or affecting the national defense or security during periods of local, regional, or national civil emergencies;
(2) Messages directly concerning the immediate safety of life of individuals, the immediate protection of property, maintenance of law and order, alleviation of human suffering and need, and the combating of armed attack or sabotage;
(3) Messages directly concerning the accumulation and dissemination of public information or instructions to the civilian population essential to the activities of the civil defense organization or other authorized governmental or relief agencies; and

(4) Communications for RACES training drills and tests necessary to ensure the establishment and maintenance of orderly and efficient operation of the RACES as ordered by the responsible civil defense organization served. Such drills and tests may not exceed a total time of 1 hour per week. With the approval of the chief officer for emergency planning in the applicable State, Commonwealth, District or territory, however, such tests and drills may be conducted for a period not to exceed 72 hours no more than twice in any calendar year.

Subpart F--Qualifying Examination Systems

Sec. 97.501 Qualifying for an amateur operator license.

Each applicant for the grant of a new amateur operator license or for the grant of a modified license to show a higher operator class, must pass or otherwise receive credit for the examination elements specified for the class of operator license sought:
(a) Amateur Extra Class operator: Elements 1(C), 2, 3(A), 3(B), 4(A), and 4(B);
(b) Advanced Class operator: Elements 1(B) or 1(C), 2, 3(A), 3(B), and 4(A);

(c) General Class operator: Elements 1(B) or 1(C), 2, 3(A), and 3(B);
(d) Technician Plus Class operator: Elements 1(A) or 1(B) or 1(C), 2, and 3(A).
(e) Technician Class operator: Elements 2 and 3(A).
(f) Novice Class operator: Elements 1(A) or 1(B) or 1(C), and 2.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 59 FR 54834, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.503 Element standards.

(a) A telegraphy examination must be sufficient to prove that the examinee has the ability to send correctly by hand and to receive correctly by ear texts in the international Morse code at not less than the prescribed speed, using all the letters of the alphabet, numerals 0-9, period, comma, question mark, slant mark and prosigns ar, bt, and sk.
(1) Element 1(A): 5 words per minute;
(2) Element 1(B): 13 words per minute;
(3) Element 1(C): 20 words per minute.
(b) A written examination must be such as to prove that the examinee possesses the operational and technical qualifications required to perform properly the duties of an amateur service licensee. Each written examination must be comprised of a question set as follows:
(1) Element 2: 35 questions concerning the privileges of a Novice Class operator license. The minimum passing score is 26 questions answered correctly.
(2) Element 3(A): 30 questions concerning the privileges of a Technician Class operator license. The minimum passing score is 22 questions answered correctly.
(3) Element 3(B): 30 questions concerning the privileges of a General Class operator license. The minimum passing score is 22 questions answered correctly.
(4) Element 4(A): 50 questions concerning the additional privileges of an Advanced Class operator license. The minimum passing score is 37 questions answered correctly.
(5) Element 4(B): 40 questions concerning the additional privileges of an Amateur Extra Class operator license. The minimum passing score is 30 questions answered correctly.
(c) The topics and number of questions required in each question set are listed below for the appropriate examination element:

Element: Topics 2 3(A) 3(B) 4(A) 4(B)
(1) FCC rules for the amateur radio services	10 5 4 6 8
(2) Amateur station operating procedures	2 3 3 1 4
(3) Radio wave propagation characteristics of amateur service frequency bands	1 3 3 2 2
(4) Amateur radio practices	4 4 5 4 4
(5) Electrical principles as applied to amateur station equipment	4 2 2 10 6
(6) Amateur station equipment circuit components	2 2 1 6 4
(7) Practical circuits employed in amateur station equipment	2 1 1 10 4
(8) Signals and emissions transmitted by amateur stations	2 2 2 6 4
(9) Amateur station antennas and feed lines	3 3 4 5 4
(10) Radiofrequency environmental safety practices at an amateur station	5 5 5 0 0

Sec. 97.505 Element credit.

(a) The administering VEs must give credit as specified below to an examinee holding any of the following documents:

(1) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal) FCC-granted Advanced Class operator license document: Elements 1(B), 2, 3(A), 3(B), and 4(A).

(2) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal) FCC-granted General Class operator license document: Elements 1(b), 2, 3(A), and 3(B).

(3) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal) FCC-granted Technician Plus Class operator (including a Technician Class operator license granted before February 14, 1991) license document: Elements 1(A), 2, and 3(A).

(4) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal) FCC-granted Technician Class operator license document: Elements 2 and 3(A).
(5) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal) FCC-granted Novice Class operator license document: Elements 1(A) and 2.
(6) A CSCE: Each element the CSCE indicates the examinee passed within the previous 365 days.
(7) An unexpired (or expired for less than 5 years) FCC-issued commercial radiotelegraph operator license document or permit: Element 1(C).
(8) An expired or unexpired FCC-issued Technician Class operator license document granted before March 21, 1987: Element 3(B).
(9) An expired or unexpired FCC-issued Technician Class license document granted before February 14, 1991: Element 1(A).
(10) An unexpired (or expired but within the grace period for renewal), FCC-granted Novice, Technician Plus (including a Technician Class operator license granted before February 14, 1991), General, or Advanced Class operator license document, and an FCC Form 610 containing:
(i) A physician's certification stating that because the person is an individual with a severe handicap, the duration of which will extend for more than 365 days beyond the date of the certification, the person is unable to pass a 13 or 20 words per minute telegraphy examination; and
(ii) A release signed by the person permitting the disclosure to the FCC of medical information pertaining to the person's handicap: Element 1(C).
(b) No examination credit, except as herein provided, shall be allowed on the basis of holding or having held any other license grant or document.

[59 FR 54834, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.507 Preparing an examination.

(a) Each telegraphy message and each written question set administered to an examinee must be prepared by a VE who has been granted an Amateur Extra Class operator license. A telegraphy message or written question set, however, may also be prepared for the following elements by a VE who has been granted an FCC operator license of the class indicated:

(1) Element 3(B): Advanced Class operator.
(2) Elements 1(A) and 3(A): Advanced or General Class operator.
(3) Element 2: Advanced, General, Technician, or Technician Plus Class operator.
(b) Each question set administered to an examinee must utilize questions taken from the applicable question pool.
(c) Each telegraphy message and each written question set administered to an examinee for an amateur operator license must be prepared, or obtained from a supplier, by the administering VEs according to instructions from the coordinating VEC.
(d) A telegraphy examination must consist of a message sent in the international Morse code at no less than the prescribed speed for a minimum of 5 minutes. The message must contain each required telegraphy character at least once. No message known to the examinee may be administered in a telegraphy examination. Each 5 letters of the alphabet must be counted as 1 word. Each numeral, punctuation mark and prosign must be counted as 2 letters of the alphabet.

[54 FR 25857, June 20, 1989, as amended at 58 FR 29126, May 19, 1993; 59
FR 54834, Nov. 2, 1994]

Sec. 97.509 Administering VE requirements.

(a) Each examination element for an amateur operator license must be administered by a team of at least 3 VEs at an examination session coordinated by a VEC. Before the session, the administering VEs or the

VE session manager must ensure that public announcement is made stating the location and time of the session. The number of examinees at the session may be limited.
(b) Each administering VE must:
(1) Be accredited by the coordinating VEC;
(2) Be at least 18 years of age;
(3) Be a person who has been granted an FCC amateur operator license document of the class specified below:
(i) Amateur Extra, Advanced, or General Class in order to administer a Novice, Technician, or Technician Plus Class operator license examination;
(ii) Amateur Extra Class in order to administer a General, Advanced, or Amateur Extra Class operator license examination.

(4) Not be a person whose grant of an amateur station license or amateur operator license has ever been revoked or suspended.
(c) Each administering VE must be present and observing the examinee throughout the entire examination. The administering VEs are responsible for the proper conduct and necessary supervision of each examination. The administering VEs must immediately terminate the examination upon failure of the examinee to comply with their instructions.
(d) No VE may administer an examination to his or her spouse, children, grandchildren, stepchildren, parents, grandparents, stepparents, brothers, sisters, stepbrothers, stepsisters, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, and in-laws.
(e) No VE may administer or certify any examination by fraudulent means or for monetary or other consideration including reimbursement in any amount in excess of that permitted. Violation of this provision may result in the revocation of the grant of the VE's amateur station license and the suspension of the grant of the VE's amateur operator license.
(f) No examination that has been compromised shall be administered to any examinee. Neither the same telegraphy message nor the same question set may be re-administered to the same examinee.
